Attempt to stop 'illegal' Senate bill for 'six-million dollar golden pipeline' pushed; environmentalists will ask project injunction

By Karen Whittlesey-First

Environmentalists fighting the MDC plan to bulldoze a wide swath through the woods around Spot Pond in the Middlesex Fells Reservation, brought to light some startling and mysterious new developments this week in the second round of their battle. They and The Star have thus far made the first public disclosures in this case. The MDC has made none.

——They discovered that the senate bill that would allow construction of an elevated, "six million dollar golden pipeline, through this natural, wooded area, and which they had thought had been laid to rest, was instead being sneaked through at the last minute.

——They uncovered another "project" that is a new twist in a continuing mystery. The Bear Hill area, on the other side of Spot Pond from the proposed pipeline, has been surveyed "as the beginning effort of a long range proposal." No one seems to know for sure what that "proposal" is all about.

——This week the Friends of the Middlesex Fells, Inc. voted unanimously to join other environmental groups in opposing construction of pipelines through the Fells and requiring full public disclosure of the project and its environmental impact.

——The group, assured by the Conservation Law Foundation of New England that Senate Bill 1522 is illegal, was trying to get Senator Joseph Timilty, who is interested in environmental control, to get the bill thrown out entirely. They had not been successful by press time.

Senate Bill 1522 is now in its third reading in committee. If not halted, it will come to the senate floor for a two-thirds vote to authorize the MDC engineering department to etch a wide scar through the Fells and to begin construction on the overground pipeline. The next step would be for the bill to go to the house for a similar authorization.

The bill, proposed by Senator Stephen McGrail, is thought to be illegal by the Conservation Law Foundation of New England, Inc., because it does not specify either the current use of the public land or the intent of the legislature explicitly to authorize this diversion of public land.

Article 97, added to the Massachusetts Constitution in 1972, requires a two-thirds vote of the state legislature for any new use to be placed upon an MDC reservation.

There has been no public hearing on the matter and no public disclosure of the Spot Pond water structures project until it was first revealed by The Star September 9.

Charles Carlson of Winchester, vice president of the Friends of the Middlesex Fells, Inc., a group devoted to preserving the unique natural quality of the Fells, added a new dimension to the MDC's plans when he found evidence of surveying on Bear Hill. The MDC has not made any specific comments nor any general ones about what they are doing on Bear Hill.

Secretary of Environmental Affairs Evelyn Murphy, in a letter to Carlson, indicates that "surveying activity is being carried out as the beginning effort of a long range proposal for installation of water storage tanks on Bear Hill."

With the broad interpretation of senate 1522, it is possible that any work there could be included if the bill passes both houses.

Bill 1522 reads "An act directing the Metropolitan District Commission to construct a water storage tank in the town of Stoneham and to construct water mains in the towns of Stoneham and Wakefield and in the city of Woburn and increasing the funds which the Metropolitan District Commission

There's no time for sleep for town's firefighters

They may be gathered in the spacious, brightly lighted kitchen, feasting on Francis Mawn's sausages and peppers (which you can smell all the way down Mt. Vernon street) or they may be lying two to a room on white-sheeted cots, but when the call blasts through the Winchester fire house every man jumps into boots and coat and in a flash finds his appropriate place on ladder, engine, rescue, or pump.

For some of the men it's a dream from boyhood come true. There are no checker games and the dalmatian is long gone — it became too messy, but the aura of excitement, tension, and life-saving adventure hasn't changed.

Probably 99 percent of the department moonlights, according to one firefighter,

School board confrontation

Parents blast plan to close Wyman

Opponents of Superintendent William MacDonald's proposal to close the Wyman Elementary School launched a concerted attack at a public hearing on the issue in the high school Tuesday night.

Over 200 parents, many from the Wyman district, and teachers and other citizens attended the three-and-a-half hour meeting, the majority of them opposed to the closing.

Criticizing the school administration for a lack of long range planning, the opponents questioned the educational validity of the plan; argued that the $71,000 annual savings predicted by the superintendent would actually amount to less than $30,000; and presented housing statistics indicating that enrollments may begin to rise again during the next ten years.

School committee Member Robert Frank, while noting that the $71,000 amounts to less than one per cent of the school budget, said the school board was "hard pressed to point to ways to cut $75,000 that wouldn't adversely affect the quality of education in the schools."

Frank also argued that "if Wyman is closed, the good things about Wyman would be transferred along with the teachers and kids in the school." He said the class size would not change.

Sandra Pomeroy, head of the Wyman Parents Association, called for a long range plan that would examine the effects of school closings, the possible establishment of a four-year high school, and the subsequent transformation of the town's two junior high schools into middle schools for grades 6-8.

Representing the Winchester Association of Realtors, Marion G. Crandall offered five reasons why the town "should go into a holding position until our future growth and enrollments can be viewed with more certainty." Her reasons were:

1) The town's neighborhood schools are "the single most important factor" in drawing families to move to Winchester.

2) Metropolitan Area Planning Council projections indicate school enrollments will increase in the near future. The MAPC figures project an enrollment of 6647 students by 1980 (1699 above the present level) and 7041 by 1995.

Fair value $150 to $300 million

Sheriff urges State to take guns without payment

By C. Peter Jorgensen

"My recommendation is that the State not spend one penny," to confiscate handguns Middlesex County Sheriff John Buckley said this week.

Sheriff Buckley, an organizer of People vs. Handguns, the organization which has placed Question 5, the gun confiscation law, on the November ballot, added" . . . there is no obligation of the State to buy back the guns at all." He pointed out that the proposed law "says that the price is to be determined by the Commissioner of Public Safety. . . It says nothing about fair market price . . . he could decide to give them nothing."

This is a new approach for Buckley and those supporting the gun confiscation law to suggest that the bill was written so that State could seize private property without paying compensation. Until now, his group has been arguing that the cost would be "only $50 million," while opponents of Question 5 say the cost will run between $150 and $300 million.

Sheriff Buckley contacted the publisher of this paper after The Arlington Advocate ran an editorial last week questioning the value of spending $150 to $300 million of taxpayers' money to confiscate guns from law abiding and legally licensed citizens.

Buckley quickly admitted that "The whole purpose is not to take the guns away from the Mafia, because they won't give them up. . ." Instead he emphasized the "passion crimes, the accidents and the kids."

Buckley said he felt the cost confiscation could be picked up by the Federal government through the discretionary funding of the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration (LEAA). However, Massachusetts Public Safety Commissioner John F. Kehoe, who is named as collection agent in the law, said, "Positively not!," when asked if LEAA funds would be available.

Commissioner Kehoe added, "With the drastic cut in LEAA funding (down $71 million last year) particularly in block grants and discretionary grants, there would be no way that I could forsee that LEAA could pay for the funding."

He said, "The big problem with the bill as I see it is that I would be charged with making payment for the guns. I estimate that there is a minimum of 800,000 guns and the maximum is unknown." He went on to explain that a person only needs one registration card or license and can own several guns so the total is increased by the number of collectors and target shooters who have several guns.

Commissioner Kehoe added, "Assuming that the 800,000 guns were worth on the market, I'd say, $100 apiece, that's $80 million," but he had no indication of where to get the funds other than from the state legislature.

A spokesman for LEAA in Washington, Joseph Krovisky, said he doubted any LEAA money would be available for confiscation of guns "based on past experience in Baltimore two years ago." That city passed a gun confiscation law offering to pay $50 per gun and asked LEAA for funding but it was turned down. Other sources said Baltimore spent $875,000 in buying up mostly junk guns before calling off the program for lack of funds.

Massachusetts received $16.1 million in total LEAA funds last year and the discretionary fund budget for all 50 states was only $121 million, according to Krovisky. He doubted that any large sums of $40 to $80 or $125 million would be available for confiscation in Massachusetts. He said each state is alloted $2 per person and there is no large amount of money sitting around waiting for such a project. "It is all budgeted out."

Sheriff Buckley said that LEAA had set gun confiscation as a national goal under a commission appointed by President Nixon in 1971 and chaired by Atty. General John Mitchell. However, Krovisky said the gun confiscation recommendation was one of some 700 standards and goals in the commission's report. "The LEAA has neither endorsed nor rejected any of its proposals," he said, it merely funded the study.

Questioned directly on the compensation issue, Buckley said he felt it was perfectly legal to order licensed gun owners, doctors, druggists, security guards, shopkeepers, target shooters and Olympic competitors to turn over their guns to the State without receiving any payment.

Commenting on the section which would allow "payment at a rate to be determined by the Commissioner," Buckley added "I don't think he has to give fair market price. No way. The law doesn't say that." He added that the state laws governing confiscation of land or real property were quite clear but that personal property was another matter. "Why should someone get full value for a gun which is now illegal?"

He also said that there is nothing in the law that requires the State to buy up holsters, ammunition and reloading equipment which would be made useless once the guns were confiscated. "I see no obligation to pay for bullets or holsters or anything else that goes with handguns. Not at all."

Buckley added, "We've got a right to get a poison out of society. And the government has done it before and if the people decided that is what they want, then that is the law."

He pointed out that when Prohibition went into effect the government didn't pay for the liquor on store shelves or in people's houses. And he felt the same philosophy could be applied to the gun confiscation movement.

On Beacon Hill, the Joint Committee on Public Safety estimated the handgun confiscation bill would cost $125 million, plus an additional bureaucracy and personnel to oversee the gun collection effort. The committee recommended against the bill and the House voted to kill it by 197 to 35.

Sheriff Buckley's own group, and those supporting the bill, estimated at that time that only $50 million would be necessary. Buckley's statement this week that he would recommend the state pay "not one cent" for the 80,000 to 1 million guns to be confiscated opens up serious new questions.

The $50 million figure by gun confiscation advocates was arrived at by estimating that 500,000 guns would have to be bought at prices of $150 for top quality guns, $75 for medium quality guns and $35 for low quality guns.

The Public Safety Committee's estimate planned on 1 million guns since over 370,000 have been registered since 1968 and more than double that figure is thought to be in Massachusetts since WWII, including war souvenirs and antiques built after 1898 which would come under the law. At this level, they estimated an average cost of $125 per gun to get the $125 million figure.

But the legislature didn't include the $3 million for bureaucracy and destruction of the guns, nor the court and police costs involved in searching houses of currently licensed citizens who fail to turn in their guns.

Such persons would be subject to the mandatory one-year-in-jail law if a gun was found in their home six months after enactment of the confiscation law.

The Gun Owners Action League argues that not only guns but holsters, ammunition, reloading equipment, powder and other items related to target shooting that would be made useless once the guns were confiscated would have to be bought up by the State.

Sheriff Buckley disagrees, but says the question of taking guns away from legitimate target shooters and sportsmen was debated for some time among the gun confiscation groups. However, he said that it was decided to go for a total ban, even though Great Britain, a country he often refers to in discussing gun control, permits private ownership of handguns and pistol clubs for licensed individuals.

Buckley said, "There was some discussion about pistol clubs because they are the people who are really being asked to make the sacrifice. The reason they were excluded was that to set up a separate category of private citizens who would be allowed to have a handgun would be unconstitutional. And that if you made an exception for pistol clubs everybody who presently owns handguns would join a pistol club and you wouldn't have any ban on handguns at all."

He added, "From the point of view of the Constitution and from the point of view of practicality, the pistol clubs were excluded" from coming under the exemption for on-duty police officers and the military.

But Sheriff Buckley was quick to emphasize that he didn't feel it was unconstitutional to confiscate personal property without compensation.

The gun owners point out that the estimates of reimbursement costs are far out of line with even the used value of quality guns. The 1977 Guns and Ammo Annual shows average new prices of over $200. Three of the 20 pages of handgun listings show average prices of guns on these pages as follows: $222.64, $194.86 and $212.73. Used guns in good condition sell for only 30 to 35 percent off list price, according to Paul S. Giragosian Arlington gun shop owner.

The PSMG Gun Shop in Arlington Heights has a target pistol in the showcase for $575 and several competition guns from $250 to $400. Giragosian said many engraved handguns that are collector's items are priced between $1,000 and $5,000. He pointed out that the State would have to buy up new guns from all the dealers and that the stock in his small shop ran into several thousands of dollars.

Regardless of Sheriff Buckley's recommendation that the state pay "not one cent," the Joint Committee On Public Safety report quotes the Massachusetts State Constitution Article XLVIII which guarantees "the right to receive compensation for private property appropriated to public use."

The Committee believes fair market value must be paid and notes, "Certain individuals, primarily sportsmen, pistol shooters or collectors might have in their possession a greater number of weapons that would require funding in excess of $125 million dollars.

Harold Talanian, spokesman for Taxpayers Against 5, says that "the taxpayers are going to soon realize how much it is going to cost to take guns away from licensed, law-abiding citizens — up to $300 million — without having any effect on the criminal element at all."

Talanian characterized Buckley's comments on not paying for the gun confiscation as "a last ditch effort to stampede the public into joining his cause." He said Buckley's targets are "women and people unfamiliar with firearms where he can stir up emotion."

"He's trying to panic people with scare tactics but he doesn't have the facts to support his position," Talanian said. And he added, "Sheriff Buckley can't substantiate the claims that he is making and the people are finally getting wise to him. He is just spreading misinformation and halftruths."

Disagree with sheriff

Local police chiefs say no juvenile gun problem

Area police officials this week disagreed with Middlesex County Sheriff John Buckley who charged that gun offenses were on the increase among juveniles in the suburbs.

Buckley has been in the forefront of the group supporting Referendum Question 5 which would require the state to confiscate firearms from licensed bank guards, shopkeepers, doctors, druggists and pistol club members. The bill to the taxpayer could run as high as $300 million by some estimates.

"It's not a cure-all for the crime rate or the murder rate, because people can use a shotgun or a knife, but I think it will save some lives" Buckley said.

He claimed, "The real crime increase in Middlesex County is with the kids. It's with the 12, 13, 14, and 15 year olds. This is what's really hurting us. We are a suburban community and we're flooded with these kids. And where do these kids get their handguns... they obviously get them from someone in the family."

Buckley went on to say, "The whole purpose (of Question 5) is not to take the guns away from the Mafia, because they won't give them up, but (to cut down on) the passion crimes, the accidents and the kids (with guns.) There is no reason why kids in Winchester or Arlington or Belmont should be walking around with handguns. And that's a problem."

But Arlington Community Safety Director Robert Blomquist, Belmont Chief Jeremiah Kiley, and Winchester Chief John P. McHugh disagree.

Chief Kiley says that youths with firearms "is not a serious problem in Belmont." He said there was one shooting incident five years ago in which a high school student shot his girl friend but that it was an isolated incident.

Arlington Safety Director Blomquist said he felt it was unfair of Buckley to comment about the situation in Arlington without researching the facts. Blomquist said that since firearms violations involving juveniles were tabulated separately three years ago, there have been no instances reported and no juvenile armed robberies.

Blomquist said that there was one juvenile arrest for armed robbery in 1974 but the weapon was a barbeque fork and not a firearm, and on March 16, 1974 a juvenile was warned for possession of a BB gun.

He said that in no way could firearm violations by juveniles be classified as a serious problem. He noted that the most recent case on record involved a 1974 arrest

No federal funds

Contrary to a statement in a Boston Globe editorial of Tuesday, the federal Law Enforcement Assistance Administration (LEAA) does not have funds available for gun confiscation in Massachusetts. A spokesman for the LEAA said Tuesday that a request for such funding by the City of Baltimore was turned down two years ago and it was likely any such request from Massachusetts would also be refused. Total LEAA funds to this state last year were $16.1 million; estimates of cost of gun confiscation are as high as $300 million. Total LEAA discretionary funds, which are now all budgeted, are only $121 million for all 50 states. See story.

League opener, 34-30

Sachems lose close one to Burlington in scoring spree

By John F. Parrell

What a difference a week makes in schoolboy football! Just seven days back both Winchester and Burlington were shut out, last Saturday the score of their game was 34-30 in favor of the Red Devils.

Winchester showed a very sound defense in the Natick opener and didn't give up a first down in the entire first half. They also held the Bay State leaguers for three downs just prior to the deciding field goal which came in the last 18 seconds of the game. Burlington struck for two quick early touchdowns in the first quarter and continued with another pair in the second quarter for a half time lead of 28-14.

They poured through the Sachem team almost at will for gains of 25, 45, and 95 yards and many shorter gains of substantial length. Something was definitely wrong with either the defensive line, the defensive backs or the coordination of both.

The game was certainly one of the highest scoring games in my years of schoolboy football in which the two contenders piled up as many as 64 points. But for the barrage of penalties which the visitors were assessed, the count might have been higher. Two placements after the first touchdown were erased by penalties and the Red Devils.

In the early states of the fourth period Burlington had a first down at the Sachem two yard line, scored two apparent touchdowns and ended up back at the 29 without ever scoring.

Burlington lost its opener to Beverly by 6-0, but half a dozen starters including Mike Crocker who tallied four touchdowns this week were benched for disciplinary reasons. Their showing Saturday afternoon at Knowlton Stadium was certainly a far different performance. Crocker alone gained a total of 248 yards.

Brian O'Connor kicked off to Bob McGrath who lugged the pigskin from the 10 to the 30. Crocker picked up seven and then made a first down at the 43.

Burlington fumbled but recovered for a gain of five. Crocker broke away a substantial gain to the Sachem 29. After three plays a Pat Maguire to Mike Serra pass produced a first down at the Winchester 15. Crocker was the carrier on the next three plays and crossed the goal for the first of his three touchdowns. Remi Bruyninger twice booted perfect placements which were disallowed on penalties and Bill Murphy broke up a pass for the points try. Burlington 6, Winchester 0.

After taking the kickoff the Sachems were stopped and forced to punt. Darren Abbanat downed the receiver at the 23. John Lutinski made two and then broke away for a 75 yard touchdown gallop through the Winchester team. The try for points resulted in a fumble and left the count Burlington 12, Winchester 0.

Anthony Davis made a good runback of the kickoff from his five yard line to the 40. A short gain and a personal foul against Burlington gave the Sachems a first down at the Burlington 38. After a pass failed Bill Murphy carried twice for a first down at the 20. A pass from Don Allard to Keith Perkins made a first down at the 10 as the quarter ended.

Two plays after the opening of the second period Winchester was on the board on a pass from Don Allard to Perkins. The point try was broken up and it was now Burlington 12, Winchester 6. The kickoff bounced off Crocker's chest but he recovered it at the ten. Illegal procedure set Burlington back to the five. Mike Crocker broke into the open and sped the entire 95 yards across the goal without a hand being laid on him. He then swept around the Sachem right end for two points and a 20-6 lead for Burlington.

Three plays after the kickoff Burlington intercepted an Allard pass. This gave them possession at the Winchester 35. Seven plays later it was Mike Crocker in the end zone once again with Pat Maguire picking up the two point conversion and putting the score Burlington 28, Winchester 6.

At this point the tide turned as the Winchester offense finally started to click. With only four minutes of playing time before the half the Sachems picked up their second touchdown. Mike Cavaretta carried the kickoff to the 23 but Burlington was called for a face mask violation. As the penalty was being marked off the Red Devil trainer gave his opinion of the officials and this cost his team fifteen more yards to a point across midfield. Tony Macinanti carried for a first down at the 24 and Winchester had a first down on the two yard line. The Red Devils stiffened but Anthony Davis finally was over with four seconds left before half time. Don Allard picked up the conversion points for a 28-14 half time score.

To open the second half Winchester made two first downs but the threat died as Bob Callahan of Burlington snagged a Winchester pass at his own 33. Three plays later Bill Murphy covered a Burlington fumble at the 36. Don Allard made five and then Bill Murphy went for a first down at the 21. Tony Macinanti made five more and Don Allard carried for a first down at the ten. Allard made the touchdown on the fourth play and then Co-captain Chris Gill added the two extra points. It was now a closer ball game with the Red Devils within reach at 28-22.

It took only a few plays for Burlington to widen the gap and once again it was Mike Crocker who went over for Burlington to give the visitors a 34-22 lead. Then came the weird series in which the Red Devils, starting from a first down at the Sachem's two, apparently scored twice but had both cancelled and ended up losing the ball at the Sachem 32.

A pass from Allard to Bob Blasi gave Winchester a first down at their own 44. Then came a personal foul which gave Winchester a first down at the Red Devil 33. A pass to Bill Murphy plus a five yard Allard spurt produced a first down at the 21. Then Allard heaved a pass to Bob Blasi who made a circus type catch for the score. Allard made the extra points and it was now 34-30 with only 1:13 left on the clock. A short kickoff was covered by Jim Shannon of Burlington at his own 45 and the Red Devils played it safe to run out the clock and preserve the 34-30 victory.

One of few times the Sachem defense really stopped Burlington ball carrier in his tracks.

The girls soccer program is in full gear now, with teams from all of the town's schools competitng until mid-November.

Youth soccer

Girls soccer results

The resultsof the girls soccer games played Saturday September 25 were as follows:

Leonard League
Athletics 1, Orient 4
Palace 2, United 0
Rovers 0, Rangers 0

Ambrose League
Lobsters 5, Astros 1
Mustangs 4, Minutemen 1

Star League
Suns 1, Meteors 1
Comets 2, Shooting Stars 2

International League
Dynamo 1, Ajax 1
Hearts 2, Spurs 2
Santos 2, Real 2

The standings in the International League are as follows:

All teams have played two games so far. The Spurs are tied for first place with Santos and Hearts; all three teams have records of 1-0-1 and have scored a total of three points.

Dynamo, Ajax and Real are all tied as well with 0-1-1 records. Each has scored a goal.

The next round of matches are this Saturday. Game three on all schedules will be played.

Senior bantams, boys soccer results

Patriots 5 — Rangers 2 — The Patriots followed up last week's 5-1 win over the 76'ers with another five goals on a tough Rangers team. Top scorers both games were Bob Horne, Dave Parker and John Buckman. Leading the offensive attack were right wing Bill Mees and Tom Fiorillo at half back. The defense with Kevin Connally at center fullback and Jim Duffy at Goalie have kept both opponents from gaining any meaningful offensive game.

76'ers 4 — Astros 1 — Strong play in the middle by Gross and Zudek going both ways with help from Green and Hartnette controlled the ball. Playmaking by Kohr and Ianzerette led to goals by McMillan, Bosco and Budd. They kept good offensive pressure throughout the game and only a strong effort by Astro's goalkeeper Pat Murphy prevented a higher score. Jeff Cahill played well for the Astros and was responsible for putting them on the scoreboad.

Cardinals 4 — Bucks 0 — At 9 minutes Brian Donellan broke through on the Right wing to score for the Cardinals on a pass via Bob Leonard to Steve Rothman. A little later Gary Martin scored on a pass from Stuart McCord, and then Gary Martin kicked one that bounced off the goalies hands and John Meade kicked it in for the score. Herlihy kicked in the fourth goal. The Bucks almost scored several times but good defense by goalie Peter May and John Wiseman averted the danger.

Junior bantams, boys scores given

A second exciting weekend of soccer was played this weekend and showed the teams to be very evenly matched, and some very good soccer being played.

Warriors 4 — Panthers 1 — The Warriors came on very strong from the beginning and allowed Steve Masielle to score only one goal. Chris Parker scored three goals and Kevin Scully put one in. Tom Lee and Termaine Atkinson were excellent as fullbacks, while Frank Muggia and Ed Wade were outstanding on the attack. As usual Tim Casey showed excellent ball control.

Tigers 1 — Knights 0 — Well played game. Steven Driscoll scored early in the first half, and the Tiger defense played extremely well. A. May as goalie saved the game with two superb saves. A. Leach was excellent at center fullback. Joe Waite starred as goalkeeper for the Knights, while Scott McGovern and Mark Micciche did a good job as fullbacks, helped by S. Higgins. Michael Getchy showed much improvement.

Minutemen 2 — Shamrocks 2 — The Minutemen fought back from a 2-0 deficit to tie the hard fighting Shamrocks. Paskerian scored both goals for the Minutemen. Sandy Stanten tapped in a fine corner kick from John Ulwick for the first Green score. Marc Sterenka provided the tying goal for the Shamrocks. Adam Goodman played outstanding soccer at center half.

Celtics 1 — Eagles 1 — Two evenly matched teams fought a hard battle which neither could win, because of a last minute goal by Danny Sullivan. Ned White and Dave Suvek kept constant pressure on the Eagles' goalie throughout the game. Bob McGillicuddy played a strong game in goal for the Celtics who were led by Steve Marine and Mark Kennedy on defense.

Pee wee soccer's Sept. 25 scores

Lt. Blue 2 — Maroon 2
Evenly matched teams battled to a 2-2 standoff. Light Blue goalie Terrance Shahan was outstanding, making several excellent saves, including one on a direct penalty kick. Maroon players Todd Wheeldon, John Reidy, and Marco Sartori executed a strong defense while David O'Connor and Shawn McGovern accounted for the two goals.

Orange 6 — Light Green 1
Four goals by Mark Herlihy and one each from Kevin Driscoll and Eric Svahn led Orange to a 6-1 victory. Strong defensive play by David Budd and David McCall were major factors in the low scoring by Light Green.

Grey 4 — Dark Blue 1
Dark Blue lost to Grey 4-1, their only goal scored by Scott Falzano who showed excellent ball control throughout the game. Good positional play was exhibited by the entire team who, unfortunately, were unable to capitalize on several scoring opportunities.

Red 8 — Black 0
The Team coasted to an easy victory, 8-0, over an undermanned Black Team. Seven members, including scorers of the week before, were absent from the Back lineup. The Red scoring was distributed among six players, Stu Charlson, Paul Sughrue, Drew Bairnsfather, Geoff McIntosh, David and John Donnellan. Strong halfback play was demonstrated by Nathan Bokil and Yann Zombeck. An impenetrable defense was presented by John Surabian, Tom Gittleman and Scott Burntett.

Khaund, Cowen champs after town tennis tourney finals

The 47th annual town tennis tournament ended on schedule Sunday afternoon after three weekends of fine competition. Open to residents and employees of Winchester, there were 113 singles players and 139 doubles teams in the various events.

Dipak Khaund, Winchester High School junior, became the 1976 men's singles champion in a three-set final played Sunday morning. Seeded 13 in the draw of 84, Khaund downed Charles Watson, Bob Horne, Carmen Elio, and finally defending champion Bill MacNeill to gain his trophy.

For the third time Susan Cowen's name will be engraved on the ladies' singles trophy. Stella Gallant, who won the title in 1971, was the finalist in the event which drew 29 entrants. Neither woman lost a set on her way to the finals. To win Mrs. Cowen had a 6-1, 4-6, 6-1 score.

Perhaps the tightest of all the final matches was the ladies' doubles, where Joan Richardson an2 Peg Wiseman defeated Sue Cowen and Deedee Cunningham 6-3, 4-6, 7-6, with the tie-breaker going to 5-4. Thirty-one teams entered the ladies' doubles.

Both the winning and finalist men's doubles teams worked overtime in the semi-finals on Saturday. First seeded Bob Horne and Bill MacNeill took three sets to beat Will Aldrich and Carmen Elio, while Peter Campbell and Doug Carlson also went three against Rick Casey and Tom Dunn. It was a straight sets final for Horne and MacNeill over Carlson-Campbell the next day.

Fifty-four teams entered the mixed doubles, a sizable increase over last year's draw. Defending champions Brenda Johnson and Carmen Elio won the trophy for the third consecutive year by defeating Gail and Bill MacNeill 7-6, 6-2.

It was a successful tournament. Chairmen Cynthia and Leo Daley attribute this success to four things: the new scheduling system; the unexpected cooperation of the weather; the responsible attitudes of the players; and most important, the hard work of their committee whose members were Susan and Clark Cowen, Don Ellis, Pat and Frank Furey, Stella and Bob Gallant, Jane Hersee, Bobbi McNamara, Pinky and Al Samoiloff, Joan and Bob Stevens, and Jim Stewart.

Friborg high scorer

Starting on the front line of the Williams College soccer team this year is John Friborg of Winchester. Friborg holds the freshman scoring record of 18 goals.

WHS parents, faculty to meet

The Winchester High School Parent-Faculty Association will hold its fall meeting October 6 in the social studies area of the high school.

Local woman wins indoor tournament

Mrs. Jeanne Robillard of Winchester was winner and high-scorer of last Saturday's Mixed-up Doubles Tennis Tournament held at the Winchester Indoor Lawn Tennis Center. In appreciation of her victory, she was presented an inscribed trophy.

According to Tournament Director, Mary Roark, the winning performance of Mrs. Robillard was characterized by steady play and effective court coverage. Her ability to keep the ball deep and capitalize on opponent errors contributed greatly to her score.

Young sailor named by club

Natalie O'Halloran, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James P. O'Halloran, 20 Mayflower rd., has been elected secretary of the West Dennis Junior Yacht Club for 1976-77 season.

During the past summer, Natalie won the award for the most outstanding sailor in the West Dennis Yacht Cub Sailing School.

Natalie is in the ninth grade at Lynch Junior High School.

V-O bowling

The first bowling session of the season for the Vinson-Owen League got underway September 21.

The officers extended welcomes to last year's bowlers who returned and also to the new bowlers, Peg DiBlasi, Beverly Elia, Eileen Foley, Kathy Knouse, Bunny McCarthy, and Lauri Minnetti.

The high single game went to Nanci Blasi, who bowled a 109. She was followed by Rosemarie Vita with a 104; Ann Pierce with a 103 and a 100; and Florence Giangrande with a 100. The high triple went to Rosemarie Vita, who bowled a 298. Judy Johnson and Mickey Walsh made strikes.

Oriental dance offered

One week left for signups for recreation dept. classes

There is only one more week to register for the Oriental Dance classes to be offered by the Recreation Department beginning Wednesday, October 13.

Director of Recreation Donald L. Spinney notes that the classes are informal and strictly for exercise and enjoyment.

Other fall programs offered are: Women's physical fitness class on Tuesdays beginning October 26 at Lincoln School; woodworking Saturday mornings at Lynch Junior High beginning October 30; girls' gymnastics at Lynch Junior High on Saturdays beginning October 30; riflery instruction sponsored by the Department of Civilian Markmanship, Wash., D.C. and the recreation department, conducted on Monday evenings beginning November 8; baton-twirling for grades three through nine at the Lincoln School beginning Saturday, October 23; gym hockey for boys grades seven - nine at Lynch Junior High on Wednesday evenings beginning October 27.

Also, arts and crafts for elementary and junior high girls and boys Saturdays beginning October 23; ten pin bowling league for students in grades six - nine beginning Saturday, November 6; gym hockey Saturday mornings at McCall Junior High starting October 30.

Spinney reminds us that although the recreation department does not organize the community school hours, the gymnasium is open Monday, Thursday and Friday evenings 6 - 10 p.m. and commencing Saturday, October 23, will be open Saturday and Sunday 1 - 7 p.m.

Spinney finally noted that the popular drama workshop under the direction of Paulett Taggart will be conducted again in January and that rehearsals and set design are progressing nicely for the children's theatre production of "Pinocchio" December 10.

Girls swim team wins

The 1976-1977 WHS Girls Swim Team coming off last years winning season defeated Wellesley High Girls Swim Team in a practice meet at Babson College last Friday. The score was 89-81.

The local girls got off to a slow start in the 200 yd. medley relay when the relay of Kathy Conley (back), Bitser Dexter (breast), Carol McCarthy (butter), and Lisa MacDonald (free) finished second, while Winchester's second relay team of Stephanie Nichols (back), Mary Ellen Kennedy (breast), Paula Hennely (butter), and Jennifer Karp (free) finished third.

In the 200 yd. freestyle event tri-captains Carol Minutoli and Susan Stackpole finished first and third respectively, with Susan Surette finishing fourth.

Sophomore Laurie Grant handily won the gruelling 200 yd. individual medley event with an outstanding time of 2:31:3, with juniors Carol McCarthy and Bitser Dexter finishing fourth and fifth respectively.

The Sachem sprinters Kathy Conley, Lisa MacDonald and Jennifer Karp finished second, third, and fifth, in the 50 yd. freestyle event.

Under a lot of pressure, junior Gaye Pollino scored an impressive 114 points taking a second place in the diving event. The two new Sachem driver Stephanie Ruta and Ada Pollino did a good job taking third and fourth place.

In the buttefly event, junior Carol McCarthy took first place with a time of 1:15:2; junior Paula Hennely took fourth place with sophomore Dotty Dobbins taking fifth.

The 100 yd. fresstyle event saw Laurie Grant finishing first with a time of 1:01:0 with Laurie Walsh and tri-captain Lisa MacDonald finishing fourth and sixth.

Once again Carol Minutoli, undefeated in the 500 yd. freestyle event last season easily won, with Susan Stackpole and Kathy Kerrigan finishing fifth and sixth.

The backstroke event saw Kathy Conley finishing second with sophomores Stephanie Nichols and Lynn Foden finishing fourth and sixth respectively.

Bitser Dexter took first easily in the 100 yd. breaststroke event with sophomores Mary Ellen Kennedy and Terry Burns taking third and sixth.

The meet closed with an exciting finish in the 400 yd. freestyle relay with Carol Minutoli leading off; Stephanie Nichols, going second holding the lead; Jennifer Karp swimming third; and Laurie Grant anchoring the relay. All the girls did an outstanding job.

The relay of Lynn Foden, Therese Fiorello, Mary Beth Burns, and Kathy Kerrigan did a good job and finished fourth.

The team will open its regular season at Minute Man Regional Vocational School against Lexington October 6.

Registration on for aid course

Winchester Chapter of the American Red Cross is now receiving registrations for its Standard First Aid and Personal Safety Course to begin the middle of October. The class will meet two evenings a week, from 7 to 9:30 for two and a half weeks.

The class is kept small and a certificate is awarded at the end of the course.

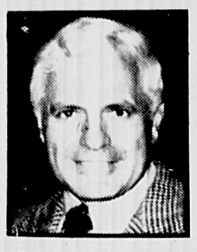

Anyone interested in attending this course should call or phone the Winchester Chapter at 39 Church st., 729-0406.

SPIRITS OF '76

by DAN BUSA

A little wine can do a lot when you add it to sauce . . . Any one of many spirited sauces can transform everyday food into something extra special . . . When using wine sauces to complement main dishes, remember that red wines generally are the best accents for red meats, while white wines enhance poultry, fish, and veal . . . Try making a chablis sauce by blending together cornstarch, salt, cream and chicken broth plus chablis wine . . . Cook, stirrring constantly until mixture thickens . . . Stir sauce into egg yolk; then return to saucepan . . . Cook until bubbly, then ladle sauce over poached or baked fish.

BUSA LIQUORS is the exclusive distributor for "Spirit of '76" as well as handling many fine brand name liquors and imported and domestic wines. Stop by and browse, or ask our staff any questions you may have. BUSA LIQUORS has two locations - Lexington and Burlington for your convenience. Phone No. 861-1776. Hours: Mon. thru Sat. 9 a.m. - 10 p.m.

Religious ed to begin at church

Religious Education classes for St. Mary's Parish will start the Week of October 3, with the majority of the classes being held in the neighborhoods.

This year the Thursday afternoon session will begin promptly at 3:15 and will be dismissed at 4:15. All Grade 7 classes will be in the neighborhoods this year.

Some volunteer teachers are still needed and are being recruited by the neighborhood chairmen. People who wish to volunteer to teach, should contact the Religious Education Office to offer their services.

The Confirmation Program at St. Mary's Parish is a two-year program. Those wishing to join the program must be in at least the 8th grade, and will be invested into the Confirmation, Level I Program at a ceremony on October 18. The Level II students, who will be receiving Confirmation, in April are mostly 9th graders.

The 1976-77 Religious Education Program will be formally opened with a special afternoon of reflection for the religious education workers and their spouses on Sunday, October 3 from 3 to 6 p.m. ending in a social where light refreshments will be served. Rev. Robert Knapp, the director of Religious Education for the Northern District of the Archdiocese of Boston will conduct the service and all teachers are expected to take part in this ceremony.

Tuning out images minister's theme

Sunday, October 3, Rev. Jack D. Zoerheide of the Winchester Unitarian Church will preach on "Tuning Out the Images" at the Worship Service at 10:30. He will discuss "How do visual images affect behavior? and the related issue of censorship, self and public.

At 11:30 a film "But First, This Message" will be presented in the Symmes Room after the worship service. The discussion leader will be Mrs. Jean Johnson from the staff of the Action for Children's Television. Coffee will be served.

Also this Sunday, Church School will begin from 10:30 to 12:30 and Registration continues for all families with offsprings through 12th grade.

Rummage sale at Epiphany

The annual fall rummage sale and gift boutique of the Epiphany Parish will be held October 6 from 7-9 p.m. and October 7 from 9:30 in the morning to 12 noon at the Epiphany Church, 70 Church st. Everyone is welcome.

Former pastor in hospital post

Rev. Dean E. Benedict of Hudson, widely known Methodist clergyman, has been appointed chairman of the Chaplaincy Committee of the 200-bed New England Rehabilitation Hospital, Woburn.

Mr. Benedict is pastor of the First United Methodist Church, Hudson, and has held pastorates in Winchester, Quincy, and Malden.

He was pastor of the Crawford Memorial Church, Winchester, from 1970-74; Center Methodist Church, Quincy, from 1967-1970; and took over his duties in Hudson in 1974. He was also an associate minister during his student days, from 1964-1967, at the Center Methodist Church, Malden.

Mr. Benedict received his B.S. in education from Salem State College, class of 1963, and his STM, master's degree in theology from Boston University School of Theology, in 1967.

In Hudson, he is chaplain of the police department, secretary-treasurer of the Hudson Clergy Association, and an elected member of the town School Committee.

While in Winchester he was president of the Winchester Ecumenical Association. In Malden, he was president of the Malden Council of Churches and the Clergy Association. At Quincy, he served as chaplain at Quincy City Hospital and was president of the Quincy Clergy Association.

He was named Protestant chaplain at the 200-bed New England Rehailitation Hosptial, Woburn, early in 1971, and has directed an expanding program during the past few years.

Baptists to hear missionary 6th

The Rev. Ralph L. George, American Baptist missionary serving in the Philippines, will speak at First Baptist Church of Winchester Wed., Oct. 6, 7:30 p.m.

In November 1945, the Rev. and Mrs. George were appointed as American Baptist missionaries for service in the Philippines. His first assignment was as general missionary for all of Iloilo Province. In 1949, he was appointed Mission Secretary for the field, assuming more responsibility than is normally expected of a first-term missionary. The work as mission secretary ended when he left for his first furlough.

Upon returning to the Philippines in 1965, the Georges were assigned to work with students in Manila. For two and one half years of this term he also served as actor pastor of the Faith Baptist Church of Manila, during which time a fine, modern church building was constructed.

Beginning a third term in 1971, Mr. George continued at Faith Baptist Church terminating in 1973 when he was transferred to Iloilo City to serve as Mission Correspondent and Financial Secretary. This work engaged him until his departure this year for normal furlough.

Born in Washington state, Mr. George is a graduate of the Universtiy of Redlands. He earned his B.D. and M.A. degrees at the American Baptist Seminary of the West in Berkeley, CA. Mr. and Mrs. George are members of the First Baptist Church of Vallejo, CA. They have two sons.

'The Burning Hell' to be shown Friday

"The Burning Hell," a motion picture about Hell, will be shown at Lexington Christian Academy tomorrow night at 7:30 under the sponsorship of Liberty Baptist Church of Arlington.

The movie will feature the Bottomless Pit where lost souls fall forever and King Herod being eaten by worms according to the Scriptures.

Most of the filming was done in the Holy Land. Anyone needing transportation may contact Pastor Watt.

Give a hoot, don't pollute!

Red Cross instructors Stephen Armstrong and John Fichera explain life saving techniques of cardiopulmonary resuscitation at a course which has started at the chapter house. The dummy is Tammi, a full-size model of a woman which has breathing gaughes and other aids to assist in teaching medical techniques when no physician is present.

Selectmen referee fight on hospital area groundskeeping

After an hour-long public meeting at Monday night's selectmen's meeting, between Mrs. Elizabeth Henriques, whose property abuts that of the expanding Winchester Hospital, and Reese James, director of the hospital, the two parties agreed to meet to resolve their differences, mostly semantic, on the upkeep of the properties in back of the hospital.

Mrs. Henriques contends that the hospital is not maintaining the grounds behind the hospital, where she lives, in a condition similar to that of the grounds fronting Highland avenue.

James contends that road work has been completed as part of the hospital's plans for expansion, and that lots have been leveled and cleared as set forward in a covenant between the town and the hospital.

Mrs. Henriques was given a parcel of land abutting her property on Orient street when the hospital took on a program of expansion with the understanding that she could use it as she wished in return for keeping it maintained. Mrs. Henriques said that she agreed to that idea as long as the hospital first put the lot in order — leveled, seeded, and ready for upkeep, she said.

Selectmen were acting as go-betweens to assist in solving what has turned into a year-long disagreement or misunderstanding between Mrs. Henriques and her neighbors, and Winchester Hospital.

James said he thought it was "inappropriate" for the board to be discussing this dilemma and town meeting member McCarthy of Orient street, who appeared on Mrs. Henriques's behalf, countered with the "visual blight" which the area now has become.

Both parties agreed to meet again and try to come up with definitions of "maintain" which both would find acceptable.

After that portion of the hearing was completed, Mrs. Henriques further requested that a shield be placed around the light which shines into her bedroom and that a stop sign be placed at Orient and Maple. Both requests had been made a number of months ago and are still in process of bureaucratic solution

Rev. Cronin begins at St. Eulalia's

Humberto Cardinal Medeiros has appointed Rev. Lawrence J. Cronin parish priest at St. Eulalia's Church to replace Rev. Msgr. Joseph Lyons who retired Saturday. Rev. Cronin's appointment was effective Tuesday.

He was born in Dorchester and studied at St. Charles Seminary in Baltimore and at St. John's Seminary in Brighton. He was ordained at Holy Cross Cathedral in 1950 by the then Bishop Cushing.

Since his ordination, Rev. Father Cronin has served as associate pastor at St. Catherine's in Somerville, St. James in Medford, and St. John the Evangelist in Cambridge. He comes to Winchester after serving since 1972 as part-time consultant for special education in religious education for the archdiocese of Boston.

St. Mary's Sodality to hear priest here

St. Mary's Sodality will hold its first meeting of 1976 — 1977 on Tuesday, October 5.

There will be a mass in the school hall at 7:30 p.m. followed by Father Charles Anadore as guest speaker. Father Anadore is a former curate of St. Mary's and is now pastor at St. Barbara's in Woburn.

Refreshments will be served after the meeting and everyone is welcome to come and see old friends and to make new ones.

High school update. . .

The seven period day: too early to tell if it works

By RICK PEARL

After the first three weeks of classes at the high school, the seven-period day, for better or worse, seems to have been accepted by the faculty and students. The uncertainty still remains, however, as to whether the loss of a period can and will affect some students adversely.

As far as he knows, high school Principal Vincent Larocco says there have been no problems in the area of students having trouble graduating because of the reduction from eight to seven periods a day. This was one of the fears of a large group of parents and students voiced last spring, when the school board voted on the issue. What would happen to those students who would need to take added courses in their senior year to get the necessary credit points for graduation?

Larocco said that there are always a few students who need a small number of credits to graduate at the end of the 12th grade, and that they are generally able to get those points through night, or summer school classes. But, as far as expecting a large number of students to be in this position because of the period loss, he knows of no such case and if there were any, "I'm sure I'd have known by now."

Larocco also claimed that almost all students who elected to take an "extra" course ("extra" in this case meaning anything other than math, English, science, history, or foreign language) were able to receive it. Except for industrial arts, where there has never been an adequate number of instructors for the amount of students, students who wanted to participate in these "extras" were able to. It is here that the students disagree.

There have been some students who elected and were not able to receive such courses as psychology and economics, which are considered "extra" courses since they are taught for only a half a year. One student calls the administrations' attitude toward art, music, shop, home ec, and gym the "Little 5 Syndrome." He believes, and many students agree, that a course should never be classified as "extra" if it is just as meaningful to the pupil as an English or math class. However, these courses are usually the first to be eliminated when it comes to scheduling, and the students feel they wouldn't have been cut out if not for the period loss.

Another complaint is the reduction of advanced placement science courses from ten to seven periods a week. Since physical education is required at least three times a week by law, the gym periods are scheduled where the old science periods once were to fit them into the schedule.

The teachers, the great majority of whom favored the eight-period day, have displayed a "very professional attitude", according to Larocco. "It's simply a case of the seven-period day being here, the teachers accepting the fact and going about their jobs, despite their personal preference."

Although Larocco believes that if the teachers had the choice to decide which format to follow, they wouldn't hesitate to choose the eight-periods, he's "personally extremely pleased with the positive attitude of not only the staff, but the students, concerning the situation." The teachers have more to gain from the extra period setup, since they would have an extra preparatory period, and they'd be able to see and help more students in their spare time.

A lot of students aren't affected by the cutback, and thus have no reason to complain. They are in the majority, and perhaps this is but another reason why more hasn't been said since the opening of school. To them the lost period just means one less study hall or open period, which wouldn't hinder their learning process at all.

Many are of the opinion that period reduction was a way in which the school could have more control over the student body. Last year a severe vandalism problem occured at the high school, and when it became apparent that the school committee was seriously considering the seven-period plan, students were asked for suggestions, other than the cutback, to solve the problem. Instead they came up with a very sound argument saying that the loss of one period would not deter the small minority of students doing the damage. They did offer some alternatives.

However, since the beginning of the school year, short a period as it may be, vandalism has been cut down and the corridors and courtyards are quieter and less cluttered. But does this necessarily mean the seven-period day is working? There are various other possible reasons, not the least of which is that it is still early and there hasn't been enough time for the students to get restless. Also, the emergence of the totally new Work-Study program, for students who weren't interested in what most of the rest of the school had to offer, has been a great success, and some of the kids who would have ordinarily cut the regular classes are showing up every day.

So, the question as to whether the seven-period day was worth all the debating and concern arises once more. While it's true that the vast majority of the students are unaffected by the change, the few who are are unhappy. They feel the school committee is apathetic to their problems and that they are reverting to a system that was inaffective before. Although it isn't exactly a question of whether they'll graduate or not, it is one of getting the courses they desired, "extra" or not!

The school administration, on the other hand, says there will always be schedule problems, and they don't believe this year will be any different than before.

Generally, the attitude in and around school the high school has been good, as Larocco said. Even though the students and teachers may be disappointed by the decision, they are accepting it and going about their business despite it.

Frank D. Bates

Frank Donald Bates, a former resident of Winchester, died suddenly last Thursday at his home on Acacia road in Kennebunkport, Me.

Born in Dorchester March 30, 1911, he was educated in Winchester schools. He was the son of Martin F. and Grace (Fillerbrown) Bates. He graduated from Bowdoin College in Brunswick, Me.

Services were conducted Monday afternoon at the South Congregational Church in Kennebunkport, with the Rev. Robert M. Howes officiating.

Mr. Bates served as a lieutenant colonel in the Army Air Force during World War II. In 1973 he retired from his position as an executive with the New England Mutual Insurance Company of Boston and moved to Maine.

He leaves his widow, Mrs. Virginia (Stratton) Bates of Kennebunkport; a son, Donald M. Bates of South Attleboro; a daughter, Mrs. Patricia B. Cantella of Nashua, N.H.; a sister, Mrs. Pearl Broderick; and five grandchildren and a niece.

Arrangements for the funeral were by the Bibber Memorial Chapel, Kennebunk, Me.

Marjorie Ann Burke

Funeral services were held at Immaculate Conception Church on Monday for Marjorie Ann Burke, 49, of 11C Winn Park, Woburn. The former resident of Winchester and Cambridge died after a brief illness at Lawrence Memorial Hospital on September 24.

Miss Burke, daughter of Maurice and the late Mary (Quill) Burke, was employed as a lab technician at Parametrics Electronics, Winchester, for ten years.

Surviving Miss Burke are three brothers, William, Robert and Donald of Cambridge, her brothers Henry J. of Bedford and Paul K. of Winchester. Also her sister, Barbara Tralion of Brookline, and several nieces and nephews.

Burial was in Calvary Cemetery. Lane Funeral Home handled the arrangements.

Bessy Creighton

Private graveside services were held recently for Bessy Creighton, 92, noted artist, who passed on in Winchester September 25 after a brief illness.

She is survived by her sister, Mrs. Robert W. Armstrong of Winchester.

Miss Creighton was born in Lynn and attended the Boston Museum of Fine Arts School. Her paintings are displayed in galleries across the nation. She belonged to the Lynn Historical Society and was a member of the Old North Church and Marblehead Art Associations.

Alice G. Fitzgerald

Funeral services were held Monday at St. Mary's Church for Alice G. (Foley) Fitzgerald, 82, of 4 Chardon rd. and Fort Lauderdale. She died at Winchester Hospital on September 24 after a short illness.

Mrs. Fitzgerald, a graduate of the Winchester public school system and Burdett College in Boston, was active in the affairs of St. Mary's Church for many years. She was also a member of the Guild of the Infant Savior, Winchester Seniors, and the Shuffle Board Club of Fort Lauderdale.

Mrs. Fitzgerald was the wife of the late John F. Fitzgerald and the sister of Margaret J. Hevey of Winchester and the late Mary E. McHale.

Burial was in Ca... Cemetery. Lane F... Home handled ... arrangements.

Marion P. Howell

Marion P. Howell, 56, a welder for 25 years at Raytheon in Quincy, died suddenly September 23 at Mt. Auburn Hospital. She was a resident of 624 Main st.

Rev. Walter Davis officiated at funeral services at the First Congregational Church on Monday. Burial followed in Wildwood Cemetery.

Mrs. Howell, daughter of Mark and Maude (Humphrey) Parsons, was born in Woburn and attended schools there. She was a resident of Winchester for the past 25 years.

Surviving are her husband Alvin F. Howell of Winchester, and her four sons, James F. Howell of North Lauderdale, Phillip M. Robishaw of Rowley, Kenneth T. Robishaw of Winchester, and Donald M. Robishaw of Medford. Also surviving are eight grandchildren and her sisters Mrs. Nancy Hart of Exeter, N.H., and Mrs. Martha Stasiak of Manchester. Mrs. Fitzgerald was also the sister of the late Mary E. Sullivan.

Funeral arrangements were by the Lane Funeral Home.

Jean H. Jefferson

A memorial service was held Monday for Jean Hall Jefferson who died September 23 at her home at 35 Cabot st.

Rev. Walter Davis of the First Congregational Church officiated at the afternoon memorial service which was followed by burial in Wildwood Cemetery.

Mrs. Jefferson, who was born in Vermont, was a member of the First Congregational Church in Winchester and of the EnKa Society. She was a former resident of Laconia, New Hampshire, where her mother, Marion N. Hall, resides.

Surviving Mrs. Jefferson, beside her mother, are her husband James F. Jefferson, a daughter Jill J. Park of Stamford, and a son Gary H. Jefferson of Hanover, Massachusetts.

Donations may be made in her name to the Winchester Hospital.

Russell Maintain

Memorial services were held September 30 at the Newtonville Central Congregational Church for Russell Maintain, 82, of Newtonville.

Mr. Maintain, president and founder of Maintain Inc. of Woburn, designers and manufacturers of steel store display equipment, died September 24 at Newton-Wellesley Hospital.

He was the father of Mrs. Edward W. (Jean M.) Higgins of Winchester. He is also survived by three granddaughters.

Mr. Maintain was a pioneer and recognized authority on store engineering prior to the mass movement to self-service stores immediately after World War II. He taught at Boston University, wrote articles on retailing for magazines, and lectured to many wholesaler and retailer groups around the country. He also worked as a consultant for various companies.

Husband of the late Gertrude Hunter Maintain, he was born in Plainville in 1894. He was a veteran of World War I and a member of American Legion Post No. 214 in Weston.

SHERIFF'S SALE
The Commonwealth of Massachusetts

Middlesex, ss., August 3, A.D. 1976

Taken on execution and will be sold by public auction, on Wednesday, the thirteenth day of October A.D. 1976, at three o'clock P.M., at my office, 99 First Street in Cambridge, in said county of Middlesex, all the right, title and interest that Anthony F. Valenti of Winchester in said county of Middlesex, had (not exempt by law from attachment or levy on execution) on the third day of August A.D. 1976, at nine o'clock and no minutes, a.m., being the time when the same was taken on execution in and to the following described registered land, to wit:

Certificate No. 129283, Book No. 776, Page No. 133, of that certain parcel of land situated in Winchester in the County of Middlesex and said Commonwealth, bounded and described as follows:

Northwesterly by Thornberry Road one hundred feet;

Northeasterly by lot 43 as shown on plan hereinafter mentioned, two hundred fifteen and 94-100 feet;

Southeasterly by land now or formerly of George E. Locke, one hundred eighty-two and 31-100 feet; and Southwesterly by lot 46 on said plan, one hundred fifty-seven and 74-100 feet.

Said parcel is shown as lot 44 on said plan. (Plan No. 20756L)

All of said boundaries are determined by the Court, to be located as shown on a subdivision plan, as approved by the Court, filed in the Land Registration Office, a copy of which is filed in the Registry of Deeds for the South Registry District of Middlesex County in Registration Book 573, Page 4, with Certificate 88554.

The above described land has the benefit of the terms of four stipulations with Charles H. Coulter et ux, one by George R. Menchin et al, Document 222952, one by Frank Lyman Jr., Document 222953, one by Lillian M. Grace, Document 222954, and one by Amelia G. Wheeler et al, Document 222955.

Together with the perpetual rights and easement more particularly set forth in Document 306042.

The above described land is subject to and has the benefit of a sewer easement fifteen feet wide running along the southeasterly boundary as shown on said plan, set forth in said Document 306042.

The above described land is subject to an assessment by the Town of Winchester under Order that common sewer be constructed in Ridge Street, Document 245904.

There is appurtenant to the above described land the right to use the streets as shown on said plan in common with others entitled thereto, set forth in Document 322799.

The above described land is subject to the reservations as to right of way and easements more particularly set forth in said Document 322799.

And it is further certified that said land is under the operation and provisions of Chapter 185 of the General Laws, and any amendments thereto, and that the title of said Anthony F. Valenti and Helen Valenti to said land is registered under said Chapter, subject, however, to any of the encumbrances mentioned in Section forty-six of said Chapter, and any amendments thereto, which may be subsisting, and subject also as aforesaid.

Student goals stress need for role in policy making

A list of goals and objectives developed by the Wincheseter Student Advisory Committee stresses the need for student participation in the formulation of educational objectives and programs and seeks to establish better communication and cooperation between the students and the school committee.

The list was presented by Brian Tarbox, a member of the advisory committee and student representative to the school board.

"It goes without saying that there's a lack of communication between the students and the administration and the school committee," Tarbox said. He added that he hoped one of the goals may help to alleviate the situation: a regular scheduling of school committee visits to classrooms at the high school.

The list notes that the "most important goal of the student advisory committee, and the reason for (it's) establishment by state law, is to provide a forum whereby students can have input on decisions affecting them, providing the insights of youth, (and) develop and maintain an attitude of respect and trust and willingness to listen between students and members of the school committee."

Another major goal was simply to increase student awareness of the existence of organizations like the student advisory committee, the regional advisory council, and the student service centers.

One change proposed by the council was the "establishment of a mechanism for increased student input into the hiring and firing of personnel." The question of student participation in the teacher evaluation process has been before the school board for some time, but the committee delayed any such participation until next year by asking Assistant Superintendent Walter Gleason to continue using his "field method" of evaluation for the current school year.

Other goals include the student monitoring of various programs to gauge their effectiveness and the development of more student-run programs to encourage a more positive attitude at the high school. Among the suggested goals were:

—Reduction of vandalism. Of this problem the report says: "The objective is clear, the answer is not. Student unity will help and the student-to-student orientation is one means to this end." The student-run sophomore orientation program began this year, with seniors discussing the high school rules and regulations with the new students. The students hope to expand and refine the program.

—Improving the school's image. Tarbox complains that "positive things done by students often go largely unreported while every act of vandalism is almost common knowledge."

—Increase student participation in extra-curricular activities.

—The evaluation of several aspects of high school life, such as the transition to a seven period day; course prerequisites; the credit system; the "weighing of grade scores given to AP courses; the possible use of Chapter 215 of the state laws and Winchester's compliance with Chapters 766 and 622; and curriculum coverage.

—Better cooperation between the advisory committee and the student union.

—Reduction of the "misuse" of free time by both greater participation in the community careers programs and courses and the operation of an open campus orientation program for the sophomore class.

—Recognition of the various interpretations of the word "success." The report states, "A student getting an 'A' in auto mechanics has succeeded just as much as the student getting an 'A' in advanced placement calculus, and has just as much right to feel proud. Going to a four-year college is not the only way to succeed; a person going to a job after high school need not be condescended to."

—The development of an alternative to suspension. While the local student advisory committee is not working on this project directly, other regional councils have been assigned the task by the state council.

Garage sale for ERA a success

The garage sale sponsored by families supporting the ratification of the Massachusetts Equal Rights Amendment, which will appear as a referendum question on the November ballot, was a fundraising success, according to the sponsors.

Free literature and bumper stickers were given out. The sponsors plan to use the money to cover advertising and mailing costs.

For any information concerning the amendment, the Winchester supporters of the amendment encourage you to call co-ordinators Binnie Backer or Fran McClintock at 34 Fells rd.

Cross country in loss at opener

The Winchester cross country team dropped its first meet to Watertown by a 20-35 score. It was a closely contested race with the first ten runners finishing less than a minute apart.

James Tierney of the home team crossed the line first and was followed by three team mates. The first Sachem to finish was Co-captain Rich DeConto and the next four finishers were also from Winchester.

Winchester took the junior varsity event by a 27-39 count with James LaRoche of Watertown in first place but the next three finishers were from Winchester.

Coach Joe Cantillon's team faced Burlington here Tuesday and they will be at Reading tomorrow afternoon to face the perennially strong Rocket aggregation.

The summaries:

Two 2-1 losses for soccer team

After losing its first two games by 3-1, the Sachem booters under the direction of Gene Bouley showed improvement this week as they dropped 2-1 decisions to Watertown and defending Eastern Mass. champion Belmont. The team is rounding into shape and should be just about ready to post a victory against both Burlington and Reading, whom they meet this week.

The team played an excellent game in its home opener with Watertown and outshot the visitors by 27-16. Watertown took advantage of a defensive lapse by the Winchester defense to tally a first period goal.

The Sachems then outplayed Watertown in the second period and had many scoring opportunities. However, they could not dent the net as they hit the posts, defensive players or booted the ball over the top of the net.

They tied the game in the fourth period on a goal by Seth Goodman with only two minutes left to play. But they then made the mistake of looking ahead to the overtime, and Watertown caged the winning goal with less than a minute left on the clock.

The game at Belmont found the defending titlists opening fast and tallying a first period goal. They threatened many more times but Gary Tedesco was playing a sensational game in the Winchester goal. He made several diving saves with hands and feet to keep Belmont from scoring.

The Belmont net minder was almost equally proficient and he made one particularly outstanding save on what looked like a sure goal by Willie Strazzulo of the Sachems.

The second half found the Winchester team playing the home group on even terms. They tied the game in the third period on a goal by Co-captain Mark Nelson. Two minutes later the Belmont team tallied the winning goal but while the 2-1 lead was a disappointment to Winchester they knew that they had played a good game against one of the best teams in the state.

Libraries program needs volunteers

The Winchester School Volunteers for Boston are looking for persons to spend one day a month or more helping to operate the group's libraries in South Boston and the North End.

They met Monday at the home of Mrs. Steven Moore to discuss the year's plans.

For five years the volunteers have maintained a library for the children of the Bigelow School in South Boston. Last year they opened an additional library at the Michelangelo School in the North End.

Anyone interested in participating should contact Mary Gay Deskin, 397 Highland ave.

Winchester at the crossroads... ...The Star takes a look

Attempt to stop 'illegal' Senate bill for 'six-million dollar golden pipeline' pushed; environmentalists will ask project injunction

By Karen Whittlesey-First

Environmentalists fighting the MDC plan to bulldoze a wide swath through the woods around Spot Pond in the Middlesex Fells Reservation, brought to light some startling and mysterious new developments this week in the second round of their battle. They and The Star have thus far made the first public disclosures in this case. The MDC has made none.

—They discovered that the senate bill that would allow construction of an elevated, "six million dollar golden pipeline, through this natural, wooded area, and which they had thought had been laid to rest, was instead being sneaked through at the last minute.

—They uncovered another "project" that is a new twist in a continuing mystery. The Bear Hill area, on the other side of Spot Pond from the proposed pipeline, has been surveyed "as the beginning effort of a long range proposal." No one seems to know for sure what that "proposal" is all about.

—This week the Friends of the Middlesex Fells, Inc. voted unanimously to join other environmental groups in opposing construction of pipelines through the Fells and requiring full public disclosure of the project and its environmental impact.

—The group, assured by the Conservation Law Foundation of New England that Senate Bill 1522 is illegal, was trying to get Senator Joseph Timilty, who is interested in environmental control, to get the bill thrown out entirely. They had not been successful by press time.

Senate Bill 1522 is now in its third reading in committee. If not halted, it will come to the senate floor for a two-thirds vote to authorize the MDC engineering department to etch a wide scar through the Fells and to begin construction on the overground pipeline. The next step would be for the bill to go to the house for a similar authorization.

The bill, proposed by Senator Stephen McGrail, is thought to be illegal by the Conservation Law Foundation of New England, Inc., because it does not specify either the current use of the public land or the intent of the legislature explicitly to authorize this diversion of public land.

Article 97, added to the Massachusetts Constitution in 1972, requires a two-thirds vote of the state legislature for any new use to be placed upon an MDC reservation.

There has been no public hearing on the matter and no public disclosure of the Spot Pond water structures project until it was first revealed by The Star September 9.

Charles Carlson of Winchester, vice president of the Friends of the Middlesex Fells, Inc., a group devoted to preserving the unique natural quality of the Fells, added a new dimension to the MDC's plans when he found evidence of surveying on Bear Hill. The MDC has not made any specific comments nor any general ones about what they are doing on Bear Hill.

Secretary of Environmental Affairs Evelyn Murphy, in a letter to Carlson, indicates that "surveying activity is being carried out as the beginning effort of a long range proposal for installation of water storage tanks on Bear Hill."

With the broad interpretation of senate 1522, it is possible that any work there could be included if the bill passes both houses.

Bill 1522 reads "An act directing the Metropolitan District Commission to construct a water storage tank in the town of Stoneham and to construct water mains in the towns of Stoneham and Wakefield and in the city of Woburn and increasing the funds which the Metropolitan District Commission

There's no time for sleep for town's firefighters

They may be gathered in the spacious, brightly lighted kitchen, feasting on Francis Mawn's sausages and peppers (which you can smell all the way down Mt. Vernon street) or they may be lying two to a room on white-sheeted cots, but when the call blasts through the Winchester fire house every man jumps into boots and coat and in a flash finds his appropriate place on ladder, engine, rescue, or pump.

For some of the men it's a dream from boyhood come true. There are no checker games and the dalmatian is long gone — it became too messy, but the aura of excitement, tension, and life-saving adventure hasn't changed.

Probably 99 percent of the department moonlights, according to one firefighter.

School board confrontation

Parents blast plan to close Wyman

Opponents of Superintendent William MacDonald's proposal to close the Wyman Elementary School launched a concerted attack at a public hearing on the issue in the high school Tuesday night.

Over 200 parents, many from the Wyman district, and teachers and other citizens attended the three-and-a-half hour meeting, the majority of them opposed to the closing.

Criticizing the school administration for a lack of long range planning, the opponents questioned the educational validity of the plan; argued that the $71,000 annual savings predicted by the superintendent would actually amount to less than $30,000; and presented housing statistics indicating that enrollments may begin to rise again during the next ten years.

School committee Member Robert Frank, while noting that the $71,000 amounts to less than one per cent of the school budget, said the school board was "hard pressed to point to ways to cut $75,000 that wouldn't adversely affect the quality of education in the schools."

Frank also argued that "if Wyman is closed, the good things about Wyman would be transferred along with the teachers and kids in the school." He said the class size would not change.

Sandra Pomeroy, head of the Wyman Parents Association, called for a long range plan that would examine the effects of school closings, the possible establishment of a four-year high school, and the subsequent transformation of the town's two junior high schools into middle schools for grades 6-8.

Representing the Winchester Association of Realtors, Marion G. Crandall offered five reasons why the town "should go into a holding position until our future growth and enrollments can be viewed with more certainty." Her reasons were:

1) The town's neighborhood schools are "the single most important factor" in drawing families to move to Winchester.

2) Metropolitan Area Planning Council projections indicate school enrollments will increase in the near future. The MAPC figures project an enrollment of 6647 students by 1980 (1699 above the present level) and 7041 by 1995.

Fair value $150 to $300 million

Sheriff urges State to take guns without payment

By C. Peter Jorgensen

"My recommendation is that the State not spend one penny," to confiscate handguns Middlesex County Sheriff John Buckley said this week.

Sheriff Buckley, an organizer of People vs. Handguns, the organization which has placed Question 5, the gun confiscation law, on the November ballot, added" . . . there is no obligation of the State to buy back the guns at all." He pointed out that the proposed law "says that the price is to be determined by the Commissioner of Public Safety. . . It says nothing about fair market price . . . he could decide to give them nothing."

This is a new approach for Buckley and those supporting the gun confiscation law to suggest that the bill was written so that State could seize private property without paying compensation. Until now, his group has been arguing that the cost would be "only $50 million," while opponents of Question 5 say the cost will run between $150 and $300 million.

Sheriff Buckley contacted the publisher of this paper after The Arlington Advocate ran an editorial last week questioning the value of spending $150 to $300 million of taxpayers' money to confiscate guns from law abiding and legally licensed citizens.

Buckley quickly admitted that "The whole purpose is not to take the guns away from the Mafia, because they won't give them up. . ." Instead he emphasized the "passion crimes, the accidents and the kids."

Buckley said he felt the cost confiscation could be picked up by the Federal government through the discretionary funding of the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration (LEAA). However, Massachusetts Public Safety Commissioner John F. Kehoe, who is named as collection agent in the law, said, "Positively not!," when asked if LEAA funds would be available.

Commissioner Kehoe added, "With the drastic cut in LEAA funding (down $71 million last year) particularly in block grants and discretionary grants, there would be no way that I could forsee that LEAA could pay for the funding."

He said, "The big problem with the bill as I see it is that I would be charged with making payment for the guns. I estimate that there is a minimum of 800,000 guns and the maximum is unknown." He went on to explain that a person only needs one registration card or license and can own several guns so the total is increased by the number of collectors and target shooters who have several guns.

Commissioner Kehoe added, "Assuming that the 800,000 guns were worth on the market, I'd say, $100 apiece, that's $80 million," but he had no indication of where to get the funds other than from the state legislature.

A spokesman for LEAA in Washington, Joseph Krovisky, said he doubted any LEAA money would be available for confiscation of guns "based on past experience in Baltimore two years ago." That city passed a gun confiscation law offering to pay $50 per gun and asked LEAA for funding but it was turned down. Other sources said Baltimore spent $875,000 in buying up mostly junk guns before calling off the program for lack of funds.

Massachusetts received $16.1 million in total LEAA funds last year and the discretionary fund budget for all 50 states was only $121 million, according to Krovisky. He doubted that any large sums of $40 to $80 or $125 million would be available for confiscation in Massachusetts. He said each state is alloted $2 per person and there is no large amount of money sitting around waiting for such a project. "It is all budgeted out."

Sheriff Buckley said that LEAA had set gun confiscation as a national goal under a commission appointed by President Nixon in 1971 and chaired by Atty. General John Mitchell. However, Krovisky said the gun confiscation recommendation was one of some 700 standards and goals in the commission's report. "The LEAA has neither endorsed nor rejected any of its proposals," he said, it merely funded the study.

Questioned directly on the compensation issue, Buckley said he felt it was perfectly legal to order licensed gun owners, doctors, druggists, security guards, shopkeepers, target shooters and Olympic competitors to turn over their guns to the State without receiving any payment.

Commenting on the section which would allow "payment at a rate to be determined by the Commissioner," Buckley added "I don't think he has to give fair market price. No way. The law doesn't say that." He added that the state laws governing confiscation of land or real property were quite clear but that personal property was another matter. "Why should someone get full value for a gun which is now illegal?"

He also said that there is nothing in the law that requires the State to buy up holsters, ammunition and reloading equipment which would be made useless once the guns were confiscated. "I see no obligation to pay for bullets or holsters or anything else that goes with handguns. Not at all."

Buckley added, "We've got a right to get a poison out of society. And the government has done it before and if the people decided that is what they want, then that is the law."

He pointed out that when Prohibition went into effect the government didn't pay for the liquor on store shelves or in people's houses. And he felt the same philosophy could be applied to the gun confiscation movement.

On Beacon Hill, the Joint Committee on Public Safety estimated the handgun confiscation bill would cost $125 million, plus an additional bureaucracy and personnel to oversee the gun collection effort. The committee recommended against the bill and the House voted to kill it by 197 to 35.

Sheriff Buckley's own group, and those supporting the bill, estimated at that time that only $50 million would be necessary. Buckley's statement this week that he would recommend the state pay "not one cent" for the 80,000 to 1 million guns to be confiscated opens up serious new questions.

The $50 million figure by gun confiscation advocates was arrived at by estimating that 500,000 guns would have to be bought at prices of $150 for top quality guns, $75 for medium quality guns and $35 for low quality guns.

The Public Safety Committee's estimate planned on 1 million guns since over 370,000 have been registered since 1968 and more than double that figure is thought to be in Massachusetts since WWII, including war souvenirs and antiques built after 1898 which would come under the law. At this level, they estimated an average cost of $125 per gun to get the $125 million figure.

But the legislature didn't include the $3 million for bureaucracy and destruction of the guns, nor the court and police costs involved in searching houses of currently licensed citizens who fail to turn in their guns.

Such persons would be subject to the mandatory one-year-in-jail law if a gun was found in their home six months after enactment of the confiscation law.

The Gun Owners Action League argues that not only guns but holsters, ammunition, reloading equipment, powder and other items related to target shooting that would be made useless once the guns were confiscated would have to be bought up by the State.

Sheriff Buckley disagrees, but says the question of taking guns away from legitimate target shooters and sportsmen was debated for some time among the gun confiscation groups. However, he said that it was decided to go for a total ban, even though Great Britain, a country he often refers to in discussing gun control, permits private ownership of handguns and pistol clubs for licensed individuals.

Buckley said, "There was some discussion about pistol clubs because they are the people who are really being asked to make the sacrifice. The reason they were excluded was that to set up a separate category of private citizens who would be allowed to have a handgun would be unconstitutional. And that if you made an exception for pistol clubs everybody who presently owns handguns would join a pistol club and you wouldn't have any ban on handguns at all."

He added, "From the point of view of the Constitution and from the point of view of practicality, the pistol clubs were excluded" from coming under the exemption for on-duty police officers and the military.

But Sheriff Buckley was quick to emphasize that he didn't feel it was unconstitutional to confiscate personal property without compensation.

The gun owners point out that the estimates of reimbursement costs are far out of line with even the used value of quality guns. The 1977 Guns and Ammo Annual shows average new prices of over $200. Three of the 20 pages of handgun listings show average prices of guns on these pages as follows: $222.64, $194.86 and $212.73. Used guns in good condition sell for only 30 to 35 percent off list price, according to Paul S. Giragosian Arlington gun shop owner.

The PSMG Gun Shop in Arlington Heights has a target pistol in the showcase for $575 and several competition guns from $250 to $400. Giragosian said many engraved handguns that are collector's items are priced between $1,000 and $5,000. He pointed out that the State would have to buy up new guns from all the dealers and that the stock in his small shop ran into several thousands of dollars.

Regardless of Sheriff Buckley's recommendation that the state pay "not one cent," the Joint Committee On Public Safety report quotes the Massachusetts State Constitution Article XLVIII which guarantees "the right to receive compensation for private property appropriated to public use."

The Committee believes fair market value must be paid and notes, "Certain individuals, primarily sportsmen, pistol shooters or collectors might have in their possession a greater number of weapons that would require funding in excess of $125 million dollars.

Harold Talanian, spokesman for Taxpayers Against 5, says that "the taxpayers are going to soon realize how much it is going to cost to take guns away from licensed, law-abiding citizens — up to $300 million — without having any effect on the criminal element at all."

Talanian characterized Buckley's comments on not paying for the gun confiscation as "a last ditch effort to stampede the public into joining his cause." He said Buckley's targets are "women and people unfamiliar with firearms where he can stir up emotion."

"He's trying to panic people with scare tactics but he doesn't have the facts to support his position," Talanian said. And he added, "Sheriff Buckley can't substantiate the claims that he is making and the people are finally getting wise to him. He is just spreading misinformation and halftruths."

Disagree with sheriff

Local police chiefs say no juvenile gun problem

Area police officials this week disagreed with Middlesex County Sheriff John Buckley who charged that gun offenses were on the increase among juveniles in the suburbs.

Buckley has been in the forefront of the group supporting Referendum Question 5 which would require the state to confiscate firearms from licensed bank guards, shopkeepers, doctors, druggists and pistol club members. The bill to the taxpayer could run as high as $300 million by some estimates.

"It's not a cure-all for the crime rate or the murder rate, because people can use a shotgun or a knife, but I think it will save some lives" Buckley said.

He claimed, "The real crime increase in Middlesex County is with the kids. It's with the 12, 13, 14, and 15 year olds. This is what's really hurting us. We are a suburban community and we're flooded with these kids. And where do these kids get their handguns... they obviously get them from someone in the family."

Buckley went on to say, "The whole purpose (of Question 5) is not to take the guns away from the Mafia, because they won't give them up, but (to cut down on) the passion crimes, the accidents and the kids (with guns.) There is no reason why kids in Winchester or Arlington or Belmont should be walking around with handguns. And that's a problem."

But Arlington Community Safety Director Robert Blomquist, Belmont Chief Jeremiah Kiley, and Winchester Chief John P. McHugh disagree.

Chief Kiley says that youths with firearms "is not a serious problem in Belmont." He said there was one shooting incident five years ago in which a high school student shot his girl friend but that it was an isolated incident.

Arlington Safety Director Blomquist said he felt it was unfair of Buckley to comment about the situation in Arlington without researching the facts. Blomquist said that since firearms violations involving juveniles were tabulated separately three years ago, there have been no instances reported and no juvenile armed robberies.

Blomquist said that there was one juvenile arrest for armed robbery in 1974 but the weapon was a barbeque fork and not a firearm, and on March 16, 1974 a juvenile was warned for possession of a BB gun.

He said that in no way could firearm violations by juveniles be classified as a serious problem. He noted that the most recent case on record involved a 1974 arrest

No federal funds

Contrary to a statement in a Boston Globe editorial of Tuesday, the federal Law Enforcement Assistance Administration (LEAA) does not have funds available for gun confiscation in Massachusetts. A spokesman for the LEAA said Tuesday that a request for such funding by the City of Baltimore was turned down two years ago and it was likely any such request from Massachusetts would also be refused. Total LEAA funds to this state last year were $16.1 million; estimates of cost of gun confiscation are as high as $300 million. Total LEAA discretionary funds, which are now all budgeted, are only $121 million for all 50 states. See story.

★ Wyman

3) Housing starts in town are on the rise. There was more new building starts in the first eight and a half months of 1976 than there were in each of the preceeding three years according to Ms. Crandell. In addition, she said, "the planning board has approved subdivisions which have a potential of 244 dwellings which we can expect to be inhabited within the next five years."

4) The realtors see no real tax saving. "If we close a school the town has fully paid for and owes no money on, and thereby commit the town to building in the future to handle the growth, we will be increasing the tax rate..."

5) Finally the realtors suggest considering the sale of the Sanborn property and moving the administration into available space in the schools.

MacDonald responded to the realtors by saying his administration had done "extensive studies" using the school department's data processing facilities. "None of our figures show the same trends revealed by the planning council's figures," he said.

Frank supported MacDonald, saying that the school department's studies indicate that, should all the available land in town be built upon and the proportion of school age children remain constant, "the capacity of the schools without Wyman would be more than adequate." He added that renovation of Ambrose would make the Westside schools (Ambrose, Parkhurst and Vinson-Owen) adequate for any local increase in elementary school population.

Richard Santos of 34 Cabot st., a Wyman parent, countered with statistics correlating school enrollment to new housing starts over the past 16 years. Housing starts declined from a peak of more than 160 in 1960 to a low of 19 in 1975, according to Santos' information.

Santos argued that enrollments followed a related path through the years, lagging behind the housing curve by a few years.

With all indications pointing to economic recovery, and with housing starts for this year in Winchester well ahead of the last three years, enrollments should, in the long ru , take another upswing, Santos argued.

'ings from closing the school would also be somewhat lower than indicated by Macdonald, cording to a cost comparison devised by Santos. He compared relative costs for five alternate uses of the Wyman property: leaving the building vacant; using it for other school department needs; using it for other town department needs; selling the property to private developers; or demolishing the building and using the area as a park.

Only by selling off the property would the town stand to save any money, according to Santos' charts. He said savings in operating costs would amount to $29,167; in one-time costs, the town could save between $33,000-$58,000 (his estimated value of the land). This would amount to between 30.2-42.6 cents saved on the tax rate.

Finance committee Member Sally Kincaid was the only member of the audience to speak openly in favor of the closing. Ms. Kincaid, who initiated a motion at last spring's town meeting to cut the school budget, either by closing a school or by some other means, argued that closing Wyman would be an educational improvement.

The resulting consolidation of the schools, she said, would lead to better use of full-time teachers and allow specialists to spend more time in the classroom and less time traveling.

She also argued that consolidation of the elementary administrations would reduce the disparity of goals in curriculum that she says now exists at the elementary level. "The schools should be equal, they should uniformly provide education in the basics; such is not the case now," she said.

High school student Brian Tarbox told the audience he felt they had avoided the crucial issue: the quality of education offered. He emphasized the importance of atmosphere and close relationships between students and teachers in creating a good learning environment.

Hester Keller, a resident of 5 Wildwood st., questioned the safety of sending an additional large number of children downtown to school. MacDonald has said safety is one major argument against closing Wyman rather than another school.

However the principle reason Wyman was chosen was geography, according to Macdonald. By the superintendent's plan, Wyman students would be redistricted to Ambrose and Lincoln without any need for busing.

MacDonald's proposal had also mentioned the closing of an additional school in 1978. When asked which one he would choose, the superintendent opted for either Noonan or Parkhurst. He said students from either school would have to be dispersed among several schools, creating a "domino effect" among other schools to compensate.

MacDonald also described his timetable for the establishment of a four-year high school and two middle schools, either for grades 5-8 or 6-8. He said he hoped to see such an arrangement by 1981 at the earliest.

Selectman Chairman John Sullivan noted that the prime concern should be whether or not the closing of Wyman would be educationally beneficial. He said he personally preferred selling the property in the event the school were closed. "Sale of the property would have more than a negligible effect," Sullivan said, "and it would take more than the study of any one group, be it the Wyman parents, the selectmen, or the school committee, to determine what that effect would be."

The school committee has indicated that discussion of the closing issue will be brought up at future meetings. They have said they will not vote on the issue until the task force on use of school buildings reports to the November town meeting and not before early December.

some as barbers, others as accountants or engineers. But when the two days and two nights of duty come around every week, every single one of them is a firefighter.

When training is finished and acceptance granted into the department, a firefighter still continues to learn. There are classroom sessions as often as possible where the men review techniques of first aid, building materials, hydraulic pressure, and new fire fighting techniques.

There is the house to be cleaned and brass polished every Friday.

"We don't have any housekeeping help," Captain Bernard Stygles remarks, "so we have to keep the station clean ourselves — every day the men scrub the floors and the kitchen, they vacuum and polish, make beds, whatever needs to be done."

They polish the brass — and there is a lot of it on the trucks and in the house — every week. The doorknobs get a swipe with the cloth, as well as the three fire poles. No, they don't slide down holding the brass polish; they put up a ladder.

When the housekeeping is finished, an all-morning job, the men can eat — and eat they do. It might be chicken and dumplings, steak and potatoes, sausages and peppers, roast beef, and of course turkey for Thanksgiving.

"We try to eat our noontime meal at 11:30," Louis Cappello says, "because we figure that there could be accidents and possibly fires around 12 or so when families are eating and cooking."

The men think constantly of what the rest of the town is doing. Even at night. "I've been 29 years on the department," says John Nash Sr. (his son was just appointed permanent firefighter last week) and I've never slept at night here. No one has."

The rest of Group I concurs. The men work as groups, sharing the same schedule week after week. Group I also has Kevin Yore, vice president of the firefighters union, Robert Lindmark, who just left this past week after serving as a temporary provisional firefighter, John Nash Jr., Captain Bernard Stygles and Louis Cappello.

It's easy to see no one sleeps at night in the fire house. In the silence bells clang out every box rung in Winchester, Woburn, Stoneham, and Arlington. Sometimes the men go out, sometimes they don't. It depends on the location and the number of alarms.

Capt. Stygles puts his boots and suspendered pants right under the wall telephone so that while he is talking to the various departments he can be getting garbed to go out.

There's more than just bells clanging, however. The overhead lights go on, the front doors swing up, the pole covers are electrically raised, and the whole house is aroused.

In less than a minute the men have put on their gear, gone to their respective apparatus, checked the location of the fire three different ways with the desk man, and left the house.

The desk man is very important to the workings of the department. John Nash Jr. explains how the calls come through and the alarms sound.

"We have the box punched electronically on tape, a puncture for each number of the box, after I set the gears by hand. Let's say the box is 9113 — that's the test box. There will be a group of nine punctures, then a single, another single, and finally three together. The tape advances and it's punched another two times.

" At the same time the appropriate number of clangs sound through the house. Recall and multiple alarms work the same way but with different numbers before the box."

After the men return to quarters, they pick up where they left off or else they try to get more rest. There's a television in the kitchen and plenty of magazines, including Skin Diver.

Through all the uncertainty of fighting a fire, the men maintain a close family-like feeling.

"We are family. Our lives depend on each other and other people's lives depend on us working together," says Louis Cappello.

It's not always the dramatic call to save a life, however. There are the nursery school visitors who clang the bell. There are the building inspections and the school fire drills. There are the hydrants to check and the hose to test. There's the washing of the station windows and the painting of the interior.

There are the numerous classes, both at the station and outside. There are the parades.

But most of all there is the pride of belonging to the Winchester Fire Department.

Kevin Yore said it, "This is a small town — it sure isn't like working Boston or one of those big cities — and sometimes it's harder because of it. We know or are related to a lot of people in town and that makes every accident or every fire a little harder."

Selectmen close town meeting warrant

Selectmen Monday night closed the warrant for the fall session of the annual town meeting after opening it to add four new articles.

The new articles, numbered 11,12,13, and 14, are as follows.

Article 11. To see if the Town will act on a matter involving the by-law revision study committee. This concerns specifically the matter of an unpaid bill which Harrison Chadwick, chairman of the committee, says is owed to Blanchard Press for publication of 500 copies of the by-laws.

Article 12. To see if the Town will convey the property at 22 Highalnd ave. to George Whitten. This property was taken by eminent domain from George Whitten in 1966. The Town took the property at that time for $60,000 for possible school expansion.

Whitten wanted more money for the property and the $60,000 was held in escrow. He rejected a recent court decision which gave him an additional $10,000 and another $6000 in interest. Instead, Whitten sought a jury trial which is now going on.

Whitten offered to buy back the property for $60,000, buy the adjacent property known as the Fitzgerald lot for an additional $20,000 and drop his suit which would give him another $20,000 on the purchase price if approved.

Article 13. To see what action the Town will take in recommending to the school committee that one elemenatry school be closed. This article was brought on citizens' petition.

Article 14. To see if the Town will hear and act on the report of the rules committee.

The most controversial of the issues to face town meeting November 1 is expected to be article 2, the so-called residential preference article which would give preference in the hiring and promotion of town employees to Winchester residents.

At the selectmen's meeting Monday, Vincent Carroll, initiator of the article, and Michael Saraco, stauch defender of the article and director of the town's board of health, spoke to the board on the reasoning behind the article.

According to Saraco, if two persons qualify and apply for the same town job, preference should be given to the Winchester resident.

Town Manager Thomas J. Groux said, "The town deserves to get the best qualified person for the job. We will shoot for quality whether we are hiring at the bottom or the top of a department." He expanded this statment by explaining that several heads of departments in town came in at the bottom of the department and worked their way to the top job. "Anyone hired should feel he or she can aspire to the top of the department," Groux said.

Selectman Edward O'Connell pointed to the case of the director of the newly-created department of public works, Walter J. To naszuck, a resident of Easton. He and Barbara Hankins took issue with "two persons having exactly the same qualifications" for a job.

"There are certain intangibles which you may find in an out-of-town applicant," she said, "which are not present in the Winchester applicant, or vice versa. But they may have exactly the same qualifications."

Groux reiterated that "those who make appointments in town are committed to providing service to the town, not employment to the applicants."

Approximately 15 per cent of town employees excluding the school department are non-residents.

Selectmen Chairman brought up the point that anyone who feels justified can bring charges of discrimination in hiring practices against the town.

This article on residential preference will be the second article to face town meeting members when sessions being at 7:45 p.m. on November 1.

The 'golden pipeline'

The bell has sounded for Round 2, The People vs. the Metropolitan District Commission, in which the MDC continues its efforts to push through what is being called on Beacon Hill "the six million dollar golden pipeline."

A last-minute attempt to rush an allegedly illegal bill through the Senate last week was spotted by alert citizens' groups, notably the Friends of the Fells, who tried to stop it in its tracks. It had gone back to committee for a third reading.

It was to come up again Tuesday afternoon but didn't. It was due on the Senate floor again yesterday after 1 p.m., as The Star was preparing to go to press. It may already be too late for the citizens to stop Senate Bill 1522 there.

This bill, which would pave the way for bulldozers to take to the Middlesex Fells Reservation at Spot Pond and begin felling trees and otherwise slash and devastate that sylvan setting, ought to be killed in the Senate.

For one thing, it is illegal on the face of it, according to our reading of the requirements of public disclosure in the statutes. But since we are not lawyers, we found confirmation of that belief from the Conservation Law Foundation of New England. That organization was asked by the Friends of the Middlesex Fells, Inc., and their allies in this fight to determine the legality of the bill.

The Foundation's lawyers opined that Senate Bill 1522 is illegal, and that it ought to be thrown out entirely.

If it passes the Senate, as we suspect it might, it will then go to the House. (Senator Joseph Timilty of Boston, was supposed to help in this case, but was unresponsive when it counted Tuesday afternoon. It was hoped that he would respond in time by Wednesday.)

Winchester's Charles Carlson, vice president of the Friends of the Fells, who deserves a large measure of the credit in this battle, called The Star from the State House Tuesday afternoon to keep us informed of the latest developments.

He would be on hand there again Wednesday, and again attempt to have the bill thrown out.

Meanwhile, his group has voted unanimously to join with other conservation groups in opposing construction of any pipelines through the Fells.

They also seek full public disclosure of the project and its full environmental impact.

Public disclosure is an important key in this misadventure by the MDC. There has been no significant public disclosure by the commission, nor have they held any public hearings.

And Secretary of Environmental Affairs Evelyn Murphy, in a letter to Carlson, said she felt an environmental impact statement was not needed and would only hinder what she considers to be a "vital project." How she came to that conclusion is beyond our understanding, since the MDC hasn't told her anymore than they told anyone else.

She did reveal, or at least confirm, suspicions of Carlson's group, that the Bear Hill area in the Fells section around Spot Pond has been surveyed. From initial information, it would appear that that area is being readied for a long-term project to install water tanks.

The Star believes that this entire situation ought to be brought out in the open and investigated.

First, they should stop the bill in the Senate, but it may already be too late. Next, it should be thrown out of the House.

Third, Mrs. Murphy should demand a more detailed environmental impact report and its ramifications and not be in such a hurry to see this project, about which she can't know all that much, go rushing through as far as her department is concerned.

Fourth, Mr. Carlson and his associates have decided that they will go to the governor, and if they can't get any satisfaction from him they will go to court and seek an injunction to prevent this project from being started.

We hope they won't have to go that far, but if they do, they have our support all the way. Once done, the damage to the Fells can never be undone, certainly not in our lifetime. ---J.R.S.

Letters from readers

Marching proud

EDITORS OF THE STAR:

I read with interest High School Update in the Sept. 30 issue by Rick Pearl, your high school correspondent. He talked about the seven-period day.

The issue that was covered lightly was the effect on the music department, particularly the band. The band lost 20 students to the seven period day at a time when they were beginning to build in numbers, an important part of a marching band. The unfortunate thing about this is they may never gain them back!

Granted, some students have a choice of another period but take a person who is a possible art major and plays an instrument too. He has to choose. If he chooses art the band loses him. With an eight period day the student could have both! Yes, things are quiet at the high school and most of the students have settled down and accepted it because they have done all they could to change it and no one would listen.

However, the band members and their new director, Mr. John Beyrant, continue to do the best they can with what they have to work with, 55 members. They march proud, erect and make a fine representation of their school. Belmont and Lexington may be much larger in numbers, (about 100 or more) but none can be prouder in the Middlesex League than the Winchester High School Marching Band!

Gets 21 votes

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

The Star is to be commended for its prompt primaries coverage, for the unofficial tallies are not available until late Tuesday evening and The Star always goes to press on Wednesday.

Just to complete the record, Lester W. Bowen of Reading, Republican sticker candidate for Register of Deeds, received 21 votes in Winchester. His name will appear on the November 2 ballot as a result of receiving 1100 votes in the 44 cities and towns of the Middlesex South District.

Church thanked

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

The following letter was sent to Reverend John J. Bishop, rector, Parish of the Epiphany.

Dear Mr. Bishop:

In behalf of the Winchester Seniors Association I wish to express sincere appreciation for your kindness and generosity in allowing Miss Hilda Hope and her committee the use of Hadley Hall for the Seniors Association Fall Fiesta Fair. It was an ideal location and the spacious hall and well-equipped kitchen contributed greatly to the ultimate success of the luncheon and exhibit of saleable items.

A special word of thanks should also be given to the sexton who worked so willingly and cheerfully to provide assistance where needed.

Our everlasting gratitude is extended to the Church of the Epiphany for supporting this worthwhile endeavor to raise money for the Multi-Purpose Senior Center by holding a Fair which was a complete social and financial success.

Sincerely yours,
J. Raymond Murphy, President
Winchester Seniors Association

Moral standards

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

This is is about our men who are running for president. In the old days we picked a man for his moral standards. Now our candidates come out with all kinds of moral talk that is contrary to our way of right and wrong, such as embarrassing their families with what they talk about and print. Even some of the candidates' wives condone wrong doing.

How then can you vote for a man you thought was O.K. when he comes out with such thoughts to our public? These men have everyone confused when they or their wives think this way. No vote would be better than voting for someone you can't agree with on morals.

Wyman closing

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

The future of the Town of Winchester as a desirable place for good families to come to — to live in — to enjoy and grow up in — depends on all of us in every section of town always pulling together on one vital town matter — on the maintenance of our system of neighborhood schools in all sections of the town.

We are now at a crossroads for our neighborhood school system which is vitally threatened by the proposed closing of Wyman. It is a time for all of us from every neighborhood to make our views felt in regard to the desirability of nailing down a solid policy of continuing our neighborhood school system.

For Mrs. Freeman and myself I have written the attached letter to Mrs. Pronski and the school committee.

Maurice T. Freeman
11 Lorena Rd.

Dear Mrs. Pronski:

It is a long time since you helped me recover at the Winchester Hospital. In the meanwhile I have watched your progress in Winchester school affair with great interest.

Your Board has under consideration the recommendation of your Superintendent to close the Wyman School and I would like to give you and your Committee a quick summary of the point of view of Mrs. Freeman and myself.

We are long-time residents and taxpayers. Our four daughters went through the Winchester schools. We have six grand-daughters in school in Winchester right now.

We live on the opposite side of the town from the Wyman School. We have not discussed this with anyone in the Wyman School area. The ideas expressed are entirely our own.

Our conclusions are clear and positive:

1. We believe that the closing of the Wyman School would be detrimental to the Wyman School area, to property values in it, and particularly to the education of the youngsters in that area — and therefore detrimental to the overall best interests of the town.

2. Property values in every elementary school neighborhood are influenced to a major degree by the proximinity of a school. Wyman area property values have been so influenced. Many a family has made a decision to acquire property in that neighborhood because of proximinity to the Wyman School. Those decisions should not be aborted by an arbitrary closing of a school for what we believe is an illusory, immaginary saving of costs to the school system — but not to the town.

3. Of very great importance we believe strongly in a maximum continuation and use of neighborhood schools in the Town of Winchester and are opposed to the closing of any more neighborhood schools. From this point of view Wyman School should be continued.

4. It would be positively dangerous to have a large group of youngsters from the Wyman School area forced to travel from their homes to the Lincoln School down through the maze of streets and traffic in the Center of Wichester. A theoretical savings in dollars does not afford this risk.

In short, as taxpayers living on the other side of Winchester, we would be willing to support in our tax bills whatever incremental cost is involved in keeping the Wyman School open.

We believe it should be possible and desirable to economize in our school system — to save more money than would be superficially involved in the Wyman School closing by practical economies in the other overhead and administrative costs of our school system.

We urge in particular that your committee give the strongest possible support to a full continuation of the neighborhood school system in Winchester by deciding against the abandonment of the Wyman School.

At this point we would like to thank you and the other members of your School Committee for the hard hours, time and effort you all have been putting into the problems of our school system.

Sincerely,
Maurice T. Freeman

Town watch ...

A clunker in the rubbish

By The Observer

The saga of the town's transfer station has another twist this week.

According to Town Manager Thomas J. Groux, the inside conveyor belt, not the one the town ordered, does not move the rubbish along as is intended. It runs but doesn't work.

The substitute, put in at the subcontractor's expense until the better one can be obtained from the manufacturer, is another three weeks' away.

The clunker is at this point the cost to the town just about equals the penalty clause in the contract, $250 a day.

Meanwhile the compactor works and trucks bringing rubbish can be accommodated. Their trash does not feed onto the conveyor belt system but rather is dumped directly for compacting.

We who go to the dump by car will still have to wait for full service from the transfer station.

Tom Groux had much praise for the tax collector and data processing people who were able to get the tax bills sent out in time.

Had the bills not been out by October 1, the 30-day abatement period would have brought us into November. Apparently all kinds of mathematical confusion would result if interest rates were based on a date other than November 1.

In any case, the bills are out. You have until November to file for abatement and make your first payment.

Police Chief John P. McHugh is very proud of patrolman William H. O'Neil who just received a bachelor's degree from Northeastern.

"Not only is this extremely important for the morale of the entire department, but it is also important because it exposes the policeman to the latest innovations in law enforcement and current techniques in his chosen occupation," he said.

McMugh says that about 25 per cent of his department is involved in higher education.

The Star extends its congratulations to O'Neil and his family.

Joseph Croken, narrowly defeated in the Seventh Congressional District primary race by Ed Markey, has announced that he will not seek election in November on a sticker campaign.

Croken, in a news release this week, said that it would cost more than $100,000 to "run an effective educational campaign."

He said that he had considered running a sticker campaign "because I feel that there is something drastically wrong with a system that allows only 21 per cent of the vote cast to elect their next representative to Congress."

Informed sources speculate that Croken may be anticipating a job similar to the one he held under the late Torbert MacDonald if Markey is elected to Congress.

We had a call from a proud mother last week in which she complained that the commended students in the Merit Scholarship prize awards appeared to have gotten a better "play" in the paper than the semifinalists.

We felt she was mistaken and told her so. To set the record straight, we ran a story about the four semifinalists when that information came out a few weeks ago. Again, a couple of weeks ago, we ran the story about the commended students. In addition, last week we ran a short editorial in praise of all of the students, commended and semifinalists alike.

Semifinalists are in the top .5 of one per cent of the nation's high school seniors. The commended students are just below that, in the area of not less than the top two per cent of the nation's seniors.

The fact of the matter is, no matter how they finished, commended or semifinalists, they have made notable accomplishments. And again we offer our congratulations.

Analysis: Cost cutting and selective use--save schools

By CARL W. HAGGE

The superintendent of schools has presented to the school committee a recommendation to close the Wyman School in 1977, and another school the following year in response to declining enrollments and the desire to reduce education costs. In his memorandum to the school committee he does not justify his recommendation or present alternatives for consideration.

An alternative proposal for consideration is presented below, and it is demonstrated that the gross savings that can be attributed to a school closing are $23,177 rather than the $71,582 indicated by the superintendent. In any event, adjustment to the gross savings figure is necessary to take account of additional costs and credits not considered by the superintendent. e.g. additional busing, additional crossing guards, construction costs, proceeds from the sale of land, costs transferred to other town budgets, etc. The figures presented below are considered on the same basis as those of the superintendent.

Tabulated below are the following for comparison:

1. Savings projected by the superintendent.
2. Savings projected by the superintendent that can be achieved in other ways.
3. Savings projected by the superintendent which are in fact transferred to other budget categories.
4. Actual savings which can be attributed to a school closing.

RATIONALE

Principal's Salary

In the superintendent's recommendation, the total salary of a principal is attributed to the closing of a school. The Enrollment Study Committee addressed the problem of reducing the cost of administration, and recommended two alternatives: teaching principals, and shared principals. The projected savings are based on a teaching principal at Wyman and one at either Ambrose or Lincoln, the schools which would otherwise have increased enrollments. The amount of the projected savings is taken from a March 26, 1976 memorandum by the superintendent, where he recommends a teaching principal for Ambrose. Similar savings could be made with shared principals.

Secretary's Salary

If a school is closed, the clerical staff at one or more schools where enrollment is increased will need to be supplemented. The figure for actual savings is taken from a March 26, 1976 memorandum by the Superintendent which acknowledges this staff transfer.

"Maintenance"

Grounds:

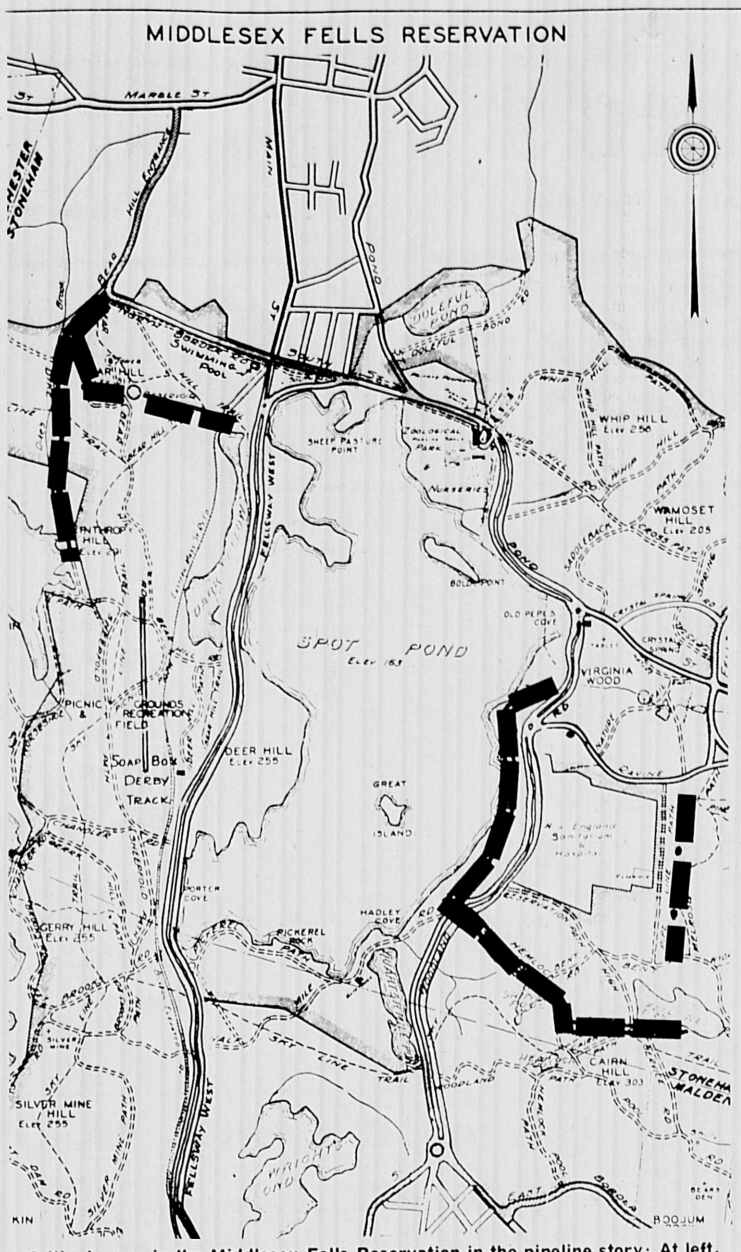

It is estimated that the full cost of maintaining the grounds will be saved if a school is closed.

Buildings:

It is estimated that ½ of the maintenance charges are for exterior maintenance, and the other half for interior maintenance. It is further estimated that the full cost of exterior maintenance will be saved if a school is closed.

For interior maintenance, it is estimated that 80 percent of the cost of interior maintenance will be transferred to the budgets of other schools. If a school is not to be closed, there will rooms throughout the school system which will not be used, and common areas will be subject to less use. There is no need to paint unused rooms, repair their floors, replace their furniture, etc. If a school is to be closed, rooms in other schools which would otherwise not be occupied will be in use, and common areas will have greater use. Thus, a reduction in the budget of a school to be closed will be accompanied by an increase in the may expend to construct a water main in the city of Woburn.

Nowhere does the bill name the Middlesex Fells nor does it explain the present use of the MDC area.

Carlson, on behalf of environmental groups, explains the reasons for wanting senate 1522 to be discarded.

Based mostly on legal aspects of Article 97 and on lack of public disclosure, Carlson says he and groups like the Appalachian Mountain Club, Friends of the Earth, Mystic Valley Watershed Association, Winchester Trails, Massachusetts Forest and Parks Association, and private citizens have valid reasons for suggesting the bill be tabled.

In addition he says that "the environmental assessment form submitted to the Office of Environmental Affairs as required by MEPA concluded that the project will not cause significant damage to the environment." He goes on, however, to question the adequacy of this report and to demand an environmental impact study.

"Significant and irreparable damage to the natural environment" will follow passage of the bill.

Secretary Murphy has required the MDC to meet with representatives of the various organizations concerned with the project and opposed to the diversion of the public land. No meeting has yet taken place although the request was made July 29.

A state-wide resources study is now being done by the Department of Environmental Management. Carlson suggests that the Spot Pond project be postponed until the study is completed and evaluated. If the bill passes the state legislature it would take effect immediately.

Secretary Murphy, in response to the request for an environmental impact study, stated in a letter August 10, "It is my feeling that the impact report procedure is the preferable method of obtainihg public input and reaching firm conclusions on a project of this nature." There has been no such report. Mrs. Murphy said she has "required that the MDC satisfy concerns by providing the opportunity to obtain first hand what is proposed by the MDC and to affect the final nature of their plans."

by a railroad police officer for trespassing and unlawful possession of a firearm (thought to be an air rifle) on railroad property.

Winchester Chief McHugh searched his files and couldn't come up with a single firearms violation involving a juvenile during the past five years.

Chief McHugh said Sheriff Buckley contacted him by phone last week asking him to cooperate with an appeal through the churches to ask congregations to voluntarily surrender their firearms. The Chief said he was taking no position in this proposal, neither approving nor opposing and not urging compliance by any church or congregation.

"The idea is not new, but it is a new approach to go through the churches," he said. Chief McHugh added that there have been some 1,500 licenses issued for firearms in Winchester since 1967 and that no shootings involving juveniles have occurred in the nine years since.

Sheriff Buckley said the shooting in Belmont five years ago was a "good example of what we're trying to prevent." Asked if he really believed the bill would prevent instances where a disturbed person lies in wait to kill someone involved in lovers triangle, Buckley said "Oh, sure." He added that if the assailant had a rifle or a shotgun instead of a handgun he believed "a lot of people would have seen him." He ruled out the possibility of the attacker shooting the vicitim from a greater distance or that rifles and shotguns are far more deadly than handguns.

Police Chief Francis Abbate of Westwood, who has spoken against Referendum Question 5 at a number of public forums, says that national statistics show accidental deaths from firearms rate the lowest of all categories at 1.3 per 100,000 population. Poisoning is almost double at 2.5, fires at 3.0, drowning at 4.1, falls at 8.1 and motor vehicle accidents at 26.6

Chief Abbate says even the 1.3 per 100,000 accident rate with firearms is inflated because police often list suicides as accidents, especially in small communities.

While Sheriff Buckley admits that the gun confiscation question will not take guns away from the criminals, literature put out by his People vs. Handguns group shows that this is where the major problem lies. Of the 1,408 homicides in Massachusetts between 1968-74, 32 percent involved known felons, while only 6.7 per cent were between husband and wife and 8.3 percent involving other family members.

During that same time there were only 24 fatal handgun accidents, with even that number possibly inflated by misreported suicides. Chief Abbate says the problem is with criminal abuse of firearms and not with licensed owners.

Every major police organization in the state is opposed to the gun confiscation law as is the Massachusetts Selectmen's Association. The Mass. Chiefs of Police Association, State Police of Massachusetts, Boston Police Patrolmen's Association, Massachusetts Police Association, Massachusetts Sheriffs Association are included in the statewide organizations that oppose Question 5.

Chief Abbate says that to let the criminal element know that druggists, doctors, liquor store owners, all-night gas station attendants, bank guards, and even homeowners are prohibited from owning handguns will invite a crime wave.

He says the people in Massachusetts generally don't understand the strict licensing procedure in effect here for many years. Any person who wishes to buy a gun or carry a gun must have a personal interview with his local police chief, be fingerprinted and photographed, have a probation office check for criminal record and an FBI fingerprint check, demonstrate to the Chief's satisfaction a need for a handgun, and not have had any history of mental disorders or treatment. He believes current controls on licensing are sufficient.

Just last week President Gerald Ford issued a statement on gun confiscation such as is proposed by the Massachusetts referendum supported by Sheriff Buckley.

President Ford said, "I will oppose any attempt to deprive law-abiding citizens of their traditional freedom to own firearms. I believe in punishing only those who commit crimes...In short, it is my intention to preserve for future generations the time-honored traditional freedoms that we and our forefathers have enjoyed throughout our 200 year history."

It's apple time again

BY ELIZABETH

Autumn arrives with the sure sign of overflowing apple bushels and jugs of sweet cider at the roadside produce stands.

Don't wait to buy a perfect taste of sunny fall days and crisp cool nights. Drive out to an apple orchard and pick your own bags and bushels of Cortland, Delicious, and McIntosh varieties.

The orchards west of Concord are very accessible but very crowded these brief weekends. All allow visitors to pick, picnic, munch and simply enjoy the atmosphere of the grounds.

For me, a special treat on a weekday visit is a chance to hear the Jamaican professional apple pickers working to their own rhythmic island songs.

Jean Kelly of Taft rd. won a ribbon for runnerup position in the Town Day Bake contest for her apple-apricot pie.

Apple-Apricot Pie

1-3 cup granulated sugar
1-3 cup brown sugar
3 tablespoons flour
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon powdered cinnamon
4 cups sliced apples
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 medium can apricot halves, well drained pastry for two-crist pie
1 tablespoon butter

Combine sugars, flour, salt and cinnamon; stir into apples in mixing bowl. Add lemon juice and mix well. Cut apricots into thirds; fold into apple mixture. Line 9-inch pie plate with pastry; add fruit mixutre. Dot with butter. Adjust top crust, cutting slits. Seal and flute edges. Sprinkle top with additional sugar. Bake at 400 degrees for 40 minutes or until crust is golden brown.

Marita Howell of George rd. submitted this cleverly named apple dish to cake division of the Bake contest.

Apple Dapple

½ cup butter or margarine
1 cup sugar
1 egg
1 cup sifted flour
1 teaspoon baking soda
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 cups grated apple
½ cup chopped nuts.

Cream together butter and sugar. Beat in egg and mix well. Stir together flour, soda, salt and spcies. Stir into creamed mixture. Stir in vanilla, apples and nuts. Bake in a greased eight-inch square pan at 350 degrees about 40 minutes.

Cub Pack 524 has induction of scouts

Cub Scout Pack 524 held its school year organizational meeting on October 1 at Parkhurst School. Cubmaster Stewart Carswell discussed and distributed the year's schedule. Each den met spearately to decide on its own activities.

Carswell and Pack Committee Chairman Bill Kennedy welcomed the boys who were joining the Pack and presided over a ceremony of induction. These boys then received their Bobcat patches: Brian Pothier, Chris Aronson, Chris Ford, Arthur Horitas, Jon Lawrence, Peter Ockerbloom, Scott Olivieri, Steven Scali, David Selvitelli, Tim Lee, Steven Bonnell and David O'Reilly.

Finally, the third year scouts, the Webelos, were presented with shoulder chevrons. They are: Allan Ladaga, Andrew Nasson, John Ockerbloom, William Porter, Douglas Pressman, Geoffrey Wyler, Patrick Cresse, Chris Bentley, Randy Carswell, Andrew Lawrence, James Vancini, Andrew Thompson, John Beck and Daniel Foley.

Boys invited to join cub packs

Donald VanRoosen of Winchester has announced that every boy in the 3rd to 6th grade will be invited to join a Cub Pack on October 7. "This will be the biggest single recruiting night in the past several years in Winchester" Van Roosen said.

The Packs + Troops and their local leaders will be on hand to explain their program and to welcome new boys and their families into the adventure of Cub & Boy Scouting. It is estimated that 50 new members will join the Boy Scouts of America on Thursday-October 7th.

Sign up will be held in the Lincoln School.

The Cub Scout program is a family-centered program for boys who have completed the second grade or who will be 8 through 10 years of age. They meet weekly as a den under the supervision of a den leader and all the dens come together for a monthly pack meeting led by a Cubmaster. Boys start as Bobcats and through achievements earn Wolf, Bear and Arrow of Light awards.

The Scout program is for boys who have completed the fifth grade or who are 11 through 17 years of age. The program is designed to develop character, mental and physical fitness and citizenship training. The focus is on one's physcial and mental fitness through a vigorous program of activities. As Scouts, boys join patrols and elect their own patrol leader. They usually meet once a week as a troop under the guidance of a Scoutmaster. A boy joins as a Scout and can achieve Tenderfoot, Second Class, First Class, Star, Life and Eagle progress award.

Benefit concert for First Parish tomorrow at 8:30

Szasz will perform works by Bach, Beethoven, Gershwin, and Liszt, with a reception following at the First Parish Church.

The other concerts of this benefit series will feature Edward Johnson, flute, and Wendy Ardizzone, piano, January 14; and Ruth Lomon and Iris Graffman Wenglin, duo pianists, March 25. Both concerts will be given at the Arlington Town Hall on Mass avenue at 8:30 p.m. on Fridays.

Series subscription tickets or individual tickets may be obtained by writing to Phyllis Spence, 104 Summer st., Arlington, 02174.

'Swim for Youth' to aid YMCA costs

The North Suburban YMCA is holding its third annual "Swim For Youth" Saturday and Sunday, October 16 and 17.

This event is organized by the concerned youths and adults of the North Suburban YMCA service area. It is a positive way for individuals of all ages to maintain the present cost structure of membership and programs here at the "Y".

Adults may swim from 6 - 10 p.m. Saturday.

Youths may swim from 3 - 6 p.m. Sunday.

All members may swim from 10 a.m. - 3 p.m. Sunday.

A bicycle will be given as an award for the youth who turns in the most money on or before Saturday, October 23 by 5 p.m. The results of the contest will be posted in the lobby Wednesday, October 27. Each swimmer will receive a certificate acknowledging participation.

The "Y" staff hopes this "Swim for Youth" event will offer many people a chance to get togehter for good fun, fellowship, and physical fitness, knowing they are working together for most worthwhile causes.

Further information may be obtained by stopping by or calling the "Y" at 137 Lexington st., Woburn.

Mr. & Mrs. David Whitten

Karen Walter, David Whitten in candlelight ceremony

Karen Elaine Walter became the bride of David Dix Whitten at a candlelight service at Our Lady of the Lakes Church in Lakeport, N.H., September 18.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Thomas Keene of the Weirs Boulevard and Glenn Walter of Glendale. Mr. Whitten is the son of Mr. & Mrs. Charles Whitten of Governor's Island and Winchester.

The bride dressed in a white satin gown with a hooded lace cape was given in marriage by her father. She carried a bouquet of white roses stephanotis, fringed astus and trailing ivy.

The music was provided by organist Armand LaBrecque and the bride's cousin, Stephen O'Brien, of North Hampton, N.H., who played the guitar and sang the Wedding Song during the ceremony.

Her maid of honor, her sister Barbara Jean Walter, wore a crepe gown of burgundy and lace and carried a bouquet of burgundy and white daisies.

Her bridesmaids were Janice Howe of Gilford and Donna Preston of Jacksonville, Fla., wearing bouffant gowns of yellow and carrying bouquets of white daisies. The flower girl was Nichole Preston of Jacksonville, Fla. in a burgundy and lace gown and carrying a basket of colorful daisies.

The ring bearer was Gary Walter of Laconia, attired in a diminutive gray tuxedo.

Best man was Stephen Whitten, brother of the groom. Serving as ushers were Walter Whitten, Robinson Whitten, brothers of the groom; Robert Walter brother of the bride; and James Howe of Gilford, all attired in gray tuxedos.

The mother of the bride wore a green caped chiffon gown and the mother of the groom was attired in a pink jersey gown.

The wedding was attended by the couple's grandmothers, Mrs. Martin O'Brien of Laconia, and Mrs. Robinson Whitten of Winchester.

Following the church service, the reception was held at the Elks Club in Laconia. The bride's cousin, Kimberly Bailey of Keene, N.H. was in charge of having the guest book signed. A novel deacon's bench, which is to become a part of the couple's new home was also signed.

After a wedding trip to Florida, the couple will reside at Governor's Island until completion of their new home at Hedgewood Circle, Gilford, N.H.

First AIM concert set for Oct. 16

Adventures in music will present its first concert, "Back to Bach and Back", on Saturday, October 16, at Arlington Junior High West Gymnasium at 1:30 p.m.

Children and parents are urged to wear tennis shoes as they wish to join the professional dancers and members of the Boston Conservatory dance department as they teach the Garotte, Tango, Waltz, Ragtime, Samba and the Harlem Mooch.

Musical selections from Duke Ellington, Igor Stravinsky, Bach and Newton Wayland will accompany the dances and will be performed by an instrumental ensemble and two singers.

The purpose of the program is to show how "serious" composers and choreographers adapt popular dance idoms to their own purposes.

Tickets may be obtained in advance from Mrs. Brian Golden, 3 Old Lyme rd., or may be purchased at the door on the day of the performance.

First aid classes begin this month

The First Aid classes announced by the Winchester Red Cross to begin the middle of October are being well enrolled, reports Mary Fowle, executive director, but there are still a few openings.

The instructors who will teach these classes are Leonard Weckel and Hubert LeFever. Both are qualified to teach the Standard First Aid and Personal Safety Course.

The classes meet for five full evening sessions spread out over two and a half weeks. One class meets Tuesday and Thursday, starting October 12. The other class meets Monday and Wednesday, starting October 18. Both classes meet at the Winchester Red Cross Chapter House at 39 Church Street.

For more information on for registration in either course phone 729-2300.

Sarcia girl

Mr. and Mrs. William Sarcia (Shea) of 49 Grove place announce the birth of their third child, first daughter, Kimberly Joanne on September 26 at Winchester Hospital.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Shea of Revere and Mrs. and the late Mr. Henry Sarcia of Medford.

The first president of the Friends of Winchester Hospital, Mrs. Marjorie Kaufmann, looking over this year's invitation to the silver anniversary ball, the 25th, and present president of the Friends, Mrs. Loretta Pharo.

Singing priests to perform October 15

Ten talented priests from local parishes will put on a benefit performance in the Winchester High School Auditoirium on Friday, October 15 at 8 p.m. to help raise money for the Immaculate Conception Parish Drum and Bugle Corps.

The "Evening of Melody" will also feature the "929 Banjo Club" of Wakefield. Tickets are available from Mrs. Mary Brown, 14 Lochwan st.

McCall open house is next Thursday

Parents of McCall Junior High School students are cordially invited to attend an open house Thursday evening, October 14 at 7:30 p.m.

They will have an opportunity to follow their child's daily class schedule, shortened to 10 minute periods. This will enable each parent to meet the McCall teachers and better appreciate their child's busy day.

Refreshments will be served throughout the evening in the school cafeteria by the members of the parents' association board.

Waltz contest to highlight Friends' 25th

Plans are well under way for the Friends of Winchester Hospital's Silver Anniversary Ball.

As many of you may remember, this evening was at one time called "Waltz Night," but with changing times it is now called the annual ball.

For the 25th ball the friends are bringing back the waltz contest. Among the past winners who will be there are, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Roche, Dr. and Mrs. Frank Bates; Mr. and Mrs. Winthrop Knox; Dr. and Mrs. Frank Lombardo; Mr. and Mrs. Alan Rodgers; Mr. and Mrs. Donald Stebbins; Mr. and Mrs. Paul La Joie; and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Birchall.

There will also be a new contest with first and second prizes to be awarded. Music will be provided by the Big Band Inc., playing tunes of yesterday and today.

No tickets will be sold at the door; make reservations early by calling Mrs. John Herlihy, 73 Grove st.; or Mrs. Ronald Skates, 45 Brooks st.

Hilda Hope to lead Toastmistress Club workshop on Oct. 11

Winchester Toastmistress Club Charter Member Hilda G. Hope of Glen Green, will present a workshop titled, "The Effect of Appearance and Decorum on Professional Verbal Communication" at the club's October 11 meeting in the Suter Room of the Church of the Epiphany, 70 Church st., at 8 p.m.

An education report on "Professional Responsibility" will be given by Mrs. Myer Cohen of Malden. This program is the third in the Fall series covered under the theme "Achieve with Pride."

Mrs. Preston S. Johnson of Melrose will preside, and Mrs. L. John Pappalardo of Medford will moderate Table Topics. Mrs. Kenneth Weiss of Lexington will be program toastmistress.

Mrs. Johnson, Lois Hamilton of Malden, and Mrs. Aldo Pietrantoni of Medford represented the club at the October 2 meeting of Council 3, Colonial Region, International Toastmistress Clubs, including Toastmistress clubs throughout the New England area, held at the Hotel Sonesta, Hartford, Conn. Mrs. Pietrantoni serves as parliamentarian for Council 3.

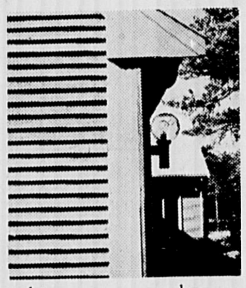

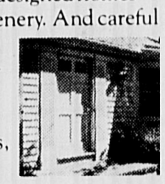

The public is welcome to attend club meetings.

Merit Cigarette Sets New Taste Standard.

'Enriched Flavor'™ breakthrough brings unprecedented taste to low tar smoking.

Today there's a way to get real taste from a cigarette without high tar.

That's the report on a new taste discovery called 'Enriched Flavor.' A way to pack flavor—extra flavor—into tobacco without the usual corresponding increase in tar.

The cigarette packed with 'Enriched Flavor' tobacco is remarkable new MERIT.

If you smoke, you'll be interested.

Tests Verify Taste

In tests involving thousands of smokers of filter cigarettes, the majority reported MERIT delivered more taste than five current leading low tar cigarettes having all the way up to 60% more tar.

Repeat: delivered more taste.

In similar tests against 11 mg. to 15 mg. menthol brands, MERIT MENTHOL was reported to deliver as much—or more—taste than the higher tar brands tested.

You've been smoking "low tar, good taste" claims long enough.

Now smoke the cigarette. MERIT.

Unprecedented flavor at 9 mg. tar.

One of the lowest tar levels in smoking today.

"Learn Not To Burn"

Is the theme of Fire Prevention Week 1976. Current statistics show the leading causes of fire other than incendiary to be:

1. Electrical
2. Smoking and matches
3. Heating and cooking equipment
4. Open flames and sparks
5. Children and matches
6. Flammable liquids
7. Chimneys and flues

Carelessness, disregard for established fire prevention policies, and ignorance account for a large percentage of the nation's 1.3 million building fires each year.

Here are some specific suggestions from your local Fire Department:

Electrical - Heed warnings such as sparking equipment, dimming lights, blowing fuses. Take defective equipment out of service immediately.

Smoking and Matches - Obey the age-old warning not to smoke in bed. Let ashes and cigarette butts cool overnight in ashtrays. Heating and Cooking Equipment-Keep in good working order, free of grease, well away from furnishings, such as curtains which catch fire easily.

Open Flames and Sparks - Again, keep away from combustible furnishings, and guard against clothing catching fire. Children and Matches-Keep matches and lighters well out of the reach of young children.

Flammable Liquids - Store only minimal amounts, keep in a cool place away from pilot lights and other open flames.

Chimneys and Flues-Keep in good repair and clean at least once a year.

If we all practice the above recommendations, Winchester will continue to be a fire safe community.

Savings to 50% on fuel costs possible, recent studies show

Is it possible to double the mileage obtained from a gallon of gasoline? Such expectations may seem out of reach for most motorists, but evidence exists that such fuel savings are possible.

A car owner in Dallas, Tex., brought his vehicle in for an emissions and fuel economy test. When his undermaintained car was examined in "as is" condition, gasoline usage was measured. After the car was completely tuned up, it was retested for fuel economy. A 55 per cent improvement in fuel economy was realized.

Cars so badly out of tune that they wasted half of their fuel supply were detected in national fuel economy tests.

Potential high

While this saving is hardly typical, it is not inconceivable. Add to engine condition other maintenance items and the manner in which the car is driven, and the potential to save fuel is enormous.

According to the experts, many factors can cost you at the gasoline pump. Shell Oil Company states that underinflated tires can lose a mile a gallon in fuel economy. A malfunctioning choke can cut mileage by 30 per cent as well as lead to engine damage. A clogged air filter can penalize a motorist 10 per cent in fuel consumption, Shell states.

In addition to ignition system deterioration (plugs, points, wiring, etc.), other mechanical factors affect fuel consumption adversely. These include misaligned wheels, maladjusted automatic transmission, brake systems that "drag," improperly operating cooling system (including thermostat), stuck heat riser valves, malfunctioning fuel pump and worn piston rings.

Car operation important

Engines operating at idle get no miles per gallon. So avoid needless idling. Warming up an engine on a cold morning is a waste of time and gas. As soon as the engine is running smoothly, proceed at a moderate speed. Also, when waiting for long periods of time, shut off the engine.

If your engine should flood, do not pump the accelerator. Instead, crank the engine steadily until the car starts.

In manual transmission cars, get to high gear as soon as possible. First gear uses about 30 per cent more fuel than second, and second uses 15 per cent more fuel than third.

Avoid jack rabbit starts. A driver who tromps on the gas pedal uses four times as much fuel as the feather-footed motorist.

Other fuel-wise maneuvers include avoiding sudden stops and starts necessitated by following other vehicles too closely; get out of the lane-hopping habit and keep good control of the car when cornering and climbing hills.

Drive sensibly

And perhaps the most effective gasoline-saving maneuver of all. Drive at sensible speeds. Traveling at 80 m.p.h. is not only against the law. A car at 80 m.p.h. consumes 25 per cent more gas than one going only 50 m.p.h. Shell claims most efficient mileage is achieved at about 28 miles per hour.

Studies show clean air tests liked in Jersey and California

Try it. You'll like it.

A stomach relief medication made that line famous several years ago. The sentiment seems to carry over to certain areas that have emission inspection programs.

Surveys conducted in New Jersey and Riverside, Calif., among motorists whose cars are inspected for emissions show popularity for the pollution-reducing, gas saving checks. When motorists in New Jersey, the only state with compulsory emissions inspection and compliance statewide, were queried about their experiences, the rate of unfavorable responses was low.

According to one New Jersey environmental protection spokesman, "We sent out questionnaires to 23,000 persons who had their cars inspected. Only two and a half per cent had unfavorable comments about the inspection. While 92 per cent made no comment either way, five percent went out of their way to praise inspection."

Of those who had to have cars repaired because they failed emission tests, the majority paid less than $25 for the correctional work, the survey showed. New Jersey clean air officials estimate an annual $80 saving on fuel when the car is properly tuned.

The Riverside inspection program enjoys a 92 per cent approval rate from motorists surveyed. Seven per cent rated the inspection program as "fair" and only one per cent said it was "poor." The tests, which are voluntary and performed at no charge, result from an experimental pilot program mandated by the California state legislature.

Of the 30 per cent of the cars that failed to meet standards, one-third of the motorists repaired their cars for a retest. Average repair cost has been $18 to $28.

Officer O'Neil first patrolman to earn bachelor's degree under town's self-improvement program

Identification Officer William H. O'Neil is the first patrolman in the Winchester Police Department to receive a bachelors degree.

He received his degree September 16 at Northeastern University and majored in criminal justice. Last June he also received an associates of science degree in the same field. He has been on the deans list for the last three years.

William H. O'Neil

Officer O'Neil resides at 8 Lincoln st. and is married to the former Rita M. Devlin of Bonad road. He has four children in the Winchester School System; they are Mark 17, David 16, Beth 14 and Jeffery 10.

Officer O'Neil was appointed a permanent member of the department in July of 1967 and was appointed identification officer in August of 1973. Since being appointed regular, officer O'Neil has attended and received certificates in the following law enforcement training courses conducted by the F.B.I.:

1967 - Northern Middlesex Police Academy; 1973 - Police Photography and Fingerprint Classification; 1974 - Crime Scene Search Training Program, - Advanced Latent Fingerprint Techniques, - and Municipal Investigators Course.

Officer O'Neil started Northeastern in January of 1972 under the (SIP) Self Improvement Program of the Town of Winchester. This program was initiated by the town fathers in 1970 and it enables police officers and firefighters to attend college on their time off and be helped economically for tuition and books.

This program also has an incentive that once you obtain an associates degree you receive $800; and a bachelors, $1200.

At this time there are eight officers who have received degrees under the town's SIP program and eight others who are currently attending college of criminal justice.

Last year officer O'Neil was awarded the Meritorious Service Award for outstanding service as a patrolman. Recently officer O'Neil and eight other partrolmen were notified by civil service that they had successfully passed the promotional exam for sergeant in the department.

Liquor license at stake

Legion takes to trenches as selectmen open fire on post's drinking problems

Selectmen voted Monday night to postpone until 8:45 next Tuesday decision on whether the license held by Winchester American Legion Post No. 97 should be revoked or suspended after a public hearing in which the Post failed to refute allegations of underage drinking and disturbing the peace and quiet of the neighborhood.

Chairman John J. Sullivan, in opening the public hearing, referred to the numerous letters of complaint from neighbors and police, as well as telephone calls received by selectmen regarding the method of operation of the American Legion post. He cited also the charge that two minors were present at the post's Vine street building and were served and-or permitted to consume beer in violation of the law. He further cited the charge that the post has not been able to enforce the rules and regulations adopted by it to eliminate neighborhood complaints.

David Hayes, counsel for the post, responded that all charges were justified, but asked that William H. Stevenson, incoming post commander, be given a chance to make a statement after hearing from those persons present who wished to speak.

There was no response at this time and Police Chief John P. McHugh briefly summarized the problems the police have had with the post since August 15. He noted several complaints of noise and bottle-breaking, as well as the arrest of two persons for fighting. He further mentioned noisy groups at the post who apparently had no status in the American Legion.

Stevenson then made a long statement to the board in which he assured them that when he takes over as commander within the next two weeks he will see to it that the problems are solved.

"We have appointed a committee to study relocation of the post; we have set up a screening committee to pass on renewals for membership; we have told our bartenders to be strict; we will prevent future problems; and last, we will be an active part of the community," Stevenson explained.

In response to a question from Selectman Edward O'Connell, Stevenson said that social members, those not voting, make up about 33 percent of the post.

Sullivan questioned the "reasonableness" of relocation with only a 20-man club. Stevenson thought that would be no problem since the bulk of the 155 members is social and with the new screening process he advocated the problems would be eliminated.

Chairman Sullivan, noting that previous commander Robert Barbaro had also made assurances of compliance with the law, questioned Stevenson's ability to enforce the rules and regulations of the club.

Stevenson responded that offensive social members would be denied use of the club for 30 days after the first offense, 60 for the second, 90 for the third, and permanently for the fourth. Regular members, those who served in the armed forces, would be punished 30 days for the first offense, then 60 and 90. They cannot be permanently barred.

Stevenson further said, "I have personally kicked out six social members in the last four months and the bartender is authorized to enforce the rules.

"Young punks won't be allowed membership in Post 97," he emphasized.

Selectman O'Connell asked Stevenson what the post stands for in addition to its services as a club. Stevenson pointed out that last year the Legion gave $1.2 million for cancer research. The local post is sponsoring a Girl Scout troop and making donations to hospitals.

Attorney Hayes suggested that problems of enforcement are partly due to the physical plan of the facilties. As the post is now designed there is access to a lounging area out of sight of the bartender. Hayes pointed out that anyone could buy drinks for patrons in the "hidden" area, who could conceivably be underage, and bring them there without knowledge of the bartender. Hayes suggested changing access to that area, if fire regulations would permit closing the outside door at that point.

He also said that his counsel had been retained to assist the post in drafting a "workable and enforceable" code to eliminate the undesirable factor and to control action.

Police Chief McHugh, in response to a question from Selectman Harry Chefalo, noted that police had never been called to the premises (with a possible exception once in June) to quell any disturbances. Only after calls from disturbed neighbors were police involved with the post.

Stevenson reiterated his intentions to fire bartenders who do not comply with the rules and regulations of club and noted that several have already been let go for serving drinks after the midnight closing time (1 a.m. on Friday).

Selectman Arthur Dunbar questioned whether women were permitted on the premises. Stevenson said that social members were not allowed to bring women guests to the post but that a women's auxiliary is being formed.

Two neighbors, Vernon Amos of 42 Vine st. and Oliver Brown of 30 Vine st., spoke at the meeting. Both pointed to the noise and disturbances and to the taking of alcoholic beverages from the premises. Brown also praised the efforts of past commander Barbaro "for the wonders he has done in the past months." Brown indicated that only a small group of fewer than a dozen persons seems to be responsible for the "devilish noises."

Chairman Sullivan, in summary, said that "evidence regarding the allegations has not been refuted and there is no evidence that the American Legion has not been responsible for the allegation."

He cautioned that committments made to the board in the past have been broken and that treatment of some of the neighbors by some of the members at the American Legion has been offensive.

Sullivan also said that the neighbors have been "particularly silent over a hot summer."

This is the first time a public hearing has been held because of club violations, Sullivan said.

"All the other clubs have been able to put their houses in order," he said. "We want you to know how seriously we take this hearing."

Although Selectmen O'Connell and Chefalo were prepared to vote Monday night on suspension or revokation of the license, Barbara Hankins and Arthur Dunbar preferred to wait and hold further discussion. Chairman Sullivan broke the tie by voting to resume discussion Tuesday at 8:45 p.m., with a vote to follow.

In setting the specific time and date, Sullivan said, "Failure to act tonight, does not mean we take this matter lightly."

Burglars hit

A series of housebreaks over the past week kept the Winchester police department busy.

A break on September 28 occurred at 7 Garden place, the Mitchell residence. Thieves took eight Oriental rugs and a set of tools. Entrance was through a window.

The following day a break at the Wolfe residence at 51 Westland ave. netted thieves silver and $7 from a purse.

Also on the 29th, a 1971 Volkswagen was found at 1 Cross st. stripped completely, including seats. The car had been reported stolen earlier from Marlboro. A 1973 Opel reported stolen from Stoneham was found, destroyed by fire. On September 30, a 1969 Volkswagen was set on fire on Polk road. It was registered to a Somerville owner who was unaware that it had been stolen. A break was reported at the 6 Everett ave. residence of Gilbert Hock. The house had been ransacked and silver, a rug, and a television set were reported missing. Rugs were also found rolled up outside the house. The break occurred on September 30. Three minors were taken into protective custody and one arrested for being in possession of alcoholic beverages after an incident on Mason street on October 1. A party on that street had been crashed by outsiders who caused a disturbance.

A break that date occurred at 6 Lowell ave., Dynamics Measurement. The police dog was called in but he found nothing.

Mouradian Rug at 40 Church st. was entered on October 2. Entrance was by means of removing hinges on a door in a shed at the back of the store. A number of Orient rugs were found rolled up in the shed. Police speculate that the thieves were scared off before they could take the rugs.

A break at the Forsythe residence, 6 Stratford rd. netted thieves a quantity of jewelry. An Oriental rug was found on the ground by the back door and the house had been ransacked.

Also on October 2 an armed robbery occurred at the Texaco station at 279 Cambridge st.

Mark Spengler, 21, of Reading, was alone at the station counting the day's receipts when a six foot tall man came up to him with a long, thin barreled, grey-handled gun. The assailant ordered Spengler to the back room and then took more than $400 from the cash register. Spengler told police he did not hear a vehicle leave the premises and was not aware that the man had left.

A break at the Kean residence, 40 Grayson rd., occurred on October 3. A black and white portable television set was reported stolen.

A larceny that date occurred at 27 Girard rd., a house under construction. Construction was almost completed and there were some furnishings in the house. A television set was taken.

Three juveniles took a go-kart and a mini-bike from a Sylvester street residence on October 3.

The following day, an alert mother on Oxford street called police to report that she thought two youths outside her house were in process of stealing her children's bicycles. When police arrived the youths had left, apparently having exchanged bikes with each other.

A hit and run took place on October 4 at Mystic Valley Parkway and Fenwick road. A car driven by Mark Traynor of 223 Pond st. was damaged in the rear. The driver of the hit and run car took off down Fenwick road and disappeared down Grove.

The Moore residence at 15 Agawam was ransacked on October 5. The thief or thieves broke the glass in a door and turned off the burglar alarm. Cash and jewelry were reported missing.

Burlington managed to hold Dave Rubin of the sophomore squad to a short gain this time, but he made several longer ones as the Sachem offense went to town, defeating the Red Devils 46-6.

WHS soccer team improves, chalks up a win and a tie

Winchester's soccer team showed improvement this week as they chalked up a 1-0 victory over Burlington and gained a 1-1 tie with Reading. They thus maintained their six game record of tallying one goal in each game.

Coach Bouley's boys have improved in many aspects of play, particularly on defense, but the defense has been slower in its progress. The opposition this past week was not so strong as that in the first four games and Reading is playing its first year as a Middlesex League member.

The entire team played its best game of the season against the Red Devils of Burlington with halfbacks Chris Hall, Paul Austin and Willie Strazullo in outstanding performances. Tom Shirly and Jim Gebhard did well at defense as did John Roche who came off the bench in the first period to replace Mulvaney who was injured.

Although the Sachems dominated the play they were unable to score until ten minutes had been played in the third period. At this point Seth Goodman broke behind the fullback and was in a one on one situation with the goalie. He beat him with a well placed low shot to the left side to tally the game winning goal.

Reading came to play soccer and the Winchester defense seemed to be backing up which gave the Rockets several early scoring opportunities. They finally capitalized in the second period as the Sachem defense made too soft a pass back to the goalie. The slow moving ball was intercepted by Tom King who drove it over the head of goalie Mark Tedesco for the Reading goal.

The second half was all Winchester and they tied the score as Paul Austin broke into the open on a lead pass from Chris Hall. He drove it home at the ten minute mark of the period to tie the game.

Winchester continued to control the action but could not produce the winning goal.

This week they face undefeated Wakefield and Lexington who played a 1-1 tie in the opening game of the season. The Lexington game will be played at the Skillings Road field as will a 10 A.M. game on Monday with the Woburn Tanners and the Melrose game on Wednesday of next week.

Women's fitness classes at 'Y'

The YMCA offers three programs to get in shape this fall which are unique and different.

Dancerize is an exercise program for women in which all the exercises are combined with music. The music lifts and stimulates and takes the boredom out of exercising. Morning sessions are Monday and Thursday and every session is followed by hydro-swim or water exercise in the pool.

The evening sessions are Monday and Wednesday.

For the more sports-minded woman, they offer slimnastics. This popular program is made up of exercises and volleyball. The women exercise for one hour and then have a friendly game of volleyball. This course is offered on Wednesday and Friday. Hydro-swim is offered after these sessions. A babysitting service is provided for Dancerize and slimnastics in the morning.

For the working woman Adult Fitness is offered on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday at 7 a.m. and 5:30 p.m. This is a cardiovascular program based on the "Y's Way to Fitness," a nationally acclaimed fitness program. This combines exercises for flexibility and strength with jogging. This program is for both men and women.

All our fitness programs start the week of September 20. For more information call the North Suburban YMCA.

Tennis-Now

Tennis-Now of Watertown is providing a full program of tennis instruction at the newly-opened Econo-Tennis of Woburn indoor tennis facility. The facility is located on Commonwealth avenue in the CCF Industrial Park.

Playoffs next

Rotary has perfect record for softball season, 6-0

Victories over Wilmington and Medford enabled the local Rotary Club to achieve undefeated status for the regular league schedule. The team ended the season with a 6-0 record.

The victory over Wilmington saw an awesome hitting display by the locals. They compiled 37 runs to only seven for Wilmington. In weather more suitable for football the locals turned on the heat early and never let up. Every member of the team got into the act and all of them hit safely in a 24 hit attack. Countless errors by the Wilmington squad accounted for the lopsided score.

In what was one of the finest slow pitch games of this or any other season Winchester edged Medford 6-5 in the final game of the season.

Medford was fighting for a share of first place and Winchester was seeking to go undefeated. The large crowd of spectators were treated to an outstanding display of defensive softball. Time and again offensive threats were squelched by tremendous defensive gems.

Medford third baseman Jack Kerwin on four separate plays made stellar stabs of shots off Winchester bats which prevented some offensive outbursts. The umpires were kept busy with both managers protesting questionable plays but cooler heads prevailed and the umpires kept control of the game.

With the score tied 5-5 after 6½ innings the Winchester team came up to the plate looking for a run to salt away the victory. The first batter, Bob McElhinney, was out at first by half a step to lead off the inning. John Lane stepped up to the plate next and the team was exhorting him to start the offense rolling. He responded with a tremendous home run over the right fielder's head that gave Winchester the victory. It was a climactic ending to a super season.

Winchester now enters the playoffs which start next week and hope to continue the momentum and capture the championship.

Sophs wipe Devils 46-6

The Winchester sophomore team had a field day last week at the expense of their Burlington counterparts as they romped to a 46-6 victory. Coaches Dave Berman and Mike Houghton saw their backs race for many long gains with Scott Farrar and Dave Rubin showing their heels to the Red Devils. Dave Guarnaccia played well and did some good work on his kickoffs.

By a strange coincidence one of the Winchester scores came on a long pass from Mark O'Neil to Nick Fitzgerald, which was practically a duplicate of the one that Reading used in Saturday's game to pave the way to the defeat of the Sachem varsity.

Fitness classes for older adults to begin

Metcalf Hall at the Unitarian Church will be the location of the physical fitness classes for older adults which are co-sponsored by the Winchester Council on Aging and the physical therapy department of Winchester Hospital.

The classes will be held Thursday mornings from 10:30 to 11:30 beginning October 21 and running for six weeks.

A doctor's permission form is required for participation. The forms are available at the CoA office, which is located in the Lincoln School. Call the Senior Service Line by October 15 to sign up for the class.

Sachems bow 20 to 7 to Reading in final minutes

by John F. Parrell

Coach Manny Marshall's football team held a 7-6 edge over the Reading Rockets until the final four minutes of play in last week's game played at Reading' They had played a much better defensive game than they showed against Burlington and had managed to control the offensive thrusts of the home team.

Reading had tallied a first period touchdown after a 75 yard march when Dave Falkenstrom broke away for the final 15 yards. A placement try was wide and Reading had a 6-0 lead. A few minutes later the Rookets again threatened but Billy Wise did a good job of breaking up a screen pass.

After taking the punt the Winchester team put together three first downs and a face mask penalty brought the ball to the Reading 13. Don Allard and then Tom Murray carried for a first down at the Rocket one. Allard scored the touchdown and Brian O'Connor booted the extra point for the one point lead that held up until the final Reading blitz.

However, defensive lapses allowed Reading to tally two touchdowns to turn what looked like a possible Winchester victory into a 20-7 defeat. The two scores by the Rockets came after the officials had signalled that there were just four minutes of action left.

It was fourth down with three yards to go at the Winchester 21 yard line when Fred Powers came into the game. He broke into the clear at the ten yard line and gathered in a pass to easily cross the goal line without any opposition. It was practically an identical play which the Sachem sophomores had used to score against the Burlington sophs. There was never a doubt of success as Art Ianelli placed the ball perfectly and there was no Sachem defender to break up the play. The same passing combination made the two point conversion and Reading led by 14-7 with 3:39 left on the clock.

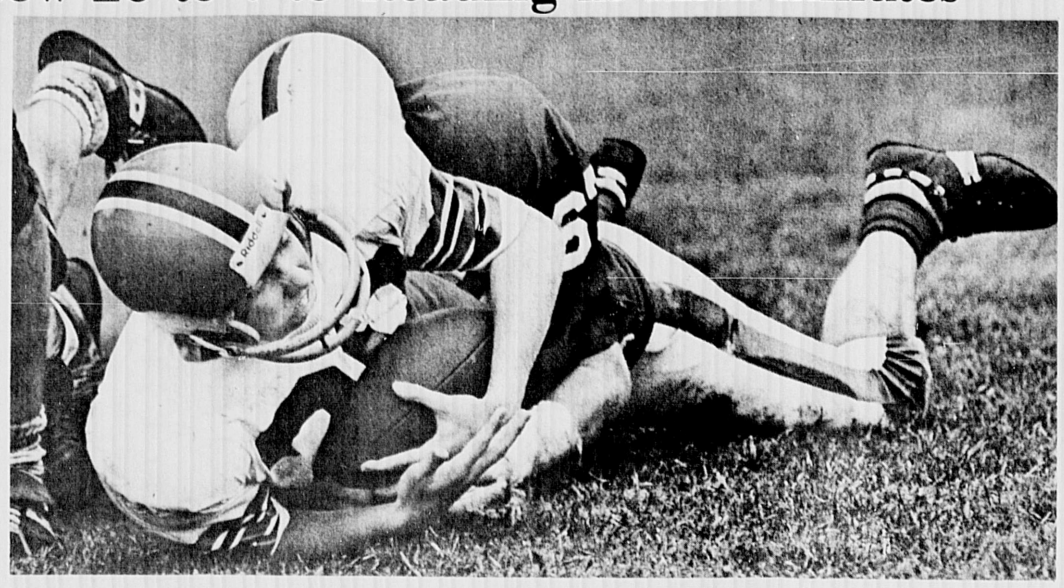

The Sachems were still not beaten and they went to work right from the ensuing kickoff. Anthony Davis ran the ball from the 10 to the 36. A pitch out from Don allard to Tony Macinanti made nine and then Allard broke away for a first down at the Reading 47.

Tony Macinanti made four and then took an Allard pitchout for a first down at the 36. Another pitchout was broken up for a five yard loss and Steve Larocco, son of the Winchester principal, broke through and sacked Don Allard for a seven yard loss. A forward pass dropped incomplete and on fourth down Allard was smeared for another big loss near midfield.

With time running out the Reading forces took over and figured to play conservative football to run out the clock. However, Winchester came up with another defensive lapse and Dave Falkenstrom broke through the gap to race better than 40 yards for another touchdown. The point try failed and Winchester tried in vain to mount any sustained drive as the clock ran out. Reading 20, Winchester 7.

Mike Calarese was unable to play for Winchester due to illness and Bill Monson played both ways at tackle. He did a good job in his first assignment at playing both ways. Tom Murray, sophomore son of Winchester's former band director, played well at fullback in his first varsity assignment. John Della Grotte playing for the first time this season was a great help to the weakended forward wall while Co-captain Jim Covino played his best game of the season.

Stoneham will be here next Saturday afternoon for a game at the Knowlton Stadium. Kickoff is set for 1:30 p.m.

Don Allard scores Winchester touchdown to climax 80 yard march and placement by Brian O'Connor gave Sachems 7-6 lead.

JV booters off to good start

The Winchester High School JV Soccer team has kicked off its 1976 season with a 1-1-1 record.

The only loss came to a more aggressive Belmont team by a score of 3-1. But aggressiveness was about the only difference between the two clubs, according to coach Don Latham.

"Our squad this year has more individual talent than I have ever seen at the JV level in my nine years as Winchester's JV soccer coach," he said.

"The valuable contribution that the youth soccer programs have been making is now making itself felt at the high school level," Coach Latham continued.

The team has just selected John Finneran, Ray Kenney and Paul Maxwell as tri-captains. With a little more consistent use of the team's individuaal capabilities, the rest of the season should see more of the brand of soccer evident in the team's 3-1 victory over Burlington.

Kadesch adds to tennis laurels

Phil Kadesch of 15 Mayflower rd., well known teaching professional in this area, has added another championship to his growing list of titles. In the finals of the Merrimack Valley Invitational tennis championships, held at the Westford Tennis Center last wwekend, he emerged victorious over Andy Chase of Cumberland, R. I. in a tightly fought match 7-6, 7-6.

Kadesch combined penetrating volleying with fine serving and a powerful overhead to best his opponent. He reached the final round with wins over Skip Brookfield of Marshfield in the semifinals, 6-4, 6-3, and over Karl Ingard of Lincoln in the quarterfinals, 7-5, 6-2

Guarnaccia to play tackle at Johns Hopkins

Steven P. Guarnaccia, son of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Guarnaccia of Buckman dr., will play tackle for the Johns Hopkins University varsity football squad this season.

Steve, a 1976 graduate of Belmont Hill School, is presently a freshman at the Johns Hopkins University of Baltimore planning to major in international studies and biology.

SPIRITS OF '76
by DAN BUSA

HINTS: Wines are not too compatible with acid dishes or salads . . . Prove it to yourself by drinking wine with a fish entree, then go on to your salad vinaigrette, and after that take another sip of wine . . . You will notice the difference immediately . . . Some red wines cast a sediment in the bottle; it can be seen by lifting the bottle carefully in front of a light . . . If sediment is evident, open the bottle and cautiously pour off the clear wine into a decanter, stop pouring the moment the sediment reaches the neck . . . By doing this gently, the heavy material in the bottom of the bottle is not disturbed . . . The clear wine can then be served from the decanter . . .

"Keep Up Your Spirits With Spirit of '76 Products" handled exclusively by us at BUSA LIQUORS. We also handle a full selection of brand name liquor, imported and domestic wines and have a staff ready and willing to give you full assistance. Cross country team outruns Burlington, loses to Reading

The Sachem cross country team met a Burlington team weakened from the loss of several good runners. Winchester just missed shutting out Burlington by a few seconds as they took fifth place.

The race took place on the home course — a definite advantage. Almost everyone improved his time for the three-mile course, one of the toughest in the league.

Co-captain Brian Quinn led the team with his best time ever, 17:23. Following him were Rich Delonto, 17:31, Jim Burns, 17:32, and Andy Wilsack, 17:42. Burns and Wilsack improved their times by :33 seconds and :16 seconds respectively. Rounding out the scoring was Sam Card, 18:03, Jan Oehm, 18:07 (down :22 seconds from last week), Charlie Larkin, 18:09, Ken Pritchard, 18:19, Dave Garrity, 18:43, and Kevin Consales, 19:09. Final score was Winchester 16, Burlington 47 (low score wins).

The Sachem J.V. took the first 12 places; scorers were Kevin Gosselin, 18:51, Brook Chipman, 18:52, Chuck Govostes, 19:21, Dave Putnam, 19:39, and John Baker, 19:44. Final score was Winchester 15, Burlington 50.

The girls, in their first separate race, lost by the score of Winchester 39, Burlington 22. Scorers were Audrey Leach, 21:41, Donna Senna, 21:35, Evelyn Ashford, 24:28, Allison Murry, 25:23, and Cathy Cullen, 25:24. Also Susan Doron, 32:00, and Nancy Leland, 33:05. Winning time was 21:08.

Friday was a different story as Reading took the first five places and shut out Winchester 15-48. The winning time for the 2.7-mile course was 13:05. The scorers for Winchester were Rich Delonto, 13:38, Brian Quinn, 13:54, Andy Wilsack, 14:00, Charles Larkin, 14:02, and Sam Card 14:22.

The J.V. also lost by the same margin. The five Sachem scorers were Consales, Govostes, Putnam, Baker, and Haukedalen.

But on Friday it was turnabout as the talent-laden Reading runners beat the Sachems by 15-48 and 15-50. The only bright spot came in the girls race where Jan Oehm outclassed the opposition as she covered the course in 14:46.

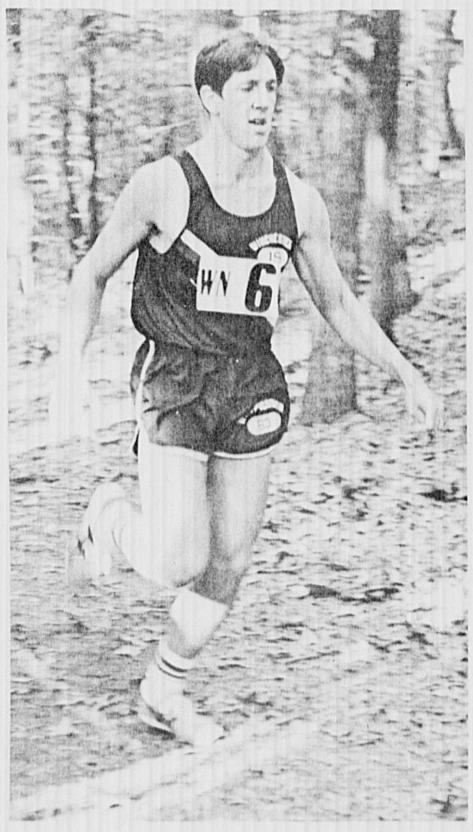

The Burlington varsity managed to get only one runner in the first ten as Brian Quinn posted a 17:23 for the local course. He was followed across the finish by Rich DeConto, 17:31, Jime Burns 17:32, Andy Wilsack 17:42, Steve Hanums of Burlington, 17:54, Sam Card 18:03, Jan Oehm 18:07, Charles Larkin 18:09, Kendall Pritchard 18:19, Dave Garrity 18:43 and Kevin Consales 19:09. The other Burlington runners were far in back of this group.

Kevin Goselin took the J V race in 18:51 and was followed by 11 other Sachems Brook Chipman, Chuck Govostes, Paul Putnam, John Baker, Mike Haukedolen, John Hogan, George Farmer, Jack McInnis, Rich Boland, Bob Doyle and Dick Gardner before Smiligh of Burlington appeared to cross the finish line.

Reading sent eight of its first nine varsity team across the line with Harrison being clocked in 13:05. Co-captain Rich DeConto of the Sachems was in sixth place but the rest of the team was never in contention.

The J V race found Reading again in complete charge to win by 15-50. Knox led the way and was followed by seven other Rockets before Kevin Consales of Winchester finished.

So, it was a lopsided win and loss for both Varsity and J V groups with a home meet against Stoneham and a meet at Lexington listed for this week.

Jack McInnis running in the JV cross country race against Burlington September 28. Both the varsity and the JV posted easy wins.

Leaf watchers warned of fall driving hazards

Registrar of Motor Vehicles Robert A. Panora suggests that "motorists out to view the fall foliage should bear in mind that they should not impede the flow of traffic while viewing the scenery since it could lead to collisions and tieups."

Pulling off the main highway into a rest stop or other safe place is advisable.

He also reminds drivers that these same beautiful leaves can be as treacherous as ice when they have fallen to the ground and become wet. Speed should be adjusted to these conditions.

The registrar also cautions drivers to be aware of children playing and hiding in piles of leaves during this fall season.

Workshop for librarians set at Old Schwamb

Winchester librarians and others who handle old documents and papers are especially invited to participate in a paper conservation workshop at The Old Schwamb Mill, 17 Mill lane, Arlington, Sat., Oct. 23, 9:30-4:30 p.m.

Instructor Robert Hauser is a conservator at the New England Document Center in North Andover. He is a graduate of The School of the Museum of Fine Arts, Boston and Tufts University. His wife, Helena Wright, co-instructor, is a graduate of Bryn Mawr College and Simmons School of Library Science and is a museum curator of prints and manuscrpts. The workshop is limited to 12 people. Registration is underway now.

There are a few openings in spinning and dyeing, crewel embroidery, needlepoint, children's pottery, leatherwork, woodworking with hand tools, wood-carving, and drawing, painting and sculpture for 12-16 year olds on Saturday mornings. You may phone or register in person at this National Historic Site. The mill and museum shop are open Tues.-Fri. 9-4 p.m.

Teacher named as outstanding

The Board of Advisors for the Outstanding Leaders in elementary and Secondary Education Awards Program announced that Mrs. Cynthia Kavanaugh, fifth grade teacher at St. Mary's School, has been selected for inclusion of the 1976 Outstanding Leaders in Elementary and Secondary Education.

Approximately 6,000 educators from all over the United States have been presented with this award and are being considered for one of ten $500 unrestricted grants to the five outstanding elementary and secondary teachers chosen as most outstanding in their division.

This is a distinct honor for Mrs. Kavanaugh and St. Mary's School. Mrs. Kavanaugh is a well-deserved recipient of this award as she is an outstanding teacher as well as a very popular one with the students and faculty.

Early Birds

The Starlings in the Winchester Early Birds Bowling League are in first place. They scored the team high series of 1164. Members are Lorraine Staniewicz, Marie Palumbo and Pat Nicoletti.

The high team single game of 412 was captured by the Pheasants and the Sparrows. Pheasants team members are Rose Bezjian, Susan Lippman and Eleanor Bazylinski. The Sparrows are Mary Jane Brooks, Ilene White and Delia DiMarzo.

The Pheasants team captain, Rose Bezjian, bowled the high individual game of 185. Right behind her were Gail Buzzotta with a 182 and Elaine Binding with a 181.

The high individual series of 479 was bowled by Gail Buzzotta of the Doves team.

New bowlers are welcome and should contact Rosemarie Vita, 19 Cox rd. Free babysitting is provided.

High school update. . .

New work-study program is working well at high school

By Rick Pearl

A new program, yet to be formally named, but known for now as the work-study class, has been enthusiastically welcomed by 65 high school students who are the charter members of the course at Winchester High. The program offers students who are pretty sure that they're not going to college, but don't have a specific vocation in mind after high school, the opportunity to study and work at the same time.

The course encompasses four periods of class time in the morning, and then gym. After that the students branch out to various jobs in the community where they work either as a volunteer or for some compensation.

The program is being directed and taught by four full-time teachers. Diane Boettcher, who also retains her position as the head of the Max-Ed program in the high school, teaches the students about human relations, and values. Dave Miller, formerly in the industrial arts department, heads the career education classes. Peggy Sullivan, formerly a science teacher, teaches math and science. Tom Walsh, former social studies teacher, is in charge of English and social studies.

All courses are designed so that what is taught can be directly related to real life. All lessons have a "practical purpose." For example, one segment of the English course concerns how to read a newspaper correctly. What is important to read, how much time to spend on it, how to gather necessary information from it. During a political election students will learn how to understand the issues, and what candidate can help them the most.

The career education segment helps students to learn how to manage a checking account, know what to expect in a job interview, how to buy intelligently, and how to fill out application forms.

The science program aids students in learning about food-preservation, first-aid procedures, and the general physical being. It also has a section on auto safety.

The students are given an interest and ability test, which narrows down the field of jobs they might wish to enter. From this test is determined five "clusters" or occupation groupings, which the student must explore. Among these "clusters" are such groups as construction, medicine, etc.

After the morning classes and gym, the students go to work, hopefully at a place of business that is related to their interest and ability. Some jobs are strictly volunteer work. Others such as working at the fish pier, landscaping, working in retail stores, supermarkets, or at the Winchester Country Club, the students are paid for doing.

The program has been a great success thus far. The directors have about 95 percent of their kids placed in jobs, and attendance has been very high at both the classes and jobs. However, with the coming of winter, some of the jobs now available, such as landscaping, won't be around.

As the program develops and gains exposure, the four directors hope to find additional internships or apprenticeships for vocationally oriented jobs from the community. If anyone in the business community has any kind of job or trade that they would be willing to give to a deserving student, contact either Mrs Boettcher or Mr. Miller at the high school. They are always looking for new jobs and would appreciate your support.

WHS Class of '51 donates to seniors

Phyllis Williams, acting treasurer of Winchester High School's Class of '51, and Jake Ciarcia, a member of the class reunion committee, last week presented a check on behalf of their class to the Winchester Seniors Association for their building fund. Ralph Hatch, former president of the association, accepted the gift, which will be used towards the building of the Senior Center, with gratitude to all class members.

The gift, which totaled $160, represented money left after the expenses of the class's 25th reunion were paid. 110 people, including 64 class members, attended the recent reunion which was held at the Holiday Inn in Burlington.

The reunion committee, chaired by Bob Mirak, and backed by class members, agreed it was in their own best interests to donate to the fund for the Senior Center. According to Mr. Ciarcia, the class intends to hold its 50th reunion there.

Fire calls

During September, the Winchester fire department responded to 58 still alarms, 20 boxes, four false, one lock-out, and seven calls for mutual aid.

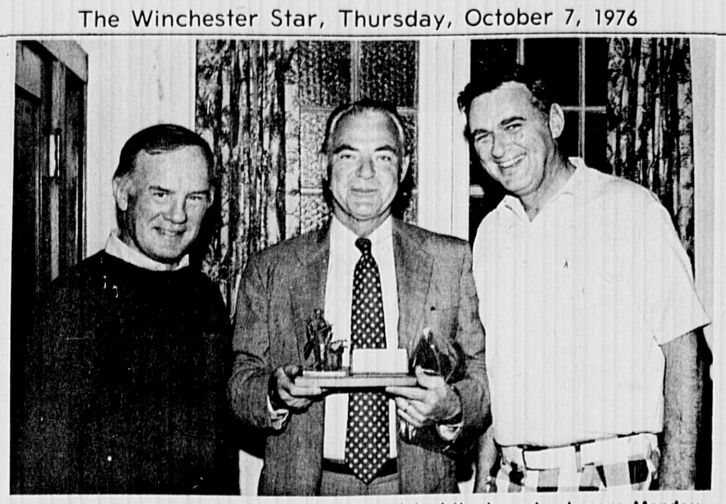

On September 29, they were out for two and a half hours working on a fire in a water department shed.

'Super start'

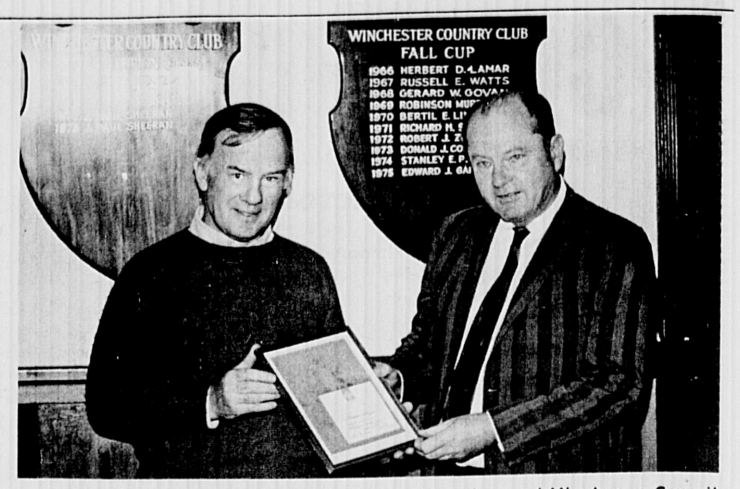

Wyman School second grade Brownies are off to a 'super start' with their first service project. They've been busily creating posters which can be seen in the local store windows. The posters tell all about the Wyman School Fair on Oct. 16 at 10 a.m.

Chatterbox Club

The next regular business meeting of the Chatterbox Club of Boston will be held today at the Holiday Inn in Somerville. Lena Di Minico of Winchester is president of the club.

Warren "Moe" Berg of 81 Bacon st. (center) had the lowest net score Monday during the Boy Scouts' second annual Minuteman Council Open golf tournament at the Winchester Country Club. He was congratulated by Donald C. Van Roosen of 12 Woodside rd. (left) president of the Minuteman Council and Daniel E. Callanan of 64 Myopia rd., chairman of the fund-raising event.

In appreciation for hosting the Boy Scouts' second annual Minuteman Council Open golf tournament, Monday, Council President Donald C. Van Roosen of 12 Woodside rd., presents a citation to Walter L. Wilcox of 23 Myopia rd., president of the Winchester Country Club.

Left to right: Edward H. Bailey of 3 Greeley rd., won a set of irons Monday during the Boy Scouts' second annual Minuteman Council Open golf tournament at the Winchester Country Club. Presentation of the high scorer's award was made by Ralph H. Bonnell Jr. of 88 Arlington st. and H. Buzz Fleming of Burlington — both of whom served on the Council's committee.

Social dance class set at Crawford

Social dance classes for teens and adults will begin on Monday, October 18 at the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church. A second class will start the following Thursday at the American Legion Hall near the center.

Classes will be held in ballroom (waltz, foxtrot, jitterbug, and tango), discotheque (hustle, bump) and novelty dances (hully-gully, Greek circle dance, Hora, bus stop, etc.) for teens from 7 until 8:30 p.m. and adults from 8:30 until 10 p.m. A second adult beginner class will start on October 21.

Classes will be taught by Pat Ferdette, under the direction of Susan Ehrreich and will be open to the public.

Electronic funds transfer arrives at Savings

EFT has come to Winchester.

People who ordinarily receive their social security payments by check, and who have authorized the U.S. Treasury to forward these payments directly to the Winchester Savings Bank, were included in the first large scale automatic funds transfer in Massachustts.

The September Social Security payments, i.e., those that were issued the first week of October, were not issued in the form of a check, but were encoded on magnetic tape and sent directly to the beneficiaries' accounts at the Winchester Savings Bank where they were electronically posted.

This Electronic Funds Transfer program initiated by the U.S. Treasury Department and the Social Security Administration was brought about to serve a number of needs. The government's expense for paper and postage will be cut significantly. Recipients won't have to worry about getting the checks on time, and it means that much less mail the mailman will have to carry.

A recipient will not have to worry about his check being left in the mailbox when he is on vacation; this leaves no chance that said check would be stolen from a mailbox. And the recipient can't lose or misplace it.

Direct deposit is relatively simple. In short, it is an option offered by the U.S. Government of having one's Social Security recurring payment deposited directly into one's bank account. The authorization form 1199 can be obtained at the Winchester Savings Bank.

Rep. Lois Pines to speak Oct. 14

The members of the Woman's Auxiliary to the Middlesex East District Medical Society and their husbands enjoyed a poolside brunch at the home of the president, Mrs. George Rowan, in Winchester, September 19.

The first meeting of the fall season will be a luncheon to be held Thursday, October 14, at the Pillar House in Newton with guest speaker, Mrs. Lois Pines, state representative to the legislature from the 19th District, Middlesex County. Her efforts are well known on matters such as the Emergency Medical Care Law; public smoking ban; Mass. ERA, budget of schools which remain open. Only 80 percent of these interior maintenance costs are assumed to be transferred to other schools to make allowance for some inefficiency without a school closing.

Fuel, Electricity, and Gas:
It is estimated that 80 percent of the cost for fuel, electricity, and gas will be transferred to other schools if one school is closed. These other schools would otherwise have rooms which could have the lights, heat, and heated ventilation turned off, common rooms such as a gym in use with normal heat and light 2 or 3 days a week instead of 5, and other common areas closed off without either normal heat or light.

Phone:
It is noted that the total of the present Lincoln and Wyman telephone budgets is $1,790., compared with a budget of $1,783 for the Muraco School. Since the student population and the clerical staff of the Muraco school is near the projected size of the Lincoln School with a Wyman closing, it is estimated that the new budget for the Lincoln School would be equal to that of the Muraco School.

Custodian:
If a school is to be closed, rooms and common areas in other schools which would otherwise be closed off or used less will be in full use. It is estimated that custodial assistance totaling $14,000 will be required in these other schools which would otherwise not be required.

CONCLUSION

The object of this analysis is to bring into question the statement by the superintendent, contained in his March 26, 1976 memorandum, that empty seats make it inevitable that schools will have to be closed. In fact, schools should be closed if we choose not to pay whatever cost may be required to keep them open. This mandates a process whereby we determine what the costs of various alternatives are, establish whatever benefits and liabilities are attached to each alternative, and decide which alternative offers the best value. The superintendent's memorandum has not followed this logical process.

The basic concept proposed for consideration here is the recognition that most of the savings attributable to closing entire schools can be obtained by the selective use of existing space in all of the schools, and minimizing heating, electricity use, custodial services, and other costs.

The habits and techniques developed in implementing the approach described above, if applied to all schools, could reduce the cost of operation more than school closings. Among the other benefits would be that school administration would be able to devote full time to the efficient operation of the system, rather than be distracted by the turmoil generated by school closings and redistricting.

Weavers Guild to hold sale

The Weaver's Guild of Boston is holding their annual sale and exhibit October 29-30 at the Edgell Art and Education Center on Oak street on the Common, Framingham, from 10 a.m.-6 p.m.; and November 4-5 from 9:30 a.m.-5 p.m. at Burnham Hall, Wenham Historical Museum, Wenham.

Active members of the guild from this area include: Mrs. Claude E. Shannon; Mrs. Frederica Galley; Mrs. William Glowacki; Mrs. George McFadden; Mrs. William Woods; and Ursula Keleher.

All items for sale will be handwoven by members of the guild. There will also be demonstrations.

Local man to help UW

James Patrick Kennedy of Winchester, vice-president Avco Everett Research Laboratory, Inc. is serving the United Way of Massachusetts Bay as a loaned executive during the 1976 Campaign now underway until November 18.

This year's goal of $18.6 million will provide health, child care, family and youth services to nearly one million people in the Mass. Bay area through more than 165 United Way agencies.

Loaned executives are made available to the United Way for the entire 10-week campaign by Mass. Bay companies at no cost to the United Way. "LE's" work in either large firms or local community campaign, helping to organize and implement employee and local campaigns.

Interfaith course...

Religion: Should it be part of public school studies?

Should we teach about religion in the public schools? If so, how?

An Interfaith Education course on "Public Education and Religious Studies" will consider these questions on four Tuesday evenings this fall.

Leading the discussions will be Drs. Doris and Howard Hunter, Winchester residents and educators with background in this field.

Sponsored by the Winchester Interfaith Education Committee, the course will be presented at Winchester High School on Tuesday, October 19, October 26, November 2, and November 9, from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m.

This series is intended to stimulate thought on a topic that is of growing interest to the American public.

Among issues to be explored are the constitutionality of teaching about religion, religion as an integral part of American culture, the relation between values and religion, objectivity in teaching, ways in which religious thought is already included in the curriculum, and courses being taught in other school systems.

Dr. Doris Hunter teaches philosophy at Bentley College and Northeastern University; Dr. Howard Hunter is chairman of the Department of Religion at Tufts University, where he has conducted a summer workshop on this topic.

Registration forms may be obtained at the churches or Public Library, or checks may be mailed to Ms. Priscilla Baumann, 26 Everett ave.

was written destroyed any incentive to digest it. The tone of the article came across as blatant derogation rather than constructive criticism. The article was written for one reason only: to undermine the 'Ladies' Home Journal' article (August 1975) which portrayed Winchester as one of the more pleasant communities in the Boston area.

There is only one way to react to this kind of irresponsible journalism; put yourself above it. One cannot only read the article, but must analyze it, read through the biased overtones and pick out the important message it bears.

It is true, we do have an overly restrictive school committee; this town did display its stagnation and isolationism by rejecting METCO; it is hard for A.B.C. students to feel at home in a community which has its fair share of bigots; and we do need attractive low income housing.

Winchester has these problems and more, all of which were portrayed in the 'Boston Magazine' article. But the manner in which these problems were presented made it hard for any Winchester resident to admit to them.

The 'Boston Magazine' reporter wanted a vehement reaction from us. We should destroy his game by showing him that Winchester recognizes its problems and intends to solve them.

Keep the canal

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

A plan to surrender our Panama Canal Zone to the Panama-Havana-Moscow Communist alliance is being finalized in the U.S. Department of State at this moment. For months Ronald Reagan blocked the State Dept. surrender plan. He spotlighted the issue from coast to coast. Reagan forced policy-makers to put negotiations with Panama's Marxist dictator, Omar Torrijos, on the back burner.

In State Department back rooms Reagan's Kansas City defeat is seen as opening the way for completion of the deal to abandon control of American territory.

Representative Robert Bauman recently declared, "Ambassador (Ellsworth) Bunker came before the committee on which I serve and said that he had been authorized on at least two occasions to interpret the 'vital interests' as eventually surrendering our control over the Panama Canal Zone."

This is not in the best interests of the United States! Call it detente or 'peace' or negotiations or anything else you want, but it comes down to just one thing. This is downright surrender of American territory!

The U.S. built and paid for that canal. The 1903 treaty between the U.S. and the states of Panama and Columbia gave the U.S. full rights of sovereignty in perpetuity over the strip of land that came to be called the Panama Canal Zone.

The signers of the 1903 treaty wanted to be certain that the U.S. would have the capability to keep the big powers of the world from meddling in Latin American affairs.

The Panama Canal became the cornerstone of our foreign policy. It doubled the strenghth of our navy. Our ships could move, thanks to the new canal, from ocean to ocean at will. No power on earth could successfully threaten our national security in this hemisphere.

Now, 73 years later, that security is being seriously eroded.

The tentacles of totalitarian communism are beginning to spread across Latin America. Soviet puppet, Fidel Castro is allowed a free hand to foment terrorism and revolution.

The threat is immediate and frightening.

If Latin American appeasement continues unopposed, the Panama Canal will be surrendered in 1977. Cuba will be given U.S. diplomatic recognition. And the Carribbean, America's waterway, will then become a Soviet Lake.

You have the power to prevent this surrender. We can send a message loud and clear to those seeking your votes in the 1976 election campaign: "Ignore the security of our southern flank only at the risk of defeat at the polls!"

Down Mexico way

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

To anyone interested, I suggest that he keep his eyes open these days for migrating Monarch butterflies. I saw three specimens yesterday. They were the first of the season for me. I even held one for a minute or two. It had alighted on a railing nearby and when I poked it gently with an outstretched finger it climbed aboard, giving me a good chance to observe it closely.

The three that I saw were all crossing the wide, level area around Wellington Circle, Medford. All were flying at about eye-level across the parking lot and the Fellsway, and were having a hard time of it, too. There was a strong south-west breeze blowing, a real head wind for these little creatures to overcome, as they were heading for Mexico for the coming winter and Mexico lay directly in the eye of the wind.

The one I held was tired. It had alighted on the railing to rest from its labors. I don't know how far it had already come but it could have been from almost any point as far north-east as Cape Breton Island.

It was fat and healthy looking. Its limbs were glossy and its wings not torn or tattered in any way. I suspect that if it (or she, rather) manages to make it all the way to Mexico and back next year, those beautiful wings will show much more wear and tear than they do now.

I say "she instead of "it", because actually none of the males ever make it all the way back the following year. The males all die, and only the pregnant females manage to return. They lay their eggs and then they, too, die, leaving the new brood to go through the same old, hazardous, oddysy year after year, brood after brood. The Monarch has never learned to cope with winter in this, its chosen latitude. It long ago elected to run away from Winter, perhaps at first only a short distance. But as the glaciers receded farther and farther North from its ancestral home in Mexico, it now finds itself, making an annual trip of four or 5000 weary miles just to stay alive for another year. I guess it follows the ripening milk-weed north and then follows it back south again as winter nears. The Monarch is dependant upon the milk-weed. Its eggs are laid only on milkweed leaves and milkweed constitutes the bulk of its diet.

My little fellow, when rested, took off again bravely enough still making hard work of it, buffeted up, down, right, and left, but still forging slowly ahead on a bearing a little west of the noontime sun. Via con Dios, my little friend!

I recommend the article on the Monarch buttefly in the August, 1976, National Geographic Magazine, page 161. This will tell the story much better than I can tell it. I got much of my information from it and found it very, very interesting.

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

I would publicly like to thank and commend Lt. Stygles and his men for their tremendous reactions and efforts on the night of September 27, 1976, regarding the incident of fire we had in our basement.

With men like Lt. Stygles and the many other men who responded, Winchester should be very proud of their finest, the Winchester Fire Department.

Again, my family and I say thanks.

Procedures established for school committee meetings

The Winchester School Committee has established certain procedures concerning their regular meetings. The policies, under regulation 1060.1, are as follows:

A. School committee meetings shall be held on the second and fourth Monday of each month during the school year except that during Town Meeting or in weeks which have a Monday holiday, the school committee shall meet on the second and fourth Tuesday. Regular meetings take place at the Sanborn House, 15 High st. Special public hearings may be held in larger quarters which will be publicized in the newspaper.

B. The agenda of school committee meetings will be sent to The Star and the Daily Times prior to each meeting. It will also be sent to educational representatives of the community school association as well as to members of the student advisory council to the school committee. Copies of the agenda will be available at the meeting for the public and are on file at the Winchester Public Library.

C. Meetings shall begin on time (7:30 p.m.). Coffee breaks shall be limited to ten minutes' duration. Every attempt will be made to limit the length of the agenda and to conclude the meeting at a reasonable hour.

D. Members of the audience shall notify the chairman at the beginning of the meeting if they wish to speak to a particular item on the agenda. The chair will entertain spontaneous comments from the audience on appropriate occasions. The committee shall not engage in debate with members of the audience.

E. New material should not be presented to the school committee members at meetings. Material reaching the superintendent's office too late to be included in the packet will be held for the next packet. No vote should be taken on major items or policy matters on the night presented. Policy readings require two readings before passage.

F. Persons seeking school committee discussion of an issue should submit a written request to the superintendent. The timetable for discussion shall be subject to his discretion.

G. Policies and regulations of the school committee are on file at Sanborn House, in each school office, in the Winchester Public Library, and at the state department of education.

H. Minutes so voted by the committee become matters of public record and are on file at Sanborn House, in each school office, in the selectmen's office and in the Winchester Public Library.

Recycle!

Recycle in Winchester at the town dump off Swanton street.

Material should be separated into the following categories: rags, used clothing, cans, newspapers and glass. Glass must be sorted by color: amber, clear and green.

All material must be clean. CLEAN!

Peter Pacetti of Winchester, center, is shown with his two companions from the University of Maine, Craig Phillips, left, of Ocean Park, Me.; and David Gould of Auburn, Me. traveling through Wisconsin on their 3942-mile bike trip across the country this summer. After several days of steady rain, the sun came out for the last day of the trip, when the three dipped their feet into the Pacific Ocean at La Push, Wash.

3942 miles in 72 days

Winchester youth and friends pedal from sea to shining sea

It's one thing to rest your foot on the gas pedal of your automobile, listen to the asphalt hum by below, and watch the scenery go by. There you sit, in padded, air-conditioned comfort, manipulating the fingertip controls of your power-glide machine.

It's quite another thing to strap your feet onto the pedals of a ten-speed bicycle and push your way 4700 miles across the country: you listen to the crickets, feel the July heat and shiver in the cool showers, smell the hay and the corn, and see the land as you never could from a car window. On a bicycle tour you don't ride over the land; you travel through it.

That's the way Peter Pacetti, 37 Samoset rd., did it this summer, along with two friends from Maine, David Gould of Auburn and Craig Phillips of Ocean Park.

The three University of Maine-Orono graduates dipped their toes into the Atlantic Ocean near Portland, Me. on June 8 and headed out. 3942 miles and 72 days later, they cooled their heels in the waters of the Pacific in the tiny Indian village of La Push, Washington.

That wasn't enough for Peter. He rode on alone for another 800 miles to San Francisco, where he shipped home his bike, bought a bus pass, and took in some more of the country on his way home. He arrived back in Winchester September 17.

Pacetti got together with two of his fraternity brothers last December, and the trio, who would be graduating in the spring, began looking at maps and reading up on bicycle touring.

"At first it was the kind of thing you think will never happen," said Peter. Nonetheless, they shoved off June 8 from Old Orchard Beach, Me., their bikes loaded down with 65 pounds of clothes and camping gear.

"The first day we rode 38 miles and ate a can and a half of stew for dinner between us. We were too tired to eat any more, so we plopped down and went to sleep," Peter relates.

By the end of the trip they were riding 65 miles a day and eating three cans of stew for dinner. For the whole trip the three averaged 60 miles a day, and they camped out every night but four. Their route took them across the northern U.S. and a bit of Canada; they took seven days off the highway, including a side trip into Glacier National Park in Montana for some mountain climbing.

From Maine they traveled the Kancamangus Highway across New Hampshire and continued up to Lake Champlain, ferrying over to the New York side, where they rode through the Adirondack Forest and on to Niagara Falls.

The falls were the first tourist stop. Peter thinks the falls are a bit "overrated."

"They've been so commercialized — hotels and restaurants right there. You walk up to a certain spot to look at it, there it is, then you walk back down." Still, he says, they're something to see.

Peter compared the falls to Glacier National Park, where the mountains and glaciers stand alone in their majesty, beyond the reach of souvenir shops and roadside attractions. "Everywhere you turn, there's something beautiful to look at."

To avoid the highly populated area between Buffalo and Chicago, the trio cut across the southern peninsula of Ontario, reentering the U.S. at Port Huron, Michigan and traveling on to Ludington, where they caught the ferry across Lake Michigan to Wisconsin.

From there it was pretty much straight going through the farm country of Wisconsin and Minnesota and on to Pierre, South Dakota on the Missouri River.

"South Dakota was the most depressing spot," says Peter; "We had to ride a lot of the way with the wind in our faces. That's worse than the hills or gravel." And of course, the road's a straight, flat, gradual climb all the way to the Continental Divide.

They visited the Badlands, sandstone pinnacles and gorges clawed out of the grasslands; and the Black Hills, where the faces are carved into the side of Mt. Rushmore.

Cutting across the northeast tip of Wyoming, the three rode up to Billings, Montana, stopping off to visit the Little Big Horn, where Custer saw his last and to visit an Indian reservation.

Just west of Helena they crossed the Divide, 6350 feet high at the top of the pass. They were in for steeper going though. After hitchhiking into Glacier National Park for some climbing, Peter and his friends headed through Idaho and Washington to the Cascade Mountains. There, among some of the country's most jagged peaks, they climbed from 800 to 5500 feet in one 20 mile stretch, the steepest climb of the trip.

The worst weather of the trip hit in the Northwest: between Helena and the coast, it rained 17 of 22 days. The trek formally ended at La Push, a coastal Indian village in the Quillayute Reservation in Olympic National Park.

Phillips returned to Maine; Gould traveled up to British Columbia to look for work; but Peter continued down the coast. Along the way he teamed up with a Norwegian rider, and the two, discouraged by cool, damp weather along the coast, moved inland for a tour of the wine country north of San Francisco.

Pacetti's bus tour took him through Los Angeles, Reno (where he won $15 at the blackjack table), Denver, St. Louis, and finally home.

The trip was surprisingly trouble-free. In all, Peter went through two back tires, and beyond a few broken spokes, there were no serious mechanical problems. The only close call came when one of the riders was forced off the road and took a spill over the handlebars.

Peter says he undertook the journey to see the country, and he believes he saw it more closely than possible from a car window. On a bike the view is all around you; you're a part of the landscape. And you meet the people.

"I never met a person I didn't like, really," Peter said. A familiar line, no? "We never ran into people who were unfriendly, especially on the West Coast — people there went out of their way to help you."

Peter says the trip restored some lost confidence in people. It also gave him a greater appreciation for the Northeast. "New England seem's more unique to me now."

The value of traveling, on or off the highway, is tough to tie down: you know you've seen a lot, and somehow you know it'll serve you well in the future. Peter put it this way: "I feel I've gained some perspective on life; I have a broader base to work from."

Churches to sponsor Bloodmobile Oct. 17

Four churches in Winchester will join in sponsoring a Bloodmobile appearance in Winchester at the Red Cross Chapter House, 39 Church st., on Sunday, October 17, from 11-3 in the afternoon.

The churches sponsoring this Bloodmobile visit are the First Congregational Church, the Second Congregational Church, the First Baptist Church and the Church of the Epiphany.

These churches are making a special effort to enroll blood contributors from among their members, but they want it known that any eligible blood donor, 18 through 65 (17 with parental permission), whatever his church, will be welcome. Appointments may be made by calling the Winchester Red Cross, 729-2300.

St.Mary's holds open mass

St. Mary's held its traditional opening Mass for the school year on September 13 at 7:30 p.m. Mr. William Mees, president of the St. Mary's Parents Association, spoke on the need of commitments from the parents for support of the school activities both in money and time. Father Reardon, celebrant of the Mass, gave the children an interesting talk on the importance of a good attitude toward their schoolwork in the coming year. It was also announced that this year St. Mary's School will have Father Lynch as Chaplain.
On September 21 a new mothers coffee was held in the conference room of the school at 9:30 a.m. Mrs. Martha Bett and Mrs. Joanne Abdella were co-chairmen for the event. Coffee, tea, and baked goods were served to the new mothers as they were welcomed to the school by Mrs. Phyllis Mees, President of the Parents Association.

Mr. Zoerheide will discuss the personal rights and responsibilities during the terminal illness or death of a loved one. He will also introduce the Federal Trade Commission's report on funeral practices.
At 11:30 the panel discussion will be led by the following. Dr. Arthur Waltman, staff, Massachusetts General Hospital, Dr. Robert A. Storer, minister emeritus and Rev. Jack D. Zoerheide, minister of Unitarian Church.

Obituaries

Ann Stough

Ann Stough, 76, of 57 Thornberry rd., died here September 29 after a long illness. She was the mother of Mrs. Herbert (Martha) T.-F.-Rondeau of Winchester.

Wife of the late Charles H. Stough, she had lived in Erie, Pa. from 1900-1960. She belonged to the Lutheran Church and was a member of the Order of Eastern Star, White Shrine. She was buried in Erie.

Also surviving her are her daughter Mrs. Robert (Margaret) D.A. Fisher of Tuscon, Ariz.; and a son, Robert H. Stough of Acton. She also leaves seven grandchildren.

Donations in her memory may be made to the charity or college of your choice. Arrangements were by the Norris Funeral Home.

Barbara Haggerty

An honorary delegation of firefighters, under the direction of Fire Chief Robert W. McElhinney, led a funeral procession at St. Mary's Church Saturday to honor Barbara Margaret (Keeler) Haggerty, wife of Paul J. Haggerty of the fire department. Mrs. Haggerty died suddenly at her home, 151 Washington st., on September 30. She was 52.

The funeral Mass was concelebrated by Rev. Paul B. McInerny of St. Ann's Church in Wayland and Rev. Mark S. Sheehan of St. Mary's. Fr. McInerny is a nephew of Mrs. Haggerty's. Burial followed in Wildwood Cemetery.

Mrs. Haggerty, a lifelong resident of Winchester, where she was born, worked during the 1960's in the business office of The Winchester Star. She was a member of St. Mary's Church.

Surviving Mrs. Haggerty, in addition to her husband, are her son, Paul J. Haggerty, Jr., her mother, Mrs. Margaret Keeler, two sisters Mrs. Margaret Rolli and Mrs. Jean Barry, all of Winchester, and another sister, Mrs. Carolyn Hughes of Burlington. Also four grandchildren and several nieces and nephews.

Robert J. Costello Funeral Home handled the arrangements.

Seniors' Center Building Fund receives $250,000 gift

Fund raisers dig their spurs in deeper; they have to raise another $50,000

Thanks to a Winchester man who practices what he preaches, the Winchester Senior Citizens Center Building Fund got a whopping big, quarter million dollar boost last week.

The $250,000 given by Winchester's James L. Jenks, Jr., 80-year-old retired president and chairman of Sanborn Company, will be added to the more than $50,000 already raised by the seniors themselves and their many friends and supporters, to provide a multipurpose facility for the town's nearly 3000 older adults.

Mr. Jenks's gift is the largest contributed thus far on the long road toward that goal.

Another $50,000 must be raised within the next month, according to Jack D. Zoerheide, chairman of the Senior Citizens Center Building Fund Steering Committee.

Upon receipt of Mr. Jenks's donation, Mr. Zoerheide said, "We are elated over this large gift. We are, however, very concerned that no one mistakenly assume, because of the gift, that our fund-raising effort is completed. Even last night (Thursday), we had another fund-raising party.

"We have promises of gifts ranging from several hundred to several thousands of dollars which will be critical to receive during the next month in order to bring us to the goal of $350,000. This amount will enable a beautiful building plus complete furnishings."

He said gifts received range

from one dollar contributed by a widow up to the large one of Mr. Jenks.

"We have received gifts from at least 500 Winchester households, which we expect will very soon exceed 600."

Mr. Zoerheide continued, "The money raised so far has been achieved by an incredibly dedicated effort of a small group (30-plus) over many months' time. We are all

Profile: James J. Jenks, Jr., philanthropist, Old School American lives by the Golden Rule

By J. ROBERT SHERMAN
Executive Editor

You sit down in his comfortable living room and converse with James L. Jenks, Jr., and his wife, Evelyn, and you wonder what kind of man this is who has given $250,000 to the Winchester Senior Citizens Building Fund.

And you figure that if at the end of two hours you can't write a fairly perceptive analytical personality sketch about him, then maybe you are in the wrong business.

But no! It doesn't take long to figure him out, and later to confirm it: He's an American of the Old School who believes in the Golden Rule. And he practices it.

He is genuine, instantly liked and respected; tall, sharp-eyed, warm and outwardly friendly. He is very pleasant, good company.

Right alongside him, you would place his attractive wife, Evelyn. They have been doing everything together since they were married. An important function in their lives has been their giving, their charitable contributions. They long ago agreed to be "tithers," a church-giving term that goes back for centuries.

Mr. Jenks started his careeer as a research engineer. He had attended Moses Brown Preparatory School and Brown University in Providence, and after that served for a year in the navy in World War I. In prep school he was flexing his inventive wings and resourcefulness. He was an active 'ham' radio operator, an amateur astronomer, and built a 16-foot glider that flew a short distance before crashing.

He began at Sanborn Company "at the bottom" and rose to the presidency in 1942, became chairman in 1961 and retired in 1963. But not before he had accomplished a great deal for his fellowman, not the least of Jenks profile whom were the employees of Sanborn Company. At the time he joined the company, there were about 50 employees. The company which had its beginnings in Cambridge, and later moved to extensive acreage on a former pig farm in Waltham, along Route 128, grew to more than 1000 employees when Mr. Jenks retired. During that time, under the leadership of Mr. Jenks, the company was non-union, had a profit-sharing plan for the workers who owned all of the voting stock.

When Mr. Jenks was ready to step down, he looked around for the best possible merger partner and found it in Hewlett-Packard, the electronics and computer giant, which now has some 40,000 employees worldwide.

Another of the important activities of Mr. Jenks's life is his "Praying Hands," an inspirational magazine that is issued every two months and which he has been publishing since January of 1959. The magazine's latest issue went to 13,700 readers around the world. It is published by Mr. Jenks through his Praying Hands Charitable Trust "as a contribution to those readers who may find in its pages some words of inspiration and worth."

James Jenks looks back fondly at his years in business and knows he has a lot to be thankful for. He's a sharing kind of man, and he's been trying to share some of his good fortune with his fellowman over the years. He has succeeded admirably well.

His association with the great scientist, Dr. Vannevar Bush, was of much help and inspiration to him in his early years, and he was also associated with the late Dr. Paul Dudley White, "one of the finest men I ever knew." It was with Dr. White that he went on an expedition in 1952 to the Bering Sea off Alaska when Mr. Jenks became the first man ever to take a cardiogram of a swimming whale. Before that he had taken pioneer electrocardiograms of elephants. It is perhaps more significant that he took the whale's cardiogram, for his grandfather many years before had been in the whaling industry. Ancestors had come to this country in 1640. A paternal ancestor, Joseph Jenks, had obtained the first patent granted in the Colonies when he was a millwright in the Saugus Iron Works. Joseph's son later built a mill in Pawtucket, R.I., in 1670 and the City of Pawtucket was later built around it.

Mr. Jenks also has other interests to keep him occupied and busy. He goes to his office at 28 Church st. every day, from whence he administers his many charitable interests.

He and Mrs. Jenks are devoted world travelers and get around as much as possible.

There is so much to write about and so little space in which to do it justice. At least, you can get a better idea of the kind of man this is who gave that quarter million to the seniors' fund from a quotation in his own magazine. It's on the back cover of the latest issue of Praying Hands:

"Each of us will one day be judged by our standard of life—not by our standard of living; by our measure of giving—not by our measure of wealth; by our simple goodness—not by our seeming greatness."

That's the measure of James Lawrence Jenks, Jr.

MDC says water supply line in Fells 'imperative'

By Karen Whittlesey-First

James J. Matera, director of the water division of the MDC, told The Star Tuesday that the controversial pipeline which that department wants to lay down through the Fells is imperative to its long-range plans for providing what it calls "improved water service" to Stoneham and Woburn.

Matera claims that the per capita use of water from the Quabbin-Wachusett system (involving a total of 34 cities and towns within a 15-mile radius of the State House) will increase one percent a year until 2020. Right now, he says, 50 million gallons of water a day are pumped through the Spot Pond pumping station. Each person in the metropolitan region uses 168 gallons of water a day (this figure includes use by industrial firms).

In a meeting at the Spot Pond pumping station, attended by State Representative Sherman W. Saltmarsh, MDC project engineer Thomas S. Baron, chief construction engineer Francis Bergin, William Hicks from environmental secretary Evelyn Murphy's office, and other interested persons, Matera said that after construction of the pipelines and pumping facilities, "the Fells will be left in better condition than it's in now."

The MDC is planning a three-phase project in the Fells, for which it needs legislative approval for part. The plan, according to the environmental assessment form filed by the MDC with the executive office of environmental affairs on June 16, summarizes the proposal as follows:

"1. New pump facilities for Spot Pond pumping station to improve service for 15 member communities and expand service to three additional communities.

"2. New 60 inch water supply pipeline as primary feed to new pump facility and connecting it with the Fells reservoir, a distribution storage reservoir,

"3. New 48 inch water supply pipeline as a discharge line from the pump facility to connect with other existing and new pipelines serving Woburn, Stoneham, Wakefield, Reading and North Reading. The 48 inch pipe will be subaqueous and will necessitate the draining of much of Spot Pond."

Opposition to the MDC's plans has come mainly from environmental groups who feel that cutting a 40-foot swath 3500 feet long through the Fells will irreparably spoil the natural environment.

These groups also base their objections on the lack of public knowledge of the proposals and on what they think the MDC is pushing through the legislature.

According to Charles Carlson, vice president of the Friends of the Middlesex Fells, Inc., the bill now before the state legislature (Senate No. 1522) does not specifically mention the diversion of public land in the Fells. The proposed pipeline between the Fells reservoir and Spot Pond would be built in public land.

Carlson, backed by the Conservation Law Foundation of New England, says that article 97, added to the Massachusetts Constitution in 1972, requires a two-thirds vote of both houses for any new use to be placed upon an MDC reservation.

He also says that public hearings have not been held on the proposal.

Matera, speaking for the MDC's water division, says that public hearings are required only when wetlands are involved and that a public hearing was held on the 290 acres of wetlands involved. He told The Star that the MDC would come up with the date and place of the hearing and when and how the public was notified.

Matera also claims that funding has already been approved for much of the length of the pipes and the construction of pumping facilities and it only remains for the legislature to pass S. 1522.

Construction on Bear Hill could begin at any time. Draining and construction through Spot Pond would probably have to wait until next year if S. 1522 is not passed this year.

Matera says that passage of the bill is "imperative" in the plans so that water can be pumped from the Fells reservoir through the pumping station at Spot Pond, a distribution storage reservoir, up to Bear Hill reservoir,and then on to the towns.

He says that Woburn and Stoneham have been especially plagued with inadequate water for several years.

CONCERN forum on vandalism

CONCERN will present study of the problem of vandalism, alcohol, drugs, student attitudes, and other issues October 19 at 7:30 in Winchester High School.

Judge Luis Gonnella of the Woburn District Court will be there to talk about high school problems, along with Winchester Chief of Police John McHugh; Assistant Superintendent Jack Fallon from the school department; and David Russell, a student at the high school.

The discussion will highlight the cost of vandalism to the school system; the practical problems in the law enforcement field in dealing with vandalism and its overall impact on the town; the student perspective on vandalism; and the role of the courts in handling vandals, including programs available for the town and the rehabilitation of criminal offenders.

There will also be progress reports from various community groups on programs currently fighting vandalism in Winchester.

All are encouraged to come and hear and talk about problems confronting the community.

Selectmen suspend Legion's liquor license for 45 days

Selectmen voted unanimously Monday to suspend the liquor license held by Winchester American Legion Post No. 97 from October 20 through December 5.

The club's current license expires December 31 and is subject to automatic renewal if the club applies before December 1, as are all club licenses. The suspension in no way affects the club's legal status in the matter of renewal.

The suspension will have an affect, however, on the question of whether the club will financially be able to continue.

Finance officer John Sullivan of the post, asked that the date of suspension be delayed from Selectman Edward O'Connell's original motion of midnight Saturday, to allow time to inform the club members and to give the four part-time employees notice. He also remarked that there are perishables on the premises which must be used.

Chairman John J. Sullivan accepted the suggestion and the motion was amended to delay by four days the date of suspension.

William H. Stevenson, incoming commander of the post, said, "We may forced to sell the property. We have mortgage commitments and other outstanding bills. If we sell, would the board do anything to help us find a meeting place if we couldn't find one right away?

John Sullivan assured Stevenson that "even if town property were needed, the board would do anything in its power to help the post find other quarters."

The board has traditionally helped the American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars find quarters for their posts.

Edward O'Connell, just before the vote was taken, said, "I must tell you all that it is with anguish and sorrow that I made this motion."

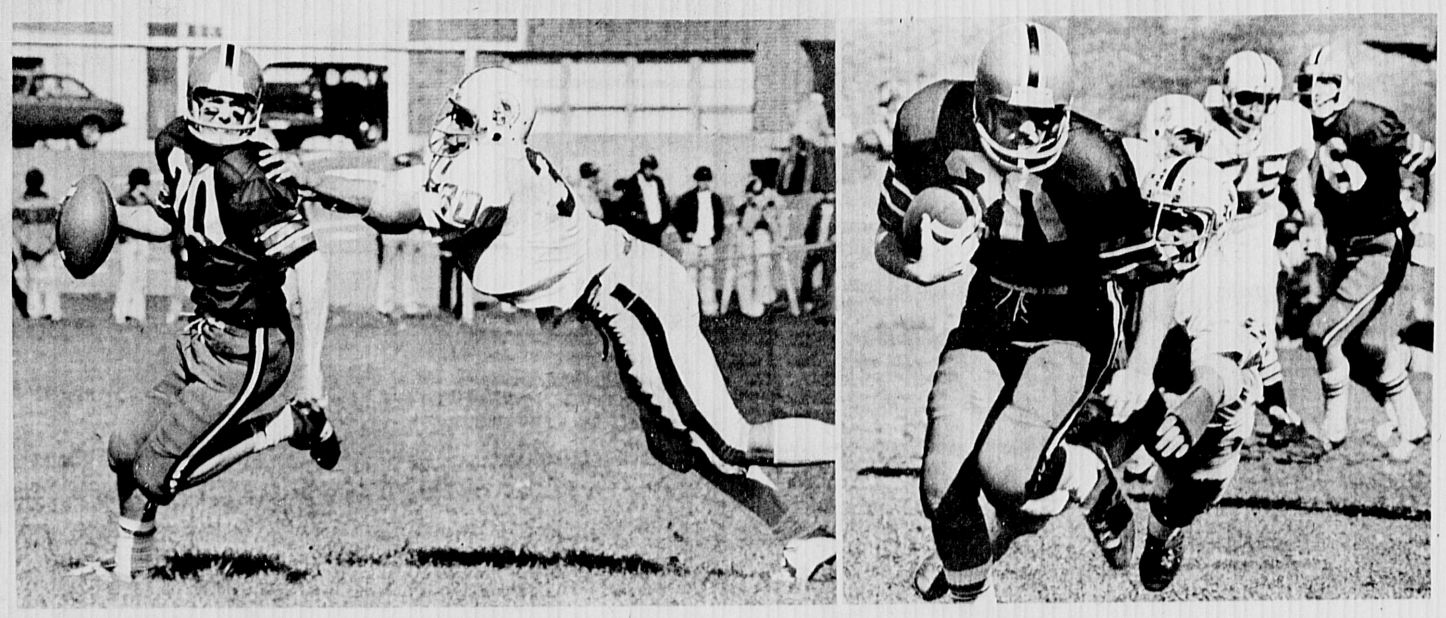

Chairman Sullivan said that had O'Connell not made it, "any one of the other four members of this board would have had to."

Selectwoman Barbara Hankins, remarking on the suspension, said, "There is no question in my mind that the license should be suspended. It is the only way to impress on the officers of the Legion and those who frequent the Legion that there has to be public order."

This is the first time that a club has had its license suspended.

The charges against the American Legion Post No. 97 were that two minors were present at the post's quarters and were served and-or permitted to consume beer in violation of the law; that the post had not been able to enforce the rules and regulations adopted by it to eliminate neighborhood complaints; and that numerous letters of complaint had been received by selectmen from neighbors and police concerning the method of operation of the post.

David Hayes, counsel for the post, said that the post could not refute the allegations although it might take exception to individual complaints.

Sees 4-year high school

School Superintendent William Macdonald said Monday night he sees a four-year high school, two middle schools for grades five through eight, and five elementary schools in Winchester by 1982.

MacDonald's vision of the future, which takes off from his recent recommendation to close two elementary schools in the next two years, was submitted as one of several alternate plans to be examined by the school utilization task force set up by town meeting last spring.

He revealed his ideas to the school committee at their meeting Monday night. The committee spent most of the evening on subjects related to the proposed closing of the Wyman School, including discussions of enrollment figures and the role of the task force. They also met for two hours with the selectmen to exchange views on the subject.

The superintendent's plan, which he insists is an alternative to be considered rather than a formal recommendation, would include closing Wyman, Noonan, Parkhurst and Washington Schools and the Mystic portable classrooms over a period of seven years. The plan is based on a projected enrollment of 3371 in 1982, a decline of 1561 students from October 1 of this year.

School board Member Constance Papas, the board's representative on the task force, said her group would be examining the pro's and con's of alternate plans based on three sets of enrollment figures, that is a best estimate from the school department and 12.5 per cent deviations from those estimates both up and down.

With a median projection of 1166 students

Swine flu shots set for Winchester citizens Oct. 25

A clinic for vaccination against swine flu and A. Victoria, another type of flu, will be held at the board of health office on Monday, October 25 from 10 until 5 for all residents who are chronically ill and for seniors over 65 who are in good health and wish to take part in the free program.

Dr. Lawrence J. Quigley, Jr., chairman of the board, urged that anyone contemplating vaccination check with his personal physician if he has any question of whether or not he should have the vaccination.

"In light of the recent deaths in Pennsylvania," he said, "the board strongly suggests that the family physician be consulted if there is a question."

As of press time, there was no indication that the deaths Monday of three elederly heart patients was in any way connected to the fact that they had received vaccination against swine flu earlier in the day. Although some states and communities are temporarily halting the vaccination program pending a more complete investigation of the situation, Winchester is not among those contemplating such a move, according to Michael Saraco, director of public health for Winchester.

Saraco has met with Dr. Nicholas J. Fiumara, chief of the state's Division of Communicable Diseases, and has state support during the clinic. The state health board is providing the vaccination gun and trained personnel for the clinic day.

In addition to state assistance, Saraco says that the doctors of the Winchester Hospital, board of health nurses, and Red Cross volunteers will be on hand for the day. The Red Cross is also providing transportation to the board of health office for those who are chronically ill and will need a ride.

A statement will be signed at the time of vaccination and questions will be answered then. Anyone wishing to read the statement and other pertinent information about vaccination will be able to do so before the clinic d.t. The board of health is planning to have cop.. of the material available for the public as soo.. possible.

The ... will next week publish a suggested schedule for going to the Town Hall on October 25 so that all those wishing the vaccination will not come at the same time. There will be ample vaccine for all who come.

Those in the high-risk categories are the chronically ill over the age of three and healthy individuals over the age of 65. The U.S. Center for Disease Control and the American Academy of Pediatrics classify "chronic illness" as 1. Chronic bronchopulmonary disease, such as asthma and cystic fibrosis. 2. Heart disease. 3. Chronic renal disease. 4. Diabetes and other chronic metabolic diseases. 5. Chronic nueromuscular disorders in children. 6. Malignancies and immubodeficient states in children.

Police blotter

Gas station held up for second time in two weeks

The Texaco station on Cambridge street was the scene of its second armed robbery in two weeks when an unidentified gunman entered at 12:02 a.m. October 9.

According to Police Chief John P. McHugh, the attendant on duty, Kevin Hoyt of Reading, was forced into the men's room of the station after a male assailant showed him a long-barreled revolver and threatened him if he didn't comply.

The assailant was not able to open the safe and forced Hoyt to give him $15 from his pocket and then took $30 from the top drawer of the register.

Hoyt heard no car and did not clearly see his assailant. Last week a similar situation occurred when the station was robbed at gunpoint, but the attendant did not see or hear the assailant depart.

Officer James Pierce had just checked the station Saturday and found nothing amiss.

On October 7, $112.65 was reported missing from the Texaco station safe, which had been left unlocked. Entrance was gained by breaking a window.

There were several house breaks last week, including one at 208 High st. where furniture was apparently slashed and jewelry and liquor taken.

Thieves stacked furniture outside the second floor bedroom window at 2 Edgewater place to gain access to the house. They ransacked the master bedroom.

Silverware was taken in a break at 7 Longfellow and an attempt at 32 Calumet rd. was thwarted by an alert neighbor who notified police.

Five juveniles were involved in a car accident at 120 Cross st. when their car, stolen from one of the youth's father, collided with one coming from the parking area at that address. The youths took off.

Another accident at the same location involved a 15-year-old girl who was driving her mother's car without a license and without authorization. She hit a car leaving the driveway and was identified when a witness recalled the registration number on the car.

A truck stolen at 11:39 on October 8 from J.H. Winn Company was found two hours later at Maple and Orient streets with the engine running. A CB radio and $150 worth of tools were reported missing.

Studio Guild opens season

A luncheon meeting at the home of Mrs. Robert Deskin was held recently for the Winchester Studio Guild's 1976-77 season officers.

The officers include: Joan Ross, secretary; Sally Eddy, treasurer; Theresa Higgins, housekeeper; Marie Zoerheide, studio keeper; Teddy Hedman, program chairman; and Florence Grant, publicity.

Mrs. Eddy held a morning coffee September 29 to open the guild's 39th season and to give old and new members a chance to meet. Plans for furthering the active study of art were discussed. Sessions are every Wednesday.

in grades K-4 in 1982, MacDonald describes a capacity of 1820 in five schools, including: Mystic—275 (including the portables); Lincoln—500 (the superintendent recommends 500 though the capacity of the school is listed as 600); Muraco—500; Vinson-Owen—325; and Ambrose—220, or 340 with proposed renovations.

The high school would handle the estimated 1407 students in grades 9-12 (versus 1293 in the three upper grades as of October 1). Lynch would have an enrollment of 525; McCall, of 755.

The school department's enrollment projections are based, according to Macdonald, on historical trends and present birth data. He said housing patterns were included in the figuring.

"I feel reasonably comfortable with Arthur Sarno's numbers," MacDonald said. Sarno is data processor for the school department.

At the October 5 hearing on the Wyman closing, parents Richard Santos and Marion Crandall presened evidence that enrollments may well begin to increase in the near future. MacDonald suggested the school committee invite the two to the next meeting to explain their figures.

Though the school board at times seems to support the superintendent's proposal to close Wyman, insisting that they "have no use for the building" as a result of declining enrollments, they do not plan to vote on the issue before town meeting.

There is an article on the warrant "to see if the town meetng will take any action regarding the closing of a school." The committee has agreed to offer a recommendation on whatever motion grows out of this article.

Board Member Robert Frank said, "I'd like to have all the information relative to the Wyman closing question before I vote on it."

When Committeeman Jack Noble said he thought the committee should remain objective, Frank responded by saying, "I do not consider our role is Jimmy Carteresque — sooner or later I'll come to a judgement and will try to persuade others on the issue."

Selectman Chairman John Sullivan told the school board he saw two "reasonable options" for the disposal of Wyman, should the school be closed. They were either tearing the building down and turning the land into open space; or selling the property to alleviate the tax rate.

Frank had another idea: lease the existing structure, thereby allowing the school board to retain it for future use should enrollments begin to rise again. He urged the selectmen to explore this option.

MacDonald said he would "feel more comfortable if there were some way of holding the building in reserve." He also suggested looking at Wyman and the Sanborn property as alternative candidates for sale.

Sullivan insisted that he had heard much about the financial aspects of closing but "no one has said much about the educational benefits of a closing."

School board Chairlady Mary Pronski said that because of the reduction in enrollment and staffing, the department had in fact already closed a school. "We'd like to have the taxpayers not paying for brick and mortar but for education," she said. She added that closing Wyman would allow specialists to spend more time teaching and less time traveling between schools; that staffing certain programs would be easier; and that student-teacher ratios would not change.

"We are not advocating busing in any way," she said, "And we are not out to destroy the neighborhood schools."

Mrs. Papas said she would rather see a school grow by 100 students than have "split" classes (i.e. classes with students from two grades).

The average size of elementary schools in towns around Boston to which Winchester often compares itself is over 400, according to Mrs. Papas.

"This could go to a referendum," Mrs. Pronski said, referring to the closing issue, "and if it did, I would go along with the vote."

amateurs at fund-raising. I might add that few of us really enjoy it. It is hard work, but it needs to be done and we are doing it."

He added that "we very much need to raise the last $40,000 and do so within one month from now."

Presentation of the check was made by Mr. Jenks and his lovely wife, Evelyn, in a modest, informal ceremony in the Jenks' living room.

Mr. Jenks, in characteristic fashion, told The Star that his contribution in no way lessens the giving by others, down to the smallest donation of a single dollar. He also praised the groups of citizens, young and old, who contributed their time, money and talent to holding the variety of fund-raising activities.

Leading participants include Dr. Richard Norberg of 3 Westgate rd., a Winchester dentist who has played several roles in the project from the outset; Rev. Mr. Zoerheide; President Ray Murphy of the Winchester Seniors Association, and committee members, Meg Harrigan, Lawrence Hutchings, Ralph Hatch, Dr. Leonor Rich, Barbara Weedon, Pauline McGuigan, Beryl Hagan, Marion Hatch and Clarence Borggaard.—J.R.S.

THE WINCHESTER STAR

Serving The Community For Over 95 Years

Miles to go...

Even though the Winchester Senior Citizens Center Building Fund has received a great big lift by the generous donatiuon of $250,000 last week by James J. Jenks, Jr., and although the seniors themselves, their friends and many supporters have raised more than $50,000 via a multitude of events, the job isn't done.

It may be that the hardest chore of the drive thus far lies in the month ahead, for they must raise nearly another $50,000 in the next 30 days.

A hard-core nucleus of some 30 or more persons, each giving his or her special talents and abilities, and especially willingness, to a task that none particularly relishes, has brought the fund drive this far. For the most part, the volunteers who have been conducting the fund-raising activities, are seniors themselves who have many years of experience coping with the vicissitudes of life.

For them it has been a hard road. But it has also been a rewarding one for most, making them and their contributors more aware of their value as human beings doing something that will actually be a landmark in the history of Winchester, another giant step forward beyond the crossroads of our time within the borders of this town.

At this juncture, one does not dare to name names in the fear that a single one might inadvertently be left out of the long list of individuals who have done so much to assure that a senior citizens multi-purpose center will become a reality.

By their acts, Winchester's senior citizens have proven once again (as if anyone ever doubted it), that they are self-sufficient to the extent that anyone can be. But still, they need your help to see this job through to its logical conclusion.

Even if you can only muster a single dollar, please give it to the seniors fund. You'll be helping yourself and your town as you help them.

For the seniors, who are elated beyond measure at the generous gift of another senior, Mr. Jenks, the memory of Robert Frost's poem "Stopping by Woods on a Snowy Evening" has a special significance:

..."the woods are lovely, dark and deep,
but I have promises to keep and miles to go before I sleep, and miles to go before I sleep". . .

Public's need to know

It may be too late by now to do anything more about it. The bill that will allow the MDC to go ahead with its plan to slash the woods of the Middlesex Fells Reservation at Sport Pond Reservoir, may already have been passed by the legislature as it snowballs headlong toward prorogation.

Even so, The Star, which first revealed the intent of the MDC to run a big water supply pipeline through a 40-foot swath over the woodland floor, challenged the MDC to answer some questions that needed to be answered.

The questions were posed in news stories and in editorials in this newspaper, and again at a meeting at the Spot Pond site Tuesday by a member of our staff, who viewed the area with officials including James J. Matera, director of the water divison of the MDC, who naturally enough, being in his position, insisted that the pipeline is an absolute imperative.

While that may be so, we asked him to provide us with some documentation that the MDC held public hearings about its intentions there, especially specifics about the diversion of public lands which the law requires. He has not provided it.

Opposition to the MDC's Fells plans has been registered since last summer, and answers have been sought by that group's vice president and Winchester resident, Charles Carlson, to no avail.

The MDC has not come forth with information that would satisfy the Friends group and their supporters, including the Appalachian Mountain Club.

This newspaper is also numbered among those unsatisfied with the response of the MDC, or more accurately, non-response. The first inkling the MDC gave that it was interested in what anyone wanted to know was the meeting at the site Tuesday, which was called by Winchester State Rep. Sherman W. Saltmarsh, who first learned of the problem through the revelations in The Star.

We do not know what action he intended to take. The bill was sent to the House from the Senate to be engrossed. We hope he will try to stall it until the next session, at least, and seek some answers to satisfy the public's need to know. —J.R.S.

Wyman Fair

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

Elementary Schools are receiving much publicity in our town. You, the townspeople are being asked to consider and ultimately decide how much you value the concept of the small personal close-to-home eductaion of the young children in Winchester.

You have an opportunity this Saturday, October 16 to observe the essence of what people are referring to when they speak of that unique spirit of community within the small school. The 180 families in the Wyman School invite you to our fair.

See for yourself what dedication and involvement exists among the faculty, parents and children. There is something special going on this Saturday at Wyman and everyday in all our elementary schools. Come and find out about it.

New approach

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

An economic agrument against the closing of the Wyman School is the possible eligibility of homeowners in the Wyman area for downward assessments of their real estate because of the loss of a neighborhood school. If the presence of a neighborhood school is a positive factor considered in the assessment of real estate, the loss of such a school should certainly be a negative factor.

Assume the following minimal figures: 200 homeowners apply for a five per cent decrease in assessed valuation of their real estate, all of which is presently being assessed at an average of $45,000. If each homeonwer's assessment were lowered by five per cent, or $2,250, there would be a total of $450,000 lost in assessed valuation. This devehowever would cause a tax revenue loss to Winchester of $33,120 (450 times the present tax rate of $73.60). This revenue loss, based on minimal figures, most favorable to the town, would occur year after year after year.

The Wyman School area contains many large homes, suitable almost solely for families with children. A neighborhood school must necessarily be a material factor in assessing real estate in the Wyman area. It is considered when these homes, and most other homes, are bought and sold. It would not be unreasonable to assume that most real estate in the Wyman School area would lose anywhere from 15 to 25 per cent of its market value should the Wyman School be closed, theoretically entitling homeowners to approximately 7½ to 12½ per cent lower assessments (not merely 5 per cent as used in the previous example.)

Assault case

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

I would like to bring your attention to the front page story of September 30, concerning the court case against David Evans for the assault on Lisa McGovern. The article states, "the plaintiff's case was based on Ms. McGovern's identification of Evans and on testimony of several witnesses who placed Evans at the scene of the assault." This statement is untrue. In the nine hours of testimony only one witness of the many who testified placed Mr. Evans at the scene of the assault. This incriminating testimony came from the victim, 17-year-old Lisa McGovern.

David Evans, Kenneth Kessler and I reside at 4 Wildwood ter., Winchester. I testified that David left the house to walk his dog on the night of the assault at 11:35 p.m. This was four minutes after the incident was reported to the police. A neighbor on Wildwood terrace testified she saw and spoke with David as he left the terrace that evening and this exchange took place after police cars had driven by them en route to the scene. After the testimony of our neighbor, the police "theorized" that Mr. Evans returned home after allegedly assaulting Ms. McGovern, taking the dog with him at that time. They discounted my testimony as a fabrication.

The report by the Star also stated, "At press time, Joseph Day, Attorney for Evans, had not yet made any intent to appeal." This statement is misleading because it is not appropriate to appeal a case until sentencing has been handed down. A reader might infer from this statement that the guilty verdict was accepted by Mr. Evans. Let me assure you this is not the case. Appeals will be made until justice is served.

Before sentencing, Judge Cullen referred Mr. Evans to the Mystic Valley Medical Health Center for evaluative studies. They will learn that David Evans was valedictorian in his high school and he obtained a degree from MIT in 1972. David has worked for over 2½ years for Urban Data Processing, Inc. in Burlington. As an officer and vice president of the corporation, I can say that David is a talented and hard-working computer programmer.

Sgt. Donald Piggot testified in court that David cooperated fully with the police at the time of his arrest and later in the investigation. He did this as a good citizen and in the interest of finding the truth to the senseless beating of Lisa McGovern.

Daivd, Ken, and I have lived on Wildwood terrace for one year and we do not know many people in Winchester. The people in town who know David, including all our neighbors on the terrace, have given him their support in the belief that he is innocent. During the past few weeks this support has meant a great deal to David for which he is very grateful.

In conclusion, I would like to point out that at no time has David Evans been approached by a member of The Star staff concerning the reporting of this incident. In the interest of objective reporting and the truth, our household would welcome further inquiries by The Star in order to avoid future inaccuracies.

(The Star has several answers to Mr. Coyne's questions and charges, but will not make any reply at this time. It is our policy not to try cases, criminal or otherwise, in the newspaper. In every instance in the stories written by a member of our staff, official sources were quoted, with all information attributed to them. As to the appeal, lawyers in such cases usually rush to the bench after guilty findings and serve notice of their intent to file an appeal — Ed.)

Bottle bill

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

I wish to respond to the advertisement recently printed here claiming that the Bottle Bill could cost the average family $100 per year.

The ad cites "industry and EPA" studies, but the EPA itself says the ad is misleading and has requested opponents to remove the EPA's name from their advertising. A study by the respected Federal Reserve Bank of Boston indicates that beverage prices will be lower if Question 6 passes.

The opponents' own background sheet exposes the flimsy basis for their claim. They choose to assume that we'll return fewer than half our empties for refunds, but the actual experience in Oregon and Vermont, where bottle bills are working, is that 90 to 95 percent are returned.

They blame beverage price increases in Vermont on that state's bottle bill, without mentioning that prices have gone up just as much in the 48 states without bottle bills. It is my experience that where beverages in reusable bottles can be bought in Massachusetts, they cost less than the same beverages in throwaway bottles.

Bottle Bill opponents, financed mostly by out of state container and beverage makers, are spending over a million dollars to try to defeat Question 6. Can this heavily financed and misleading campaign really be in Massachusetts consumers' best interests?

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

Recently I was in northern New Hampshire for a few days and read a real down-to-earth newspaper, The Colbrook News and Sentinel.

Following is a reprint of an editorial which might be enlightening to some of your liberal readers as an indication of the thoughts at the grass roots.

Africa—Another No-Win Deal

The tragedy of Vietnam, one would have thought, taught the United States that it cannot police the world. Yet we are confronted with another bit of "shuttle diplomacy," featuring Secretary of State Kissinger and South Africa's Prime Minister John Vorster, in which the U.S. is apparently going to take charge of the excruciating if not insoluble problems of what was once called the Dark Continent.

In our book, it's another no-win deal. No

Town watch ...

Those unsigned letters. . .

Parents obviously unhappy about the way Pop Warner football teams are being run in this town wrote at least three unsigned letters to the editor this week, complaining about the lack of playing time afforded their sons.

We will not run any of the letters, of course, because they are not signed and we have no idea who wrote them. It is our policy not to run unsigned letters if the writers are unknown to us.

Sometimes we do print anonymous letters, but only in unusual circumstances, and only if the writer is known to us. If the parents want to see their letters in print, they should let us know who they are and we will run the letters without their names if they are in fear of possible repercussions.

We cannot vouch for the sincerity of any letter if we don't know who wrote it. If we agree not to divulge your identity, be assured that we will keep that promise.

Yard sales came up for discussion at Monday night's meeting of the board of selectmen for the second week.

The board has decided that some action is necessary in cases of repeating offenders. Traffic jams and "too much junk" are cited as the causes of distress by neighbors who have contacted the board. Selectman Harry Chefalo seems especially concerned about the situation.

Town Manager Thomas J. Groux suggests that those persons who hold more than one yard sale or garage sale or whatever a year are in violation of zoning by-laws.

Chairman John Sullivan said that the board would be preparing instructions regarding the regulation of yard sales.

Town Counsel Douglas Randall said that either zoning or general by-laws could be called in. Running a business in a residential area could be one charge against perpetual offenders.

Barbara Hankins questioned the paper signs all over town on town trees.

Some towns have started charging a license fee for garage sales. Others wonder about sales taxes not being paid.

In any case, the snows will be here before too long.

Anyone for an igloo sale?

Police Sergeant Mario Buzzotta filed a report in the police blotter which should make your day.

He received a call one night last week from a resident who was very pleased indeed with the good condition of the common and wanted to compliment the town.

It is lovely. Anybody who could think of moving to Florida year-round just hasn't seen Winchester in the fall. Now if something could be done about the deplorable shape of the mill pond, we'd have something to brag about. Legal problems resulting from an oil spill up the Aberjona are resulting in a backup of trash and leaves and other debris.

According to public health director Michael Saraco, the booms of the pond and the river can't be picked up until the legal question of responsibility for the oil spill is resolved.

The oil spill was months ago and still no definite legal action has cleared up the matter.

Or cleared up the mill pond.

You know it's fall when Mr. Curry 's dancing classes resume for the umpteenth year for the social edification of the town's sixth graders.

You know it's 1976 when the boys protest the obligatory tie and jacket.

There are certain social graces which make life with each other a little bit more comfortable. Mr. Curry has been holding classes for a generation within the school system and is to be complimented on instilling a little bit of social ease in what can be uneasy times.

How to cook less wisely

BY ELIZABETH
Star Correspondent

Cooking for one or two after years of cooking for a family? Or, cooking for one after never cooking before?

These were some of the questions that prompted senior citizens recreation coordinator Sarah Dillon to plan a special cooking class this summer.

Working with Gretchen Batra of the Council on Aging, Sarah put together a six-week program covering all aspects of the meal from soups to desserts.

Her "students" ranged from one gentleman who was learning to cook for the first time and was having trouble buying the right quantities to retired home economist Mrs. Howard Wright who now cooks for one.

The class used the home economics rooms in the high school. Since Sarah's mother is a local school home ec teacher, the subject was not a new one.

"I was guided by what the students wanted to learn, but we also studied a bit of nutrition, shopping wisely, eye and taste appeal, and menu planning," said Sarah.

Since seniors often eat alone, she urged them to make quick, appealing meals that look good as well as taste good. "Even packaged foods can be delicious and different by adding new spices and sauces," she said.

Basic nutrition tips from Sarah include: cut down on salt, high cholesterol oils, and high calorie foods. Increase the use of fruits and fruit juices, seafood, and yellow and green leafy vegetables.

For quick, nutritious sandwich or luncheon ideas, Sarah suggested these: make an open faced sandwich with a mixture of flaked or chopped seafood and grated cheese and heat under the broiler; or roll a slice of ham around canned broccoli, garnish with canned cheddar soup and heat; or, mix peanut butter with applesauce and crumbled bacon for a new switch on an old sandwich favorite. For extra zest, add ½ sliced tart apple to the sandwich.

Sarah's own favorites are these soups.

French Onion Soup

½ cup sliced onion
1 tablespoon butter
1 can condensed (10 oz.) beef bouillon
¾ cup water
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
Toasted French bread slices grated parmesan cheese

In a large covered saucepan, cook onions in butter over low heat about 30 minutes, stirring occasionally. Add beef broth, water, Worcestershire and heat to boiling. Reduce heat, cover and simmer about 30 minutes. Place bread slice in each of two bowls. Pour hot soup over bread and sprinkle with Parmesan cheese.

Hearty Tomato Soup

¼ cup onion, finely chopped
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
½ pkg. (3 oz. size) softened cream cheese
1 can (10 to 11 oz.) condensed tomato soup
½ soup can milk
¼ teaspoon paprika
¼ teaspoon sweet basil leaves
⅛ teaspoon garlic powder

In medium saucepan, cook and stir onion in butter until onion is tender. Stir in cream cheese. Gradually stir in soup and milk; beat with rotary beater until smooth. Add seasonings. Heat, stirring frequently, but do not boil. If desired, granish each serving with parsely. Makes two servings.

High school update

WHS elects class officers

By Rick Pearl

Class officers for the 1976-77 school year were elected last week at the high school, with the following 12 students victorious: Senior Class - Phyllis Errico, president; Valerie DiRocco, vice-president; Susan DeBerardinis, secretary; and Aileen Barcus, treasurer. Junior Class - Kevin Foley, president; Mark Mulvaney, vice-president; Amy Harris, secretary; and Colleen Chandler, treasurer. Sophomore Class - Scott Farrar, president; Susan Flaherty, vice-president; Donna Farrell, secretary; and Don DiRocco, treasurer.

The senior quartet of Ms. Errico, DiRocco, DeBerardinis, and Barcus, all have had prior experience in the ways and means of school government. Thus, they know their limitations of power, and their campaign speeches were noticeably without the unwarranted promises of their predecessors. Their proposed accomplishments were entirely believable, and besides the inevitable "popularity" vote, their victories might be traced to this.

Concerning the "popularity" vote, a few opponents voiced both privately and publicly, their concerns about having the same group of people in power again. One such opponent, Pat Porter, running for vice-president, opened his speech with, "Are you tired of seeing the same names on the ballot every year?" Apparently, the student body wasn't, but it might be assumed that Pat got a few extra votes for his wit, anyway.

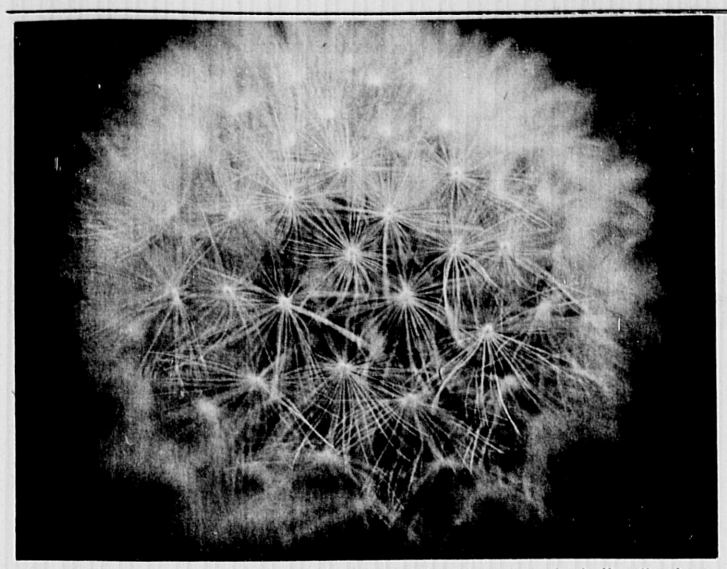

Detractors certainly couldn't blame the four senior officers of running for office solely for the purpose of getting it on their records. As was mentioned, they all have experienced in student governments, and have participated in similar elections dating back to their junior high days. It is true, as one of last year's senior officers said, "It looks good on your transcript," but this wasn't the sole reason for any of the girls. They look like an experienced, dedicated, hard-working group, who will do their best to make the Class of 77's final year a worthwhile one.

The junior class officers boast the only Lynch alumni to be elected this year. She is Amy Harris, who ran unopposed for secretary. Kevin Foley, who quarterbacks the Sachem JV football squad, and Mark Mulvaney, a talented baseball catcher, grabbed the top two slots, as president and vice-president, respectively. Colleen Chandler, like Valerie DiRocco in the senior election, won a runoff election after a close initial vote, to become the treasurer.

The sophomores are represented by Scott Farrar, who not only had to eliminate a high number of preliminary candidates, but also had to beat John Kennedy in a tight runoff election for the post. Susan Flaherty is the vice-president, Donna Farrell, the secretary, and Don DiRocco, the senior vice-president's brother, is the treasurer.

Our congratulations to all of the winners. By keeping in mind their limitations, as students, in the operation of the school, they presented a credible, well-received platform. Hopefully, their leadership, along with that of Craig Bradley, Mary Whitney, Margaret McHugh, and Kathy Pigott of the Student Union, will make the current school year a successful one for all.

Special dumping permits are sought by rubbish collectors

Several of the town's gardeners and rubbish collectors asked selectmen Monday night to open the town disposal area to them before general public hours, to allow for the dumping of leaves and rubbish.

Gus Baldacci, speaking on behalf the group, some of whom could not make the meeting, "This is a hard time of year for us to have to wait until afternoon to dump our leaves and grass clippings. By 9 a.m. we have loads to dump."

Nicholas Dizio, another of the gardeners and rubbish collectors, said, "You are depriving us of our business. Why can't you keep the cars out and let us in first? We go in the afternoon and we have to wait maybe half an hour before we can dump. That hurts our business."

Selectman Chairman John J. Sullivan said that it was the town manager's opinion (Thomas Groux was attending another meeting at the time) that no rubbish disposal be allowed outside regular 1 p.m. to 9 p.m. hours.

He suggested, however, that the board could overrule Groux, if it wished.

Barbara Hankins moved that the facilities be open for commercial dumping of both leaves and rubbish. There is a highway department man on duty at the site from 7 a.m. to open the gates to contractors doing work and to keep out dumpers until the hours. He also checks stickers on cars to verfiy that they belong to Winchester residents. Ms. Hankins suggested that he could let in commercial dumpers.

Selectman Arthur Dunbar, while favoring such a motion, suggested that Groux make a decision and that the board not overrule him if possible.

When Groux returned to the meeting, he assured the board that he would talk with the director of public works, Walter Tonaszuck, and try to work out a plan for the commercial dumpers.

Reached by The Star yesterday morning, Groux said that dumping of leaves and grass clippings would probably present no problem. "We will be able to accommodate the gardeners," he said, "and are trying to work out something for disposal of rubbish."

The problem is with providing enough heavy equipment and personnel to take care of the dumping site, which is removed from the leaf dumping site.

Four churches to sponsor Bloodmobile

This Sunday, October 17, four churches of Winchester unite in sponsoring a Bloodmobile visit at the Red Cross Chapter House, 39 Church st. from 11 to 3 o'clock.

Parishoners of the First Congregational Church, the Second Congregational Church, the First Baptist Church and the Church of the Epiphany are being invited to donate at this time, but anyone, whatever his church or creed is invited to donate.

Appointments may be made by calling the Red Cross at 729-2300.

Back to school for WHS parents

The Winchester High School Parent Faculty Association is sponsoring its annual Open House on Wednesday, October 20, at 7:45 p.m. All parents of high school students are invited to follow their student's daily schedule. Classes will be ten minutes in length. This program affords parents an opportunity to become better informed concerning the aims and objectives of courses.

During your student's schduled free periods, you may visit the principal's office, guidance offices, library, field house, music, art, home economics, Industrial Arts and Communication Center.

Voluntary dues of $2 per family will be collected at the doors. These dues are used to help defray expenses of parent faculty programs and to help support student activities.

Refreshments will be served throughout the evening in the cafeteria by members of the Parent Faculty Association. Student activities exhibits will be on display.

All parents of high school students are urged to attend.

United Way goal $29,485 in town

The United Way of Massachusetts Bay 1976 "Breakthrough" Campaign, with an overall goal of $18.6 million, is now underway. A community goal of $29,485 has been established for Winchester.

The Winchester campaign is under the overall supervision of West Division Co-Chairman Robert Summers and John Lynch, both IBM executives.

More than 15 United Way-supported health, childcare, family and youth agencies provide a variety of human services to the Winchester community year 'round. These agencies include:

Mistick Side Council, Girl Scouts, Minuteman Council, Boy Scouts, Somerville YMCA, Melrose YMCA, Winchester Chapter American Red Cross, Salvation Army, Boston Children's Service Association, and Boston Legal Aid.

The United Way effort in Winchester will focus on local businesses, neighborhoods, professionals, municipal employees, schools, clubs and organizations and special gifts.

Anyone wishing to make a contribution to the United Way, but has not been contacted, should call the United Way West Office at 237-5050.

matter how many pious noises we make, there's going to be a very nasty situation indeed in Rhodesia, South Africa, and other "nations" on the African continent. By taking a forceful public role, the U.S. is going to get blamed for everything that goes wrong. The Soviets can be counted on, quietly and secretly, to see that as much goes wrong as possible.

Once upon a time, our CIA could have taken its own quiet, secret steps to support American interests. That was before "CIA" became a nasty word.

Mr. Carter is talking about reducing troop commitments abroad. To us, this would seem like an excellent time to start minding our own business, before we find ourselves embroiled in half a dozen new Vietnams in Africa.

Terrorism

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

The present U.N. General Assembly will take up the question of terrorism and involved will be the question of whether the world community should condemn terrorist acts by governments as well as by individuals or resistance groups.

Terrorist incidents like the holding of hostages at Entebbe are criminal, but the responses of the media and public officials to these events reek of hypocrisy and raise questions about the ability of America to work fairly for peace in the Middle East.

If we are to deplore the terrorism of the Palestinians, then let us deplore Israelis terrorism. State terrorism is usually much more devastating than that of resistanc e groups. As M.I.T. Professor Noam Chomsky writes, the term "terrorism" should cover the "Bombardment of refugee camps or peasant villages by organiszed military forces (e.g., by Israel) and "the forcible expulsion of thousands of Bedouins from villages in Sinai and the Gaza Strip to prepare the region for all Jewish settlement." Further, in many cases, e.g., the Palestinian-Israeli conflict, the terrorisation of a people (Palestinians) by a state (Israel) is the cause of the conflict; terrorist actions of the oppressed, e.g., Entebbe, are symptoms.

There would have been no Entebbe or Munich if the Palestinians responsible had been allowed by Israel to live in Palestine. Is it too difficult for te media to raise questions such as why Palestinians are in exile? Why were Palestinians at Entebbe rather than in their homes in Palestine? Why were they forced to resort to near-suicidal tactics? As Chomsky says, hijackings "do not occur in a vacuum." Individual terrorism must be fought, but so must its cause; state terrorism.

Finally, since Washington continues to support Israeli oppression of Palestinians, America is acting in a way that precludes a just peace and guarantees the continuation of the only alternative - unending military confrontation, including terrorism by both Israeli Jews and Palestinian Arabs.

Getting there

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

The senior citizens are trying to collect enough funds for a nice senior center here in Winchester, so our elderly will have some place to go on a nice day or on any day. If everyone would chip in and help a little financially, maybe it will come to pass.

We do need something to keep our elderly from getting bogged down. This is easy to do, as I know because I am elderly. So we need an incentive to go downtown, but we also need transportation. Is there anyone who would like to donate a minibus to our elderly on Palmer street? We need one twice a week at least for going downtown.

Hope someone will be kind enough to help us with transportation. Good luck with the senior center.

P.S. Maybe we could find someone to drive us if someone wishes to go give us one, or is this wishful thinkiing?

Miss Johns named to honor group

The University of Maryland at College Park, Maryland announces Patricia Johns, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur L. Johns, 41 Glen rd., has been selected to membership to Omicron Delta Kappa, the National Leadership Honor Society.

While at the University of Maryland Miss Johns has been a dean's list student, social chairlady and presently president of Alpha Delta Pi sorority, president of Panhellenic Chapter, a freshman dormitory representative and secretary, and a four-year member of the Women's Varsity Tennis Team. She is majoring in biology.

Resident invents beach protector

Byron I. Graves of 3 Parker rd., has invented a versatile beach protector that can be set up in a number of different ways to provide protection from sun, blowing sand, and wind. It is safer and less cumbersome than conventional beach umbrellas as well as more durable and less expensive to produce. The invention is being introduced to manufacturers with the help and guidance of the Raymond Lee Organization and is covered by a patent application now pending in the U.S. Patent Office.

The unit includes a set of nesting poles and a tarpaulin with grommets along its edge. Elastic cords with hooks at each end are used to attach the poles to the tarpaulin. The poles can be arranged in the ground or on the beach and the tarpaulin shaped to form a canopy, a windbreak, an A-tent or a corral. Poles and cords can be rolled up in the light weight, wind-proof nylon tarpaulin for ease of carrying and storage.

KEEP MATCHES OUT OF THE STRIKE ZONE

What's an Idea Worth?

An idea that can save a life or prevent a serious injury?

Major league baseball Superstars think the STRIKE ZONE message is a life-saving idea.

They've dramatized this idea to fight a major fire problem faced by all parents—the problem of children playing with matches.

Parents and teachers tell kids not to. Anyone would. But Johnny Bench, Jim Palmer, Carl Yastrzemski and the other players are telling adults about their responsibility to keep matches out of the strike zone!

That's where kids look for things to play with. If they don't find matches, they can't play with them.

Don't play with matches is a good idea, but "keep matches out of the strike zone" is better; it's an idea that solves a problem, an idea any adult can easily understand and act on, in the home, in a car, anywhere.

More children are victims of fire today than ever were afflicted by polio at its height.

The combination of children and matches is responsible for nearly 69,000 fires a year, including fires in which some 3,750 children die and tens of thousands more suffer painful, tragic burn injuries.

Keep matches out of the Strike Zone and Learn Not To Burn.

Action in Winchester-Lexington game as Seth Goodman (3) of Sachems and Lexington booter battle near midfield.

Record now 2-5-1

Sachem soccermen go against the 'iron' and win and lose

Coach Gene Bouley's Sachem soccer team won one game and lost one last week against the better teams in the league. First division contenders Wakefield and Lexington furnished the opposition and the Warriors were winners by 3-1 while the Minutemen were beaten 1-0.

With only one game left before the end of the first half, the Winchesterites have scored exactly one goal in eight consecutive league games. But the defeat of high flying Lexington, their win over Burlington and the tie with Reading have all come on single goals.

With the season's record now showing 2-5-1 the Sachem mentor has decided to have a threeman line with four halfbacks and three fullbacks. This is designed to gain more control of the center of the field with an extra halfback in that area. It was first tried against Wakefield and it proved to be quite successful as Winchester outshot the home team by 12-9. However, Wakefield made the most of their shots and drove three goals home while the lone Winchester tally was by Paul Austin with an assist going to Dave McLaughlin.

The Lexington game was played at home and the entire team showed more hustle and desire than in any other game played this year. The new arrangement of the midfield group enabled them to outshoot the Minutemen by 16 to 10. The halfbacks were George Casey, Mark McGoldrick, Willie Strazzullo and Chris Hall and they did a good piece of work getting it to the Sachem forwards. Casey scored the games only goal as he put the ball over the head of the Lexington net minder and into the net.

Mark Mulvaney and Tom Shirly broke up many threatening Lexington surges and kept them out of scoring range. John Roche playing the center used his height to great advantage as he continually broke up the chip passes of the visiting tream. Junior goalie John Waite played well in the goal for Winchester and with fewer defensive lapses he was able to keep the Minutemen scoreless and preserve the 1-0 victory.

Sachem swimmers outstroke Medford's varsity by 45-34

The Winchester High School Girls' Swim Team defeated Medford Girls' Swim Team, last Friday at the Northeast Vocational School. The Sachem swimmers were dominant through the entire meet and came out on top with the final score of 45 to 34.

The 200-yard medley relay saw the Sachems taking first with Kathy Conley (back), Bitser Dexter (breast), Carol McCarthy (butter), and Lisa MacDonald (free). The second relay of Stephanie Nichols (back), Mary Ellen Kennedy (breast), Paula Hennelly (butter), and Jennifer Karp (free) was disqualified because of an illegal turn.

The 200-yard freestyle event was won by Carol Minutoli (2:09.2); Susan Stackpole placed third (2:33.4). The 500 yard freestyle saw Carol Minutoli coming out on top again with a time of 5:39.8 and Susan Stackpole placing third with a time of 7:04.6.

The 200-yard Individual Medley saw Bitser Dexter taking first (2:44.5) and Carol McCarthy placing second (2:47.5).

The 50-yard freestyle saw the Sachems taking another first and second with Laurie Grant placing first (28.0) and Lisa Macdonald placing second (29.7). The 100-yard freestyle was also won by Laurie Grant with a time of 1:01.4 and Lisa MacDonald placing third with a time of 1:08.9.

The diving event came next with Medford taking first and Gaye Pollino taking third with a total of 111.2 points and Stephanie Ruta placed fourth with a total of 80.75 points.

The 100-yard butterfly saw Carol McCarthy taking first with a time of 1:15.9 and Paula Hennelly placing fourth with a time of 1:31.4.

Medford took first and second in the 100-yard backstroke with Sachem swimmers Stephanie Nichols placing third (1:21.4) and Karen Vrotsos placing fourth (1:25.4).

The 100-yard breaststroke was won by Mary Ellen Kennedy with a time of 1:22.0 and Jennifer Karp placed third with a time of 1:30.0.

Medford came out on top in the 400-yard freestyle relay placing first and second. The relay of Lori Walsh, Terry Burns, Maureen Lehane and Lynn Foden placed third, with the relay of Afaf Georgis, Donna Hart, Paula Hennelly and Dotty Dobbins placed fourth.

This was the first official meet of the season and the girls showed a lot of enthusiasm and spirit. The team hopes to have another winning season.

The Winchester High School girls swim team was defeated by the Lexington girls swim team, last year's league champs, last Wednesday in an exciting meet that came down to the last relay. The score was a frustrating 88 to 85.

Little League's directors to meet

The annual meeting of the Winchester Little League Board of Directors will be held on Wed., Oct. 27, at 7:30 p.m., at the Winchester Elks Lodge. All members are urged to attned, since, in addition to election of the 1977 League officers, revision of the by-laws will be considered and voted upon. These revisions are extremely important and will effect the conduct of Little League affairs for the next several years.

V-O bowling

The Daiseys, (Eileen Foley, Gloria Belden, Ann Redmond and Florence Giangrande), are in first place with a win of 18 points and a loss of six points.

The Sweet Peas, (Bea Terzian, Barbara Ashley, Mickey Walsh and Ann Pierce), took over high team three with a score of 1010. Bowling a fine 302 three string and a high game of 110 was Ann Pierce.

Strikes were made by Gloria Belden, Judy Johnson and Mickey Walsh.

Early Birds

The Sparrows in the Winchester Early Birds Bowling League have moved into First place. The high team series of 1207 was earned by the Sparrows team whose members are MaryJane Brooks, Ilene White and Delia DiMarzo.

The Starlings are in second place. Team members are Lorraine Staniewicz, Marie Palumbo and Pat Nicoletti.

The high team single game of 457 was captured by the Warblers whose team members are Pat Dean, Carmela Clemente and Mary Zazzara.

Bowler of the day was Bea Tonello of the Larks team who bowled the high individual game of 197 and the high individual series of 505. Diana Coutoure of the Orioles team bowled a high game of 185.

Local hair designer creates a new "Miss Massachusetts-World."

Charles DiAnthony and Margaret Stockton before make-over.

Charles DiAnthony, Divisional Director of the Headliners Hair and Skin Salons in Arlington, Boston and Cambridge was recently chosen to design the hairstyle and make-up for "Miss Massachusetts-World" 1976. Margaret Stockton of Wellesley, this year's winner of the beauty title requested that Mr. DiAnthony design a look for hair and make-up that would best suit her facial structure.

"I was really honored with the request," says Charles, "but all I imagined at first were those terribly teased and stiffly sprayed styles you see so often in beauty pageants. I knew I had to create a totally new feeling for Margaret's pageant look."

Working with her original style which was a bit too sultry confided Mr. DiAnthony, he trimmed off about three inches of length and then highlighted her almost blonde hair color for more body and sheen. "Under the stage lighting, her hair would now be more luminescent." Next, he conditioned and heat-set her hair into a soft flowing style.

For Ms. Stockton's new make-up look, Charles began by having Ann Grassi, the skin esthetician at their Arlington Salon deep cleanse and tone her skin by means of a scientific facial. Margaret was now ready for a fashion make-up look. "I used lots of natural earth colors on her eyes to shade and highlight." Experimenting for color selection was easy since we have our own Headliners Cosmetics at our salons. Terra cotta was the color I chose for her lips and cheek areas with lots of gloss.

"Margaret Stockton's new pageant look had, as shown in the accompanying photo, a soft natural feeling. "This new hair and make-up styling was quite a change from former pageants," says Charles. "But who knows, maybe we'll be seeing a softer feeling for hair and make-up on future beauty pageant contestants." Ms. Stockton loved her new look and is now looking forward to her next title, "Miss USA-World."

Locals underdogs, but . . .

Winchester holds Stoneham to hard-fought 6-6 tie score

by John F. Parrell

The Stoneham Spartans came to Knowlton Stadium on the holiday afternoon to face Coach Manny Marshall's Sachems, who had failed to come up with a victory in three previous starts. In the light of their very impressive rout of Wakefield last week, the visitors were rated as definite favorites. However, when the smoke cleared after 40 minutes of hard-fought action, the score board read Winchester 6, Stoneham 6.

Originally carded for Saturday afternoon, but washed out due to a torrential rain storm, the game proved to be the most interesting and enjoyable game of the season from the spectator's point of view. There was plenty of hard line play, some good running, some excellent pass offense and a sprinkling of penalties to keep things moving from the opening kickoff by Stoneham to the missed field goal attempt by Winchester in the last eight seconds of action. Both teams had other scoring opportunities which were thwarted by tight defensive play by the opposition.

Stoneham booted off to the Sachems and the return ended at the home team's 12 yard stripe. Don Allard caught the Spartans off balance as he passed immediately to Anthony Davis for a first down at the 30. After a pickup of eight yards Tony Macinanti made a first down at the 42.

Co-captain Chris Gill, who ran well throughout the game, made a couple before another Allard-Davis pass brought a first down at the visitors 44. Mike Cavaretta made three and then the Stoneham line sacked Allard for a seven yard loss. Another pass to Bill Murphy was complete to the 39 and on fourth down Brian O'Connell booted to the Stoneham one yard line.

The Spartans could not do much and were forced into a punting stiuation. With Steve Jamieson back the center snap was high. However, Winchester had a kick return setup so nobody crossed the line of scrimmage. Jamieson set sail for the left sideline and picked up just enough for a first down.

Two long gains, one by Jamieson and another on a pass, brought the pigskin to Sachem territory. As the second period opened the hard running Jamieson sped into the Winchester end zone but the pass for the points failed and Stoneham was in front by 6-0. Mike Cavaretta carried the kickoff from the 10 to the 28. A long pass from Allard to Keith Perkins produced a first down at the Stoneham 49. A pass interference call gave Winchester another first down at the 40. Gill made eight and another first down followed at the 30.

Davis and Gill each added three before Don Allard broke loose to his own left side and scampered through the broken field for the Sachem touchdown. O'Connor's try for the extra point went awry to leave the score Winchester 6, Stoneham 6.

Stoneham was unable to gain and Winchester threatened seriously just before half time. A well executed pass from Don Allard to Keith Perkins produced a first down at the Spartan five. Murphy and Cavaretta each gained two and a third down pass to Perkins just missed fire as he was able to get the ball between his palms but could not secure the pigskin with his fingers. A fourth down pass was intercepted in the Stoneham end zone to end the threat. The half ended with the count still Winchester 6, Stoneham 6.

A good runback on the second half kickoff and a couple of running plays produced a first down for the Spartans at midfield. But the Sachem defense stiffened and Jamieson punted to the Winchester three. Chris Gill carried twice for a first down at the 15. He then added six more and a pass to Bob Blasi gave a first down at the 40. The pitch out to Mike Cavaretta brought another first down at the Stoneham 39 but then a fumble was recovered by Billy Angelosanto at the Stoneham 42.

Steve Jamieson ran for a first down and on the second play Norman Roughton broke into the clear to the Sachem 27. Then Jamieson raced away for an apparent Stoneham touchdown, but a 15 yard penalty for an infraction during the run cancelled the points. Jamieson then made a first down at the ten but the Spartans could not dent the Winchester defense and the home team took the ball.

Gill made six and a 15 yard penalty brought the ball out to the 34. Tony Macinanti made six and another 15 yarder brought the oval to the Spartan 46. A pass to Bob Blasi accounted for eight yards, but a five yard penalty temporarily halted the drive. Three plays later Don Allard had a first down at the 17, but the officials detected something on the next play to set Winchester back 15 more yards.

After Stoneham took the ball they called upon Steve Jamieson for six of the next seven plays. Jamieson was a fine sophomore quarterback but has since been operated upon for a shoulder separation, so he is now a halfback. He is a very hard runner and his efforts at this stage gave the visitors a first down at their own 42. But the Sachems were not giving ground, and stopped the drive with Stoneham punting out at the Winchester 20.

Winchester was set back to the five yard line but a short pass to Cavaretta and a good run by Allard made it first down at the 30 with 1:17 of the game remaining. A personal foul against Stoneham brought the ball to the Winchester 45. Then Don Allard uncorked a long bomb of nearly 50 yards which Bob Blasi gathered in at the Spartan 15.

On third down two Stoneham players hit the intended Sachem pass receiver hard at the sidelines and the officials detected roughness by the Sachem which moved the ball back 15 yards. On fourth down Brian O'Connor's try for placement with eight seconds left was well directed but just about ten yards short of the uprights. There was no further action as the game ended with Winchester 6, Stoneham 6.

This was by far the best football played by the Sachem team this season, and although they made some mistakes they never quit and battled right down to the final whistle. A little break here or there could have given them their first victory, but it was a very encouraging performance before the home fans. However, they must play even harder on Saturday if they are to cope with Coach Billy Tighe's Lexington Minutemen who have looked good even in their loss to Woburn. Their mentor has a highly imaginative offense including some fine passing and the Sachems must be more than careful about their coverage of the aerial game.

Bantam AA's down Watertown

Ned "Hat Trick" Fortin and Fran Murray with two key goals along with goalie Bobby Surabian sparked the Winchester Youth Hockey Bantam AA Team to a 6 to 3 win over Watertown.

Three unanswered first period goals got the locals of to a fast start. Ned Fortin came up with the puck in front of his own net and flew right down the middle where just inside the blue line he blasted a shot that beat the Watertown goalie on the glove side. Fran Murray kept it going when Kevin Conley found Maury McCarthy on the right side and Maury set up Fran in front for a quick stick goal in the upper corner. Ned Fortin got the third goal of the period when Fran Murray passed in front to Buddy Pronski and Bud hit Ned at the post for a real slam.

In the third period Brendon Nolan wrapped it up as John Boyle found Kevin Conley. Brendon broke loose down the slot and Brendon put it away.

The defensive standouts who supported Jackie Bonner's fine effort in goal were John Ferrulo and Eddie Doherty along with Daryl Parker and Eddie Ducharme.

Up front the standouts were Danny Hines playing another aggressive game along with hard working Doug Ross and Jeff Stackpole.

George Casey of Sachems has just headed the ball in game with Lexington. Winchester won on Casey's goal 1-0.

Lynch girls record 1-1-1

Coach Mary Boghigian's Lynch field hockey team has played three games to date and have a 1-1-1 record. They are playing a nine game schedule with their next game being at home against McCall next Monday.

The first game against Diamond of Lexington and the Lynch offense dominated the game. However, the Diamond defense successfully thwarted many scoring attempts for a 0-0 deadlock.

The second game was with arch rival McCall and the Lynch girls found it difficult to adapt to the smaller playing area. However, they were able to hold McCall to a 2-0 score as the defense started to develop.

Their victory came against Burlington as the team played very well as a unit. Their passing was vastly improved and Andrea Demars tallied the game's only goal assisted by some clever play by the other forwards.

Gymastics set at Lynch Junior High

Local man earns army citation

Arthur M. Ayvasian of 2 Berkshire dr. has received one of the army's highest scientific awards, a Research and Development Achievement Award, for his work as a member of a four-man r & d team at the army materials and mechanics research center in Watertown.

Ayvasian, a metallurgist who works in the center's process development division, received the award, including a wall plaque and bronze medallion desk ornament, from Dr. Marvin Lasser, chief scientist, Department of the Army, in a ceremony conducted in September at the center.

The citation read in part: "They are commended for their outstanding achievements in developing and establishing electroslag remelted steels as prime candidates for numerous Army applications."

Census survey set next week

Local represntatives of the Bureau of the Census will conduct a survey on education in this area during the work week of October 18-23, acording to Arthur G. Dukakis, director of the Bureau's Regional Office in Boston.

The annaul education survey, which began in 1945, is conducted in a sample of households throughout the U.S. and provides information on the number of school years completed by household members as well as on overall school enrollment. Questions are also asked about the number of children attending kinder garten and nursery school, and persons taking job-related or special vocational training. Results of the survey are used by school officials in planning educational programs and facilities.

These education questions are in addition to the usual ones asked in the monthly survey on employment and unemployment conducted nationwide by the Bureau for the U.S. Department of Labor.

Results of the monthly employment survey provide data on conditions in the labor force prime indicators of the economic health of the country. For example, in August the survey indicated that of the 95.5 million men and women in the civilian labor force, 88.0 million were employed. The Nation's unemployment rate was 7.9 percent, up from 7.8 percent in July but substantially below the recession peak of 87.9 percent reached in the second quarter of 1975.

Informations supplied by individuals participating in the survey is kept strictly confidential by law and the results are used only to compile statistical totals.

Mini-College

Janet Fiore weds Richard Gearin

Janet Fiore of 48 Spruce st. and Richard James Gearin of 10 Summer st., Billerica, were married in St. Mary's Church the afternoon of September 25.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Fiore, also of 48 Spruce st. Mr. Gearin's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gearin of Billerica.

The former Miss Fiore was given in marriage by her father. Rev. Mark S. Sheehan officiated at the ceremony, which was followed by a reception at the Woburn Elks Lodge.

The bride wore a gown fashioned of white matte jersey, featuring a high, round neckline and Juliet sleeves. The neckline and empire waistband insert were trimmed with Venise rose lace appliques. From the waist fell a full A-line skirt sweeping to a built-in cathedral train. She wore a matching Juliet headpiece of pearls and lace, caught to a walking length veil of fine Illusion edged with matching lace.

She carried a cascade of miniatuere white carnations with Sonia roses and baby's breath.

Christine Fiore of Saugus, sister-in-law to the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a peach-colored, empire knit gown with matching bolero. She carried a garden-style bouquet of miniature carnations and chrysanthemums in fall shades.

Bridesmaids were Katherine Gerade of Billerica, cousin of the bride; Rita Sacco of Medford; Elizabeth Whitaker of Woburn; Nancy Gresham of Concord; and Annette Kavanaugh of Malden. All were attired in similar gowns in apricot colors. They carried the same flowers as the matron of honor.

Kevin Gearin of Billerica, the groom's brother, was best man. Ushers were Joseph, Lawrence and Brian Gearin, all of Billerica, and Dennis Gearin of Chelmsford, all of whom are brothers of the groom; and Daniel Fiore of Winchester, brother of the bride.

Kathy Barry of Medford attended to the guest book. Mrs. Ralph Fiore wore a long-sleeve, yellow knit gown with a cowl neckline and Maribu trim, along with a matching, sleeveless full-length coat.

The groom's mother wore a teal blue crepe gown with a fitted bodice and long sleeves of chiffon.

The newlywed couple have taken their wedding trip to Miami Beach and Disney World, Fla. and plan to reside in Billerica on their return.

The former Miss Fiore attended Winchester High School, graduating with the class of 1969. She also attended Mass. Bay Community College. She is secretary to Atty. Emidio DiLoreto of Winchester.

Mr. Gearin graduated from Billerica High School in 1966 and is an administrative assistant with the Town of Billerica.

Diana Wholley engaged to wed George Judd Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Wholley of 9 Cranston rd., announce the engagement of their daughter, Diana Lee, to George Judd, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. George Judd of Billerica.

Miss Wholley is a graduate of Winchester High School and attended the University of Massachusetts and Chamberlain School of Retailing. Mr. Judd is a Vietnamese War veteran and a graduate of the University of Massachusetts at Amherst.

The wedding is planned for April 23.

Council on Aging has course information

The Winchester Council on Aging recently received information that Middlesex Community College's Gerontology Center will be offering two courses beginning October 25.

The courses, "Social Gerontology" and "Process of Aging" are being offered free of charge to older adults, people working with older adults and or interested in the field of Gerontology.

The two courses will be given at the Kennedy School of Religion in Lexington. Each course will be offered for 13 weeks and will be for two credits or on an audit basis.

The Council on Aging (in the Lincoln School) has leaflets concerning the courses. People are encouraged to stop in the Council on Aging office between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m. to pick up a brochure.

Margaret Dietz marries Anthony Denton Oct. 9th

The marriage of Margaret Dietz of Winchester and Mr. Anthony Denton of Ottawa, Ontario, took place on October 9 in Cambridge. Both the wedding and the reception were held at The Faculty Club of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

The bride is the daughter of Professor and Mrs. Albert Dietz. She attended Winchester schools, and was graduated from Smith College. She is a copyeditor in the medical division of Little, Brown, and Company, in Boston. She was given in marriage by her father, who is a building engineer and a professor emeritus in the Department of Architecture at M.I.T. Her brother, Dr. Henry Dietz of Austin, Texas, was an usher.

Mr. Denton is the son of Mr. George M. Denton and the late Mrs. Denton of Littlestone, Kent, England. He was a student at the Portsmouth Grammar School, and served in the Royal Air Force for 12 years. He is a field engineering specialist at Honeywell Informational Systems in Ottawa. He is the brother of Dr. Hazel Denton, an assistant professor at the Harvard Business School. He is the fahter of Sabina and Nicolas Denton, his first marriage having ended in divorce. The family will live in Ottawa.

Virginia W. Tunnicliffe to wed

Missing from the picture is Marilyn Georgis. The decorating committee spent time last week looking over some of the many beautiful plants at Mahoney's Rocky Ledge Farm. The plants are going to be used as part of the decorations at the Friends Annual Ball, which will take place October 23, 9 p.m. at the Winchester Indoor Lawn Tennis Center. The public is invited to attend this affair which is held to buy needed equipment for Winchester Hospital.

League opens drive for funds for its programs

The Winchester League of Women Voters has just opened its fund drive for financial assistance to carry out programs for the coming year. The League emphasizes its non-partisan efforts to promote good government through study and action on national, state and local governments, as well as keeping the public informed on current and crucial issues.

The Winchester League also compiles an annual directory of town members, provides voter information and services, sponsors candidates' night prior to elections, and presents other programs of local interest.

Study units have included evaluations of town programs as well as various aspects of education, land use, etc. Vandalism will be studied this year, in addition to other current topics.

Member dues and contributions provide two-thirds of the annual budget. The rest comes from contributions of residents and businesses who are interested in the League's effort to provide active and informed participation in government.

Members who are working with the President, Mrs. Dianne Simpson, on the Finance Committee are Mrs. Agnes Aiken, Mrs. Eleanor Dutiot, Mrs. Jane Johnson, Mrs. Claudia Mulford and Mrs. Marcia Wood.

Wyman School Fair to feature auction

The annual Wyman School Fair will be held Saturday from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. on the school grounds.

Besides the regular feature attractions such as the Moon Walk, there will be a mini-auction this year. Auctioneer Sol Gittleman has said there will be many exciting goods and services sold at the auction between noon and 1 p.m.

Among the auction's treasures will be a weekend at a cottage in Cotuit; karate lessons; intermediate Yoga lessons; a brand new digital watch; a kitten; hand-woven woolen shawls; a weekend at a resort hotel on the South Shore; veterinarian altering for one male cat and spaying for one female cat; brunch at the Continental Coffee at the Quincy Market; a trip to Drumlin Farm for five kindergarteners; and mementoes from each of the teachers and Principal John Carmilia. Mrs. Dodge has donated her Winchester High School girls' field hockey letter from an undisclosed year, Miss Lally has given a hand-made child's chair, and there are to be many other surprises.

Viewing will be from 10 a.m. to noon. The whole town is invited to come and enjoy a bowl of homemade onion soup while listening to Mr. Gittleman's auctioneer's banter. Working with the auctioneer will be Mary Barger, Cathy Alexander, and Ann Argue.

Bring a t-shirt and design your own: just one of the things to do at the Wyman School Fair, to be held Saturday from 10 a.m.—3 p.m.

Fortnightly luncheon

The Fortnightly will open its fall season with a luncheon on October 18 at 12:30 p.m. at the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church.

An unusual walk down Memory Lane will feature a film program "Memories" presented by Mr. Ralph Hatch.

Mrs. Richard C. Sheppard will preside at the business meeting.

Santa Maria social set for October 21

The Catholic Daughters of America, Court Santa Maria No. 150 will hold its monthly social at the Immaculate Conception School Hall on Sheridan circle at 8 p.m., Thursday, October 21.

Chairman Jeannette Clancy invites the public. Refreshments will be served.

GOP Women set to hold buffet Oct. 20

The Women's Republican Club of Winchester will be having their annual candlelight buffet on Wednesday, October 20, 6:30 p.m. at the Church of Epiphany. They will have on hand pictures of many of you taken at the recent cocktail party. Also they will present candidates.

Trails guides to aid hikers on annual Fells Reservoir tour

This weekend's water department open house through the trails around the town's reservoirs will be more informative for those who make use of the Winchester Trails leaflets available at the North gate on Hillcrest parkway Saturday and Sunday.

In addition, guides will be available from the Trails on Sunday from 2 p.m. until 4 p.m. at the area near the Nike site on South Border road (parking is available opposite the path at the Nike site parking area).

The Winchester Trails find that many of the town's conservation areas, Long Pond walk, town forest, Smith Pond, school playgrounds, and others, are great natural resources and constantly need restudying.

With this view in mind, the organization has come out with an eight-page addendum and appendix compiled by Terry Seferian and Phyllis Stearns to be added to the Smith Pond Nature Trail Book.

The Trails Group decided last year to close the Ridge street entrance and side of Smith Pond to allow natural rejuvenation of this worn down area.

The addendum and appendix starts at the Johnson road entrance and lists wildflowers and other updated information to make enjoyment of the Smith Pond area more enjoyable. It is available at Henderson's Stationers and on request to Winchester Trails.

Travel Along with

Mavis McGrath
If you are going by ship, you have a chance to think things over, to become used to the idea that you are off to Great Adventure. It is also a great way to relax after those hectic days of getting ready. Life on an ocean liner is like going to a house party. There is plenty that is fun to do, and plenty of time to relax, too. You sleep as late as you please, and after breakfast or lunch you go out on deck, for a couple of turns. You can play shuffleboard or practice your golfswing or putting, or go swimming, have lunch, dinner, a movie, dance until morning.
This is a nice way to travel. Come to McGrath Travel Service 14 Eaton Avenue, Woburn . . . Cruising is a vacation of a lifetime. From the moment of stepping aboard, you will be caught up in the magic of the ship. Each funfilled day, you'll marvel at the variety of exciting treats offered for your pleasure and joy. And what dining!...Call 935-0600...Open Monday-Friday 9-5 Saturdays & evenings by appointment.

Don't gamble on 7. Vote No.
"Flat rate" electricity, the referendum 7 question, is hardly even a gamble. Untried and untested, it's been rejected by every other state where it has been proposed. It's even been turned down by your own legislature.
The point is supposed to be: Everyone pays the same rate for electricity. But that's not the point at all.
Read the referendum. You'll see it provides non-flat rates for utility companies, electric-heated homeowners, low users, and peak load users.
Even more important than that is the certainty that gambling on the "flat rate" could cost you far more than you could hope to gain:
"Flat rates" could raise your cost-of-living. When large users of electricity pay more for the power they use, they'll charge you more for the products and services you use. You'll lose money in rents, in hospital bills, in tuitions, in insurance premiums, in supermarkets and department stores. Higher costs will cause higher prices.
"Flat rates" could cost you your job. Independent economists at the University of Massachusetts predict that forcing already-budget-bound companies to make up the multi-million-dollar difference in increased electric costs could trigger the loss of 30,000 jobs or more. Employers would have to cut back, close down, or move out of state.
"Flat rates" could cost you higher taxes. As state and local governments pay more for the electricity they use for everything from streetlights to public buildings—and as more and more families become unemployment and welfare burdens—who'll pay for it? Only the companies and the people who are still working here. Fewer and fewer of us paying more and more. There would be no conceivable way around increasingly higher taxes.
So don't gamble on Question 7. The costs are too high.
Don't gamble on Question 7. Vote NO on "flat-rate" electricity.

Rare performance to benefit ICC's Drum & Bugle Corps

People who are interested in contributing to the support of the Immaculate Conception Queensmen Drum & Bugle Corps will have an opportunity this Friday evening Oct. 15, at 8 p.m. to enjoy a rare performance in return for their financial assistance. The program, which will take place at the Winchester High School Auditorium, is entitled An Evening Of Melody, and will be in two segments. The first segment will consist of a concert of banjo music by the 929ERS Banjo Club of Wakefield. Following this will be the unique second half of the program: The Singing Priests.

While in the seminary, these priests, who currently are stationed throughout the Archdiocese of Boston, joined together in song on many occasions to help out various charities, or to bring cheer to the lives of those in prisons, hospitals or nursing homes.

Now, at the request of Rev. William J. Cummings, who is the spiritual director of the Queensmen, these priests have agreed to once again fill the air with music for a worthy cause, and will join him in singing individual selections of their own choice, concluding their performance with a group rendition.

The priests who will be singing with Father Cummings are: Rev. Mark S. Sheehan, St. Mary's, Winchester; Rev. George J. Butera, St. John the Baptist, Haverhill; Rev. Robert P. Beale, St. Mary of the Assumption, Cambridge; Rev. Paul Rouse, St. Polycarp, Somerville; Rev. Robert F. Casey, St. Patrick, Lawrence; Rev. John A. Dooher, St. Augustine, So. Boston; Rev. John G. Connolly, St. Francis Xavier, So. Weymouth; and Rev. Benjamin McMahon, Immaculate Conception, Marlboro.

Tickets are still available for An Evening Of Melody and may be obtained by contacting Mrs. Mary Brown.

Portion of proceeds of two concerts staged in Schaefer Stadium in Foxboro this past summer in the amount of $28,398 is presented to William Buckley, treasurer of Foxboro Charity Days, Inc., right, by Phil David Fine, managing trustee of Stadium Realty Trust, left, and David W. Donahue, Winchester, secretary. Proceeds will be used to assist Boy Scouts, Little League and similar groups in Foxboro. The Stadium Realty Trust owns and leases Schaefer Stadium to the N.E. Patriots.

Local Pair picked for Masterworks

Two Winchester residents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Rahmeier, have been selected along with 22 other singers to make up the membership of this year's Masterworks Chorale. More than 75 candidates were evaluated for membership.

This season marks Conductor Allen Lannom's 25th with the group. The highlight of the concert season will be a Beethoven Festival, featuring "Missa Solemnis," the "Mass in C Major," and a chamber music concert. Other programs will include Handel's "Messiah," last performed by the Chorale in 1961, and "The Creation" by Haydn. Both of these oratorios will be presented free of charge.

Mystic Watershed group to meet at Tufts Oct. 21

The annual meeting of the Mystic Valley Watershed Association, Inc., will take place October 21 at 7:30 p.m. in the alumnae lounge of Alumnae Hall at Tufts University.

The business meeting will begin at 7:30 and will involve the election of officers, directors, and a new nominating committee.

At 8 p.m. the Hon. John Snedecker, commissioner of the MDC, will speak on recreation and the protection of environmental quality on the Mystic. In addition, Robert Buxbaum, MD, will talk on exercise paths and physical fitness.

Dr. Chen named to Simmons post

Winchester resident Dr. Ching-chih Chen, associate professor of library science at Simmons College, has been appointed as the acting assistant dean of the school for the 1976-1977 academic year.

Dr. Chen received her bachelor of arts degree from National Taiwan University, her MA degree in library science from the University of Michigan, and Ph.D. in library and information sciences from Case Western Reserve University.

Prior to joining the Simmons faculty, she had more than 10 years of working and administrative experience in various scientific and technical libraries of academic institutions. Her specialized areas are: medical librarianship, scientific and technical libraries and information centers, scientific management of libraries and computer applications in libraries.

She is an active researcher. Results of her research have appeared in numerous scholarly journals. She is the author of two recent books - Applications of Operations Research Models to Libraries (published by the MIT Press, April 1976) and Biomedical, Scientific & Technical Book Reviewing (published by Scarecrow Press, September 1976).

Dr. Chen is also active in various professional organizations. She was recently elected to a member of the Advisory Board of CLENE (Continuing Library Education Network and Exchange), the chairman-elect of the New England Chapter of the American Society for Information Science, and a member of the Statistics Committee of the Medical Library Associaton.

She is married to Dr. Sow-Hsin Chen, professor of nuclear engineering of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. They have three children: Anne and Cathy who attend Lynch Junior High School and John, pupil of the Vinson-Owen School.

Piano recital set at church

Alice Wilkinson of 16 Brooks st. is giving a piano recital at the First Congregational Church. The concert, an ABC Benefit, will be held on Sunday, October 24, at 5 p.m. with coffee and cider served afterwards.

Mrs. Wilkinson, who received a bachelor's and master's degree from the Juilliard School of Music, will play "Nun komm' der Heiden Heiland" by Bach-Busoni, "Sonata in C, Op. 53 (Waldstein)" by Beethoven, "Preludes" by Debussy, "Mazurka in A Minor, Op. 17, No. 4" and "Etude in A-Flat, Op. 25, No. 1" by Chopin, and "Trio in C, Op. 87" by Brahms.

The public is invited.

Larson degree

Deborah Lee Larson, 8 Fairlane ter., received her MA degree from Southern Illinois University at the school's commencement exercises at the end of the summer.

SPIRITS OF '76

by DAN BUSA

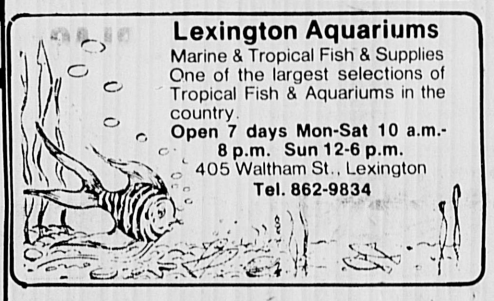

Both red and white wines, either dry or sweet, but hardly ever rose, are used in cookery . . . They should be good, although not necessarily expensive, wines because it is their flavor that is wanted . . . A cheap, insipid wine never gives the desired results. . . The drier wines are usually preferred for cooking . . . The drier whites are most often indicated for saucing fish dishes; sweet wines have no place in a fish sauce . . . And don't overlook the relationship that should exist between the wine used in cooking and the wine served with the dish . . .

Use the same general type for both cooking and drinking, merely selecting a finer wine for the table. . .

If you need help in selecting wines or liquor stop by and see our experienced staff at BUSA LIQUORS. We have many famous brands as well as "Spirit of '76" products, which we handle exclusively. Wines, champagnes, cordials, whiskeys, vodka and gin are packaged under this label. See us at BUSA LIQUORS, Burlington or Lexington, 861-1776 for all your needs. Hours: Mon thru Sat 9am-10pm.

Consultant at St. Mary's is honored

Sister M. Christopher, R.S.M., PhD., educational consultant for St. Mary's School and adult education coordinator for St. Mary's Parish, has been named to the 1976-1977 edition of The National Register of Prominent Americans and International Notables.

The National Register selects as members men and women deserving of notable mention for outstanding achievements in, and contributions to their businesses, professions, communities, states, or countries. Members must be proposed by their colleagues and notified by the Board of Trustees.

Sister M. Christopher is also listed in Who's Who In America, Who's Who In the East, and Who's Who In Religion.

Sister M. Christopher received her B.A. in Psychology from Brown University, her M. A. and Ph.D. in Sociology from the University of Notre Dame. in 1968 she was a post-doctoral fellow in administration in higher education at the University of Michigan and a visiting professor at B.U. graduate program in higher education during 1974-1975.

Most of Sister M. Christopher's professional career was spent at Salve Regina College, Newport, R.I. where she was chairman of the Sociology Department. From 1969 to 1974 she served as president of the college.

Community affairs have always been a focus of Sr. M. Christopher's interest. She was responsible for the direction of Federal programs in Newport County. She initiated and was the administrator of the Head Start program in Newport, R. I. For her service to the Newport community, the Chamber of Commerce named her Woman of the Year in 1967. In 1968 she received national recognition and was awarded the O.E.O. Rural Service Award. This is her second year in St. Mary's, Winchester, and her community concerns have been reflected in her membership on the Winchester Interfaith Education Committee of which she is the secretary. Her educational enthusiasms have not lessened, and she is currently enrolled in a program of training in family counseling at Boston Family Institute.

11 residents at Wentworth

Several Winchester residents have enrolled at Wentworth Institute and Wentworth College of Technology in Boston for the 1976-77 academic year, according to Dr. Edward T. Kirkpatrick, Wentworth president.

More than 2,000 full-time day students registered for the two year curriculum in industrial and engineering technology. Wentworth has a "2 plus 2 open end" concept enabling a student to start on the path of higher education at a point keyed to his scholastic preparation and achievements, and geared to move him along to the limits of his potential.

The localites are:

Chase pledged to DU sorority

Adndrea Chase, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth P. Chase of Winchester, has recently been pledged to Delta Upsilon Chapter of Delta Delta Delta sorority at Ohio Wesleyan University.

Chase, a graduate of Winchester High School, is a freshman majoring in psychology.

F. Joseph Krajewski, direct deposit coordinator, explains the new system of direct bank deposit of social security checks to his assistant, Mary Picco. The Winchester Savings Bank will receive deposits directly from social security for those depositors requesting it. Authorization form 1199 and further information can be obtained from the Winchester Savings Bank.

Ex local man named by bank

Joseph J. Butare, Jr., formerly of Winchester, has been elected director, president and chief executive officer of the Mechanics National Bank of Worcester, a member bank of Multibank Financial Corp. (OTC), a statewide bank holding company.

Butare, a graduate of Winchester High School and a 1964 graduate of Harvard College, joined the bank in 1974 and has served as vice president and senior loan officer.

Prior to joining Mechanics he served as a vice president and senior commerical lender for the United States Trust Company, and was an assistant vice president in the Credit and Loan Division of the State Street Bank & Trust Company. He also was a member of the Special Development Program within the Commercial Banking Department of the Chase Manhattan Bank, N.A.

Butare currently serves as a director of the Worcester Area Chamber of Commerce, an incorporator of John Woodman Higgins Memorial Armory, and as a governor of the New England Chapter of the Robert Morris Associates. He is a member of the Harvard Schools Committee and a member of the Executive Committee of the Harvard Club of Worcester.

Butare, his wife Alice, and their two children currently reside in Holden. They are members of the Tatnuck Country Club in Worcester.

Tar/Taste Theory Exploded.

Taste-science breakthrough gives low tar MERIT the flavor of cigarettes having 60% more tar.

By locating certain flavor-rich ingredients in cigarette smoke, ingredients that deliver taste way out of proportion to tar, researchers at Philip Morris have disproven the theory that cigarette flavor depends on the amount of tar that goes with it.

They've discovered how to pack flavor—unprecedented flavor—into a cigarette that delivers one of the lowest tar levels in smoking today.

The discovery is called 'Enriched Flavor.'™ It's extra flavor, natural flavor, and only MERIT has it.

9 mg. "tar," 0.7 mg. nicotine av. per cigarette by FTC Method.

Warning: The Surgeon General Has Determined That Cigarette Smoking Is Dangerous to Your Health.

MERIT and MERIT MENTHOL

Tests Verify Taste

In taste tests involving thousands of cigarette smokers like yourself, MERIT was reported to deliver as much—or more—taste than current low tar leaders.

What's really startling is that these brands have up to 60% more tar than MERIT.

You've been smoking "low tar, good taste" claims long enough.

Now smoke the cigarette.

MERIT. Incredible smoking satisfaction at only 9 mg. tar.

Merchant's corner

Seeing is believing in Vasapolis' business

For those who may have a problem focusing in on things—there's a new store on Mount Vernon street, called Vision Care Opticians.

The shop is run by John E. Vasapoli and his family, son Paul M. and wife Joanne. All three are licensed opticians, though Mrs. Vasapoli is still an apprentice.

John, who has been a registered optician for 39 years and has an extensive professional background, says, "This area has always appealed to me. The clientele is to my liking, as to filling their eyeglass needs." The Vasapolis live in Melrose.

Vision Care has a full line of designer frames available, with over 400 kinds in stock, including frames from Helena Rubenstein, Oscar DiLorento and Optyl. Photochromatic (light-adjusting) lenses are available, as well as various color tinted glasses. Lenses come in both glass and plastic.

The Vasapolis also have a lensometer, which allows them to duplicate existing lenses, just in case you lose your prescription. All glasses are made in their own laboratory, and they carry a full line of optical accessories.

And since it's all in the family, there are two licensed opticians to serve you at all times.

LaLeche League meeting Oct. 19

Many women are relearning the art of breastfeeding their babies, with the encouragement and support of LaLeche League. Next week there will be two meetings of the Lexington Group of LaLeche League of Massachusetts to discuss "The Art of Breastfeeding and Overcoming Difficulties:" Tuesday, October 19, 9:30 a.m. at the home of Jane Boynton, 2 Aerial st., Lexington; and Thursday, October 21, 8 p.m. at the home of Mary Casella, 104 Bedford st., Lexington. Dual meetings have been established to enable as many interested women as possible to attend.

This meeting is the second in the current series of four monthly meetings open to nursing mothers and their babies, as well as pregnant and other interested women. The discussion is informal, with opportunity to ask questions and share experiences. The group maintains a lending library of books on breastfeeding, childbirth, and child care. LaLeche League may be called at any time for immediate help, encouragement, and practical suggestions regarding breastfeeding, or to obtain the manual, The Womanly Art of Breastfeeding.

For directions and further information, please call group leaders Mrs. Robert Berger, 10 Burnham rd., Lexington; or Mrs. Stephen Mudrick, 72 Prospect Hill rd., Lexington.

Women voters symposia set

A series of land use symposia will be sponsored by the League of Women Voters of Massachusetts in conjunction with the Community Colleges. The symposia, which is funded by a grant from the Massachusetts Foundation for the Humanities and Public Policy, is open to all interested citizens. It will focus on the relationship of land use to humantic issues, including an exploration of the values people hold about land ownership.

The first symposium will be held at Middlesex College on October 16. Each symposium will try toi meet the particular needs of the area in which it takes place, and will be organized by a regional committee.

For further information, contact Connie Rabinowitz, 165 Cliff rd., Welelsley.

Local concert scheduled by Mishawum Society

The Mishawum Choral Society has scheduled a concert in Winchester October 31 for the Quota Club.

An earlier concert is planned for October 17 at the Wakefield-Lynnfield United Methodist Church, and the group will perform a traditional Christmas concert December 12 at an as yet unannounced location. In addition, the group will be carolling at the Burlington Mall December 14.

Director Donn Hill has taken a leave of absence, and the chorus will be under the direction of Wendell Purrington, who is currently director of music in the Portsmouth, N.H. school system and at the Wakefield-Lynnfield United Methodist Church in Wakefield.

This is the 13th season for the Mishawum Choral Society, a non-profit organization comprised of members from all around the area. In addition to its annual schedule of concerts, the society offers financial aid, through scholarship form, to a worthy student who will study music as a profession.

Much of the groups's support comes from ticket sales for the concerts to the public and from sponsorship.

Seniors can sign for reduced fare cards in Medford

An MBTA registration team will be in Medford on Wednesday, October 27, between 9:30 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. to process applications for reduced fare identification cards for eligible senior citizens and eligible handicapped citizens of surrounding communities.

Registration will take place in the Auditorium of the Saltonstall Building, 121 Riverside ave., Medford.

To be eligible for a senior citizen reduced fare identification card, which contains the name and address of the holder and a color photograph for positive identification, senior citizens must bring proof of age — 65 years or older — such as a birth certificate, baptismal record, or driver's license; proof of residency such as a driver's license, library card or charge plate; and a 50c cash fee.

Medicare cards will not be accepted as proof of age.

The MBTA stressed that senior citizens who already have a reduced fare identification card do not need to register again. What appears to be an expiration date is used merely for internal auditing and control purposes. Once a reduced fare identification card is issued, it is good for life.

Rep. Saltmarsh scores well with state municipal groups

State Representative Sherman W. Saltmarsh has scored favorably with state municipal associations, according to a "legislative report card" issued jointly by the Massachusetts Selectmen's Association and the Mass. League of Cities and Towns.

The report lists how the representatives voted on eight issues of importance to the cities and towns and indicates whether or not they supported five key state municipal organizations on those issues.

The five organizations are: the league of cities and towns; the selectmen's association; the Mass. Mayor's Association; the Mass. Association of Finance Committees; and the Mass. Municipal Management Association. The last group is made up primarily of town managers.

Rep. Saltmarsh voted in support of the municipal associations' positions on seven of the issues, including:

—Voting in favor of a bill which would have allowed the Town of Medway to "delete or reduce items in the budget of its school committee by a two-thirds vote." The House defeated the bill.

—Supporting an attempt to bring a bill to the floor of the House which would require the state to reimburse cities, towns, and regional school districts in full for certain mandated programs. This move was also defeated.

—Voting with the majority to strike out section 32A of the state budget, which would have diverted receipts from the lottery's numbers game to the state from cities and towns. Saltmarsh then voted with the minority against a successful move to reinstate section 32A.

—Supporting preliminary approval of a proposed amendment to the state constitution which would require that any law imposing costs on the cities and towns either be accepted by the local government or fully funded by the state, or passed by a two-thirds vote of the legislature.

—Voting in favor of a motion to bring to the house floor for action a bill requiring the revenues from the lottery's numbers game to be restored to the Local Aid Fund for distribution to the cities and towns. The motion was narrowly defeated.

—Voting with the majority in overriding the governors's veto of $6 million in local aid for education.

The only one of the eight votes in which Rep. Saltmarsh disagreed with the position of the municipal organizations was when he voted against a motion to repeal the present law relative to holiday pay for chiefs of fire departments. The motion was defeated.

Obituaries

Clara V. Donnelly

Clara Veronica Donnelly, 90, of 93 Lawson rd., a Winchester resident for 15 years, passed on at the Winchester Nursing Home October 5 after a long illness.

Services were held at St. Mary's Church October 8, and interment was in Oak Grove cemetery in Medford.

Miss Donnelly was born in Boston to Michael and Mary Ann (Tooey) Donnelly November 9, 1885. She was a long-time resident of West Medford, living at 49 Kilgore ave.

She leaves behind numerous nieces and nephews, including Alice M. Simeone of Winchester; Mary R. Donnelly of Brighton; Ruth M. Nickerson of Yarmouthport; Joseph McDevitt of Rhode Island; Thomas and Paul McDevitt of Connecticut; and Virginia Donnelly and Doris Hunter of Newburyport. Arrangements for the funeral were made by the Robert J. Costello Funeral Home.

Edward W. Larson

Rev. Leon Hatch of the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church officiated at funeral services Saturday for Edward Wesley Larson, 41, of 2 Nichols st., Woburn.

The former Winchester resident died at New England Medical Center on October 6. The services, held at Bixby's Funeral Home in Woburn, were followed by interment in Wildwood Cemetery.

Mr. Larson was born in Winchester to the late Frederick J. Larson of Everett, and Eva MacRae Larson, now residing in Melrose. He attended the Noonan School and Winchester High School, from which he graduated in 1953.

He served with the Woburn National Guard and was a member of the Crawford Methodist Church. Mr. Larson was also an associate member of the Woburn Disabled Veterans Association.

Mr. Larson is survived by his wife, Rose, daughters Dorothy and Rosalie, sons Frederick and Carl, all of Woburn. Also surviving are Mr. Larson's mother and two sisters, Virginia (Larson) McKinley and Natalie (Larson) Hall, both of Winchester.

Vincent J. Celia

Funeral services for Vincent J. Celia, 70, retired head of the Massachusetts Inheritance Tax Bureau, Corporations and Taxation department, will be held today at St. Mary's Church. Attorney Celia died Sunday.

Mr. Celia, a practicing attorney with offices at 6 Beacon st., Boston, was a former Medford assistant city solicitor, assistant attorney general under Attorney General George Fingold, former chairman of the Medford Republican City Committee, a member of the Medford Sons of Italy, and the Winchester Housing Authority, former Winchester Republican Town Committee member, a board member of the Lawrence Memorial Hospital and a member of the Knights of Columbus.

Mr. Celia leaves his wife, Helen (Pentone), two daughters, Mrs. Joan McCann of Pelham, N.Y. and Mrs. Diane Sullivan of West Hartford, Ct. Also a sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Spadea, and two brothers, Alfred and Frank, all of Brockton.

Burial will be in Holy Cross Cemetery, Malden. Gaffey Funeral Home of Medford handled the arrangements.

"The British are coming!" — to the Drury Lane Fair at the Parish of the Epiphany Wednesday and Thursday, October 27 and 28. Mrs. Walter Taber, left, fair co-chairman and treasurer, and Mrs. Stuart Carswell, fair chairman, are modeling T-shirts which are among the many British souvenirs to be offered for sale. Many handcrafted items will also be available and will include a variety of special quilts such as that pictured above. Everyone will be welcome at this year's fair sponsored by the Women of Epiphany.

Sheriff Buckley church speaker here next Sunday

The Sheriff of Middlesex County, John J. Buckley, organizer of the "People vs. Handguns" movement, will be the guest speaker at the 10:30 service at the Winchester Unitarian Church this coming Sunday, October 17. The church service and the following discussion group were arranged by the Social Concerns Committee, Edward G. Barker, chairman.

The general public is invited to attend this informational service.

Sheriff John J. Buckley

At the worship service in place of the sermon, Mr. Buckley and Rev. Jack D. Zoerheide will conduct an "interview dialogue" nn "Why 'People vs. Handguns.'?"

Following this service will come an informal discussion hour in the Symmes Room where questions will be asked and answered about the important Handgun Control Amendment to the State Constitution that appears on the ballot at the impending November 2 election.

A columnist in the Wall Street Journal had this to say about Sheriff Buckley two years ago:

"Sheriff Buckley, who oversees the jail system in a huge county that sprawls from Cambridge and other Boston bedroom communities northwest into surprisingly rural areas, neither looks nor acts the stereotype. Twinkling eyes, constant smile and ready wit suggest the jolly inkeeper rather than the tough warden. A former businessman, a Republican and devout Catholic, he takes positions more popularly expected from his academic constituents in Cambridge.

"In his four years as sheriff, for example, he has instituted far-reaching jail reforms — 48-hour congugal visits, uncensored mail, separation of juvenile and adult prisioners, extensive work release and furlough programs, art and music classes as well as practical vocational programs."

Mrs. Buckley is the author of a book recently published by the Beacon Press, "Breaking into Prison, A Guide To Volunteer Action."

Begins Tuesday . . .

Hunters to teach course on education and religious studies

Drs. Doris and Howard Hunter, Winchester residents, will initiate a course on "Public Education and Religious Studies" October 19, at 7:30 p.m.

Sponsored by the Winchester Interfaith Committee, the series will run at the high school for four consecutive Tuesdays, exploring a topic of growing national interest.

Dr. Howard Hunter, chairman of the religion department and director of the College Winthin at Tufts University, is the author of "Humanities, Religion, and the Arts Tomorrow." During summer sessions at Tufts Dr. Hunter has conducted workshops in religion and public education. He is a member of the American Academy of Religion, American Philosophical Association, and a Fellow in the Society for the Arts, Religion, and Contemporary Culture.

Dr. Doris Hunter is assistant professor of philosophy at Bentley College and lecturer in philosophy at Lincoln College, Northeastern University. She is coauthor of "Non violence: A Reader in the Ethics of Action" and "Violence: A Reader in the Ethics of Action." She is a member of the American Philosophical Association and a fellow in the Society for the Arts, Religion, and Contemporary Culture.

Currently the Hunters are collaborating on a textbook in the field of religion entitled "Introducing Religion."

Residents of Winchester for 15 years, the Hunters have two children: Bruce, a tenth-grader at Winchester High, and Amy, a freshman at Tufts.

The course will meet in room A-208 (social studies area) at the high school. Registration forms are available at the churches and library. There is no charge for senior citizens and students.

Confirmation class set at St. Mary's

Investiture of candidates into the Level I Class for Confirmation Preparation will take place in St. Mary's Church at 7:30 on Monday evening, October 18.

The candidates invested at this ceremony will present Investiture Contracts in which they promise involvement to the best of their abilities in all the activities required during the two-year preparation program for reception of the Sacrament of Confirmation in the spring of 1978.

Those invested in last year's ceremony are completing their requirements, including weekly attendance at class and active Christian service and are expecting to be confirmed in April, 1977.

Rev. Mark S. Sheehan, priest moderator of religious education and Mrs. Patricia M. Sannell, religious education coordinator for Grades 1-9 at St. Mary's Parish have appointed Mrs. Betty Vanderbilt, a graduate of the Diocesan Master Teacher Program to serve as coordinator of the Parish Confirmation Program.

The faculty of the Confirmation Preparation Program consists of the priests and sisters at St. Mary's, two first theology students at St. John's Seminary, and 19 lay teachers.

The principal of the Level I Classes meeting in the school on Monday afternoons is Robert Quinn, assisted by Mrs. Jean Donahue as secretary. Mrs. Jennie Stevenson, assisted by Mrs. Barbara Welch is the principal of the Level II, Tuesday evening classes.

Jewish couples pot luck supper

The Lexington-Minuteman Area Jewish Young Couples Club will hold a Pot Luck Supper on October 16 at 8 p.m. at Temple Shalom Emeth in Burlington.

Each couple is asked to bring their favorite appetizer, main course or dessert for their admission. Non-members are invited to share their favorite recipes. There will also be an admission charge for non-members which can be applied towards membership dues. All recipes used for the evening will be compiled into a cookbook which will be available at the November function.

Whether you are new to the area or have been around for years, the Jewish Young Couples Club is happy to welcome you to its group. Each month is filled with activities for members and their families. In addition to the main function, there is a monthly book group, bowling and other sports activities, diners'-out and more.

Three enrolled

Elizabeth Ann Ellis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emmons S. Ellis; Michael J. DeLeo, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. DeLeo; and Karen A. Roche, daughter of Mr., and Mrs. Leo F. Roche, Jr. all of Winchester, have enrolled as first year students at the University of Massachusetts Medical School, Worcester.

For Congress

Independent Murphy makes announcement of candidacy

Independent James J. Murphy recently made his formal announcement of candidacy for the office of U.S. Representative form the Seventh Congressional District. He will be on the ballot in November. His statement follows:

I am declaring my candidacy for the seventh District of Congress as an Independent candidate. I am 50 years old, married 25 years to the former Ann T. Shea of Medford, homeowner, taxpayer, marine veteran W.W. II, self-employed, and resident of the 7th District for 50 years (Melrose, Malden and Everett).

I am a non-politician, never having been appointed or elected to any federal, state or local office. As a resident of this district for 50 years, I feel it is time for a straight-talking, forthright attitude of returning, especially to the Seventh District and New England, its former prominence in all matters of government operations.

Issues and possible remedies:

1. Employment — first priority, promote jobs. Introduce bill to retain at least 75 percent of federal tax dollars in the state they were generated. 50 percent local, 25 percent state, to create capital for construction, small business loans, and funds to help the economy in this region. Sending tax dollars to federal levels and getting 35 percent back has to stop!

2. (a) Taxes — local, state and federal taxes create 65 percent of inflation. Local — property taxes — let's review fiscal autonomy in school budgeting. A circuit breaker on school costs for senior citizens on fixed incomes, on the basis of ability to pay. Also, less spending for unneeded projects.

(b) Taxes — state, fiscal restraint on new or existing program and an eye to efficient operations.

(c) Taxes — Federal — first reducing deficits on yearly budgets. Introduce bill to reduce budgets 5 percent per year, to gradually guide government to sensible balanced budgets.

3. Social security and senior citizens — (a) Seniors' past contribution to our country's economic, industrial, cultural and physical condition are overwhelmingly evident. A debt is due them. A secure retirement and a stable social security system is a necessity. We must revise efficiencies in this area, plus regaining the monies siphoned from this fund for other departments of government — monies in the billions of dollars.

(b) Young families — payroll taxes have reached an absurd level. A turnabout is needed to all young families to purchase homes. A bill similar to veterans' loan guarantees should be instituted. This would also help revive construction. Money sent abroad could be diverted to this purpose.

4. National health care — a must! Plans to date leave much to be desired. Regressive financing of payroll taxing will only burden young families further. General revenue funding should be explored. Again, charity begins at home. Money sent abroad could be used.

5. Abortion — certain laws are already avilable to cover rape, incest and health of mothers. I am a pro life advocate. We must not set up conditions that would lead us to parallel Germany's policy under Hitler, of eliminating the old, infirm, retarded, or politically dissident.

6. Energy — a concerted effort to stimulate solar research and implementation, plus an intense plan to increase efficient use of available resources. Also, inquiry of shelving patents that might conserve existing resources.

7. Equal Rights Amendment — Laws already enacted protect women from discrimination or unequal pay. The amendment is not specific enough in what laws it would change. Let us not take a step backward on women's rights.

8. Veterans' preference — we must enable men and women who served their country a chance to recoup in some way, time lost so they may achieve life's ambitions.

9. Amnesty — no blanket decree — individual pardon conditions; admission of wronging our country and some repentant service to America.

10. Forced busing — is expanding educational problems, not solving them. I favor a voucher system in education. Equality of opportunity would be assured to all. Open enrollments subject to some local acceptance and control.

11. Gun confiscation — No! Let's control criminals first. Confiscation is the first step to tyrannical government. We have only to look to recent problems in Portugal. A dissenting public throwing stones against a government force armed with machihe guns!

I am willing to debate or discuss with any congressional candidate or organization, on issues involved.

Being an Independent, I have the freedom to respond to the needs of the people — not a political machine!

In this year of America's 200th birthday, I feel as many Americans must — our need to return to our original greatness, in line with our forefathers' respect for all of the people.

County candidates to discuss issues at forum October 20th

The Middlesex County Advisory Board will hold a county candidates forum on October 20 as an educational service and as an opportunity for the candidates in this November's election to air their views.

The moderator for the event, to be held at 7:30 p.m. at the Belmont Public Library, 337 Concord ave., is Arch MacDonald. Candidates participating are those seeking election as county commissioner, clerk of courts, and north and south register of deeds.

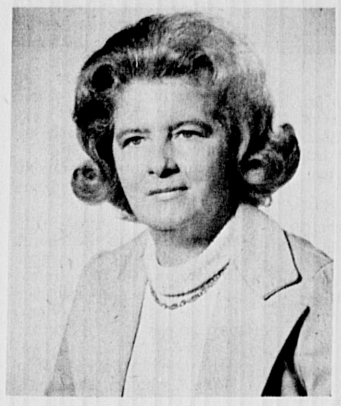

Questions will be asked by a panel of five county newspapers and from the floor.

The forum is supported by the Massachusetts Selectmen's Association and the Merrimack Valley Selectmen's Association.

Helen Metros declares for Fourth Middlesex Senate seat

Arlington Independent Helen Metros has formally announced her candidacy for the office of State Senator in the Fourth Middlesex District.

The seat is currently held by Sen. John Bullock of Arlington. Ms. Metros' statement follows:

I appreciate this opportunity to remind the voters that I, Helen Metros of Arlington, am the Independent candidate for the seat of State Senator in our Fourth Middlesex District.

In a few short weeks, it will be exactly two years since the citizens of the Fourth Middlesex Senatorial District went to the polls. Two years ago, the problems faced by our communities were familiar issues at every ballot box. This fall, little has changed! We are still faced with the same problems, and in many instances they have become noticably worse.

The cost of living skyrockets while our legislators are busy voting themselves raises, creating new patronage jobs, and promoting their own law practices, businesses and other outside personal interests.

I am neither an attorney nor am I in business, and my own special personal interest as senator will be to represent you as a full time legislator, and have your voice heard in your senate.

Too many times, we have seen our legislators "wined and dined" by various lobbyists only to have the wants of their constituents overlooked in favor of "big business bucks".

It's time now to take a hard look at what you want politics to be for you. I can't see how anyone can possibly resign a $22,000 annual salary in order to spend in excess of $23,000 to secure a position in the Massachusetts State Senate paying $12,688.

There is no ready solution to the economic and social problems facing us today regardless of the of the efforts of our elected officials. However, we can expect and must demand that our legislators will work unselfishly in the interest of the citizens that elect them. As your state senator all my efforts will be devoted to serving you.

My husband Ted is an industrial engineer. Our daughter Emilie is a nursing student, and our son Chuck is a junior at Arlington High School. All of us as a family, extend our invitation to you as voters and concerned citizens to join us at our home-campaign headquarters, 325 Mass. Ave. in Arlington.

Star's role praised

Opponents win temporary victory in pipeline fight as House stalls MDC's plan

The notorious MDC plan to install a 60-inch water supply pipeline in the Middlesex Fells Reservation has been stopped cold.

A series of stories and editorials in The Star was credited last week with preventing passage of Senate Bill 1522 when it reached the House last Friday.

The bill had been moved by the Senate to the House for engrossment, when Winchester's Representative Sherman W. Saltmarsh, Jr., responding to a Star editorial, pleaded personally with House Speaker Thomas L. McGee to keep the bill from being voted in this session.

Shortly after the bill was stalled by McGee, the House prorogued the current session, and there was no longer any danger that the bill would slip by, at least for the time being.

However, Winchester's Charles Carlson, vice president of the Friends of the Middlesex Fells, Inc., which initiated opposition to the virtually secret $6-million water supply system which they charged would destroy the ecology of the woodland area around the Spot Pond reservoir, said his group, which received support from a multitude of other conservation agencies, will continue to keep a watch on the proposed legislation.

He expects that it will be brought up again when the next session of the legislature convenes after the first of the year.

That it will be brought up again was confirmed this week by Representative Saltmarsh, who told The Star that he talked with officials of the MDC. He said that they insist that their plan is an "imperative" and they intend to push for legislation in the next session.

"They feel they made a public relations error in their handling of the situation," he said.

"You mean they only regret that they made a 'PR' mistake, but are still adamant about the pipeline even in view of the opposition's claim that it will destroy the natural woodland area?," he was asked.

Saltmarsh replied that they insisted that their pipeline would go underground. But an elevated pipeline will probably be installed after they get the legislation passed, according to conservationists, because the area is deep ledge and practically impenetrable. The cost to go into the ledge, they claim, would be prohibitive.

The MDC not only wants to install the 3500-foot, 60-inch main (which was being called on Beacon Hill "the six-million-dollar golden pipeline), but also wants to erect big water storage tanks in another, nearby section of the woods in the Bear Hill area. The MDC claims the water is desperately needed by Stoneham and Reading, but it was learned that Reading's town meeting twice turned

Red Cross to assist town with swine flu shots

The clinic for vaccination against both A. Victoria and A. Swine influenza will be held at the board of health office on Monday, October 25 from 10 until 5. This free clinic is limited to those citizens 65 and older, and those of all ages with chronic health problems.

Dr. Jonathan Adler, chairman of the hospital committee on infections at Winchester Hospital, urges anyone over 65 with any form of lung ailment, heart disease, or diabetes to obtain the vaccine.

"The bivalent vaccine contains the prevalent type of virus which is in the community plus the swine virus," he said. "If you have any questions, of course consult your physician."

Volunteers from the Winchester Red Cross, R.N.'s, and others will be on hand to assist in the Swine Flu innoculation procedures all day. They will help with the medical screening and serve coffee. The Chapter is also furnishing drivers and the Red Cross wagon for those who need rides. If you need a ride, call 729-2300.

In order that all persons will not come to the clinic at the same time and to avoid possible waiting lines, the following suggested schedule is recommended by the board of health. If your last name starts with the letter as noted below the board of health asks you to make an effort to come during the hours indicated:

A to F - 10 a.m. until noon.
G to M - noon until 2 p.m.
N to Z - 2 p.m. until 5 p.m.

The board asks you to note that this is only a suggested schedule and if you are unable to meet it, to attend at your convenience between 10 and 5.

If you have any questions as to whether you should receive the vaccine or not, consult your family physician.

On South Border road

High school boy killed in crash, girl critically hurt

Kevin C. Walsh, 15, of 8 Plato ter. was killed, apparently instantly, Monday morning when the car he was driving went out of control and crashed off South Border road, just across the Medford line.

With him in the car was Darlene H. Vockey, also 15, of 8 Willowdale rd. She is listed in satisfactory condition at Lawrence Memorial Hospital.

Walsh apparently lost control of the vehicle and ran off the road. The car clipped a light pole in half and smashed into a tree, bursting into flame.

Winchester firefighters, called to the scene by MDC Police, used the Hurst tool to cut through the torn metal and extricate the two young victims. Both were rushed by ambulance to Lawrence Memorial Hospital; Walsh was pronounced dead on arrival.

The son of Patrick F. Walsh of Quincy and Rita (Taddoni) Walsh of Winchester, Kevin was a sophomore in Winchester High School. He was born in Boston and had lived in Winchester for ten years. He has three brothers living in Winchester.

MDC Police responded to a box call at 10:12 and called in Winchester's Engine 3 and rescue truck, under the command of Acting Captain Bernard Stygles, at 10:18 a.m. Also assisting at the scene were Winchester Police. Registry Inspector Vincent Malice, investigating another fatal accident in Woburn, also arrived on the scene with Woburn Police Inspector P. Joseph Lally.

Funeral services for Walsh were to be held this morning at St. Eulalia Church with burial in Wildwood cemetery.

Members of the Jaycees take the mountain ash trees from the truck to ready them for planting around the edge of the Wadleigh school site. The Save the Park committee, with the Jaycees, landscaped the area with trees from Mahoney's. The Jaycee's service project brought several dozen townspeople to the park at Mt. Vernon and Washington streets for mulled cider, cookies, and a good dose of town spirit last Sunday afternoon.

Warrant position

FinCom favors school closing

The finance committee favors closing an elementary school by a 10-1 margin. The board voted Monday night to support any motion coming before the November town meeting under article 13 of the warrant which would seek to close an elementary school.

The FinCom also took positions on a number of other warrant articles. They will meet again tonight for any possible reconsideration of their positions. FinCom Chairman John Williams said the board was preparing a report for town meeting and that the positions taken last Monday night may change, should any new information come to light.

Unfavorable action was recommended on article two, a citizen's petition "to see if the Town will adopt a policy of residential preference..." After talking to Town Manager Thomas Groux, the board of selectmen, and proponents of the article, Williams said the FinCom believed "it would not be in the best interests of the town at this time to set a policy to limit the selection of candidates for jobs."

Favorable action was recommended on article four, which would authorize the town manager to seek federal funds under Title 1 to assist the town in the construction of a new public works facility. "It seems unlikely, however, that we'd get the funds," Williams conceded.

Article five seeks to settle back accounts with Boston Edison Company for the cost, principally in 1974-75, of lighting at Ginn Field. The FinCom supports the settlement, which would amount to $275, according to Williams, somewhat less than the amount claimed by Edison.

Williams said the FinCom recommended unfavorable action on article six, which seeks

Sunday heist nets $221

Police arrest Burlington youths in bakery robbery

Three Burlington youths were arrested Sunday in connection with an armed robbery of $221 at Salvy's Bakery, 741 Main st.

Arthur Zweiker, 18, Francis Holmes, 18, and Robert Walsh, 19, allegedly entered the bakery at 3 p.m. wearing ski masks. One of them was alleged to be carrying a small black revolver.

According to police, they entered the back, where they allegedly intimidated two employees, with the gun. Another woman employee was ordered to fill a brown paper bag with money from the register, police said.

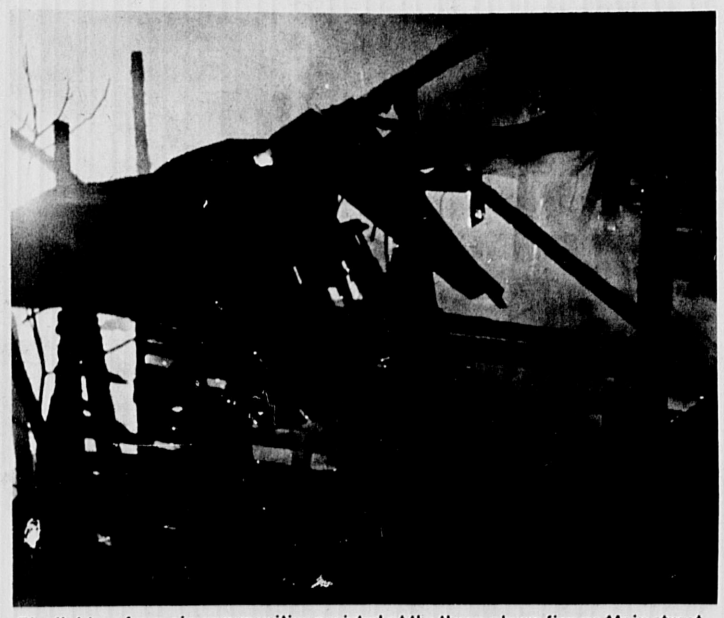

She went to the front of the store where a customer was waiting for service and whispered to her to get out as there was a robbery in progress. After checking whether there was a safe in the store, and being informed there was none, the three left the store.

Officer Theodore Yeanocopolis was dispatched to the area to check for a car with three men, one wearing a plaid shirt. While on Washington street he noticed a car with three men who looked nervous, but there was no plaid shirt visible or brown paper bag or ski masks.

On investigation he and Inspector William Nash found an imitation gun on the floor, and the plaid shirt and an empty brown paper bag.

Superficial search of the three showed nothing, but a strip search at the station produced $221 in the underwear of one of the suspects.

Arrests were made on charges of armed robbery. Police Chief John P. McHugh especially commends the efforts of desk officer Thomas Parsons, and officers Mawn, Fisher, McGhee, and Asaro in making the arrests.

Firefighters from six communities assisted at the three-alarm fire on Main street last Thursday. The charred timbers of the abandoned coal bins stand floodlighted after the flames were extinguished.

Two men, two women

Police arrest four in Sheffield road break

Police arrested two men and two women Thursday night after a house break at 15 Sheffield rd. was reported by an alert neighbor.

Arrested were David L. Hall, 31, of Newton and Richard Mackenzie, 24, of Revere. They were charged with burglary with intent to commit a felony and larceny over $100. Also arrested were Ann Marie MacInnis, 19, and Sharon Burke, 23, both of Medford. They were booked on charges of breaking and entering in the night, larceny over $100, and larceny of a motor vehicle.

The four were arraigned in Woburn District Court. They pleaded not guilty and bail was set at $20,000. They will go to trial October 22.

Officer Richard Anselmo responded to the call at 8:03 p.m. He went to the back door and as he entered the house, Hall allegedly came down the back stairs. Anselmo fired a warning shot into the ground when Hall reached in his pocket for what Anselmo believed to be a weapon.

Hall was ordered to lie on the ground and was handcuffed. A gold watch was found near where he was lying.

Officers Charles Culhane and John Guarente arrived with Satan, the police dog, as a backup of Anselmo. They found rugs and other items stacked by the door, apprently to be hauled away. They went through the house expecting to find another man, as indicated by the neighbor who called police.

They found no one, but Satan ran to the bedroom, which had been ransacked. He barked at the window although the screen was down and there was no reason to believe anyone had left through the window.

Satan continued to bark and tried to climb up to the window, they said. The officers, looking out, found Mackenzie on the roof below. He was pulled back into the room and arrested.

Meanwhile, still following leads given police by the neighbor, Officer John Oliver was sent to the neighborhood to look for a car with two women. He saw one fitting the description of make and model and stopped it to question the women inside. They could not produce identification and Oliver was notified to arrest them.

Further investigation of Hall and MacKenzie produced warrant for their arrests in Lincoln, Belmont, and Ashland. MacInnis and Burke were found to have police records. The car was reported stolen from a leasing company at Logan Airport.

Dump open

The facilities at the old incinerator site on Swanton street will be open for rubbish disposal Saturdays, from 7 a.m.- 12 noon for the convenience of residents.

More than ankle deep in water, these men from the Winchester department hosed down the abandoned coal bins and fuel trucks at Parker Lane Winn. Damage was estimated at $3000, mostly landscaping and construction equipment.

$3000 damage

Firemen battle 3-alarm blaze

A three-alarm blaze at the old Parker Lane Winn Company buildings on Main street caused approximately $3000 damage last Thursday evening.

Winchester companies responded to the first alarm at 9:15, and by the time the third alarm sounded ten minutes later, Stoneham and Woburn companies responding to mutual aid calls had come to assist at the scene and Medford, Arlington, and Reading fire apparatus had been called in to cover.

The virtually abandoned buildings had been used primarily for storage, and most of the damage was to landscaping and construction equipment belonging to Joseph Dizio of Hemingway street; and to building equipment belonging to Alfred Landry of Woodside road.

Firemen had the blaze under control by 11:15 p.m. The buildings, most of them abandoned coal sheds, were the property of Jack Coakley of Ridge street, whose family has operated the Parker Lane Winn Company, dealers in wood, coal and and oil, for three generations. Two oil trucks on the property were also damaged by the fire.

The fire rescue truck responded to a call to the fatal accident on South Border road Monday. The Hearst tool was used to free the victims from the wrecked car.

In other calls, the firemen responded to a brush fire on South Border road shortly after the first alarm struck for the Parker Lane Winn fire October 14.

Also on South Border road, firemen answered a call for a car fire at 2:02 a.m. October 15.

At 8:28 the evening of October 15 fire apparatus responded to a call to find a 1970 Thunderbird engulfed in flames on the Cullen property off Swanton street.

On the 16th, they dealt with a brush fire near the auxiliary fire station, on Alben street, at 1:40 p.m. There was a rubbish fire at 2 Elm st. the same day at 2:18 p.m.; and a call came at 5:48 for a brush fire at the rear of Lynch Junior High School.

Monday morning, after the South Border road accident, firemen responded to a call for a car fire at the home of Anthony Panpone, 69 Main st. Smoke from the car, owned by Panpone, caused some damage to the house.

At 6:23 Monday afternoon firemen dealt with a brush and rubbish fire behind the White Hen Pantry on Main street.

And at 3:13 p.m. all apparatus responded to a call from Lynch Junior High School, where a minor electrical fire in the transformer in the school auditorium had sent smoke throughout the room. There was no reported damage other than to the electrical apparatus.

Selectmen vote opposition to 'fair share' rates

The Winchester Board of Selectmen voted their opposition to "fair share" electric rates, at Monday night's meeting.

The board unanimously disapproved of state referendum question number seven, which seeks to establish a uniform rate schedule for all consumers of electricity in the state. The question will be on the November 2 ballot.

The administration of Winchester Hospital also expressed opposition to the proposal in the October issue of The Highlander, the hospital's newsletter.

Under the current rate structure, the highest rates for electricity apply to the first few hundred kilowatt hours used. Progressively lower rates apply to additional blocks of electricity consumed. Consequently, homeowners and other small consumers pay a higher average rate than industrial and other large electricity users.

Selectwoman Barbara Hankins said, "We all believe the uniform rates would have an adverse effect on the town government, because the cost (of electricity) to the town would increase."

Institutions such as Winchester Hospital are among the bulk rate users who enjoy lower rates for electricity. An article in The Highlander states: "Winchester Hospital estimates that higher electrical expenses — recoverable only through additional charges to patients — would merely add new costs without bringing any new services or benefits to patients."

The hospital accounting department estimates a flat rate would increase the hospital's electric bill by $35,000 annually. There are no figures immediately available regarding possible increases to the town should the flat rate go into effect.

appropriate additional monies for workmen's compensation. However Williams said the committee's position was "soft" and that they felt they had insufficient information to approve the appropriation.

The board voted favorably on article eight, which would raise the balance of funds to pay for group insurance. Though $365,000 was appropriated at last spring's town meeting, the insurance bill has exceeded that by $17,000.

The FinCom also supported article nine, which seeks funds to pay for unanticipated hauling and overtime at the town dump. The town had originally contracted to have compacted trash hauled away. Because the transfer station was not completed in time, the town had to have trash hauled away uncompacted, which costs more. There were also overtime costs involved.

Article nine calls for $5000 to be added to the personal services account and $20,000 to other expenses.

Fin Com disapproved article ten, a citizens's petition requesting the town to pay for construction of a sidewalk on Washington street.

They voted favorably on article 11, which seeks to authorize the extension of the Bylaw Revision Study Committee.

On the advice of town counsel, the FinCom took no position on article 12, requesting the town to sell back certain property taken by the town by eminent domain in 1966. Former owner George Whitten has gone to court to force the town to sell back the land. The land, taken for school use, has been released by the school committee and is under the jurisdiction of the board of selectmen.

Article one refers to town reports; article four concerns as yet undetermined wage settlements between the school board and the teachers; article seven will probably be indefinitely postponed, according to Williams; article 14 concerns a report from the rules committee; and article 15 deals again with town reports and committees.

Williams, who spent the better part of Tuesday in fact finding with the school board and the teachers, said he doubted a settlement would be reached by the November 1 town meeting starting date.

down the prospect of buying MDC water.

Fells Vice President Carlson, armed with an editorial from The Star, bird-dogged the Senate the previous week but was unsuccessful in marshalling enough power to stall the pipeline bill there.

However, with the same editorial and the series of Star stories, he contacted numerous politicians, conservationists, ecologists, even the MDC itself (where he said he received some, but necessarily sub-rosa support), and others, to fight the proposed legislation.

"I can't emphasize enough how helpful The Star's role has been in this fight," he said. "It really turned it around in favor of the cause of sensible conservation, and we hope it will continue to be heeded to preserve that beautiful natural area," he said.

Representative Saltmarsh was high in his praise of The Star, which broke the story and alone provided the first public disclosure of the MDC plan. The plan prior to that (and since), was handled quietly without public notification by the MDC, which held no public hearings and provided no in-depth environmental impact report.

Saltmarsh said that he has been assured by the MDC that if they go through with their intent to push the bill through the next session, they will at least hold public hearings and provide full public disclosure for residents of all the communities in which the Fells lies, including Winchester, Medford, Stoneham, Melrose, Malden, and other communities, including Woburn and Reading, which will be affected by the pipeline.

Even in view of this, Carlson's group will continue their fight against the pipeline. He is developing other information, he said, that may yet throw more light on a situation that "becomes more mysterious and interesting every day."

He told The Star that if the pipeline is tied into the Bear Hill storage tank proposal it may cost up to or in excess of $10 million. "And that, I think, being in excess of the $6 million already projected for the cost, gets into the realm of a referendum question in that it involves in excess of $10 million," he said. But this will bear further investigation, according to Carlson. — J.R.S.

Middlesex CC plans parents night 26th

Parents of students attending Middlesex Community College are invited to attend the college's second annual parents' night October 26 at 7:30 in the Marist Field House on Springs road in Bedford.

Coffee and dessert will be served and time allowed for individual conferences with faculty and staff. Those who have not received a letter of information and a reservation form in the mail should call the college at Springs road, Bedford.

Alcoholics Anon

Every Monday night at 8:30 at St. Eulalia's Church, 50 Ridge st., there will be a meeting of Alcoholics Anonymous. Everyone is welcome.

Harvest bazaar at Austin Prep

Austin Prep's annual Harvest Bazaar will be held October 30th, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the school cafeteria.

Hand-knit and crocheted articles, plants, baked goods, jewelry and Christmas decoartions will be featured, along with a White Elephant table, cheese table, candy table, and kitchen crafts and delicacies. There will also be something for all the children including a toy table and sports equipment table.

Highlight of the day will be the giant raffle drawing at 3:30 p.m. for prizes including a color TV and a ten-speed bike.

For further information or to make donations, please call Austin Prep in Reading.

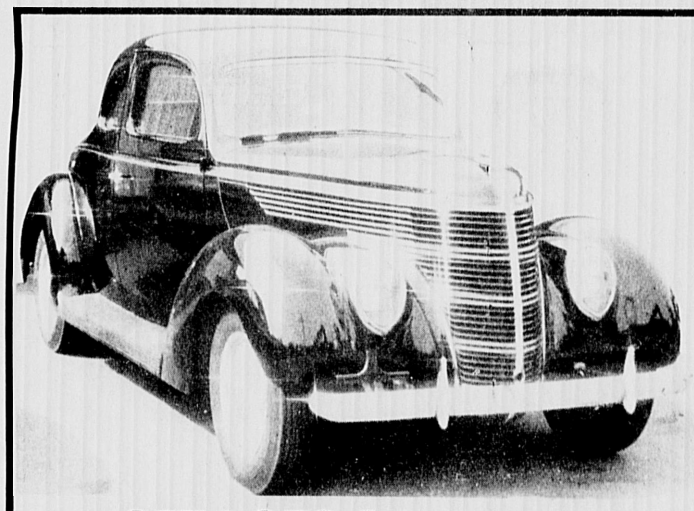

ABSENT VOTER BALLOTS

Registered voters who expect to be absent from Winchester or who will be unable by reason of physical disability to cast their vote in person at the polling place on the day of the State Election November 2, 1976, may obtain applications for Absent Voters Ballots at the Town Clerk's Office in the Town Hall.

Applications must be filed on or before noon of Monday, November 1, 1976.

Police blotter

John A. DiCato of Everett has been found guilty in Woburn District Court on charges of breaking and entering in the daytime and larceny over $100 in connection with a break June 30 at 60 Lloyd st. He was sentenced six months on each count.

Police Chief John P. McHugh credits a neighbor who furnished police with a car registration number with assisting police in apprehending DiCato.

Chief McHugh reminds parents & children that Halloween can be safe and fun for all. Winchester has, in the past, always been able to have a safe holiday for the children. The Chief offers the following safety suggestions for children who expect to be trick or treating this Halloween. The list of suggestions was passed out to each child in school during the last week of school which should have been brought home for all to see.

Several housebreaks occurred in the past week.

Police Chief John P. McHugh says that a lead on a break at 2 Ledgewood rd. may result in apprehension of a suspect. A neighbor gave police the registration number of the car used to carry off rugs and silverware from that address Sunday. Entrance was through a rear window.

A break at the Handcraft House on Thompson street netted several articles from the inventory for thieves, but a listing is not yet complete.

A break occurred at 32 Irving st. on October 11 and was reported to police on Saturday. A radio, television set, and checks were left behind but jewelry was taken from the kitchen.

A break on Thursday at 2 Lagrange st. netted thieves a rug and silverware. A break the day before at 30 Cabot st. resulted in the loss of a coin collection. A television set and clock radio were taken from 33 Emerson rd. Two women had their wallets stolen during services at the Unitarian Church Sunday at which Sheriff John Buckley spoke to the congregation.

Double-headed parking meter 28207 was stolen from Waterfield road.

Two men were arrested Saturday for siphoning gasoline from a car at 86 Bacon st.

Canal street was the scene of a flim-flam operation when two women asked to use the phone while a third party entered the house and apparently went to the upstairs bedroom, which they ransacked.

Parkhurst parents picnic in rain

A cold and rainy day did not dampen the spirits of those hearty parents and students who attended the Parkhurst Parents Association annual picnic recently. Families and friends gathered on the school playground on Saturday, October 2, although the weather forced most of them indoors for lunch. Doris Guarnotta was the picnic's chairman. Desserts were provided by the room mothers.

Following lunch, informal games and races were organized by Clare Keane, including a peanut hunt for the younger children, and sack races held in the auditorium, for children and parents. The highlight of the games was a three-legged race with Andrew A. Allan, principal, and Carol Mullin, president of the Parents Association, as partners.

CSA takes look at its goals

The Community School Association's second meeting of the year, presided by Margaret Carayannopoulos, with Principals Robert Fitzgerald, Lynch and Claire Corcoran, Vinson-Owen in attendance, zeroed in on the purposes and goals of C.S.A.

It was voted to poll all schools in future on important topics so that decision would show accurately parents' views.

It was also voted to review guidelines for selection and nomination of members of the schools' executive boards.

Ms. Georgia Glick of Lexington, as guest speaker, informed the group of Chapter 622, a Mass. state law against discrimination in schools because of race or sex.

Coming events

THE WINCHESTER STAR

Serving The Community For Over 95 Years

Spread The Word

Referendum Question 5 would require the state to buy up over 800,000 legally owned guns in Massachusetts. This would cost $100 to $300 million dollars and produce no long term public benefit. It could mean anywhere from $50 to $120 in new taxes for each Massachusetts taxpayer.

Question 5 will not take guns away from criminals, but will revoke firearms licenses now held for protection by doctors, druggists, bank guards, shopkeepers, off-duty policemen, armored car drivers, private detectives and others. It will also confiscate guns owned by pistol club members and sportsmen.

The drive for this referendum was started two years ago, supposedly as an attack on crime and violence. But there is overwhelming evidence to show that sociological factors have an affect far greater than gun laws on the crime rate from state to state, country to country.

Sheriff John Buckley, president of People vs. Handguns, has now conceded that the proposed law won't take guns away from criminals. However literature and press releases put out by his group continue to stress rising crime statistics as examples of need for gun confiscation. There is no correlation between the two and such examples are misleading.

The crime index and murder rate do not rise with the availability of handguns. They are instead related to urbanization, poverty, racial make-up of the community and conflicting interests in other areas of criminal activity.

Ohio, which has weak gun ownership laws, has a far lower murder rate than nearby Michigan and New York which have very strong gun laws. In recent years tougher and tougher laws on firearms ownership have been enacted in New Jersey and Illinois yet the crime and murder rate continues upward.

The same is true of Massachusetts. The already strict firearms laws have little effect on the crime rate because people who obey the laws are not criminals. Boston, with the lowest percentage of handgun ownership in the state, has the highest murder and crime rate. This, coupled with the estimates that less than one-tenth of one percent of licensed gun owners are involved in criminal misuse of firearms, reinforces the conclusions that gun availability and crime are not related.

Time after time more restrictive laws have little impact on the criminal. Anyone risking a long prison term for armed robbery isn't going to be deterred by an illegal firearms charge.

The Bartley-Fox mandatory year-in-jail law for unlicensed firearms possession has as its chief benefit the ability to remove an offender from society without having to prove other criminal intent. It is a good law, but it will be turned against average law-abiding citizens who neglect to turn in their guns.

The Massachusetts Joint Legislative Committee on Public Safety, in reporting adversely on Question 5, pointed out that of 224 Boston shooting deaths in the last four years, only three were committed with registered guns. Criminals just don't obey the gun laws. Massachusetts laws governing the purchase and possession of handguns have long been among the strongest in the U.S. To obtain a pistol license, a person must have a clear record, be interviewed by his local police chief, be fingerprinted, photographed and have a certified need for a firearms license.

Massachusetts law is very similar to New York's Sullivan Law which has been considered the country's most restrictive firearms law. With only 500 licensed private handguns in a city of eight million, New York has over 1,700 murders a year. In New York a person is twice as likely to be shot and more than four times as likely to be robbed with a handgun than in any other U.S. city.

New York is not an exception. Comparisons between strong gun law states and weak law states across the country show no correlation between gun availability and the crime rate. If 65 years of the strongest laws against firearms in the country haven't prevented New York City from having the top homicide and robbery rate, Massachusetts can't expect any better from Question 5.

If you vote for Question 5 you can be sure that voting right along with you will be every convicted felon and two bit hoodlum in Massachusetts. The guns they carry now are illegal, unlicensed and unregistered. Knowing that every drugstore, doctor's office and home in the Commonwealth has no firearms will only make their work easier.

Shakedowns at Walpole Prison and other jails continually produce guns from criminals behind bars. How can anyone believe that criminals on the outside will be denied a gun by Question 5.

Senator Edward Brooke, speaking on gun legislation last week, noted that 87 percent of the guns used in Massachusetts crime come from out of state. Question 5 would not stop this gun importation but would merely buy up legally owned guns at an enormous taxpayer expense.

This referendum will not only disarm potential victims who have a police certified need for protection, but will give further fuel to the existing black market in illegal firearms. It will make the criminal's job all the easier if he knows victims are unarmed and it will take guns away from sportsmen, Olympic and national team competitors.

Another misleading argument for Question 5 is the often quoted statistic that 70 percent or more of gun victims knew their assailant. But over half this total comes under the "other acquaintances" FBI heading which includes shootings in barrooms and taverns and much ghetto violence.

Actually, from 1968 to 1974, less than 16 percent of Massachusetts murders involved family members, and less than six percent resulted from lovers triangles. Of these murders only 35 percent were committed with handguns.

As for handgun accidents, Massachusetts averaged 4.8 per year from 1969 to 1974. The nationwide average for all firearms fatal accidents is 1.3 per 100,000 population, far less than fire deaths at 3.0 or falls at 8.1. In this state, handgun accident deaths were only .08 per 100,000 over the five year period.

The Joint Legislative Committee set the minimum cost of gun confiscation at $125 million "to adequately compensate the citizenry for private property appropriated to public use," under the Massachusetts Constitution. Additionally, it estimated a need for a "massive layer of additional bureaucracy" within the Public Safety Department to collect the guns.

Public Safety Commissioner John F. Kehoe says at least 800,000 guns are subject to the law. He stated federal Law Enforcement Assistance Administration (LEAA) funds will not be available for gun confiscation, although there was a false report to this effect in a Boston newspaper. The LEAA in Washington has confirmed that there are no funds and noted that a similar request two years ago by the City of Baltimore was also turned down.

Sheriff Buckley has made headlines saying he will recommend "not one cent" be paid for confiscated guns under Question 5 as he feels guns which are then illegal will have little value. Any reasonable person has to believe that no court would uphold state seizure of private property without just compensation. The ramifications of such a philosophy are repugnant.

Opponents of Question 5 say the cost could run as high as $300 million if holsters and other accessories made useless by the confiscation have to be purchased at fair market value too. But if the $125 million legislative estimate is correct, reimbursement costs alone will be more than 15 times what it costs to operate the entire state criminal court system.

At $125 million, Question 5 will cost six times the annual budget for the State Police, almost three times the budget for the prison system and probation department combined, and seven times the cost of the state legislature with all its committees, commissions, counsel and staff.

If crime control is the primary objective of Question 5, the $125 million price tag could pay for 200 new State Police detectives at $25,000 each per year for the next 25 years.

If saving lives through firearms accidents is the main goal, twice as many lives could be saved and millions of dollars in property damage reduced by a state-sponsored program to install over two million smoke detectors in every home and apartment dwelling in Massachusetts. That too would cost $125 million dollars.

Those who believe confiscating guns from licensed private citizens who have a protection need or a recreational use for them will have any positive effect on crime control are undoubtedly sincere, but are unquestionably uninformed.

Those who believe that more than $100 million tax dollars ought not be squandered on an emotional appeal already realize Massachusetts cannot afford Question 5. The need now is to spread the word.

The Jaycees and the Save the Park people got together recently to decide how they might work together to improve the landscaping of the old Wadleigh school site at the corner of Mt. Vernon and Washington streets. The result was the planting last Sunday of trees along the edge of the park. Assisting to put in the first tree are David Pywell, president of the Jaycees, John J. Sullivan, chairman of the board of selectmen, Carolyn Ward, leader of the Save the Park effort, and Representative Sherman W. Saltmarsh.

Thanks, Mr. Jenks

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

Please let me extend on behalf of all the senior citizens my heartfelt thanks and utmost appreciation for that generous contribution to the senior citizens building fund. It's with great pleasure to know that there are such nice persons as Mr. James J. Jenks, Jr. who have the welfare and good being of us folks at heart.

Would it not be wonderful if there were more people who would be so generous as you were. With that wonderful gesture on your part, I know we will accomplish our efforts to have a place where we can go to enjoy each other's company and pass the time of day. It all adds up to one thing: that we are our brothers keepers and may God bless Mr. Jenks and may he have a long and happy life.

Gun control

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

The Winchester Star, and particularly Mr. C. Peter Jorgensen are to be commended on the excellent coverage give Question 5, the "Ban the Hand Gun Bill," in the 2 articles that appeared on the front page of the Star on Oct. 7, 1976.

My first reaction to these articles was one of amazement and shock that a public official, presumably dedicated to the protection of the life and property of the people of Middlesex County, would propose that the State steal up to $300 million in personal property from honesty, law-abiding citizens. Even if loopholes in our State laws exist, this is morally wrong! Is there any real difference between a thief taking one's possessions with a gun or a government taking them with a law? Personally, I'd rather it be a thief, since then I

Metamorphosis

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

This is a follow-up to my two previous letters on the big fat green caterpillar, the larvae of the Cecropia moth which I found on the Common, heading for The Star office last Sept. 9. At that time he (or she, whichever) was in the prime of life, fully ⅝ of an inch through and 3½ or 4 inches long.

Well, you would not recognise him now; but if you look closely at the photograph which accompanies this letter, you will see an amorphous, fuzzy looking brown blurb on the side of the Mason jar. That blurb is a cocoon of silk within which our fat green friend has encapsulated himself as protection against the cold of winter.

He's in there all right, but I suspect that he is already very much changed in appearance. He is now undergoing the extremely complicated structural changes incidental to his eventual metamorphosis and emergence as an entirely different creature; instead of an ugly fat green slug, or caterpillar, able only to crawl clumsily along on a multiplicity of short, stubby legs and sticky feet, he will now be able to negotiate the ambient air with the greatest of ease. For a short time now, he can even hang around the bright lights and stay up all night with the boys!

(Come to think about it, I'd be willing to go to sleep for a couple of months myself if I could then manage to do what he does!)

I have borrowed this jar, ect., from Mrs. Sabin, science teacher at the new Lincoln school, where she used it to teach her fascinated little charges how a caterpillar goes about spinning its coccon. They were able to watch the process from day to day, through the transparent glass. I have promised to bring it back to her; but in the meantime, courtesy of Mrs. Roberts, I plan to leave it for a short while at the Winchester Library where it will be on display for all to see.

Clarence S. Borggaard

Clarence Borggaard's cecropia moth is all bottled up in this jar and awaits emergence at the biology department at the high school. (Star staff photo)

Town watch ...

The way statistics point

By The Observer

The finance committee voted to support the closing of a school Monday night, and by a 10-1 margin. School committee Chairlady Mary Pronski seemed just a little bit relieved that someone was reading the statistics, the dollar figures, and the rest of the town the way she was.

"Every bit of statistical information I've seen points that way," she said. "It's about time."

Oddly enough, noone seems to know just which side put the article on school closings into the town warrant; there's some uncertainty as to just what sort of motion will be presented when town meeting convenes in November. One thing is for sure: the Wyman parents will be there.

We received the following response to our complaint of Sept. 16 here: Your Town Watch column of September 16, "They Make Good Maps," has come to our attention. We appreciate your kind words — and your past public service in publishing timetable changes.

To remedy an oversight, for which we are sorry, enclosed are a couple of maps for your own use.

Now, says a member of our staff, if they could only tell us how to get to Winchester via MBTA from Harvard Square. . .

Fire Chief Robert W. McElhinney commended the men of the police department for their efforts at the Parker Lane Winn fire last Thursday.

He said that their traffic control enabled fire fighters from six communities to reach the fire itself and the fire houses with little problem.

Spectator traffic was kept to a minimum.

Officer Peter R. Morgan has transferred to the MDC police force after 12 years with the Winchester department.

Chief John P. McHugh says that Morgan has received recognition several times for his efforts on behalf of the town, but that he has chosen a new line of police work at this time.

Morgan, appointed permanent police officer on June 23, 1964, received above average grades at the State Police Academy.

He was especially commended for his apprehension on May 16, 1969 of an armed robbery suspect at the First National Store on Main st. Chief Joseph Derro issued him the meritorious service award.

Chief Edward Bowler commended him for his apprehension in another armed robbery, this one May 6, 1971 at Harvey's Roast Beef.

Chief McHugh and Town Manager Thomas J. Groux both wish him well as he completes his first week at the MDC training academy.

Law on leaves leaves no doubt

The Winchester Department of Public Works reminds residents that it is unlawful to "to place or caused to be placed any leaves upon a public way within the town," as stated in section 6, article III of the town's by-laws.

The municipal refuse collection complex on Swanton street has an area set aside for the disposal of leaves from private property. Leaves must be separated from other trash and removed from bags. Leaves collected will be composted and recycled to use as loam on town projects. Your cooperation is appreciated.

In the mood ...

A turn of the seasons

By Karen Whittlesey-First

Never mind if Winchester has an Indian summer next week. Fall is in the air.

Morning temperatures are 28 degrees outside the kitchen window where the last tomatoes make an effort to ripen just one more day.

The heat kicks on in the night even though the thermostat is set way down there at 50.

The leaves are crunching is the high schoolers down the street set off early for classes. The birds signal to each other that the bird feeder across the way is full of sunflower seeds and oranges.

There are certain annual occurrences which go along with the smell of imminent snow. The football games sound through town. Have you noticed when the weather is just right the cheers can be heard on the West Side?

A delightful annual ritual is the walk-through or drive-through for the less hearty into the Fells and around the town's three reservoirs.

It is stunning.

The Winchester Trails, a truly dedicated group that delights in the seasons of Winchester's wooded areas, prepared an informative handout to go along with last weekend's water and sewer board's tour. Just reading the sheet you can smell the pines and see the sun diamonds on the water.

"Your road will take you first through Winchester Fells parkland. Oak, maple, and sumac should be showing red leaf colors in this season, and hickory, birch and aspen yellow and gold. The ground is covered with bracken fern except where sun breaks into the forest; here you may find purple asters, goldenrod, and sweet fern. Occasional white pines provide evergreen contrast."

After leaving the outh reservoir, the Trails paper tells us, "you will pass on your left a grove of gold and brown sassafras and red maple leaf viburnum under oak trees."

Later on your left again (there's acres of water on your right) "is a grove of birches growing where there is sunlight through the forest canopy."

All that within a few minutes of Winchester center?

Don't let the fall season pass by without at least a small walk in the woods. The reservoir area is not open to the public except on open house weekend but there are numerous marked trails to follow.

Winchester is so lucky to have this natural resource. Enjoy it and when you've finished that hike, light the fire and roast some chestnuts. Let the kids make popcorn and talk together about that time we won the football game in the last two seconds of play.

It's pumpkin pie time again

BY ELIZABETH
Star Correspondent

Pumpkins are a colorful symbol of New England in the autumn. Piles of the bright orange gourds await purchase at roadside vegetable stands for later transformation into grinning jack-o-lanterns.

At the same time stocks of canned pumpkin begin to spill into the aisles in local supermarkets. Cooks are already planning for harvest gatherings and pumpkin pies for Thanksgiving.

The pumpkins was being grown extensively by the Indians in North America when the first colonists landed in this country. The Indians boiled and baked pumpkin, made it into soup, dried it and also ground it into meal.

The first New England pumpkin pie was made by cutting off a slice from the top of a pumpkin, taking out the seeds and filling the cavity with milk and spices. Maple Syrup or other sweetener was added and the whole was baked.

Americans have always loved pumpkin pie as witness the oft quoted line from Whittier: "What moistens the lip and what brightens the eye? What calls back the past, like the rich Pumpkin pie?"

This richly flavored pumpkin pie recipe is contained in the EnKa Society's collection of favorite recipes. Suzanne Reno has updated an old classic.

Sue's Pumpkin Pie

2 ½ cups canned pumpkin
2 cups scalded milk
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon ground cloves
2 tablespoons melted butter
4 tablespoons whiskey
1 2-3 cup sugar
4 eggs
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon ginger
1 tablespoon cornstarch
Prepared single pie crust

Beat eggs until very light. Add sugar and cornstarch. Slowly add hot milk, pumpkin and spices. Add butter and whiskey. Pour into uncooked pie shell. Bake at 450 degrees for 10 minutes. Then bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes until firm in the center.

Amanda Warren, of Thornberry rd. is a 12-year-old student at Lynch Junior High School. Her pumpkin bread rated a blue ribbon in the junior division of the Town Bake contest last spring.

Spicy Pumpkin Bread

2 cups sifted flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon each ground cinnamon, cloves, nutmeg
¼ teaspoon baking soda
1-3 cup shortening
1 cup brown sugar, packed
2 eggs
1 cup canned pumpkin
¼ cup milk
½ cup chopped walnuts

Sift together flour, baking powder, salt, cinnamon, cloves, nutmeg, and baking soda. Cream together shortening and brown sugar until light and fluffy. Add eggs one at a time, beating well after each addition. Beat in pumpkin and milk; blend well. Gradually beat in flour mixture. Stir in walnuts. Turn batter into a greased 9 x 5 x 3 inch loaf pan. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) 55 to 60 minutes or until bread tests done. Cool for 10 minutes. Remove from pan. Cool.

would have some chance of recovering my goods.

However, after careful study of the thoughtful, well written and documented articles, I realized that there must be considerable doubt regarding the credibiliby of Sheriff Buckley and the People vs Hand Guns organization. If he has been quoted correctly, Mr. Buckley, spokesman for People vs Hand Guns, has made numerous inaccuarte, if not downright untrue, statements concerning hand gun confiscation, eg:

1. The cost of confiscation all leagally owned hand guns (he did note that criminals and illegal gun owners would keep their weapons) would be "only about $40 to $50 million."

All of several other highly qualified experts, with realistic data, set the cost at between $125 and $300 million.

2. "The cost of confiscation would be picked up by the Federal government through funds from the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration."

LEAA and other cognizant authorities deny that such funds would be available, and point to Baltimore's unsuccessful attempt to ban hand guns and that city's inability to obtain LEAA funds for this purpose.

3. "There is no reason why kids in Winchester, Arlington, or Belmont should be walking around with hand guns. And that's a problem."

Law enforcement agents in all three of these communities disagree and have presented evidence that no such problem exists.

4. "The State is not obligated to reemburse owners for personal property that is confiscated, except real estate."

The Joint Commission On Public Safety disagrees, citing Article XLVIII of the State Constitution. The Joint Commission believes fair market value must be paid for confiscated guns.

There are only a few of the highly questionalbe statemnts made by Mr. Buckley but could serve to make one doubt any uproven statement he makes.

Mr. Buckley has, for instance, stated without a shred of supporting proof, that he does not believe that the one million-plus-or-minus hand guns posessed by off-duty police, on or off-duty security guards and private detectives, shop owners, sportsmen, and other legally licensed hang gun owners have any significant deterrent effect on armed robbery or other violent crimes - a view not shared by virtually every law enforcement organization in the state, including, as noted in The Star, the Mass. Selectmen's Association, the Mass. Chiefs of Police Ass., The State Police of Mass., Boston Police Patrolmen's Ass., Mass. Police Ass., and the Mass. Sheriff's Ass., all of whom are on record as opposed to Question 5.

A few years back, similar unproven statements were made regarding the deterrent effect of the death penalty for premeditated murder - a concept now being given considerable second thoughts.

Dare we find out that Mr. Buckley is wrong again - the hard way?

Thanks for trees

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

What would Winchester do without Mahoney's Rocky Ledge Nurseries? Their latest donations to the Town of Winchester are six trees planted this weekend to beautify the Park encompassing Mt. Vernon st. Myrtle st., Washington st.

Our thanks go to Mahoney's, the Jaycees and my neighbors Tom and Carolyn Ward and all those who contributed their time and talents to the conservation of this esthetic area.

Pleased

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

I am pleased at the wonderful pipeline investigative reporting of The Winchester Star. However, I feel the need that made the pipeline such an imminent threat should be completely explored. Woburn has had a thoughtful conservation commission that has recently done a fine preservation job of the Horn Pond area and also made nature trails and provisions to stop minibikes and drag racers from defiling this beautiful place.

Also, building on a tremendous scale has taken place in Woburn and the city councillors must continuously fight, often unsuccessfully, to prevent this development or that industrial park. The needs for water are horrendous for all this and the millions of gallons a day drawn off by industries there for generations, deplete the normal water supply. Woburn has been hurting for years. Another seven-year drought and I shudder to think of the consequenses to this city.

Remembering this, there are those in Winchester who would immediately tear down the Wyman School should it be voted out, not to mention the magnificent and historic Sanborn House and thereupon build housing developments (with more goods and services needed by the town and more teaching facilities needed etc. etc.) "Wall to wall" housing prevails in neighboring towns and so far Winchester has avoided the aspect of this frightening mess, with the exception of northern Main St.

Open space and the quality of life. People move to Winchester for this! Yet, the Sanborn House land (bought with federal funds) has provided generations a winter playground for sledders and beginning skiers. A housing development there? That the Wyman School should become a recreation area and a building to house the town archives more spaciously has been thought of, but not emphatically enough. If it did come to tearing down the Wyman, a park is needed here, just a place for the kids to play "kick the can" and for families to play informal ball games.

The goods and services needed for new development should prove far more costly to the taxpayer. Let us cherish our open spaces! The pipeline should teach us an open space lesson!

To the LWV

EDITOR OF THE STAR: AND
Dear League of Women Voters:

I have so admired you, over the years, that I was struck all in a heap by your backing of the confiscatory gun referendum. Can you, with all your political experience, fail to realize how un-American this putative law actually is?

I don't believe you've really not realized this; I can only infer that you're thinking with your emotions — about nasty guns —

Dear Ladies, and I'm old-fashioned enough to use that word — dear Ladies think before you vote on this referendum!!! Think what the Constitution says, not what some smart lawyer says it says. Think what confiscation of personal property by the state means in terms of precedents. (There won't be reimbursement to gun owners; too many millions of dollars are involved.)

Think what Big Brother may do next. Will kitchen knives be confiscated? They are just as lethal to have, around a domestic argument..(and neither guns nor knives are anywhere near as dangerous as bathtubs.) Once you let the state start confiscating, it will go right on confiscating! Paternalism is so seldom benign.

Think through any quasi-religious arguments on the topic, which may have been used to try to influence you. (And apply them equally to disarming bank guards and police.) Think why police chiefs have almost unanimously opposed this referendum.

Every element inimical to our way of life is for this referendum: The Mafia, the small-time crooks, the socialists, the communists, and the petty politician who doesn't care if it's un-American as long as it gets him votes. What in hell is the League of Women Voters doing in such company?

Please, Ladies, go the polls and vote no.

Youth sports

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

Winchester has a proud tradition of sports throughout the years. Except for school sports and the maintenance of playing fields, the town has not been associated with the various programs which involve the sports-inclined youngsters of Winchester. Dedicated volunteers have organized and conducted seasonal programs in which they have a devoted interest. These men not only teach and train boys to be proficient in sports, but also emphasize good sportsmanship which is so important in building character to form good citizens of the future.

Winchester Youth Hockey is made up of such men who volunteer their time and talents to help boys achieve proficiency in a wholesome competitive sport and have fun at the same time. Many of the directors and coaches are also dedicated volunteers in other seasonal sports as well.

Two programs constitute Winchester Youth Hockey. One is made up of traveling teams, so called, which the most talented boys are chosen after tryouts to compete in the American Hockey Association-regulated Middlesex League.

The advantages of playing under the strict A.H.A. rules are that the boys play at reasonable hours which do not interfere with school study and also play in their own age group. Rigid safety rules are enforced for the protection of all participants. Many of these teams are invited to play in tournaments against teams from other areas including Canadian teams which adds a little frosting to the life of any boy. These teams are now playing in league games at the Burlington Ice Palace.

Age groups from six to 16 make up these teams and must be residents of the town they represent. This rule prevents indiscriminate recruiting of players from other areas to represent Winchester or other Middlesex League towns.

Life Saver

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

Sooner or later Winchester's new Jaws of Life would be used to save a life.

The time was sooner for, at summer's end the fire department responded to an automobile accident on Winthrop street. Upon arrival Lt. William O'Leary found a car had pinned a dog against a tree. The Jaws of Life was used to separate the car from the tree, freeing the injured dog in a fraction of time that otherwise would have taken using other means.

September 13 saw the Hurst Tool used again as firefighters arrived at an automobile accident on South Border road near the Medford line. A sport car had left the road and turned over on its roof. Lt. Robert Swymer ordered Jaws used to turn the car upright in order to make sure no one was trapped inside.

★ Now is the time to think about how you and your family would escape if fire started where you live — especially a late-night fire when everyone was asleep.

★ Work out a home escape plan, and practice it now and a couple more times each year. Join your neighbors in operation EDITH.

★ For a good family escape plan, a handy signal to awaken everyone at the first sign of smoke, heat or flame — any suspicion of fire . . . Make sure each person has an alternate way out of his bedroom (such as a window) in case the usual exit is blocked by fire. . . Teach everyone to sleep with his bedroom door closed and, if fire is suspected, to feel the door for heat. If the door feels warm, don't open it; use the alternate exit to escape unharmed. . .And designate a meeting point well away from the house, so the family will be sure when everyone is out safely.

Suddenly, gone

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

Another friend gone who died so suddenly. Why must they die so horribly? Too many car accidents, too many deaths — when will it all stop? Tell me please!

We won't see him any more, but he'll see us, watch over us and guide us. Give it time and most people will forget him, but the ones that really loved him will always remember him. If living were anything that money could buy, you know that the rich would live and the poor would die.

A prayer — May you always walk in sunshine and God's love around you flow, for the happiness you gave us no one will ever know. It broke our hearts to lose you, but you did not go alone; a part of us went with you the day God called you home.

A million times we've needed you, a million times we've cried. If love could only have saved you, you never would have died.

Kevin, those we love go out of sight, but never out of mind. They are cherished in the hearts of those they leave behind. Some may forget you, now that you've gone, but we shall remember you no matter how long.

No one will ever know why!

Thanks Red Cross

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

I wish to thank the Winchester Red Cross Chapter for driving me many times to hospital and doctors' appointments. The drivers are so pleasant and cheerful they give my spirits a boost and I can better face whatever lies beyond the hospital door.

At the moment, the Winchester Red Cross Chapter urgently needs drivers. If you volunteer, you drive at your convenience, hopefully as much as your time allows.

Even a few hours a month means so much to the cancer, heart, and kidney patients and others who rely on the Red Cross.

You can help in a worthy effort by calling Mrs. Arthur A. Fowle today at the Winchester Red Cross Chapter House.

Lighting up

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

Well, I guess it's time to write another letter on the same subject — lighting up. Can't see it did much good when I wrote several years ago, even though the house breaks go on and on.

The other night I went to a committee meeting. It was barely a five minute walk from my home. I considered walking and then thought better of it. To have to drive such a short distance — isn't it awful and aggravating?

The subject of lighting came up, or rather, the lack of it. Someone commented that Winchester streets were considerably darker (fewer street lights) than our neighboring towns.

I mentioned my former letter and suggested a simple survey on the way home: Take a number of houses and see how many have their outside lights on. I did this on a fairly short street, but it was very simple. I counted fourteen houses in a row and not one had an outside light on!

Some time ago I asked a friend who worked for Boston Edison about the cost of electricity to run a porch light for about five hours. It amounted to, shall we say, peanuts.

Picture your own street with every outside light on, or every other. Then picture these same houses with the back porch lights on.

Don't you think this would discourage burglars?

Don't you think this costs practically nothing?

Don't you think this is an enormously easy thing to do?

Try it, please!

Wild goose chases

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

We were walking Bootsie when a big gray dog, who was not on a leash, started to run by us. My dog ran after her or him I got dragged after her!

I had to let go of the leash. Bootsie, me, and my friend Elisa had a wild goose chase. My name is Claire Corcoran. I am 7 years old. Please ask evrybody(sic) to keep their dogs on a lesh(sic) so children like me won't get hurt when I'm walking my dog. Thank you.

Not just buildings

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

In The Star of October 14, the chairman of the school committee, in referring to school closings, is quoted as having said, "We'd like to have the taxpayers not paying for brick and mortar but for education." One look at the school budget will demonstrate that the taxpayers are not paying much for brick and mortar. Of the over $8 million school budget, more than $6 million is allocated to personal services (salaries). The total "Other Expenses" budget, which includes programs, services to students and buildings, was under $2 million. Maintenance of school buildings, which will soon be transferred to the Department of Public Works, was allocated approximately only $500,000.

It is a matter of misplaced priorities when the school committee places its emphasis on reducing the already comparatively Low "Other Expenses" portion of the school budget. Reductions in this area will not make the total education budget more palatable to the town meeting as it reviews the even-increasing personal services budget.

I also feel that the "bricks and mortar" that comprise our school buildings are far too important to our town to be dealt with in such a unilateral fashion. Our elementary schools, in particular, are more than just buildings. They are:

— part of the history, tradition and small-town atmosphere that makes Winchester a desirable town to live and raise a family in — part of the real estate holdings of our town, the value of which can truly be determined if we weigh replacement costs in the millions against the minor savings achieved by divesting

— part of the insurance the town has as a buffer against student increase and subsequent increases in our funded debt which is still in the $10 million range and still includes Muraco, Vinson-Owen, Ambrose, McCall Renovations, Lynch Junior high school.

— part of the reason Winchester real estate values are considerably higher than many surrounding towns which have equally "good" schools but which are larger and do not qualify as neighborhood schools — part of the personal, comfortable, humanistic, more individualized beginning our small children are fortunate enough to have as their transition from home into the world.

— part of the reason I and many others chose to live here.

Winchester will be poorer and its taxpayers no richer if we accept the "bigger is better" approach to education. We have witnessed the depersonalization this concept has brought in business, government, housing and education. Locally, the small corner store has given way to the supermarket; the green spaces to apartments and developments; and the local businesses to the shopping mall.

Bigger is not better. . . it is only more efficient, much as tyranny is more efficient than democracy. It is also destructive of the quality of life. We must, therefore, reject it and preserve our small neighborhood schools if we are to preserve the character of our town and maintain it for future generations as those before us were wise and foresighted enough to do for us.

Joan M. Pelletier
TMM — District 3

Loneliness

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

Loneliness.

This human trait is world wide and of course few can be lonely in a crowd. What I am talking about is people who are confined in rest homes, etc.

Sometimes their folks do not go to see them for months. With the holidays coming on at least people can give a little by visiting their aged and those in hospitals who are not aged. People's attitudes today are me, myself, and I

Things are bad all over no matter what our president says. All you have to do is open your eyes or go up to Woburn and watch the poor souls standing in line for enough money to maintain life at the unemployment office.

Louise Chase

P.S. Think how these folks feel standing in line for hours in cold weather. Too bad.

The Shawmut Way NOW

How to make gold out of lead.
Grab a pencil and figure out how much the Shawmut Way NOW is worth to you.
No matter how you figure it, no other bank NOW offers more.
Example of yearly savings with the new Shawmut Way NOW. Figure out what you'll make.
1. 5% NOW checking account. $500 ANNUAL BALANCE — YOU SAVE $26.
A personal checking account which pays 5% annual interest, compounded continuously. Over a year, if you have an average daily balance of $1,000 (excluding interest earned during the year) and if you leave all the interest in your account to accumulate, you earn $52.00.
2. Fully personalized checks. CHARGE FOR 200 CHECKS — YOU SAVE $3.50
All the checks you need, at no extra charge. They're imprinted with your name and address and are sequentially numbered. Some "free" checking or NOW accounts charge for similar checks, as much as $3.50 for every 200. Figure out how much you'll save over a year.
3. Overdraft protection. FOUR CHECKS OVERDRAWN AT $5 — YOU SAVE $20.
This important feature eliminates the worry of "bounced" checks by loaning you the amount of the overdraft up to your available credit. Overdraw your account? Banks usually charge about $5 for each "bounced" check. What will you save a year with overdraft protection?
4. Preferred loan rates. $5,000 LOAN — YOU SAVE $8.52
You get a ½% reduction off the ANNUAL PERCENTAGE RATE normally charged by the bank on all approved personal instalment loans. Whatever reason for borrowing — home improvement, car, travel — figure on saving $8.52 a year on every $3,000 you borrow.
5. Traveler's checks. $1,000 IN TRAVELER'S CHECKS — YOU SAVE $10.
All you wish to purchase with no fee. That's a savings of $1 per $100 worth of checks. Take $500 on a trip and you save $5. It adds up. (Money orders and bank checks may be purchased at no fee.)
6. "One time only" bonus. OPEN AUTOMATIC SAVINGS ACCOUNT — BONUS $5.
Your Shawmut bank will deposit $1 for you in a regular savings account or will deposit an additional $4 when you first authorize an automatic transfer of $10 or more a month from your NOW account to your savings account.
Plus.
You have the benefit of one-stop banking and your Shawmut Way card helps you cash your Shawmut personal check up to $100 per day at over 120 offices of the 8 Shawmut banks. Figure out these savings in time and aggravation.
Add up your savings: $73.02
Now let us show you how little the new Shawmut Way NOW package can cost you.

As long as you keep an average daily balance in your NOW account of:	Your monthly service fee is:
$1,000 and over	Free
$500 to $999.99	$1
Less than $500	$2

Less service charges: $12.00
(Transferring some money from your Shawmut savings to your NOW account at no loss of interest is one way to build up your average daily balance.)
*Each loan is subject to finance charges at our regular rates.
Based on a $3,000 loan payable in 36 equal monthly payments of $98.21 each at an ANNUAL PERCENTAGE RATE of 11.00%. Total of payments $3,535.56.
Net savings: $61.02
Whether you have a NOW account or not, why not compare what you get from your bank with what you can get from the new Shawmut Way NOW package. It's the best banking value in the state. But figure it out for yourself, then come in and apply for your own Shawmut Way NOW package.

Soccer team chalks up two victories and a tie

Coach Gene Bouley's soccer team had a good week as they ran their season's record to 4-5-2 by beating Woburn and Melrose and playing a scoreless deadlock with the Stoneham Spartans.

The Tanners came here on the holiday morning and Winchester came out on top by 4-1. This ended the eight game streak of one goal games for the Sachems.

They took a quick one-goal lead against Woburn as Co-captain Paul Austin headed in a corner kick by Co-captain Mark Nelson. Austin made the second goal also as he tipped in a throw by John Roche. Woburn also netted one to make the half time score 2-1.

It remained the same through the third period but early in the final quarter Mark McGoldrick broke down the left side of the field on a pass from George Casey to give Winchester a commanding lead of 3-1. Casey picked up another assist as Co-captain Austin tallied his third goal on a cross to make the final count Winchester 4, Woburn 1.

The Sachems tallied one goal in each of the three final periods as they avenged their early season setback at the hands of the Melrose Red Raiders. The first goal came on a pass from George Casey to Co-captain Paul Austin, while the others were by Co-captain Mark Nelson with Austin getting assists on both.

The defense played very well to shut out the visitors. Fullback Mark Mulvaney, John Roche and Tom Shirley did an excellent job and John Waite in the goal made some exceptional saves. The outstanding one was on a Melrose penalty shot which he kept out of the nets.

The Stoneham game found the Sachems controlling the midfield section as it has in the last four games with excellent work on the part of Mark McGoldrick, George Casey, Chris Hall and Willie Strazzullo. The defense also did its part well as they turned aside ten Spartan scoring attempts.

However, the forward line had problems although they outshot the opposition by 18-10. Some excellent play by the Stoneham fullback broke up the many scoring attempts of Austin, Nelson, Seth Goodman and Jackie Driscoll. From the action it looked like Winchester's game but the result was a frustrating scoreless tie.

Girls swim team sunk by Haverhill

The Winchester girls swim team was defeated last Thursday by the Haverhill girls 96 to 76. Winchester dominated for the better part of the meet, but Haverhill saved their strength for the last events, and obtained victory.

The first event, the 200 yd. medley relay, saw Winchester taking a first, with the relay of Kathy Conley (back), Bitser Dexter (breast), Carol Minutoli (fly), and Laurie Grant (free), (2:05.8). The second relay of Stephanie Nichols (back), Mary Ellen Kennedy (breast), Paula Hennelly (fly), and Lisa MacDonald (free) (2:11.9) was disqualified because of false starts, and the third Sachem relay of Karen Vrotsos (back), Lynn Foden (breast), Dotty Dobbins (fly), and Beth Burns (free), placed sixth (2:34.1).

Carol Minutoli was the victor in the 200 yd. freestyle, with a time of 2:08.0. Susan Stackpole placed fourth (2:29.2), and Kathy Kerrigan placed sixth (2:36.6). The 500 yd. freestyle event saw Haverhill coming out on top, and Susan Stackpole, eclipsing 12 seconds off of last week's time, placed second, (6:52.4). Kathy Kerrigan placed fourth (7:37.0), and Dotty Dobbins placed sixth with a time of 8:37.4.

In one of the more exciting races of the day, Laurie Grant placed second in the 200 Individual Medley, .04 seconds behind the Haverhill swimmer, with the time of 2:26.3. Bitser Dexter placed third (2:44.3), and Carol McCarthy placed fifth (2:47.1).

The 50 yd. freestyle saw Kathy Conley taking first place, (28.5) Lisa MacDonald placing third (29.2), and Jennifer Karp placing fifth (30.3). The 100 yd. freestyle was won by Laurie Grant (59.7), Jennifer Karp placed fifth, (1:09.5), and Terry Burns took sixth place (1:11.8).

Haverhill took a sweep in the diving, with Gaye Pollino placing fourth, .05 points behind the third place diver. Stephanie Ruta placed fifth, and Ada placed sixth.

Carol Minutoli took first in the 100 yd. Butterfly event (1:07.4), with Carol McCarthy placing third (1:12.4), and Paula Hennelly placed fourth. (1:23.5).

In the 100 yd. backstroke event, Kathy Conley placed second with the time of 1:17.5. Stephanie Nichols took fourth (1:20.2), and Karen Vrotsos placed sixth (1:25.5).

The 100 yd. breastroke saw Haverhill taking first, with Bitser Dexter placing second (1:14.5), and Mary Ellen Kennedy placed fourth (1:21.3), and Sue Surrette placed sixth (1:26.7).

Haverhill took first and second in the 400 yd. freestyle relay, with the Sachem relay of Lisa MacDonald, Carol McCarthy, Jennifer Karp, and Susan Stackpole placing third, and the relays of Kathy Kerrigan, Paula Hennelly, Karen Vrotsos, and Terry Burns, and Lynn Foden, Maureen Lehane, Donna Hart, and Patty Reidy placed fourth and sixth respectively.

Little League's directors to meet

Little League Board of Directors are reminded that their annual meeting will be held on Wednesday, Oct. 27, (not 22), at 7:30 p.m., at the Winchester Lodge of Elks. Since the 1977 League Officers will be elected and By-Laws revisions acted upon, it is imperative that all members who possibibly can be present.

Youth hockey prepares for another season on the ice

Plans are now being formulated for the Sunday morning House Program of Winchester Youth Hockey in which all boys regardless of their skating or hockey skills will be invited.

This program actually started back in the fifties when fathers were teaching their sons to skate out on the ponds and Winchester Youth Hockey was formed to bring them into the M.D.C. rink to better regulate the games the boys wanted to play.

The program expanded as more and more boys showed interest and parents realized that this was an excellent opportunity for their boys to learn to skate properly and under safer conditions.

Now the program is conducted in the indoor rink off Cross st. on Sunday mornings where conditions are most favorable to teach skating to those who are just beginners and to help improve those who enjoy participating in a popular winter sport. Unlike other seasonal sports, weather conditions are not a factor which results in a longer season for the boys in which they play every week.

When the plans are finalized there will be an announcement in The Star and posters will be in various stores throughout town giving pertinent information on the program. The boys will be separated by age and ability and all between ages six and 16 are welcome.

Volunteer senior instructors are encouraged to join the program as Winchester Youth Hockey is a community service run by and for the residents of Winchester. There will be two sections consisting of instructional and scheduled league play. The program will be organized by former Bruin star Eddie Sandford, 18 Clearwater rd. and Kevin Nolan, 121 Sylvester st., who can provide additional information.

Muraco Fair this Saturday

The Muraco School enrichment committee is once again holding its own "Fun Fair" at the school gym on Saturday from 11 until 2.

There will be a wide variety of games, with a guaranteed prize for everyone who plays.

Doughnuts and coffee will be available for the early birds, and lunch will be available for all.

Mites open season with 2-1 victory

The Winchester Mites began their 1976-1977 season with a win over Woburn 2-1 at the Burlington Ice Palace.

The Winchester team was led by two goals by Petey Regan. The first goal was scored on a follow-up of a 15-foot wrist shot that was saved by the Woburn goalie but the puck laid at the goal mouth and was knocked home. Winchester's second goal came late in the game on a 20-foot wrist shot that found the upper left corner of the Woburn goal.

Winchester was kept in the game by superior goal-tending by Jim Chute and Kevin Boyle.

The score might have been higher had it not been for outstanding goal-tending by the Woburn goalie who stopped many breakaways by Winchester's Brian Griffin, Derek Binding, Cort Pomeroy and George Nowell.

The Mites are trying for a successful season after winning the Spring League and not losing any of their pre-season games.

Lynch team wins over McCall, 1-0

Coach Mary Boghigian's Lynch field hockey team handed the McCall Spartanettes their first defeat of the season last week as they edged their arch rivals 1-0. The game was played on a bright, crisp afternoon with both teams playing well. The only goal was scored by left inner forward Christine Driscoll. McCall's team was strong on attack but Jeanne Cresse held them off by some fine work in the Lynch goal.

Playing at Melrose earlier in the week the Lynch girls dominated on attack but the home team's defense was airtight and the game ended scoreless.

The Lynch record is now 2-1-2 with four games left on the schedule. Their last home game is tomorrow afternoon with Watertown East and they conclude the season by playing at Stoneham next Monday, at Clarke of Lexington on Wednesday and Thursday Nov. 4 at Watertown West.

Old Bruins in charity game

Former Bruins players and the Woburn All-Star team will play a Hockey game Friday, Nov. 12, at O'Brien Rink at Joyce Junior High School, Woburn, all in the name of charity.

A large committee is being formed headed by Mrs. Avis Mello of Chelmsford, to plan special features for the event which will be sponsored by the Chaplaincy Committee of the Volunteers Association of the New England Rehabilitation Hospital, Woburn.

V-O bowling

This week the Dandelions took six points from the Mums. Rosemarie Vita bowled a 279 for the Dandelions and Myrna Cave bowled a 262 for the Mums.

The Sweet Peas won six points from the Daiseys. Bowling a 298 for the Sweet Peas was Ann Pierce and bowling high for the Daiseys was Ann Redmond with a 264.

The Irises took six points from the Poppies with Jean Day bowling a 269 for the Irises and Judy Johnson also bowling a 269 for the Poppies.

High single games this week were bowled by Ann Pierce - 114, 101; Ann Redmond - 111; Barbara Raucci 100; Bea Beck - 106 and Rosemarie Vita - 103.

Strikers this week were Ann Pierce, Barbara Raucci, Peg DiBlase, Judy Johnson and Barbara Ashley.

Early Birds

The Starlings and the Sparrows of the Winchester Early Birds Bowling League are tied for first place. The high team single game of 451 was captured by the sparrows whose team members are MaryJane Brooks, Ilene White and Delia DiMarzo. The Starlings team members are Lorraine Staniewicz, Marie Palumbo and Pat Nicoletti.

The high team series of 1146 was earned by the Orioles whose team members are MaryLou Chebook, Diana Coutoure and Jean Graves.

The high individual series of 463 was bowled by Rose Bezjian captain of the Pheasants team.

Bowler of the day was Ilene White of the Sparrows team who bowled the high individual game of 186.

New Bowlers are most welcome and should contact Rosemarie Vita of 19 Cox rd. Free babysitting is provided.

Lexington is victor

Sachems' power drive falls short 19-14

By John F. Parrell

In a football game that may well have been lost in the pre-game warmups, Coach Manny Marshall's Winchester eleven fell before the Lexington Minutemen by a score of 19-14. When the home team chalked up its third touchdown and 19th point at the very start of the final quarter the game seemed far out of reach for the Sachems.

However, they did not roll over and play dead, but staged a gallant uphill fight which nearly ended in a victory. When one considers the fact that Winchester had one of its most productive offensive games in years it becomes evident that they were by no means outclassed.

The final figures showed that the Red and Black amassed a grand total of some 376 yards and accumulated no less than 16 first downs. But four of Coach Billy Tighe's operatives spelled the difference, Co-captain and signal caller Tom Meyer, punter Bob Tillinghast, light but aggressive Matt Powers and diminutive Chris Agresti led the Lexington team throughout the game. The rangy Meyer threw long aerials with surprising accuracy, ran ten yards for a score and also played well on defense. The punting of Tillinghast was a constant salvation as he booted several long left footed punts to relieve the pressure. Powers was in the midst of nearly every play on defense and also made a key fumble recovery.

As for Agresti the 135 pound veteran ran well, caught passes, played defense and was a constant thorn in Winchester's side all afternoon. He is a good football player and a top flight in baseball besides.

It was a day for small running backs as the Sachems were led on the ground by Mike Cavaretta who also tips the scale at 135. He ran hard every time he was given the ball and just missed a key first down at the very end by less than a foot after a twisting run through a broken field. If the Sachems had made that one they might have been able to go on although the clock had run down to only a matter of seconds.

Just how could a game possibly be lost before it even started? The Winchester team was going through the usual routine of loosening up and a pass was thrown to Fred Jones. The basketball co-captain caught it and fell to the ground landing on the ball. He suffered a painful injury on his right side near the hip which was variously classified as a severe bruise or a hip pointer. He was unable to play at all and this did much to shatter the sureness of the Sachem pass defense. Fred plays safety and besides being a sure tackler he also has the ability to jump and catch the ball from his experience on the basketball court.

Brian O'Connor made the kickoff and it was brought out to the 24. The Minutemen found the going hard and on fourth down Tillinghast booted to Bill Murphy at the Winchester 29. Winchester's attack was also stopped and O'Connor's punt carried to the Lexington 40. Once again Lexington could not make a first down and Bill Murphy brought the punt out to his own 26.

A pass interference penalty was called at the Winchester 35 and Tony Macinanti went for a first down at the Minuteman 45 where he was finally corralled by Matt Powers. But this was the farthest they could move and Brian O'Connor got off a fine punt that bounced at the home team's five yard line. It went high and with two Sachems right with it, it seemed to be impossible that one of them could fail to get it on the bounce and put the Minutemen in a deep hole inside their own five yard line. But touch it, they didn't, and Lexington took over at the 20.

The running game of the Blue and Gold was stalled once again by the Red and Black and the punt went out to the Winchester 46 where Bill Murphy called for a fair catch and smothered the pigskin. A pitchout to Mike Cavaretta picked up a first down for the Sachems at the Lexington 43. Tom Murray added another to the Lexington 30 as the quarter ended with no score and the Minutemen still without a single first down.

But as soon as the teams changed ends things happened fast. Meyer now had the wind and he wasted no time taking to the air. The Winchester attack missed a first down by inches and the pigskin went to the home team at its own 21. A long pass to Chris Agresti brought the ball to the Winchester 35. Then came one to Steve Raia and on the next Chris Agresti brought the ball across the goal for six points. Meyer made it seven with a high placement barely inside the right post. The 80 yard scoring drive was completed in just about one minute.

Cavaretta brought the kickoff out to the 25 and Winchester held the ball for nearly seven minutes as they put together three first downs and were then apparently halted on an interception. However, the home team was offside and Don Allard hit Cavaretta for a first down at the five. A Sachem fumble was recovered by the carrier, but once gain the ball broke loose and Lexington took the ball at the three with only two minutes left until the half.

Meyer broke through for a first down at the 14 and then came one of the special plays of the resourceful Billy Tighe. After a triple ball handling the ball went to Meyer who heaved long and deep to Bob Tillinghast deep in Winchester territory. Then came one to Raia and a first down by Doug Meadows at the Sachem ten. Co-captain Meyer then spurted through the Winchester defenders for the second touchdown. The point was missed and at half time the score board read Lexington 13, Winchester 0.

Play was rather even throughout the third quarter but a very short punt kept Winchester in trouble and as the period drew to a close Meyer moved through the air for a completion to Raia and a first down at the 25. The first play of the final period saw a neat pass to Chris Agresti for another Lexington six pointer and Winchester trailed by 19-0.

Some of the Red and Black supporters left the game to avoid getting into a traffic jam since they felt that all hope was lost. But, the Sachems had not quit and they went right to work with Don Allard at the helm. They moved deep into Lexington territory and a pass from Allard to Bill McLean in less than two minutes. Tony Macinanti's rush for the two points was stopped short.

As percentage dictated, Brian O'Connor tried a short kickoff and the befuddled Minutemen failed to get it as Bill Murphy pounced on the loose ball for Winchester. Bob Blasi caught a pass for a first down at the home team's 32. A few plays later he made a diving catch for a Sachem first down at the seven. Mike Cavaretta added five and Don Allard went over for the score with 3:38 showing on the clock. A pass to Bill McLean added the two point conversion and it was now Winchester only six points behind.

The thoroughly disorganized Minutemen now were in danger of losing a game they thought was well in the bag only five minutes earlier. Brian O'Connor made another short kickoff which ended up under a white Winchester jersey but one of the Sachems was offside by a step. He then boomed one into the end zone which Lexington took out to the 20 as the clock kept moving.

The Sachems had still another chance but this one also died by being one foot short of a first down and the tired Minutemen breathed a sign of relief as the final whistle sounded. They had been in command for better than two full periods but most of this had been accomplished through the air because the Winchester ground defense had dominated during the entire game. However, the failure to break up the long boms of co-captain Meyer had given Lexington enough points to counteract the last quarter heroics of the scrappy Sachems.

The game this Saturday will be at Knowlton Stadium with kickoff at 1:30. Belmont will furnish the opposition and Winchester is certainly due to break into the victory column.

Mrs. Karen Leland

Karen Schaeffer weds David Leland

Karen Ann Schaeffer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis R. Schaeffer of Pittsford, NY, was married on October 9 to David Gardner Leland, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alan Leland of 17 Indian Hill rd.

The ceremony took place at St. Louis Church, Pittsford, with Father John Reddinton officiating. A reception followed at the Monroe Golf Club.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a Priscilla gown of ivory lace over white duchess satin. Long stemmed trum sleeves and a chapel length train completed the gown. The headpiece was a candlelight juliet cap covered with re-embroidered alencon lac and seed pearls. Attached was a long chapel length chiffon veil. She carried white roses and baby's breath.

Betsy Bellows of Suffield, Conn. was maid of honor. She wore a deep purple polyester gown and carried a bouquet of lavender pompoms, statice, and baby's breath.

Bridesmaids, dressed similarly to Miss Bellow were Nancy Leland, the groom's sister, 17 Indian Hill rd., Mrs. Glenn Cole of Pittsford, and Mrs. Bruce Kupper of St. Louis.

Alan C. Leland, Jr. was best man for his brother. Ushers were Roger Schaeffer of St. Paul, the bride's brother, Jay McGoldrick of 15 Cabot st., and David Ellis of Wethersfield, Conn.

The bride's mother wore a coral gown and pink sweetheart roses. The groom's mother wore a copen blue gown with yellow sweetheart roses.

The bride is a 1976 graduate of Bates College. Her husband, also a 1976 Bates graduate, was with the class of 1972 at Winchester High School. He is employed by Armstrong Cork Company.

The couple will be making their home in Baldwinsville, NY.

Marabellas celebrate 60th wedding at big celebration

A festive atmosphere permeated the Sons of Italy Hall recently to celebrate the 60th wedding anniversary for Anthony and Rose (Morano) Marabella of 53 Oak st.

Hundreds of friends crowded into the beautifully decorated hall for the occasion which was to see all of the couple's children present for the great day in the life of their mother and father.

Anthony Marabella and Rose Morano were married at the Sacred Heart Church in Boston's North End on September 24, 1916.

Joining the couple for the celebration were their children: Mrs. I. Francis Amico of Winchester; Mrs. Betty Karis of Winchester; Mrs. Grace DelSolio of Winchester; Mrs. Anne DiSessa of Winchester; Mrs. Robert Price of Gales Ferry, Conn.; Frank Marabella of Bridgeville, Delaware; Dominic Marabella of Underhill, Vermont and Richard Marabella of Winchester.

Several of the couples ten great-grandchildren and 23 grandchildren were present for the outstanding tribute.

Mrs. Marabella has been active in the affairs of the community as the first president of the Ladies Columbus Club of Winchester as well as an active member of the St. Mary's Sodality.

Anthony Marabella, who has continued to work to this day, has also been active in a number of organizations including the Christopher Columbus Club.

For years Mr. Marabella worked for the Gentile Cement Block firm in Woburn where he gained a host of friends and admirers for his craftsman abilities at his trade. He later worked for many years for the J. O. Whitten Company in Winchester.

The festivities of the evening were highlighted by several brief comments from members of the family who expressed gratitude for the years they had been allowed to enjoy their fine parents.

The admiration for the Marabella's included an outpouring of relatives, friends and neighbors who gathered at the Sons of Italy Hall for the evening of enjoyment, fine dining and tribute.

Drury Lane Fair set at Epiphany

Bundles from Britain will be in Winchester on October 27 and 28 when the Women of Epiphany hold their annual church fair. This year's event, the Drury Lane Fair, promises all visitors a walking tour of the streets and shops of London and Great Britain — all within Epiphany's parish halls.

Fair chairman, Mrs. Stuart Carswell, and her co-chairman, Mrs. Walter Taber, are both British subjects although both are long-time Winchester residents. They can vouch for the authenticity of the many British souveniers to be featured, Mrs. Carswell having brought back several items herself on her return from her summer's visit with her family in England.

The fair will open for shopping at 5:30 Wednesday evening. Visitors holding reservations may attend the gala Henry VIII Banquet at 6 p.m. and enjoy roast beef and all the trimmings as prepared by Chef and Royal Purveyor Robert Durland.

Visitors may proceed to Petticoat Lane with its open market and nearly new household items, to the Welsh Pantry for goods baked from authentic British recipes, and to the Shamrock Shop for gifts — all duty free of course. Covent Garden and its plants, the Burlington Arcade for jewelry, Scotch House woolens, and Olde Curiosity Shop books are part of the tour as are visits to Brighton Rock for minerals and the Sheffield Shop for Special cutlery.

Children will enjoy Mary Poppins Nursery and a visit to Carnaby Street for special activities.

Especially featured among the many handcrafted items at the fair are several handmade quilts. Varied in size and pattern, they will be available at the booth on "Threadneedle Street."

All booths will again be open on Thursday, October 28, from 9:30 - 4:30. Specialties of the day include Muffin House Coffee at 10 a.m., the Tudor Inn for a Turkey Salad Roll Luncheon from 12 - 1:30, and a real English Tea at Nell Gwynne's Tearoom starting at 3 p.m.

The public is most welcome at the Drury Lane Fair. Reservations for Wednesday's Henry VIII Banquets must be made by October 24 by contacting Mrs. Richard B. Dutton.

Burt-Saraco wedding

Judith Burt, daughter of Louise Burt of Winchester was married on October 10 in New Fairfield, CT., to William Saraco, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael D. Saraco, 34 Farrow st. The groom's father is director of public health in Winchester.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's sister following the afternoon service at the Congregational Church in New Fairfield. John A. Collins, Jr., brother-in-law of the bride, gave her in marriage.

The bride wore a full length empire A-line gown of white qiana, fashioned with a high neckline and long slender sleeves. Re-embroidered alencon lace covered the front of the bodice and high neckline and encircled the wrists. The attached train fell from the back of the gown. She wore a picture hat covered with veiling and edged in matching alencon lace, with short veiling of silk illusion.

Matron of honor for her sister was Jacquelyn Collins of New Fairfield. She wore a rust colored hooded coat and dress ensemble. The sleeveless dress was fashioned with a high neckline, empire waist and straight skirt.

Elizabeth Collins of New Fairfield was the flower girl. She wore a full length dress of apricot organza, fashioned with long puffy sleeves, a high ruffled neck, and hooped skirt, which was finished off with a wide ruffle. Ruffles also enhanced the bodice and encircled the wrists. Her headpiece was a picture hat in matching color and fabric.

The bride's niece, Kimberly Burt, of Marblehead, attended as the bridesmaid. She wore a full length empire A-line sleeveless gown of apricot color. Over it she wore a short hooded jacket with long sleeves of rust color.

Michael Saraco, Jr., of Winchester, was his brother's best man. The groom's nephews, Michael Walsh and Steven Walsh, both of Burlington, served as ushers.

The bride is a graduate of Danbury High School and of Danbury Hospital, where she became a board certified operating room technician. She is presently employed at the Choate Memorial Hospital.

Her husband, a 1968 graduate of Winchester High School, attended North Shore Community College while working for Pastene and Company. He joined the Winchester police force in January of 1974.

Following a wedding trip to South Carolina, the couple will be making their home in Winchester.

Haunted House at Camp Joy October 26-31

The Winchester Jaycee's are sponsoring their annual Hallow'een week Haunted House each evening from Tuesday, October 26 through Sunday, October 31 from 6-8:30 p.m. at Camp Joy on South Border road. Matinees will be held Saturday and Sunday afternoons at 2-4.

Last year over 5000 persons were horrifyingly entertained. The Jaycees claim this year's will be "our biggest and best yet."

Quota Club sponsor of Mishawum group

A musical treat is in store for those attending the Mishawum Choral Society Concert on Sunday, October 31. The Quota Club of Winchester is presenting this group and those who have attended this annual event the last two years know the quality and variety of the music that will be sung.

There is additional Winchester interest in the fact that the conductor is Wendell Withington, former director of school music in the public schools of this town.

The concert is to be held in Gifford Hall of the Crawford Memorial United Methodist Church at 3 p.m. Tickets are available from Quota members, Henderson Stationery Store, and Winslow Potpourri and will be sold at the door.

BANTAM DIVISION

An exciting weekend of play showed how difficult it is to maintain a consistent game week after week. The mighty undefeated Warriors fell to a fighting Eagle team, and the high-scoring Patriots who have averaged five goals a game lost to the Cardinals in the Senior Division. Both teams are still on top but are being threatened.

The Shamrocks took two games over the weekend to end up in second place by defeating the Celtics and the Knights in two close and hard fought games. John Ulwick and Jim Barger did the scoring. Adam Goodman provided the glue to hold the defense together. This game had no penalties and was marked by good sportsmanship.

Senior	W	T	L	GF	GA	Pts
Patriots	5	0	1	29	11	10
Cardinals	4	0	2	26	17	8
76'ers	4	0	2	19	15	8
Astros	2	1	3	16	22	5
Rangers	1	1	4	3	15	3
Bucks	1	0	5	8	20	2

Junior	W	T	L	GF	GA	Pts
Warriors	5	0	1	17	8	10
Shamrocks	4	1	1	20	10	9
Celtics	4	1	1	22	14	9
Eagles	3	1	2	15	15	7
Panthers	3	0	3	18	19	6
Tigers	2	0	4	9	15	4
Knights	1	0	5	14	22	2
Minutemen	0	1	5	8	20	1

Next week the Warriors will be playing the Celtics in a game that may be deciding the championship of the Junior League while the Shamrocks will be playing the Tigers and trying to continue their winning streak.

In the Senior League the Cardinals will be playing the Bucks while the Patriots will be playing the Rangers.

It is a pleasure to see how team play developes during the fall weeks, and how the teams shape up and we can look forward to many good soccer players being trained for our high school teams of the next few years.

PEE WEE SOCCER STANDINGS
(Mid-season)

Team	W	L	T	Pts.
Red	5	0	0	10
Orange	4	1	0	8
Lt Blue	2	2	1	5
Dk Blue	2	3	0	4

Dk Grn	2	2	0	4
Grey	2	1	0	4
Maroon	1	3	1	3
Gold	1	2	0	2

Results of Oct. 16 and 17 make-up games:

Light Blue split with a 2-1 win over Dark Blue, goals by McKnight and Laats; and a loss to Dark Green 4-1, Skahan scoring on a corner kick.

Maroon entered the win column defeating Black 2-1, goals by Thomas; but lost 2-0 to Grey.

Orange kept its win machine rolling, 7-2 over Black, goals by Livingstone, Herlihy, Feldman, Green, Driscoll; and a 4-2 win over Gold; goals by Herlihy and Livingstone.

Rowdies continued their offensive domination by defeating Light Green and Dark Green by identical scores 7-0; scoring evenly distributed among eight different players.

Pee Wee AAs open season with win

The Winchester Pee-Wee AA hockey team opened their season in impressive style shutting out arch-rival Woburn 3-0 in a solid effort featuring excellent team play.

Tony Celli scored first for the Hawks at the 28 second mark with a strong wrist shot from in front after a good set up from Paul White and Steve Marino.

Winchester kept the pressure on; dominating the play in early first period action. At 4:06, Ned White made it 2-0 converting a Tom Sullivan rebound from a crowd in front of the Woburn cage.

Both teams played evenly during the second and third periods which featured good back-checking and defensive work by both teams. Goalies Pat Falla and David Boyle were sharp; making excellent glove saves in registering a well deserved shut-out.

Tom Sullivan closed out the scoring with less than 4 minutes remaining in the game. Controlling the play behind the Woburn net, Tom circled the cage and put home a good backhand shot to seal the Winchester victory.

Up front, centers Chris Parker and Steve Tucci were excellent with their consistent two-way play. Forwards Curt Lawson, Mike Griffin and Coley Wilson turned in good heads-up performances.

Defensively, the Hawks were equal to the task, repeatedly bottling up the Woburn forwards. Steve Marino and Mike Gorrasi were standouts with their aggressive play while Paul Tucci Eric Donaghey, Bill Eaton and Andy Guleserian were effective in controlling the action in the Woburn end.

The Hawks, comprised of boys aged 11 and 12 represent Winchester in Middlesex League play. Coaches John Falla and Dave Boyle plan scrimmages this week against Lexington and Reading to prepare the Hawks for their next league game against Waltham.

McCall field hockey team is undefeated

The McCall Field Hockey team coached by Janet Keefe remains undefeated after 5 games. They have been scored against once since the season started.

Standouts in the offensive line includes co-captains Veronica Karp and Gail Oram, Pam McIntosh, Alice Greene, Theresa DeConto, Laura Cunningham, Amy Fitzgerald. Making up the almost impenetrable defense are halfbacks Lee Kimball, Barbara Jacobs, Caroline Twomey, Leslie Koplow. The full-backs are Susan Fitzgerald, Kathy Welch and Julia Gittleman - Goalies Robin Hill and Elaine Pigott.

Adding both offensive and defensive strength to the team are Kathy Looney, Laurie Farrell, Paula Deskin and Jane Kent. Managers of the team include Lisa Dantes, Julie Maher and Lisa Jackson.

In games thus far played, McCall has defeated the following teams:

Stoneham	1 - 0
Melrose	2 - 0
Lynch	2 - 0

East Watertown	1 - 0

The remaining schedule:
Muzzey, Oct. 21, Thursday, 3:30 at home.
Watertown West, Oct. 26, Tuesday, 3:30 at home.
Muzzey, Nov. 1, Monday , 3:30 at Lexington.

Merchant spares seniors' costs to benefit new center

The Winchester Seniors weekly bowling league got a pleasant surprise when they assembled for the first session of the season Friday at the Winchester Bowladrome, off Swanton street.

Joseph DiCarlo, owner of the bowladrome, donated the entire first days' receipts from the league to the seniors' building fund. The seniors thanked and applauded DiCarlo for his generosity.

The league still has a few openings for senior bowlers. Newcomers should drop in Friday mornings at 10 and join a team. Contact Norm Reed, 3 Shorehill dr., this year's league chairman.

The McCall Music Makers presented a musical program for the Wyman school fair last week. Their next engagement is at the Mt. Vernon House on October 27. Members of the junior high group, under the direction of Mrs. Thistlewaite, are Ann Pharo, Lana Powell, Kevin McGrath, Richard Desrochers (in the center), Eddie Mahoney, Danny Pearson, and John Augello.

Music Society in fall meeting

The fall meeting of the Music Society of Winchester, held on Fri., Oct. 8 at the home of Constance Rosenberger, 49 Cabot st., opened with Faure's "Dolly Suite," a collection of piano duets reminiscent of childhood, played by Kitty Laber and Corie Nichols.

Sue Cowen played,the presto movement of Haydn's Sonata No. 11. Constance Rosenberger, accompanied by Carole Davidson, sang four folk songs of Benjamin Britten: "The Sally Gardens," "The Foggy, Foggy Dew," "There's None to Soothe," and "Oh Waly, Waly." Jean Hurley concluded the program with Bach's Prelude No. 16 in G Minor from the "Well-Tempered Clavier."

The group will meet next in the evening of Feb. 4, and cordially invites townspeople who would like to share their musical interests to come and listen or perform. The evening time has been chosen especially to encourage new members. Call Jean Hurley, 9 Harrison st., for information.

Big Band, Inc., waltz contest to highlight dance

On Saturday the Winchester Indoor Lawn Tennis Center will become a ballroom in celebration of the Friends Of Winchester Hospital's Silver Anniversary Ball.

The sounds of the Big Band, Inc. will be heard as couples dance to their favorite tunes. One of the events of the evening will be the return of the waltz contest, which will be judged by Raymond Kenney, Steve Parkhurst, Reese James, Richard Pharo, William Kimball, Vito Giarrizzo, and Dr. Gustav Kaufmann.

After the judging, prizes donated by local merchants will be drawn.

The Friends are most grateful to the following people who have donated gifts: Atlas Liquors of Medford; Martignette Liquors; Cafe Escardrille; McCormack's Apothecary; Craddock Apothecary; Europa Coiffures; D'Agostino's Deli.; The Continental Cow Cheese Shop; Gloria Stevens Figure Salon; and Keenan's Citgo Stations. The Friends also wish to thank Mahoney's Rocky Ledge Farm for the loan of some of their beautiful plants as decorations.

The committee for the dance, under the chairmanship of Claire Kenney, consists of Virginia Donahue, treasurer; Mitzi Herlihy and Mary Skates, tickets and reservations; Jean Donahue, patrons; Marilyn Quigley, publicity; Francine Foley, decorations; Elaine McPhail, clean-up; Lillian Costello, floor arrangements; Polly Driscoll, refreshments; Mary Welch, special services; Pat Mahoney, donations; and Loretta Pharo, advisor and president of the Friends.

The Public is invited to attend this annual affair, which is given to raise money to buy needed equipment for the Winchester Hospital. Reservations may be had by calling Mrs. John Herlihy, 73 Grove street; or Mrs. Ronald Skates, 45 Brooks st. both in Winchester.

Water treatment seminar Nov. 3

A Water Treatment Seminar will be held at New England Memorial Hospital, Stoneham, on November 3, at 7:30 p.m. in the hospital auditorium. The opening program will include presentations on the misuse of water, how the application of hot and cold affects the body, and some of the treatment techniques that could be used at home for the prevention and cure of the dreaded "common cold."

Follow-up programs will be held on November 10 and 17. Treatment techniques will again be discussed and demonstrated, including the use of fomentations, Russian steam bath, heating compresses and the cold mitten friction.

There will be no charge for the initial program and only a small fee for the advanced classes. For further information call the Health Education Department, New England Memorial Hospital.

Speed skating at MDC rink

The Northeastern Skating Association announced that the 1976-77 Speed Skating Program for novices will be held at the Summer street Arlington M.D.C. Rink. Basic speed skating lessons and strategy of racing will be sponsored by the N.S.A. in cooperation with the M.D.C.'s Recreation Division. Sessions will be held every Thursday evening, beginning November 4, starting at 7 p.m. and will continue for 10 weeks.

Each session will include teaching and racing segments with participants divided into age and ability groups for both instruction and competition. Boys and girls from 3 to 15 years of age are invited to participate. Due to increased number of applications, registration will be limited. Helmets and gloves are manditory.

Qualified coaches and regional amateur competitors will be conducting the sessions. Patches will be awarded to skaters who finish first, second, third and fourth in weekly final events. Awards will be presented at the end of the program to the high point champions in each class.

Registration will take place at 6:45 p.m. November 4, at the rink.

Creative service at Unitarian Church

A creative worship service titled "Success and Failure in America" will be held at the Unitarian Church at 10:30 Sunday. Through folk and jazz music, liturgical expressions, and personal testimony, the service will seek to discover the contemporary visions which define success in America, as well as the concepts and strengths with which we face failure.

The mood of the worship service will be set in preservice music by the Happy Hearts Dixieland Band rendering a selection of numbers which reflect an older generation's attitude toward success.

Speakers offering personal views of success and failure in America include Thornton Stearns, Jessica Fixler, David Russell, Sally Weylman, and Leah Russell.

In addition to the dixieland band, the Unitarian folk singers and senior choir will participate. Members include folk singers Bob and Diane MacDougall, Maggie Russell, Nancy Cunningham, Faith Waltman, Marie Zoerheide, Larry Stoddard, Paulett Taggart, Steve Davies, Karen Detore, Charles Morgan, and Marge Dickson Rogers.

The senior choir members are Marlene Clayton, Betsy Ewing, Janet Boone, Diane MacDougall, Wendy Klug, Louise Barker, Karen Detore, Justine King, Debbie Manning, Patricia Dunn, Bob MacDougall, Larry Stoddard, Wallace Blanchard, Jack Zarker, Charles Morgan, Henry Holland, and Steve Davies.

Members of the dixieland band are Larry Suvak, Earle Griggs, Charles Morgan, Luther Enstad, and Julie Collins.

Following the worship service Pat Toalson, professional career counselor, will be resource person at the 11:30 discussion. A founding member of "Tapestry," she was formerly director of career counseling at Brandeis University.

Medford resident ...

Atty. Zamparelli seeks reelection as register

Attorney John F. Zamparelli is seeking re-election as register of deeds in the southern district of Middlesex County. His statement follows:

Atty. John F. Zamparelli of Medford, for the past 7 years the Register of Deeds for the Southern District of Middlesex County, is a candidate for re-election to a new 6-year term, in the 44 cities and towns of the district.

New levels of public service, of effiency and of cost-cutting have marked Zamparelli's term of office; and innovations he has introduced into this key agency that maintains the records of all property deeds, plans, and related instruments going back centuries within his district will be expanded during the new term he will begin in January, 1977, he reports.

The register is a former state legislator as well as a former member of the Medford School Committee. He has been a praticing attorney-at-law for more than a quarter century and has a reputation as an outstanding member of the Bar.

Atty. John Zamparelli

The Middlesex County Southern District Registry of Deeds, located at East Cambridge, is not only the largest such in Massachusetts, but produces the largest income of any registry in the Commonwealth. It has been cited as an example for its high standards of operation, its courtesies and efficiency.

One of the striking characteristics of the Zamperelli occupancy of the office has been the dual accomplishment of increasing income and reducing personnel. From a high of 157 employees when he assumed the office, the register has established an all-time record low of 139. This was achieved without dismissals and by declining to hire persons to fill positions that became vacant through attrition without reducing services to the public.

Under Zamparelli's direction, economies have been effected by installing new processing systems and adjusting work schedules for employees to parallel the fluctuation of service for real estate transactions.

He has the only Registry in the state where there is a union of employees and which participates in promotions competitively applied for and granted on merit and seniority.

A personnel board Zamparelli inaugurated serves as consultant on promotions; and every advancement so far made has concurred with that advice. This advisory board comprises the Register, the head of personnel, the assistant register in charge of the section, and the head of the department in which the vacancy exists.

Revision of procedures at the registry has won the praise of practicing attorneys. Zamparelli has created a new abstract department, and staffed it without additional personnel by utilizing existing employees.

In revising personnel operations, he provided for the voluntary abolition of the positions of two assistant registers of deeds, distributing their duties among the staff. This move alone resulted in savings of more than $22,000 annually.

When taking over the office in 1969, Zamparelli found anual expenditures running about equal with income. Under economies he imposed, the Registry runs at an annual surplus of from one million to one and a half million dollars. The surplus is returned both to the Commowealth and to the entire County.

Besides adhering to the state laws on bids for contracts, Zamparelli has initiated a policy of competitive bidding for all items including those below $1,000, which are normally exempted. To prevent accumulation of unnecessary and unlimited quantities, all purchases are limited to provide one year's needs.

An new manual for land court use and procedure has been completed and ready for publication for the use of lawyers, title examiners, banks, realtors, and the general public. Another manual for the unregistered land section is under preparation for future publication. Zamparelli is the author of several articles on Registry operations.

Zamparelli says that although knowledge and expertise are important, his greatest stress is for courtesy and accuracy. Accuracy because the registry of deeds is a depository of all records relating to real estate. Courtesy because all personnel including the register are maintained by the taxpayers of the 44 cities and towns that comprise his district.

Although the austerity climate of the past four years has prevented the $245,000 expenditure for consolidation of all indices, Zamparelli's plans for the future include five and ten year consolidations going back 100 years, to be done without the need for additional personnel, once again utlizing slack periods.

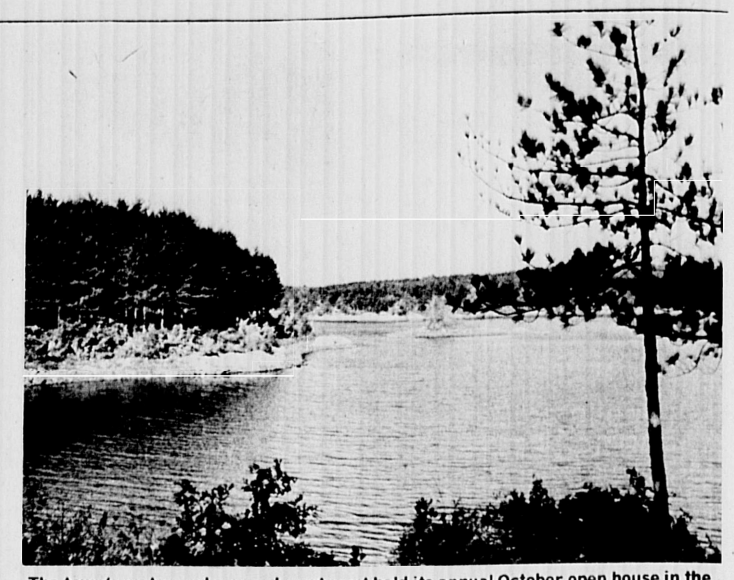

Since the lack of funds has prohibited computerization at the present time, the Zamparelli system is compiled on a manual basis. However, the present system will make for a smooth transition in the future when complete computerization is available and financially feasible.

Atty. Zamparelli is married to the former Betty M. Doane of Marlborough, and they reside in Medford with their three children, John Jr., a student at Tufts University; Lisa, a student in the school of nursing at Fitchburg State College; and Laurie, a pupil in the Robert's Junior High School in Medford.

Wheelock alumnae in fall meeting

The fall meeting of the Longview Club of Wheelock College alumnae will meet October 27 at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Edwin Hall, 63 Oxford st.

Following dessert, the speaker will be Pauline Cloues of Melrose, "The Doll Lady."

The town's water and sewer department held its annual October open house in the Fells, last weekend, scheduled as nearly as possible to the peak foliage season. This scene of the reservoir epitomizes the peace and beauty of the area.

Mothers of Twins meet October 25

The Founding Chapter, Massachusetts Mother of Twins Association Inc., will hold its monthly meeting on Monday, October 25, at 8 p.m. at the Park Ave. Congregational Church, Arlington.

All mothers, grandmothers and legal guardinas of multiple birth children are invited to attend.

Anyone interested in the organization may write to MMOTA Founding Chapter, P.O. Box 25, Arlington Heights MA 02175.

Rotary governor to visit club

"Rotary service" will be the subject of an address to the Rotary Club of Winchester today Oct. 21 by William B. Ardiff, governor of this Rotary district.

Ardiff, of Danvers, will also confer with D. Craig Wark, Jr., president of the local club, and other officials to obtain information on the group's planned service activities for this year.

He will discuss Rotary administrative matters with the Winchester Rotary Club, one of 41 clubs in the district.

Ardiff is one of 358 Rotary governors throughout the world who are representatives of Rotary International in districts composed of member clubs. Each district leader supervises the clubs in his area. Rotary, an international men's service organization, has more than three-quarters-of-a-million members in 17,000 clubs throughout the world.

Blood pressure clinic Saturday

The October Red Cross Blood Pressure Clinic will be held at the Chapter House, 39 Church st. this coming Saturday, from 10 o'clock to 12 noon.

Last month, in the short Saturday morning session, 36 men and women presented themselves for blood pressure checks. Many expressed their appreciation to Red Cross and to Winchester Rotary, which provided the clinical equipment that has made this service possible.

This clinic gives anyone a free opportunity to have a reading of his blood pressure by an experienced R.N. If the blood pressure proves to be suspiciously high the person is referred to his own physician.

Serving at the clinic are these volunteer RNs: Ann Watson and Helen Quinn, aided by Grace Mahoney and Lou Maroney. One can sign up by telephoning the Red Cross Chapter, 729-2300.

Star artist Bob Cummings made this Bicentennial model for the Houghton Mifflin film group, H & M Multi-Media. The model, built of balsa wood and pine, represents the various museums in Massachusetts. It was featured in a television commercial made for the Mass. Bicentennial Commission, entitled, "Massachusetts Has a Gift for You." The commercial has been running throughout the year on many local stations.

Coed physical fitness classes for adults

Physical fitness classes for adults will begin on Tuesday night, October 26 and continue through spring. Classes will be held in the Lincoln School Gymnasium.

Times: Women's Class — 7-8 pm. Coed Class 8-9 pm. Volleyball 9-10 pm.

Coed physical fitness classes are social as well as beneficial for your health. It is a different way to spend an evening with your spouse, friend or friends, a chance to meet new people, to feel better and is non-fattening. Volleyball and Basketball will be the second part of the Coed class. Recommended clothing — anything comfortable. Footwear-sneakers or barefeet.

Coed Classes have been very successful throughout Canada and a coed class in Lexington is starting its third year.

The classes are being taught by Noreen Arcari. Mrs. Arcari recently completed a physical fitness course at Springfield College and was certified as a physical fitness specialist by the YMCA. These classes are being sponsored by the Winchester Recreation Department.

For further information please contact Noreen Arcari, 23 Nelson st. or the recreation department.

School board, Wyman parents to compare notes

The school committee will analyze enrollment figures at its next regular meeting October 25. The board will meet with Wyman parents Marion Crandall, Richard Santos, and Sandra Pomeroy, who presented their case agaist closing the Wyman School at the October 5 hearing on the issue.

School department data processor Arthur Sarno will also be there to discuss the school administration's statistics and compare notes with the Wyman group.

Also on the agenda for Monday's meeting is a request from the student representative, Brian Tarbox, for an executive session to discuss the working relationship of students with the chairlady and vice-chairman of the committee.

Superintendent William MacDonald is scheduled to report on a busing request from the Aristotle drive area; and talk about the practice of splitting some classes between grades.

A word of appreciation . . .

To the voters of Middlesex County, Southern District, who will elect the district's Register of Deeds on November 2:

As the present Register, I am deeply honored at the opportunity to seek re-election for a second term.

I am proud of the efficiency, courtesy, and public service of this important office that records the documents dealing with real estate and maintains the necessary public records.

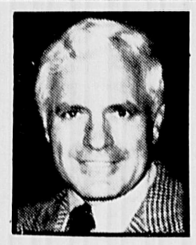

I pledge faithfully to adhere to the public trust with which I have been charged and to devote the highest level of attention to the vital legal duties of this office.

I solicit your endorsement on November 2.

SPIRITS OF '76

by DAN BUSA

The drinks served before an intimate dinner at home may be highballs and cocktails, an apertif wine, or a dry sherry . . . If wine is to be served at dinner, some hostesses are inclined to forgo the cocktails and offer the less potent drinks . . . Sweet drinks should be avoided; they belong at the end of a dinner . . . They take the edge off appetites when exactly the reverse is desired . . . No more than 2 drinks should be served before dinner; that 2-ounce jigger should be used; and that a great variety of drinks can be made from a fifth of Scotch, bourbon, and gin, plus a small 15-ounce bottle of dry French vermouth . . . This supply is ample to serve 16 drinks to four couples . . .

The next time you plan a function, large or small, be sure to see us at BUSA LIQUORS for all your beverage needs. Our friendly staff is here to assist you in selecting wines, liquor and cordial of all kinds and we have many imported as well as domestic brands. "Spirit of '76" products are sold exclusively by us at BUSA LIQUORS, Burlington and Lexington, 861-1776. Open: Mon. thru Sat. 9 a.m.-10 p.m.

Don't gamble on 7. Vote No.

"Flat rate" electricity, the referendum 7 question, is hardly even a gamble. Untried and untested, it's been rejected by every other state where it has been proposed. It's even been turned down by your own legislature.

The point is supposed to be: Everyone pays the same rate for electricity. But that's not the point at all.

Read the referendum. You'll see it provides non-flat rates for utility companies, electric-heated homeowners, low users, and peak load users.

Even more important than that is the certainty that gambling on the "flat rate" could cost you far more than you could hope to gain:

"Flat rates" could raise your cost-of-living. When large users of electricity pay more for the power they use, they'll charge you more for the products and services you use. You'll lose money in rents, in hospital bills, in tuitions, in insurance premiums, in supermarkets and department stores. Higher costs will cause higher prices.

"Flat rates" could cost you your job. Independent economists at the University of Massachusetts predict that forcing already-budget-bound companies to make up the multi-million-dollar difference in increased electric costs could trigger the loss of 30,000 jobs or more. Employers would have to cut back, close down, or move out of state.

"Flat rates" could cost you higher taxes. As state and local governments pay more for the electricity they use for everything from streetlights to public buildings – and as more and more families become unemployment and welfare burdens – who'll pay for it? Only the companies and the people who are still working here. Fewer and fewer of us paying more and more. There would be no conceivable way around increasingly higher taxes.

So don't gamble on Question 7. The costs are too high.

Don't gamble on Question 7. Vote NO on "flat-rate" electricity.

Local women active in Quota Club's fall conference

Mrs. Helen Dame of Winchester presided as district governor at the Fall Conference of the 29th District of Quota International. Quotarians from the eleven clubs in New Hampshire and eastern Massachusetts that comprise this district met at the Marriott Hotel in Newton on October 15, 16 and 17.

Quota International is a service organization of 14,000 executive and professional women united for service on community, district and international levels. Its primary object is aid to the hard of hearing and the speech handicapped. In addition to 297 clubs in the continental United States, there are 127 in Australia, 18 in Canada and representation in Hawaii, Fiji and New Zealand.

Mrs. Isabelle Sullivan of Sterling, Colorado, president of Quota International was an honored guest. She conducted a ceremony to install officers at the Saturday evening banquet.

Gloria Pearson, vice-president of the Winchester club, was installed as secretary-treasurer of the district. She succeeds Anne Fuess of Winchester, whose term of office ended at the conference. Mrs. Helen Dame, who presided at each session of the three-day conference, was re-elected district governor and Joan Johnston of Manchester, N.H. was re-elected lieutenant governor.

The Quota Club of Winchester was represented by President Leila-Jane Roberts (who served as chairman of the nominating committee), immediate Past President Hope Oliver, charter President Leonor Rich, Beverly Laskey and district officers Helen Dame, Anne Feuss, and Gloria Pearson. Mrs. Roberts also attended the International Conference at the Americana, Bal Harbour, Florida in July.

Crittenton holds its fall meeting

The fall meeting of the Florence Crittenton Circle was held on Tuesday, October 12 at the home of Mrs. Ralph Swanson.

During the business meeting Mrs. Herbert Wadsworth, president, introduced two new honorary members, Mrs. J. Harper Blaisdell and Mrs. Harold F. Meyers. Mrs. Blaisdell who served as president of the Winchester Circle in 1924 recalled, briefly, the activities of the league then and noted the progress it has made over the last 50 years.

A special welcome was extended to eleven new members; Mrs. Stewart Carswell, Mrs. Frank A. Gunby Jr., Mrs. John Heffernan, Miss Evelyn Forsyth, Miss Florence Forsyth, Miss Helen Forsyth, Mrs. Arthur H. Fahr, Mrs. George W. Plowman, Mrs. Percy Bugby, Mrs. Harold H. Blanchard and Mrs. Donald King Lewis.

Mrs. James Quinn, program chairman, introduced Mrs. Walter A. Cleven, executive director of the Crittenton — Hastings House. Mrs. Cleven gave a brief history of the league and explained new programs and services that are now being offered to meet the needs of the communities that it serves.

Following the meeting refreshments were served. Mrs. Jay Finn and Mrs. Richard Osgood poured.

Ms. Smith in new job at Lesley

Ann Montgomery Smith has resigned her position as reference librarian at the Winchester Public Library to accept appointment as the librarian at the National Assessment and Dissemination Center for Bilingual Education which is administered by Lesley College in Cambridge.

As librarian she is to organize the collection, assist teachers, curriculum councils, graduate students in bilingual education courses, and others in the use of the materials. The development of bibliographies and a program to publicize the center and its resources will be additional parts of her responsibilities.

The ultimate goal of the National Network of Bilingual Education Centers, now supported by an E.S.E.A. Title VII grant, is to assist local projects in the education of bilingual students.

Ms. Smith, a graduate of Radcliffe College with a master of science degree from Simmons College of Library Science, is particularly qualified for this position as she speaks and writes Spanish fluently, reads Portuguese and understands spoken French.

The library consists of about 5,000 items most of which are curriculum materials in Spanish, Portuguese, and French although other languages are represented as well. Educational resource volumes on testing, curriculum and methods, and commercially produced bilingual materials are also part of the collection.

This gentleman came to the Wyman fair in style last week. He sports a hand-printed (literally) shirt. Many of the children at the fair were able to print their own tee shirts.

ERA Committee in strategy session

The Election Day Action Task Force of the Winchester Committee to Ratify the Massachusetts State Equal Rights Amendment met at the home of Mrs. Binnie Backer Sunday, October 16.

Binnie Backer, chairperson of the committee, announced that Fran McClintock of 34 Fells rd. will be coordinating literature drops and election day activities at Winchester's precincts.

Any resident wishing to help in these activities or wanting information about the Massachusetts state Equal Rights Amendment, which appears on the November ballot as Question 1, is invited to contact the local office at 34 Fells rd.

"Vote Yes on Question 1," says the bumper sticker these Equal Rights Amendment supporters are affixing to a car. Included in the picture are Fran McClintock and children Dana and Leah of Winchester; Binnie Backer of Winchester; Phyllis Beedle of Arlington; Wyn Somers, Billie Drew and son Ethan Drew, Nancy Adler, Sheila Clemon-Karp of Lexington; Rhoda Honigman and Jeanne Van Order of Bedford; and Elaine Huxtable of Woburn.

Wellesley Club's Green Day benefit a growing success

Green Day, the Winchester Wellesley Club's first all day horticultural offering was a success from the color movies which illustrated Alexander Heimlich's "Ornamental Trees and Shrubs" to the plentiful and tasty salad lunch served with wine, dessert and coffee and the timely admonitions given indoor plant lovers by Evelyn Cronin.

Color was the theme in Heimlich's carefully planned plant groupings, which he has designed for both modest yards and huge estates. He achieves this by mixing flowers and multi-hued leaves of both deciduous and evergreen plants, selected, grouped and kept trim to present the most casual looking display.

After being treated to the success of enormous outdoor projects, it was an equal joy to listen to Evelyn Cronin express her love and knowledge of the more humble indoor garden. Noting that any place in a house can hold plants if the proper light, temperature and humidity are provided may encourage many of these attending to "green up" their own environments. Mrs. Cronin also gave advice on soil, fertilization and demonstrated cutting and rooting techniques, answering many specific how to questions.

A varied and imaginative selection of pots from the Lexington Arts and Crafts Society and cuttings from members' gardens gave the audience a chance to go home equipped to practice Mrs. Cronin's advice. The members of the Winchester Wellesley Club thank those who attended for helping support the Winchester Scholarship Foundation and Wellesley College through the Green Day benefit.

Taking a gander at some of the houseplants up for sale at the Wellesley Club's Green Day benefit October 14 are, from left, Evelyn Cronin, one of the speakers at the luncheon; Nancy Hudson, benefit chairman; Alice Mirak, president of the club; and Margie McIndoe, lunch chairman. Taste Science Succeeds.

'Enriched Flavor'™ breakthrough brings unprecedented taste to low tar smoking.

By "cracking" cigarette smoke down into separate ingredients, researchers at Philip Morris discovered very special "key" flavor units that deliver taste way out of proportion to tar.

The discovery is called 'Enriched Flavor.'

The cigarette packed with 'Enriched Flavor' tobacco is MERIT. At 9 mg., one of the lowest tar levels in smoking today.

Yet, MERIT actually packs the taste of cigarettes having more tar.

Up to 60% more tar.

If you smoke, you'll be interested.

MERIT and MERIT MENTHOL

Tests Verify Taste

9 mg. tar MERIT was taste-tested against current leading low tar cigarettes ranging from 11 mg. to 15 mg. tar.

Thousands of smokers were tested. The majority reported that even if the cigarette tested had up to 60% more tar than MERIT, MERIT delivered as much—or more—taste.

You've been smoking "low tar, good taste" claims long enough.

Now smoke the cigarette.

Doctor's prize 'shots' at Rehab Hospital show

A Winchester doctor who has been interested in photography since his high school days in Winchester, and has taken pictures around the world while in the Navy, will exhibit some of his prize "shots" at the New England Rehabilitation Hospital, Woburn, during the month of November.

Dr. Harry L. Benson, a native of Winchester, has practiced in Winchester since 1940 following his graduation from Boston University.

"It's been a hobby for years," Dr. Benson said. I prefer landscapes and seascapes, flowers, animals, maybe some informal portraits."

Possibly, the most exciting pictures he ever took were of the Navy Supply Ship USS Alhena, torpedoed at Guadalcanal, and towed to Australia. His photographs became part of the official Navy record.

Dr. Benson is widely known as a medical doctor and formerly for 24 years medical examiner for the fourth District including Winchester, Woburn, Burlington and Lexington. He is also president of the Massachusetts Medical Legal Society.

He began with an old-fashioned Brownie box camera and since then a camera has been part of his life. He used to develop his own pictures until color came onto the scene.

While in the Navy, he had the opportunity of exercising his talents in Ireland, Scotland, Iceland, the Atlantic and Pacific. He has even carried a small folding camera into operating rooms and made valuable photos.

His wife is a graduate of Children's Hospital, and a registered nurse. She has made herself available recently to the rehab. hospital. The Bensons have three sons, John, Fred and David, none in the medical field.

$100 A YEAR IS JUST THE BEGINNING.

We've been telling you the Bottle Bill could cost your family over $100* a year.

Because we thought you should know exactly how high the Bottle Bill will be before you vote.

But, as we said, $100 is just the beginning.

How the Bottle Bill will get you coming and going.

First, you'll have to train your family so they'll bring all their empties back to the house.

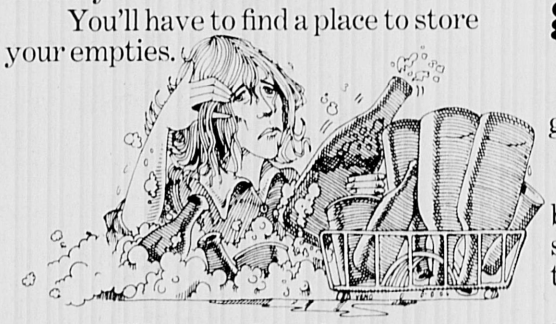

Remember, every can or bottle they lose or break, every can they crunch, will cost you at least a nickel.

Tell them to forget about putting empties in the nearest proper receptacle.

Because now the proper receptacle will be your kitchen.

You'll have to find a place to store your empties.

You'll have to clean them or a store owner may not accept them.

Now you're ready to lug your empties to the market. (Remember to go to a market that stocks the brand you've got, or they won't be accepted.)

Get some sturdy bags, because those 32 ounce bottles aren't that light you know.

Then get ready to stand in line while someone figures out how many of your own nickels and dimes you get back.

But even if you do all this to get your deposits back, you'll still pay more. Because this is where you find out who really pays the Bottle Bill.

The Bottle Bill is not a money-back guarantee.

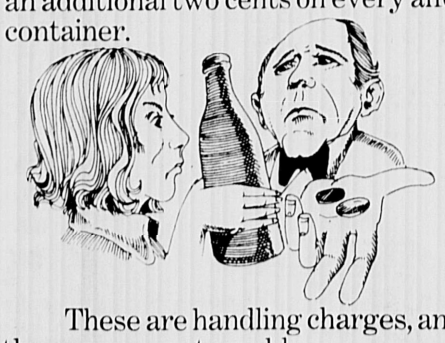

It sounds simple.

You pay deposits when you buy, you get your money back when you return.

Well it's just not that simple.

Obviously, when you bring empties back to the market or package store, someone will have to sort them, count them, and pay for space to store them.

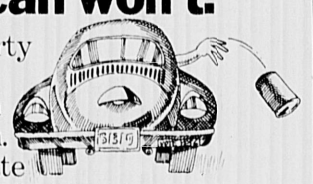

In Vermont, under a similar Bottle Law, the consumer pays an average of an additional two cents on every affected container.

These are handling charges, and they are non-returnable.

If the Bottle Bill passes, you can expect similar increases on your grocery bill in Massachusetts.

If $50 doesn't stop a slob, 5¢ a can won't.

No one likes dirty streets. No one condones the selfish few who litter them.

But can the state stop the slobs by forcing us to pay deposits and raising our grocery bill?

We don't think so.

Fines haven't worked before, and they won't now.

But now you'll pay a fine every time you buy a can of soda or beer.

And there's no reason why people who don't litter should be forced to pay for people who do.

The Bottle Bill does not require recycling.

The problem is, the proposed Bottle Bill doesn't stipulate or even stimulate any recycling efforts.

The sad fact is, the Bottle Bill may hamper local recycling efforts that are already successfully in operation.

When you look closely, the Bottle Bill is an empty promise.

At first, it sounds like a good idea.

Governor Dukakis says it won't raise prices. But you probably remember the Governor also promised you he wouldn't raise taxes. And don't crowd around the cash register waiting to see the Governor return his empties. The hard fact is, the Bottle Bill is like many well-intentioned ideas.

They sound like simple solutions to some people, but the rest of us pay the price. But once you figure out how much it will cost, how much inconvenience it will involve, and once you realize that despite your sacrifices, there's no guarantee it will accomplish anything, you'll recognize the Bottle Bill as the empty promise it is.

A very expensive empty promise.

And if it passes, you'll pick up the tab.

On November 2nd, vote No on Question 6.

Some people have questioned the $100 figure. But if you have any questions please write to us. We'll be glad to send you the same substantiating material we showed the state authorities.*

FALL HOME

Hammers out . . .

It's time to fix up for saving's sake!

As the fall season sets in, homeowners will be getting out the hammer and nails, taking advantage of the last of the good weather for home repairs and improvements.

Though the recession may be easing off, the cost of building or buying a new home is still beyond the reach of most families. So, the continuing trend is to make the most of the old house rather than move.

If a home is more than 15 years old, it is most likely inadequately insulated. As a consequence the homeowner may be paying almost twice as much as he should to keep his house comfortable, since poor insulation can result in the waste of 45% of all the fuel consumed.

Winter planning

Remodelers are thinking ahead toward winter, and planning for the increased time spent indoors. They'll be converting basements, porches, attics and other "spare rooms" into extra living space. And, fixing up existing rooms — a fresh coat of paint, new paneling — raises the spirits when it's chilly outside.

The rising cost of fuel for home heating will be another major factor motivating homeowners to make improvements this season.

Fuel saving

With utility companies all over the nation asking for price hikes, and no letup in sight, homeowners are apparently deciding it's worth the investment now to save fuel — sometimes in sizeable amounts — later.

Proper insulation will reduce fuel bills by half — and at the same time help conserve the nation's energy supply, according to the National Home Improvement Council.

Creative alternatives

The more ambitious are exploring alternative sources of home energy, such as wind and solar power. Far from being Rube Goldberg pipe-dreams, these methods are becoming very practical choices — since after the initial outlay, the energy source is free.

The do-it-yourself trend is healthy and still growing, as homeowners find they can save substantial amounts of money by applying some elbow-grease. In addition to saving their wallets, do-it-yourselfers are reviving two great old American traditions: self-reliance and pride in workmanship.

Common sense

Many a home-improvement job can be safely done without a contractor (depending on local building codes). Often enough, all that's required is reading the instructions, common sense, care and patience.

Energy-saving appliances are helping to ease the energy squeeze in other areas besides home heating. There's better insulation on refrigerators and ovens nowadays, for instance, and many appliances have other power-saving features as well.

And then, for the homeowner who's truly dedicated to saving energy, there are still other newfangled inventions: the quilt, the comforter, the sweater . . .

Buying a carpet is a big investment — make sure you get your money's worth

Carpet is too big an investment to make without careful planning.

With the myriad texture-fiber-color combinations available on today's market, it is no wonder that homemakers are confused.

To help you choose wisely, here are some clues to problem-free shopping:

First, make a plan by listing the rooms you want to carpet with approximate room sizes.

Then decide whether you want wall-to-wall, room-size, or an area rug. Wall-to-wall carpeting provides a look of spaciousness; room-size rugs can be turned to equalize wear; area rugs provide drama.

Wearability is what most people look for, and you should consider traffic in this case.

If the pile is thick, packed tightly, and resilient, chances are the carpet will wear well. Check the pile density by bending back a corner of the carpet.

Versatility and beauty are not the only virtues of today's technological advances. Man-made fibers developed for carpet manufacture in special lengths and colors have never been easier to care for.

All man-made fibers have these qualities in common: They clean well, are mildew-proof, moth-proof, and non-allergenic.

Since padding is a must, get the best you can afford. Padding protects your investment by extending the life of your carpeting.

IMPROVEMENT

Solid vinyl siding is super tough protection for a home

Almost impervious to weather and aging, immune to termites and vermin, incapable of attracting lightning or interfering with television and radio reception, pigmented throughout and not just on the surface so that its color is locked-in and always fresh-looking, solid vinyl is obviously a superior siding material.

The result of modern scientific research, vinyl siding was developed specifically to overcome the defects inherent in conventional sidings.

Take wood, for example. A traditionally acceptable material, it is still used in the form of shakes, shingles, clapboard and batten-board.

The inherent defect of this material is its inability to resist the effects of weather and aging without costly periodic painting and maintenance.

Heroic measures are often needed to protect it from rot and deterioration. Termites destroy it. Water causes it to swell and lose strength, with deformation and ultimate collapse as the final result.

GAF Vanguard vinyl siding is designed to overcome these defects. It has the appearance of traditional clapboard in 8" or 4" horizontal form, or 8" vertical form.

Pre-formed with high accuracy, with nailing slots at one edge and a locking flange at the other, easily sawed and cut, it may be attached to the side of the house as easily as wood.

Since the flange edge overlaps and covers the nailed edge, the nailheads never show; a neat craftsmanlike appearance.

Since the color is part of the vinyl itself, it never needs painting. A simple scrubbing with detergent and water will remove streaks, stains, dust and dirt marks and restore the like-new appearance of the vinyl.

Sidings made of aluminum can be dented. Vinyl siding bends and flexes under impact and then returns to its original shape.

The paint on aluminum siding is only skin-deep. A scratch easily penetrates to the bare metal. Corrosion may take place. Not so with vinyl. Scratches are practically invisible as the color of the vinyl is the same throughout.

Corrosion does not occur since vinyl is basically inert and does not react chemically. It is so inert, in fact, that it is used in the form of plastic pipe resistant to the most corrosive liquids!

Wood and aluminum siding may cost a bit less at first. But, over a period of time, wood, with its inherent need for periodic painting and other often costly maintenance procedures, becomes a far more expensive siding material than solid vinyl siding with its one-time cost.

Aluminum siding will also require periodic painting since it is subject to the same fading as metal car bodies.

Obituaries

Mary Curran

Mary Curran, 171 Cambridge rd., Woburn, a former resident of Winchester, died October 15 at the Glendale Nursing Home, Woburn, after a long illness. She was 90 years old.

The daughter of Irish-born parents, Patrick and Nora Curran, she served as a domestic in Winchester homes for over 50 years.

She was the sister of Patrick Curran of Roslindale, and she is also survived by three nieces and one nephew.

Services were held at the Immaculate Conception Church October 18 with Rev. George F. Murray officiating. Interment was in Cavalry cemetery. Arrangements were by the Lane Funeral Home.

Herbert Ellis

Herbert Ellis, 76, father of John R. Ellis of Winchester and a resident of 134 Parmenter rd., West Newton, died October 16 at St. Elizabeth's Hospital following a lengthy illness.

A retired sales representative for Cities Service Oil Company, Mr. Ellis was a Boston native. He attended Boston Latin High School and Phillips Academy in Andover. He was a star football player at both schools.

Also surviving him are his wife Charlotte of West Newton; son Vincent K. of Framingham; daughters Mrs. Charlotte Brady of Hollaston, Mrs. Nancy Martin of Connecticut, and Margaret Ellis of West Newton; and a sister, Dorothy M. Ellis of Brookline. He also leaves 13 grandchildren. And he was father to the late Herbert Ellis, who died in World War II.

Burial was at St. Joseph's cemetery in West Roxbury October 18. The Joyce Funeral Home in Waltham handled funeral arrangements.

Ellen J. Mazuzan

Ellen Jackson Mazuzan, 51, died suddenly at her home in Burlington, Vt. October 10. She was the wife of Dr. John E. Mazuzan Jr. and the daughter of the late Dr. Arthur M. Jackson of Winchester.

She was educated in the Winchester public schools and graduated from Smith College in 1947.

Prior to her marriage, she was executive secretary to the dean of Norwich University, Northfield, Vt. and later was an editor of the plant publications for the Burlington Electric Company. At the time of her death she was an editorial assistant for Stamp Wholesaler, a national trade journal, published in Burlington.

She is survived by three sons, John E. III, Mark P., Christopher L.; and two daughters, Stephanie F. and Ellen. She also leaves her mother, Mrs. Arthur M. Jackson of Winchester and two sisters, Mrs. Martha White of Ridgewood, NJ; and Mrs. Sally Frailey of Phoenix, MD.

Private funeral services were held for the family.

Patrick J. Meaney

Services were held at St. Mary's Church October 16 for Patrick J. Meaney, 82, 70 Irving st., who died October 13 at Youville Hospital in Cambridge. Rev. Mark Sheehan of St. Mary's and Fr. Doherty of Connecticut presided.

Born in County Carlow, Ireland April 27, 1894, Mr. Meaney was a longshoreman in Boston for 40 years. Formerly of Everett, he had lived in Winchester for 12 years.

He was the husband of Theresa (Kearney) Meaney of Winchester and the father of Mrs. Donald (Margaret) Jackson of Winchester and the late Anne Lewis. He is also survived by seven grandchildren.

Burial was in Wildwood cemetery. Arrangements were by the Lane Funeral Home.

Mary Pettee

Funeral services were held yesterday for Mary (Tetlow) Pettee, 50, of 19 Jefferson rd. Mrs. Pettee died at home after a long illness.

Robert Storer officiated at the 2 p.m. services at the Unitarian Church. Burial followed in Taunton.

Mrs. Pettee, born in Newton to Allen and Beatrice (Rayment) Tetlow, attended Cushing Academy, Colby College Class of 1946, and Simmons College School of Social Work.

She worked for many years as the head of the social adjustment department of the Saugus school system as well as being a social worker for the New Haven schools. She also served as medical social worker for the Grace-New Haven Hospital.

Mrs. Pettee was a member of the Winton Club, Friends of the Winchester Hospital, and former president of the Mystic Mothers Association.

She leaves her husband, James L. Pettee, and a daughter, Mrs. John (Jane) Hasson of Westboro. Also surviving are sons David Allen and Jonathan Starr Pettee, both at home.

Gifts to the Heart Fund may be made in her memory. Norris Funeral Home handled the arrangements.

Kevin Walsh

Funeral services were to be held this morning at St. Eulalia's Church for Kevin C. Walsh, 15, of 8 Plato terr. Walsh died in an automobile accident Monday morning in Medford.

Born in Boston, he lived in Winchester for the past ten years and was a sophomore at Winchester High School.

Surviving are his father Patrick F. Walsh of Quincy, his mother Rita (Taddoni) of Winchester, brothers Patrick F. Jr., Brian J., and Gary M. Walsh, all of Winchester. Also his grandmother, Mrs. Rose Taddoni of East Boston.

Burial was to follow the morning services in Wildwood Cemetery. Lane Funeral Home handled the arrangements.

Contributions in his name may be made to Winchester Pop Warner or Winchester Little League, care of Arthur Giannelli, 28 Spruce st.

Voke grads pass nursing exams

All 27 practical nurse graduates of Northeast Metropolitan Regional Vocational School's class of 1975 have passed the state licensing examination, it was announced by Superintendent-Director John Connolly.

In passing the exam to become Licensed Practical Nurses, the graduates also lifted Northeast to the fifth rank of 34 schools in Massachusetts training these health occupations specialists. The Northeast L.P.N.s took their practical training at Winchester Hospital.

Mrs. Charlotte Scott, director of Health and Community Occupations at Northeast, pointed out that in the previous examination Northeast ranked 10th. The 1975 graduates class mean score was 592.9 compared to 558.9 for the state, placing Northeast fifth.

Local students at Chapel Hill

Chapel Hill-Chauncy Hall School in Waltham opened its door this year to a larger than expected enrollment of 114 students, about half of whom are boarding students from five states outside Massachusetts and 13 foreign countries.

Local students attending this year are: Gary Argue, son of Mr. & Mrs. Gary Argue, 6 Cabot st., Sheila Grasty, daughter of Mr. & Mrs. Robert A. Grasty, 3 Ivy cir., June Ferrera, daughter of Mr. & Mrs. Walter Ferrera, 6 Valleywood cir., Virginia Harvey, daughter of Mr. & Mrs. David Harvey, 7 Warren st., and John Redmond, son of Mr. & Mrs. John Redmond, 1 Nassau rd.

Local residents receive awards

Twenty-two employes of New England Rehabilitation Hospital, Woburn, received five-year pins in a special annual ceremony marking milestones in their health careers.

Edward "Buddy" LeRoux, of Winchester, president of the 200-bed facility and formerly trainer for the Boston Red Sox, said briefly, "Wherever I go in the U.S. I am impressed by the fact that we have a national reputation. You people and others associated with our rehabilitation prgram here are responsible for it. I look upon our rehabilitation teamwork as a family operation."

Raymond L. Dunn, administrator, pointed out the benefits of the pension plan. "Five-year employes," he said, "have a twenty-five percent interest in their pension plan. You own it and its benefits whether you stay or leave, and you have earned it."

Those receiving the five-year awards included Patricia Krusell, Winchester, Director of Activities; Ursula Keleher, Winchester, admitting office.

Two residents on Rehab. board

Sister Gertrude Marie Quinn and Mrs. Loretta Stillman of Winchester are among nine new members of the chaplaincy committee at the New England Rehabilitation Hospital in Woburn.

Rules for Goblins

All trick-or-treating should be done between the hours of 6-8 p.m.

Parents should accompany groups of trick-or-treaters.

Only young goblins (13 and below) should be encouraged to go trick-or-treating.

Young goblins should wear short, non-flammable costumes which are light in color. For greater visibity, costumes can be decorated with reflective tape that will "glow" in the beam of a car's headlights.

Trick-or-treating should be confined to the young goblin's own neighborhood.

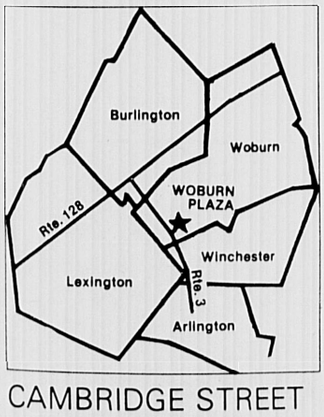

Flashlights should be carried for after dark. If a pumpkin is carried, it should be lighted with a flashlight, not a candle.

Hobgoblins should trick-or-treat only at homes with porch lights on.

Follow these pedestrian safety rules:

- Cross only at corners, never between parked cars, never diagonally across an intersection.
- Look in all directions before crossing the street.
- Watch for and obey all traffic lights.
- Walk, never run across the street.
- Use sidewalks, not the street, for walking. If there is no sidewalk, walk on the side of the road facing oncoming traffic.
- Wait on the curb, not the street, until the street is clear to cross.

90 per cent

Record vote expected on election day

Town Clerk Elsie M. Nelson is expecting a record turnout of 90 per cent of Winchester's 13,083 registered voters for Tuesday's presidential election.

This would surpass the 1972 all-time high of 83.5 percent.

There are ten national referenda items to be voted on, in addition to the local one of whether clubs in Winchester should have licenses to sell liquor on the premises.

These questions are in addition to the choices for national, state, and local offices.

Mrs. Nelson urges voters to "make themselves familiar with the questions and the candidates so that voting Tuesday will be expeditious."

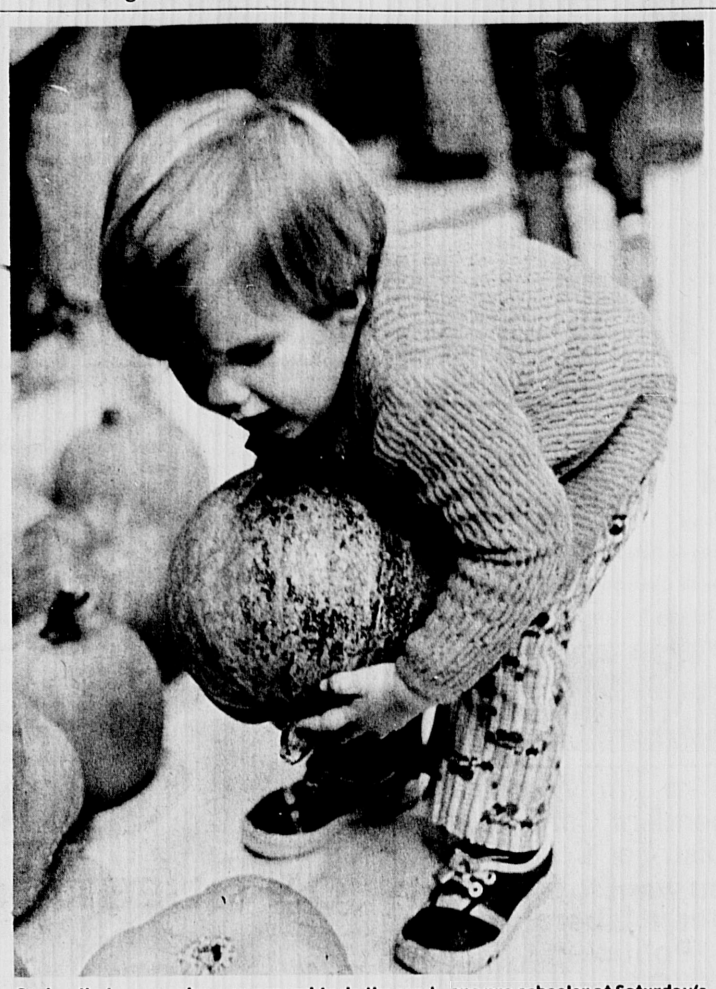

The polls will be open from 7 a.m. until 8 p.m. In a population of 23,826, there are 3295 registered Republicans, 4662 Democrats, 4111 Independents, and six registered American party voters.

Last March, Democrat Morris Udall received 928 Winchester votes in that party's presidential primary. Following were Henry Jackson with 485, Jimmy Carter with 350, and George Wallace with 280.

In the Republican presidential primary, Gerald Ford received 1170 votes and Ronald Regan's count was 524.

Town Clerk Nelson said, "Between the referendum items and the closeness of the presidential race, we expect to see a very large turn-out this year."

The polls are open Tuesday, Nov. 2 from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. Vote!

Seeing that no one else was around to do the work, one pre-schooler at Saturday's Muraco School Fair decided to take things into her own hands. Personalizing your own pumpkin was one of more than a dozen fun things for the kids to do. (Staff)

Hewis blames selectmen

Town officials are blasted for problems of incinerator

Serious questions involving the town incinerator were raised this week by Arthur Hewis, town meeting member from district 2, who charges that town officials have "created the crisis (at the dump) by thier ignorance, arrogance, or connivance."

Hewis in a statement to The Star places the responsibility for what he terms "arbitrarily closing the incinerator" on the selectmen, even though some said it would be hasty action.

Hewis made some statements in person to The Star which cannot be authenticated.

Many of the questions raised by Hewis were checked out.

Hewis claimed there was no written contract for the hauling of rubbish from the incinerator, but Town Manager Thomas J. Groux, unaware of these charges by Hewis, told The Star that there is a contract.

Groux explained that the SCA Disposal Services of New England, 140 Brookline ave. Boston, has a written contract whereby that company will haul compacted rubbish from Winchester for $12.33 per ton.

An informal written agreement with SCA provides for the hauling and disposal of uncompacted rubbish at the rate of $13.83 per ton. Because of delays in obtaining necessary parts for the compacting, rubbish has been left at the dump to be loaded onto trucks and hauled to Cambridge for compacting and disposal.

Town Counsel Douglas A. Randall informed The Star that the town is operating under a two-year contract with SCA Disposal Services of New England, 140 for hauling and disposal of compacted rubbish.

The current agreement whereby the town pays a $1.50 per ton premium for uncompacted rubbish, is "entirely within the purview of the town manager," Randall said.

"The town manager is the administrator of what the legislative body, the town meeting, authorizes," he said.

Hewis's statement which he said he intends to read to the town meeting:

When any article is before you, under any circumstances, you have a right and an obligation to vote YES or NO.

I am asking you to vote NO on Article 9.

It is not my intention to play parliamentary games or try to fight the limited rules of debate inflicted on us under the new By-Laws. (My health and common sense have convinced me that I would be up against a stacked deck).

There are good and substantial reasons for a NO vote. First and foremost, government and our officials have created a system whereby "they" create a crisis with the hope that the voter has no choice but to bail-them-out. The so-called "Moral Obligation" when there is no legal obligation due to the fact "they" have created the crisis by their ignorance, arrogance or connivance.

This is the situation at the Waste Disposal Area. For five years the committee charged with this problem could not or would not come up with an answer to the problem. When they did, their proposal was accepted by Town Meeting with little or no opposition. (Several times this committee had placed articles in the Warrant only to ask for Indefinite Postponement.)

Finally the Permanent Building Committee (PBC) was given, by vote of the Town Meeting, money and authority to proceed (if memory serves this was in May of 1975)...progress was slow.

The first of August (this year) your Board of Selectmen arbitrarily closed the incinerator. Many, including some members of the Board, warned of a hasty action. None-the-less, it was closed. The hours for dumping were reduced from 14 hours-per-day to 8 hours-per-day...the intention of which was to save money in personal services (wages-specifically over-time). The records will show you (as they have shown me) that over-time payments in the Sanitation Budget (No.7200) was close to $10,000. in less than 3 months. That amount is considerably over the appropriated amount of $7,500. allocated for the fiscal year in this item, and does not include monies spent from Highway or other DPW budgets.

Two weeks after closing, I appeared at the Selectmen's meeting and on a direct question from me the Town Manager denied that there had been any overtime, he later admitted that one Highway Dept. man did come on at 7 a.m. to open up for the construction contractor. WHERE WAS ALL THIS MONEY GOING?

Police chief opposes, LWV favors No. 5 on gun control

Widespread interest in the referendum questions on the ballot continues this week, as voters prepare to go to the polls Tuesday. Winchester Police Chief John P. McHugh has come out in opposition to Question 5, the gun control law, a position also taken by the majority of law enforcement officials in the state. At the same time, Winchester's League of Women Voters President Diane C. Simpson, has come out in favor of gun control Their letters stating their positions are on page 4 in today's Star.

Town meeting Monday to consider fall warrant

Selectmen Monday night took a stand on warrant articles for the fall session of town meeting, which opens Monday, basically in keeping with the finance committee's recommendations last week, with the exception of the closing of an elementary school. The board decided to take no stand on that controversial issue until further reports have been made.

In discussing article 13 — to see what action the town will take in recommending to the school committee that one elementary school be closed — selectmen refrained from voting until the task force could present its report on school space use. Chairman John J. Sullivan at this time is strongly in favor of keeping the elementary schools open, while selectwoman Barbara Hankins favors the closing of a school. The other members of the board have not come out strongly either way at this time.

The Wyman School would be the first of the town's elementary schools to close under School Superintendent William MacDonald's proposed schedule. Opposition to the plan has been vociferous and consistent from parents in the Wyman school.

The FinCom voted last week voted 10-1 to recommend the school closing.

In other discussion, selectmen agreed that the so-called "residential preference" article, number 2 on the warrant would receive their unfavorable votes.

Town Manager Thomas J. Groux explained that "we are only talking about the hiring and promotion of a small handful of employees in the department of public works."

According to figures released from Groux's office, there are 288 town employees, 233 of whom are residents. Police and fire personnel come under civil service laws and are not included in discussion of residential preference. In the DPW there are 76 resident employees and 20 non-resident, a number which Groux says is "not disproportional."

Groux reiterated his previous statements that he intends "to hire the best qualified person for a job and if that person is a local resident he'll get the job."

He went on Monday evening to say, "Hiring should be on the basis of best qualified, not just qualified."

He further said that the argument that preferential hiring, which may be discriminatory, would increase the job rolls in Winchester is unfounded.

"We have federal programs like CETA if

Parents try again to save Wyman

Key opponents of the proposed closing of Wyman Elementary School met for nearly three hours with the school committee Monday night to try to nail down the statistics involved in the issue.

Discussing enrollments, school capacities, housing starts and closing costs, the two groups found it difficult to agree on any one set of figures, and it appears that the school board is still leaning toward closing the school. The question now comes before the November town meeting under a warrant article to see if that body will recommend closing.

Realtor Marion Crandall, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Santos, and Sandra Pomeroy, head of the Wyman Parents Association, reviewed the figures they had presented October 5 at a hearing on the Wyman issue.

Mrs. Pomeroy argued that closing "will not improve the emotional or educational environment we now have in our schools." She alluded to a plan suggested by Superintendent of Schools William MacDonald which would consolidate the town's nine elementary schools into five larger schools by 1982, saying such a plan would "depersonalize" the schools.

The proposal to close the school, submitted in September by the superintendent, came in response to pressures on the school department to cut spending in the face of declining enrollments. School board Chairlady Mary Pronski said she "hasn't heard anything persuasive" that would indicate a reversal of the enrollment decline is coming in the near future, "not within 15 years."

Mrs. Crandall and Richard Santos said they believed a recent increase in housing starts and long-range enrollment projections compiled by the Metropolitan Area Planning Council indicate that Winchester's school-age population may show a significant increase by the early 1980's. Santos asked the committee to wait and "see if next year's figures show the 1976 (housing) figures to be aberational."

"In theory and practice we know the educational benefits of small elementary schools," Mrs. Pomeroy said. She cited the "benefits in human terms" of the principal knowing all of the children by name and the "emotional benefits" of the children having close relationships with their schoolmates.

She also said there was a "moral advantage" in the security of the small groupings. "Personal attention is the rule rather than the exception," she said.

"My gut reaction to a 500 student school is that it gives the children a feeling of powerlessness, isolation, and alienation." She said closing and consolidation would adversly affect education by disrupting in-group patterns.

Under the superintendent's plan to close Wyman, most of the 215 children would be transferred to Lincoln and a small number would go to Ambrose. In the event Ambrose is not renovated to increase its capacity, MacDonald said "no more than 19 kids"

TM names new staff assistant

Town Manager Thomas J. Groux has announced the appointment of James Vanar, 28, of Concord, to the newly-created position of staff assistant for budgeting and purchasing. Vanar will work directly for Groux in matters concerning those areas of town management.

Vanar has worked in the town manager's office in Concord since 1974. Before that he handled budget formulation and monitoring in the Acton town manager's office.

From 1965 until 1968 Vanar was an intern doing special project work for the Wellesley planning board, comptroller's office, and selectmen.

Vanar received a B.A. in political science from Northeastern University in 1969 and a master's in public administration with a concentration in finance and budgeting in 1976.

He is married and lives in Concord.

Groux appointed Vanar from a field of 137 applicants from 28 states. The salary range approved by the personnel board is $13,335 to $17,618.

Sponsors of residential preference article react to FinCom's vote

Michael D. Saraco and Vincent G. Carroll, co-sponsors of the town warrant article dealing with residential preference, have objected to the finance committee's taking a position on that article.

Article two on the warrant asks the town meeting "To see if the town will adopt a policy of residential preference; amend the wage and policy guide of the town for said purposes; or set any policy for residency requirements for the hiring and promotion of employees of all town departments; or take any action in relation thereto."

Carroll says that the FinCom, which voted October 18 not to recommend a policy of residential preference, acted prematurely in that they did not have a chance to see the actual motion which will be presented before town meeting.

Though the matter is not budget-related, Carroll said he and Saraco offered to explain their intentions to the FinCom. The FinCom refused to hear the two, according to Carroll. However they did assign member Carol Chan the task of learning what she could about the article.

Mrs. Chan was present when the two sponsors explained their petition to the board of selectmen, according to Carroll, and she apparently returned to the FinCom with a report. The FinCom subsequently voted against the proposal.

Carroll complained that the FinCom "should stay neutral until all the issues involved become clear."

The motion to be presented to town meeting by Carroll and Saraco states:

"Moved and Seconded: to amend the Personnel Policy Guide by inserting therein the following: It shall be the policy of the Town, with respect to employment in all departments, that if applicant meets the qualifications and the requirements for the position, that preference in hiring be given to persons residing in the Town. This policy shall apply to all positions of municipal employment whether permanent, temporary, full time or part time except Civil Service positions and those positions listed under the Supervisory and Managerial Schedules as outlined in the Town of Winchester Compensation Plan dated July 1, 1976. This policy shall be in effect and apply only to hirings which occur on or after January 1, 1977 and shall not effect the advancements or transfers of any employee."

According to FinCom Chairman John Williams, his committee's negative vote was based primarily on a desire to avoid placing a residential restriction on town hiring practices.

Two vacancies in town jobs

A reference librarian is needed for the Winchester public library, with an opening available November 1.

Requirements include a master's degree from an accredited library school and prior library experience. Salary range is $10,451 to $13,865 over five-year steps.

The council on aging is looking for a program administrator to work from 9 to 3, 30 hours a week.

Vandalism problem here is tackled by CONCERN; reasons for optimism

By RICK PEARL

The problem of vandalism in Winchester was discussed last Tuesday night at the high school in a program sponsored by CONCERN to inform the public and help in reaching possible solutions.

Winchester police authorites, on a scale of 1-10 (with ten being the highest), rated the vandalism problem as being "between three and four," according to Judge Luis Gonnella of the Woburn District Court (one of four panelists who spoke), while other cities and towns cited marks generally in the six to seven range.

Police Chief John P. McHugh backed this rating by stating that he didn't "think we have a real big problem here. I wouldn't put it in the same frame as the drug and alcohol problem."

Of the six towns in Judge Gonnella's district (4th Middlesex), Winchester's rating evaluation was the lowest. The rating was made, not necessarily by the police chiefs in each town, but by a representative of each department familiar with the problem.

The towns' evaluation is as follows: Wilmington — 7; Woburn — 6; Stoneham — 7; Burlington — 6; Reading — 5; North Reading — 6; and Winchester — 3 or 4.

Judge Gonnella, a graduate of the Harvard University Law School, disclosed that very few cases of vandalism (the correct legal term is: malicious damage to property) actually come before the court. In the juvenile court in the period spanning July 1, 1975 to June 30, 1976, only 45 juvenile cases of any kind came from Winchester. Of that 45, only five carried charges of malicious damage to property. He thought that number to be rather low, considering the problem vandalism has been in the town over the last few years.

The judge offered some explanation as to why more cases weren't brought before his court, if, indeed, the problem is as substantial as it is made out to be.

They were: 1) Vandalism is a difficult crime to detect and actually catch the culprit (s). 2) Although he couldn't document this, the judge was led to firmly believe that the parents in Winchester could "buy their family out of trouble." He stated that the police and school system of Winchester usually give the parent and-or student the choice of paying for the damage rather than going to court. Usually, retribution of this kind is accepted. If the culprit appears in court at a later time for a different offense, however, the court cannot take into consideration as evidence these prior crimes, since in affect, they are off the record.

Assistant superintendent of schools Jack Fallon, commenting on this retribution remark, disclosed that for the school year 1975-6 "less than $600 of reimbursement has been collected." He repeated the judge's earlier comment that they "rarely catch the kids" and that this was a major reason.

A third reason given by the judge didn't exactly tell why more cases weren't brought before the court, but rather why more persons weren't found "delinquent" (guilty) and are eventually acquitted. He said that there is no way in which the courts can come down harder on the problem. He gave as a reason the "unfortunate" Massachusetts system of appeal.

"If I find a juvenile delinquent, he can automatically, and I stress automatically, appeal and start from scratch. My verdict is not even mentioned in the next trial. Any time a judge makes a tough disposition (decision) you can bet there'll be an appeal! Certainly no one will accept a disposition and have it put on their record, when they can appeal it!"

Police Chief McHugh commenting on his departments low-key profile on the problem, gave his opinion that, "I think the youth in our community are worthy of praise. I believe that right here in Winchester we have the finest representation of youth, if not in the country, at least in the state." However, just because he didn't feel the vandalism problem to be as big as it may seem, he nevertheless gave his reasons why it was a problem at all, and outlined the work his staff is doing to control it.

A major reason, he felt, was the "insignificant" attitude of a lot of people. If a cruiser stops, for example, to stop a juvenile from breaking a street light, people complain, saying "Don't you have more important things to do? "Where do we draw the line?" asks the chief.

Also there is the problem of people actually reporting the crime. "Generally, people don't want to get involved...informing on their peers, or neighbors and friends," said the chief.

Of the many causes of vandalism he cited drugs and alcohol as the two biggest factors, as far as the extremely extensive acts of vandalism go. This, perhaps, helps to explain why these are the major concerns on the chief's list, as they are apt to tie into other crimes.

To alleviate this problem the chief stressed that all members of the community should "become involved, cooperate, and communicate. Let's all become part of our community." The police are helping out by using special patrols, plainclothesmen, frequent but irregular checks of certain areas, and encouraging the use of the most modern alarm systems for our public and business district buildings.

Mr. Fallon gave the statistics, monetary-wise, of the problem. In the school year 1975-6 "vandalism cost us five and a half times the amount spent on elementary art; ten times that of testing (K-12); almost as much as on all library and text books; and about the same as on the combined adult and summer school programs, and all extra-curricular activites." The cost of vandalism has distinctly soared from three years ago.

In the school year 1973-4, vandalism cost the school committee from between $20-25,000. In 1974-5 the cost escalated to $30,000. In the past year, 1975-6, the vandalism breakdown was as follows:

Elementary level (9 schools)	$ 7,220
Junior High level (2 schools)	5,889
Senior High School	25,247
Total	$38,356

The senior high school alone cost the school committee more on vandalism last year, than the entire cost three years ago. Commenting on each case separately, Mr. Fallon said that the elementary school cost was a "small problem," considering that 85 percent of the cost was for broken windows, which can happen any time, especially at recess where a softball may be put inside the building in an incorrect manner.

The junior highs, "if it weren't for two incidents at McCall that cost us $3,000," would have only amounted to a little less than $3,000, Fallon stated. Again, in the context of a $10 million budget, Mr. Fallon repeated that "this isn't very big." But the high school was a different story.

About $4,000 was spent on window breakage. Now the school is outfitted with the unbreakable plexi-glass plastic windows. A total of $3,700 was spent on miscellaneous damage outside, and a whopping $17,000 inside.

So far during the current school year, there has been a dramatic decrease in the amount of vandalism, according to Mr. Fallon, amounting to only $2,900. "I hope no one will accept this as a challenge," Fallon joked.

Mr. Fallon also told of measures the school committee was taking to alleviate the problem. "Defensively" the school has put staff members on corridor duty in the high school, restricted free use of the building during free time, and put more custodians on the 3-11 p.m. shift.

"Offensively", new programs are being started in the elementary schools to educate children at an early age of the disadvantages of vandalism. Also, the new non-college-bound student program (High Scgool Update, October 7), which was instituted this year, was mentioned, along with a proposal that there be a specific item of curriculum dealing directly with the problem, as factors which may help the cause.

The final speaker of the night was David Russell, a junior in the high school, whose prepared speech got the loudest ovation of all. It was well written and delivered, and basically called for the "apathetic 80 percent" of the student body to join with the "concerned 10 percent" in stopping the vandals from ruining the appearance of a building that students spend a major portion of their school year in.

Representatives from various goodwill groups in the community then were given the floor to describe what each of their organizations was trying to do to help overcome vandalism.

Finally the panel, consisting of Judge Gonnella, Chief McHugh, Mr. Fallon, and Mr. Russell was open to questioning from the pleasingly large audience in attendance. Although the meeting ran head to head with the televised World Series game that night, most of the audience stayed until CONCERN Chairman Tim McCarthy called the meeting to a close.

However, as Judge Gonnella remarked, "There is really an element of futility in speaking to you tonight, because you are the converters. You are the people who care. The people we really need, the ones that do not care, of course, aren't here." Perhaps through the efforts of the people of CONCERN a solution will be found, so that "they" will not be needed.

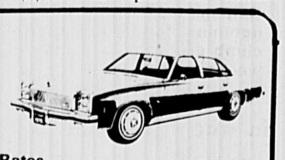

The polls are open Tuesday, Nov. 2 from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. Vote!

At that meeting, on my plea to reopen the incinerator until construction was completed, Chairman Sullivan stated emphatically "It will not be opened tomorrow or Wednesday, and that is final".

This arrogance, notwithstanding my informed information that the operation would be delayed by 8 to 10 weeks (with the added expense of trucking), fell on deaf ears. The Board concluded it would be a period of only 2 to 3 weeks until full operation of the transfer station — it has now been twelve (12) weeks. My questions regarding whether the trash was being weighed, and where as well as questions concerning the approximate costs involved were shrugged-off with "...two loads were weighted, ..somewhere in Cambridge, I think" by Town Manager, and we don't have that information. I was treated as are so many others that appear before the Selectmen as something to be endured and passed-off with a "another week or so" answer to some very serious questions.

You know me, I don't stop until I find the answer...for your information each ton of rubbish hauled cost the town nearly $14.00 per ton, to the date of this writing, at an overage of 300 tons per week, the bill is in the vicinity of $45,000. (that is forty-five thousand dollars). There is no available contract, order, or verbal instruction, which is confirmed by conversation with the Manager on various occasions. If one turns up at this meeting, it can only indicate that he (The Manager) lied to us on those occasions or that this is a phoney instrument.

Let's get back to the Permanent Building Committee. It was created several years ago, because many other communities had problems with public construction projects. This committee was to allow Winchester to have its own "experts" and we require as members, an Attorney, for perusing legal documents, a Civil Engineer, for his expertise, a Contractor, engaged in the business, and a citizen. We have presently, an Attorney, Engineer, Civil Engineer, and 2 contractors...yet the Building Committee have not caused the Contractor to adhere to specifications. The building is over 3 feet higher than it should be since the conveyor must defy the laws of gravity and attempt to conduct all this rubbish, up-hill, into the pit...of course it doesn't work, the debris simply falls off the conveyor to the ground. We realize that this will be corrected, however it will cost the taxpayers...more money for stupidity!

Design Engineering again...in the operators room, due to poor design, the operator cannot see down into the pit...with the push of a button he can crush a man to death! This same operator takes care of the scales on which the trucks are weighed. These scales are over 500 feet away and the window is too small for his head to project. To be heard over the din of the machines and the trucks he would have to have a stentorian voice. This can be overcome by the installation of a P.A. system, another extra you will pay for.

The scale itself, has problems. Present grading allows water to flow toward the scale rather than away from the pit mechanism, this also can be corrected at additional cost.

All-in-all, you got stuck, and somebody, not the taxpayers, ought to pay these bills. It is my opinion that these additional costs are the responsibility of the Maguire Engineering company...not the Winchester taxpayers.

Finally...someone, Selectmen, Manager, PBC...ordered the incinerator stack and equipment removed from the incinerator in violation of their own contract documents which states there would be no demolition until the transfer station was in reasonable operation. Whoever authorized this work which was done on Columbus Day, should, like Columbus discover American...Americans are not fools.

Your officials have caused this crisis, Vote NO on Article 9 and let them get out of this man-made mess as best as they can.

Remember that when someone tells you that "it's only money" its usually our money he's talking about.

The following answers were given by Groux in response to questions by The Star:

When bids for hauling of rubbish went out in the spring of 1976, four firms responded. The bids came in lower than the previously estimated $187,500 requested at the May town meeting. The figure was reduced to $169,500.

The town signed a two-year contract with SCA of Boston for the out-of-town disposal of rubbish to be compacted at the Winchester transfer station at the $12.33 a ton rate.

"We did not anticipate the problems and delays we have had," Groux said, "and that is why we are requesting an additional $25,000 to cover the extra $1.50 per ton for hauling uncompacted rubbish."

The $25,000, of which $5,000 is personal services and the remainder is other expenses, includes a ten percent buffer for contingencies like a breakdown at the facility or a greater tonnage than the 300 tons a week on which the figures are based.

That part of the arrangement was made in written agreements between the contractor and the town manager he added.

Groux further said that the question of dismantling the stack and removing equipment is consistent with the town meeting authorization to the town manager to administer the change from burning rubbish to compacting it at the Environmental Protection Agency-mandated transfer station.

Groux said that part of the bidding involved the demolition of the stack and the removal of equipment. In addition, it included the bricking in of the hole left by the removed smokestack.

Hewis referred to the town employee paid over-time to be at the site of the transfer station from 7 a.m. until opening time at 1 p.m.

Groux contends that this man has been paid straight time and was necessary to allow traffic flow of heavy equipment while construction of the transfer station was progressing. The dump is now open for commercial gardeners and refuse collectors for two hours in the morning.

The transfer station is still under the jurisdiction of the Permanent Building Committee. When that committee gives the transfer station over to the town, the dumping and compacting of rubbish on site will begin in earnest. Trials and tests in the past few days have indicated that the facility should be ready at any time, according to Groux.

The bureau drawer case

When Police Officers Tranchita and Anselmo were on their rounds at 3:20 the morning of October 24, a glint from the shrubbery at Glen road and Church street caught their eye.

Upon investigation, the officers found a bureau drawer hidden among the bushes. The drawer contained a quantity of silverware, a television set, and $150 in bills in a silver sugar bowl.

They staked themselves within sight of the bushes and hoped that the thief or thieves responsible would return for the goods.

When no one showed up Tranchita and Anselmo took the items to the police station.

At 7 a.m. Mrs. Lancaster of 99 Cambridge st. reported a break at her house. In addition to the items found in the drawer, thieves took a diamond ring, $200 cash, and two handbags.

Damage from one of the past summer's lightning storms is repaired as workmen climb up to patch the town hall roof a week ago Monday.

Student abroad in study program

David R. Blakely of Winchester is among 35 Furman University students presently living in England and participating in Furman's fall 1976 foreign study program.

Under the guidance of Furman professors Dr. Willard Pate, Dr. E. J. Walters and Dr. John Crabtree, the fall term in England program began with a travel-study tour of England, Scotland and Ireland. Through October the students will live in London and study in cooperation with Birkbeck College of the University of London. They will move to Stratford in November for a course in Shakespearean drama.

David is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Blakely of 28 Canterbury rd. He is a junior at Furman majoring in political science.

Police blotter

Three youths arrested, charged with break at VFW quarters

Three Winchester youths were arrested and charged with breaking and entering and possession of burglarious instruments in connection with a break Saturday morning at the VFW post, 30 River st. Arraigned in Woburn District Court were Robert Barron, 19, of 54 Richardson st., Michael Amico, 18, of 38 White st., and James M. Sullivan, 18, of 8 Hill st. Their case has been continued.

Police responded to the burglar alarm at the station at 3:25 a.m. When they arrived at the VFW, they found Barron in the shrubs surrounding the building.

After contacting VFW officials, they entered the building and found Amico and Sullivan in a closet.

The officers involved were Officers Culhane, Jackson, Bartlett, J. Morgan, and Saraco.

A robbery occurred at the Texaco station at Cambridge and Pond streets on October 20 and another on October 24. These were the third and fourth robberies there since October 2.

On the afternoon of October 20, attendant Thomas Romeo of Wendell street was alone in the station when a man entered and indicated he had a weapon.

After forcing Romeo to turn over $80, the man fled toward Arlington. The time was 4:28 p.m.

At 7:38 p.m. on Sunday, October 24, attendant Gary Stanton of Reading was doing some paper work in the station when a man, approximately 19 to 23 years of age, medium build, entered the premises and ordered Stanton to lie on the floor. The suspect covered his hand with his jacket and indicated he was armed.

He took $208.40 and fled.

Stanton told police that he had serviced a car occupied by a woman and a man fitting the description of the suspect. He was able to furnish police with a description of the car.

When police arrived at the Texaco station in response to Stanton's call, they searched the wooded area around the station for the suspect. Stanton did not hear a car pull away after the robbery. He told police that he saw the man apparently fleeing into the woods.

A search by eleven policemen from Winchester and Woburn and the police dogs failed to locate the suspect. Later in the evening a car fitting the descriptio was spotted in Woburn but was lost when the driver turned out his lights and fled. Police Chief John P. McHugh said that the last incident at the Texaco station was the first time that a complete description of a suspect could be made by the attendant.

In no case, however, has a weapon actually been seen by the attendant, he said, although each time the suspect indicated he was armed.

Officers Guarente, Jackson, Oliver, and Anselmo responded to this latest robbery.

In other activity, police responded to a break at 17 Wildwood st. on October 22. Five Oriental rugs and a quantity of silverware were taken.

The house at 14 Wildwood was ransacked on October 25. Police responded at 2:45 p.m. and found a calculator stolen.

Dick Daly
CONGRESS

Do You Like The Big-spenders Who Run Congress?

Dick Daly is the former newspaperman and state representative who won the Republican nomination for Congress in a dramatic write-in campaign last September.

Now he is running against Ed Markey and the issues are crystal clear. Ed Markey wants more federal spending and more taxes. He's for the Humphrey-Hawkins bill to put people on the federal payroll in make-work jobs. He's for a giant national health plan run by the government at a cost--to--you of billions.

Dick Daly Doesn't! He's Running Against Them

Dick Daly is different. He wants to give tax breaks to private companies to create new jobs that are real jobs. He wants a national health program that brings in efficient, non-political private companies on competitive bidding, to get the most for our health-insurance dollars.

Dick Daly wants to cut federal spending so we can cut taxes. Congress should take a hard look at the fat bureaucracy that doesn't serve the people as it should, at foreign aid to countries that mock the U.S., at welfare programs that don't work.

The government's job is to serve people and encourage free enterprise, not tax us to death and try to run our lives from Washington. The American people are a great people. We can do better.

How to make gold out of lead.

Grab a pencil and figure out how much the Shawmut Way NOW is worth to you.

No matter how you figure it, no other bank NOW offers more.

1. 5% NOW checking account. $26. A personal checking account which pays 5% annual interest, compounded continuously. Over a year, if you have an average daily balance of $1,000 (excluding interest earned during the year) and if you leave all the interest in your account to accumulate, you earn $52.00.

2. Fully personalized checks. $3.50 All the checks you need, at no extra charge. They're imprinted with your name and address and are sequentially numbered. Some "free" checking or NOW accounts charge for similar checks, as much as $3.50 for every 200. Figure out how much you'll save over a year.

3. Overdraft protection. $20. This important feature eliminates the worry of "bounced" checks by loaning you the amount of the overdraft up to your available credit*. Overdraw your account? Banks usually charge about $5 for each "bounced" check. What will you save a year with overdraft protection?

4. Preferred loan rates. $8.52 You get a ½% reduction off the ANNUAL PERCENTAGE RATE normally charged by the bank on all approved personal instalment loans. Whatever reason for borrowing—home improvement, car, travel—figure on saving $8.52 a year on every $3,000 you borrow

5. Traveler's checks. $10. All you wish to purchase with no fee. That's a savings of $1 per $100 worth of checks. Take $500 on a trip and you save $5. It adds up. (Money orders and bank checks may be purchased at no fee.)

6. "One time only" bonus. $5. Your Shawmut bank will deposit $1 for you in a regular savings account or will deposit an additional $4 when you first authorize an automatic transfer of $10 or more a month from your NOW account to your savings account.

Plus.
You have the benefit of one-stop banking and your Shawmut Way card helps you cash your Shawmut personal check up to $100 per day at over 120 offices of the 8 Shawmut banks. Figure out these savings in time and aggravation.

Add up your savings: $73.02

Now let us show you how little the new Shawmut Way NOW package can cost you.

As long as you keep an average daily balance in your NOW account of:	Your monthly service fee is:
$1,000 and over	Free
$500 to $999.99	$1
Less than $500	$2

(Transferring some money from your Shawmut savings to your NOW account at no loss of interest is one way to build up your average daily balance.)

Less service charges: $12.00

Net savings: $61.02

*Each loan is subject to finance charges at our regular rates.

Based on a $3,000 loan payable in 36 equal monthly payments of $98.21 each at an ANNUAL PERCENTAGE RATE of 11.00%. Total of payments $3,535.56.

Whether you have a NOW account or not, why not compare what you get from your bank with what you can get from the new Shawmut Way NOW package. It's the best banking value in the state. But figure it out for yourself, then come in and apply for your own Shawmut Way NOW package.

The questions

This year voters will be faced with nine referendum questions on a statewide basis. There have been conflicting advertising and emotional claims surrounding many of these questions, so much so that the voters who don't have time to carefully seek out and weigh arguments on all sides of each issue may be confused. This newspaper is taking an editorial position on each question to provide you with some additional input from a source (us) that has had a chance to look at all the arguments, and to let you know what our bias is on these issues.

We hope you will look at these questions from the same perspective, but if you are not sure, and are financially conservative, we can make a general recommendation that you consider a "no" vote, because many of these questions are going to cost money. As taxpayers, you know who ends up paying the bills.

Generally, democracy is at its zenith when the voters speak on referendum questions. "Be it Enacted by the People, and by their Authority," says the preamble to each question and the awesomeness of that phrase conjurs up visions of Thomas Jefferson and John Hancock standing silently beside you in the voting booth with quill pen in hand.

However, referendum questions can really be dangerous to the very system that permits them. Often they result from special interest groups who can't get a law through the Legislature deciding that they can sell their idea to the public at large. The theory is that if you start with a few universal principles that people are generally predisposed to support, then you can confuse enough others with a mass media campaign to get your law enacted. This is particularly true if the potential opposition isn't well organized or financed.

There is no way each voter can be exposed to all the conflicting arguments and make a reasoned choice on all questions. Some people are going to feel well-informed, others partially informed, and others are going to get to Question 9 and be reading it for the first time. For this reason, if you feel victim of a mass media campaign, only partially informed or somewhat unsure — and you don't want to vote "no" — then you'd probably be better off skipping that question entirely.

Here are our biases and rationale for our positions on the statewide questions. We have looked at them in terms of potential dollars involved, an important consideration for taxpayers.

Question 1, Equal Rights Amendment

Probably a small amount of dollars, if any, is involved. This is a proposed amendment to the Massachusetts Constitution which essentially parallels that proposed for the Federal Constitution. It would set to rest once and for all the idea that women ought to be treated differently than men. It recognizes equality for women — and men. It's that simple. We will vote YES.

Question 2, Graduated Income Tax

Large dollars involved — untold millions. This would permit the Legislature to change the tax rate from year to year as it sees fit. It would permit different rates to apply to different types of incomes and to different levels of income. It amounts to a blank check to raise taxes.

Each time this has been proposed the voters have seen through the smoke screen and turned it down. But with every new proposal comes a new formula showing how much the middle income wage earner will "save" under the new graduated tax plan. What people forget is that the law itself contains no formula — the formula will be set by the Legislature and is subject to change each year.

If you think the federal government plays havoc with your take-home pay and all its tax regulations, just wait until the state gets its graduated income tax. Everybody will graduate in four years or less. If you don't think your tax bracket will jump every time you get a cost of living raise which keeps you standing still with inflation, you can take a chance on the graduated income tax.

As for the so-called "fairness" aspect of this proposal — otherwise known as "soak the rich" — that will last about one year before the average middle-income guy has to be "regraduated" to generate new tax revenues. Actually under the present system we have graduation. Some pay less because of allowed exemptions and the family earning $20,000 a years pays twice as much as the family earning $10,000. What could be more fair than that? We will vote NO on Question 2.

Question 3. Absentee Voting for Religious Reasons

Small dollars, if any, involved. This would allow people to vote via absentee ballot if election day falls on the religious holiday of their faith. We will vote YES.

Question 4, Massachusetts Power Authority.

Large dollars, many hundreds of millions involved. Supposedly this money would be raised by revenue bonds, not directly from taxpayers, however electricity users — and that means everybody — would pay off these bonds through their electric rates. And the rates would be set unilaterally by the authority, without hearings and without approval of any other state agency.

Question 4 would set up an independent public authority which would have the power to confiscate all property now owned by the private utilities, pay them for it, and put the state in the business of generating, distributing and selling electricity. No significant savings would come to Calling last Monday's town swine flu clinic a "huge success," Michael Saraco, director of public health for the town, praised the efforts of the volunteer state health workers, Red Cross, Council on Aging, and the volunteer doctors who administered to 846 townspeople. Elmer M. Grinnell, 81 Forest st., was one of the recipients of the bivalent A. swine and A. Victoria injections, here being given by Ruth Mortensen, a nurse from the state health department. Saraco credited the relaxed atmosphere, complete with coffee, with keeping tenseness and nervousness to a minimum. "It was like a social gathering," he said. He reminds those chronically ill under the age of 18 that they must go back for a second shot for complete immunization. The board of health will have a second clinic in a couple of weeks.

'No' on Question 5

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

I wish to outline the following points to inform the residents of Winchester of my opposition to Question 5.

1. Criminals would not turn in handguns. The Supreme Court has ruled that they don't have to register illegal guns as that constitutes forcing them to testify against themselves.

2. Guns banned in Massachusetts would be readily available in nearby states which have liberal gun laws.

3. The majority of law-abiding citizens who have firearm permits would turn in their guns. They would be then at the mercy of the criminal.

4. The law would, in effect, make criminals out of formerly law-abiding persons who did not want to turn guns in.

5. In these times, crime has increased dramatically and police cannot protect everyone. Therefore a citizen should have the right to protect his family and himself.

6. The law would be similar to the Constitutional Amendment prohibiting liquor in 1919 and repealed in 1933. There would be a black market in guns and added revenue for racketeers.

7. The economics of confiscation of handguns would be prohibitive in a state that is now overtaxed and in a precarious financial status. The cost would be in the millions of dollars.

For these reasons, I urge voters to vote No on Question 5 at the upcoming election.

John P. McHugh,
Chief of Police

Hand guns

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

Murder by handgun increased 72 percent in Massachusetts from 1968 to 1974, according to the Massachusetts Research Center. Armed robberies during this period increased 232 percent, with handguns being used 60 percent of the time. The handgun has become the primary tool of crime.

Referendum Question 5 on the November 2 ballot proposes legislation prohibiting the private possession, ownership and sale of handguns. Defined as "any weapon from which a shot or bullet can be discharged and which has a barrel length of less than 16 inches, handguns are easily available, concealable — and deadly.

Question 5 would require people to turn in their handguns within six months of enactment, or be subject to the present laws dealing with "unlawful possession, ownership, or sale of handguns," including the provision imposing mandatory jail sentences.

Estimates of the number of handguns now in Massachusetts vary from 400,000 to 800,000. Whatever their number, their basic purpose is to kill.

Some people buy handguns for protection, but how effective is that protection? Can they keep their handgun loaded and in view, taking the chance that children will get to it? Can they keep it unloaded, with the ammunition in one place and the gun in another, and tell the burglar to wait until they get ready to defend themselves? Or can they keep it on them at all times, like Gary Cooper in "High Noon," ever ready for the shoot-out? We can only hope our lives haven't come to that.

The Eisenhower Commission on the Causes and Prevention of Violence found that for every burglar stopped by a gun, four homeowners or family members are killed by a gun in accidents. Many burglaries are committed solely to gain possession of handguns.

We must rely on our laws. We must strengthen them as needed. But we must rely on our law enforcement officers to carry them out.

Some people buy handguns for competitive sports; these will also have to turn in their handguns. However, there will still be other guns available for sporting purposes, since this law does not cover rifles and other sporting guns that have a barrel length over 16 inches.

Many are concerned about the constitutionality of banning handguns. Four times the U.S. Supreme Court has dealt with the second amendment "right of the people to keep and bear arms," and four times it has ruled that this right refers to the militia (collective people, i.e., military and law enforcement personnel) and not to the individual.

Referendum Question 5 allows for compensation for turning in handguns at a rate to be determined by the Department of Public Safety. There have been many outcries that this will cost the state money, and it will. However, this one-time expense must be balanced against the year-after-year costs spiraling handgun crime — medical expenses, loss of earnings due to death or injury, property losses from armed robbery. The Minority Report of the Joint Legislative Committee on Public Safety estimates that these costs could easily exceed $13,000,000 per year.

Vote Yes on Question 5.

Litter pickup

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

I offer the enclosed pictures in the hope that you will share with your readers the story of the weekly Sunday morning trash pick-up in town.

Even in this inclement weather Mr. Richard Casalinuovo and Mr. Joseph Knowles of the Winchester Park Department were able to fill their truck with litter, much of it beverage cans and bottles, from the Common and other central areas of town.

While the rest of Winchester sleeps late on a Sunday, they are up early collecting thrown-away throw away "convenience" beverage containers. I understand that in warmer weather they may be seen by early risers at this job on Saturdays as well.

As a taxpayer, I resent the need to spend town money in this way. I am hoping for the passage of the Bottle Bill, Question 6 on the ballot this November, to reduce Sunday morning work hours and our local taxes at the same time.

Town watch ...

Tax break for homeowners?

By The Observer

The proposal for a "powerful coalition" to find a statewide tax alternative for overburdened real estate owners, sounds like a good one to generate more revenues.

Involved are the Mass. Taxpayers Foundation, the Mass. League of Cities and Towns, the Central Labor Council, the greater Boston Chamber of Commerce, the Associated Industries of Massachusetts, Boston Rental Housing Assn. and the Boston Municipal Research Bureau.

They propose to work out a package of legislation to generate more revenues. One idea is to increase the sales tax to cover a broader base including some clothing and services. They would cut the tax from 5 to 4 per cent and tack the extra percentage point back on in the Metropolitan area, the cities and towns of which would directly receive the extra cash. It is believed that such a plan would bring the Boston Metroplitan area another $70 million. But $40 million of this would go to the City of Boston.

Important to Winchester is the package's plan to change ways in which state money is distributed to communities. This includes the cherry sheet and educational allotments.

The meeting of the "coalition" is a spinoff of one Boston Mayor Kevin White tried to put together to bail his city out of its financial trouble.

Some people were already fearful that this new idea might turn out to be a Boston bailout. But Kennedy Shaw, director of the League of Cities and Towns, of which Winchester is a member, debunked that, saying that "there are a lot of other places in this state as bad off as Boston, huge tax rate increases in Chicopee, Salem, New Bedford."

At any rate, they claim they don't want it to be a hurry-up deal, and will study it some more. They are not pressing their notions.

That they are doing anything at all to try to relieve the harried property owners is quite encouraging. Who knows, maybe the private homeowner, who bears the largest measure of the tax burden, will get a break some day afterall.

Winchester residents have voiced their ire from time to time about the noise from jet aircraft flying over the town to and from Logan Airport in Boston. It seems that Winchester is directly under one of the flight patterns used regularly by aircraft.

It may do their hearts some good (and their ears and peace of mind) to know that Attorney General Bellotti along with others from New York and Illinois, have filed suit in U.S. District Court in Washington against the Federal Aviation Administration.

Their suit seeks to force the FAA to adopt a number of proposed aircraft noise regulations or explain why it has not been done.

It would require the modification of older jet engines in order to reduce the noise emissions. It would also require aircraft to maintain minimum flight levels in the vicinity of airports and special noise-abatement instruments.

Seniors express gratitude

By LEONOR M. RICH

Winchester's senior citizens are deeply grateful to Mr. and Mrs. James L. Jenks, Jr. who are indeed benefactors of renown. Everyoine, young and old, is inspired by the mmagnitude of the gift presented for the senior center which will open up new avenues for the elderly of the town.

The members of the steering committee for the building fund have worked diligently and zealously during the past several months to make the center a reality always feeling a positive attitude that the goals were attainable by dint of hard work. Now the curtains have been lifted and the sunlight will soon fall on the edifice that will begin to take shape in the near future.

Mr. and Mrs. Jenks gave a tremendous boost to the morale of all of the seniors in the town through their great benevolence.

At this point we would like to acknowledge specifically the contributions of Winchester's merchants who have been extremely supportive of the project. This article gives public acclaim only to the businesses and banks which have contributed to the cause. In successive weeks, others will be recognized and additional names of concerns will be published as they join forces with the fund for the new building. The following businesses and banks have donated to the building fund:

Also, what a splendid thing the discount program has been for the elderly who are on fixed incomes! Many of the merchants of the town have offered from 10 percent to 25 percent discounts on merchandise when I.D. cards are shown. It is impossible to measure the far-reaching effects of this service in relieving financial stress among the senior group. This gesture of good will indicates that the human quality of caring among our merchants is worthy of comment to the general public. The following have offered discounts:

Try autumn's 'baked stones'

BY ELIZABETH
Star Correspondent

A cup of steaming tea and a hot Welsh tea cake is a perfect lift on a damp, overcast autumn day.

Two energetic ladies, Marie Carswell and Alison Taber, took a Monday tea break from the frenetic preparations for the Drury Lane Fair at the Church of the Epiphany which continues all day today.

In response to a request for a sample of some of the goodies to be served at the Fair at the Nell Gwynne Tea Room starting at 3 p.m. today, Mrs. Carswell passed a plate of small Welsh teacakes fresh from the griddle and topped with butter.

"I obtained the recipe from my 90-year-old grandmother who still lives in Wales," said Mrs. Carswell who visits her native country each year. "They are also called baked stones."

She explained that the delicately sweet cakes are baked on a cast iron griddle or frying pan. She uses a small round griddle with a handle that fits a burner on her electric range.

Other items on the Tea House menu include shortbread, brandy snaps, small mince pies, maid-of-honor cakes, and cream meringues.

Some of these items and others such as Irish soda bread and fruitcakes will be sold at the Welsh Pantry booth at the Fair.

As chairman and co-chairman, Marie and Alison, who are both British, were finishing a myriad of details on Monday. Marie was unpacking a box of British souvenirs, matchbooks, tee shirts and tea towels she brought back from her summer vacation. Alison was making felt finger puppets and planning what recipes she would be baking.

The Fair is an annual production although the theme changes each year. "I told them I was Birith-when they asked me to be chairman in the Bicentennial year," she said with a smile.

Other highlights of the fair which concludes today at 4:30 include crafts, needlework, plants, flea market, knits, dolls, books, cutlery and jewelry.

Marie's Welsh Cakes

1 cup flour
½ teaspoon baking powder,
¼ pound butter
¼ cup currants
¼ cup sugar
1 egg
½ teaspoon spice
¼ teaspoon salt
Milk

Rub butter into flour; add dry ingredients, egg and mix to stiff dough, adding enough milk to make dough-like pastry. Roll out to one-inch thick. Cut with small muffin cutter. Cook on heated grill for 10 minutes at medium heat.

Maid Of Honor Cakes

2 cups flour
2-3 cup shortening
1 teaspoon salt
7 to 8 tablespoons cold water
½ cup butter
1¼ cups sugar
2 eggs beaten
1 teaspoon vanilla
2½ cups flour, sifted
2½ teaspoons baking powder
1 cup milk
Raspberry preserves

Combine 2 cups flour, shortening, ½ teaspoon salt and water. Roll out thin on floured board; cut into three-inch circles and line cupcake tins. Place one teaspoon preserves in each shell. Set aside. Combine sugar, butter, eggs and vanilla. Beat well; add sifted flour, remaining salt and baking powder alternately with milk. Place two tablespoons cake mixture on top of each preserve filling. Bake at 375 degrees for 15 minutes. Sprinkle with powdered sugar when cool.

Sell containers

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

Sell your empty beverage containers back to the store from whence they came. If the "Bottle Bill" becomes law, the stores will have to buy back the "empties."

Why pay for containers that you throw away?

Why pay rubbish collectors to carry off valuable containers?

Why fill our dumps with cans and glass bottles that could be used over and over?

Why encourage our youth to throw out their empty beverage containers everywhere... along our highways; on our lawns; in our parks; all over our woodlands; throughout our meadows; and layer upon layer in our streams and ponds. There is hardly a wilderness area so remote that empty beer cans have not arrived ahead of you. At present, the youths can't sell them, so they leave them everywhere...they are valueless to them. When you buy a drink in a can or bottle, you pay for the container. It required raw material to make it. There is enough of this raw material to last our lifetime, but how about our children? We are not replacing it. We are not reusing it. We are just scattering it across the country where it can never be salvaged.

To make these containers, required a great deal of heat. To create this heat, required the consumption of precious energy...the very energy that is used by us in so many ways; the energy that is so essential to modern living. At present, the cheap energy we are now using to create these throw-away containers is irreplacable. When it is gone, it is forever gone. We cannot replace the energy found in coal, natural gas and oil. Again! we are stealing from our children, their share of this inexpensive source of heat.

How can we be so selfish!
How can we be so wasteful!
Sell the containers back to the stores;

Likes Markey

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

May I have a space in The Star to write in support of the candidacy of Edward Markey for the vacant seat in the Seventh Congressional District?

Although I am an Independent I plan to support Mr. Markey because of his interest, intelligence and integrity.

Regardless of political ties one must evaluate the qualifications of the man for the position and act accordingly.

Keeping taxes as low as possible while supporting proper and effective action to improve the economic conditions for all the people of the district are among his primary aims.

Effective in saying what he means, honest beyond a shadow of doubt, a legislator of proven ability, with a keen legal mind, he was named legislator of the year by the Massachusetts Bar Association.

You will do yourself, the citizens of Winchester and the entire district a favor if you "Mark Your Ballot for Markey."

Voter Revolt

TO THE EDITOR:

The election this year could return not only Middlesex County back to good government, but it could also start the Commonwealth of Massachusetts in the same direction. I feel this will come about with the return of a two party system of government to Middlesex County.

With the new direction in Middlesex will come the Election of new Congressmen, State Senators, and State Representatives and will end the waste and extravagance in County Government and should catch on at the State level. This all came about, when many hundreds and thousands of people in Middlesex County towns and cities wrote in names of candidates on primary day and some were nominated.

I feel this had to come about, for how long did the politicians think the people could hold back in the face of one sided government? For many years one political party has held control of not only Middlesex County, but the State Senate, House of Representatives, the Governor's Councillors and every other part of Government I can think of.

There has been no check, or balance on State, or County Government and taxes, waste and extravagance in all Government has gone up and up. Elected politicians have lost interest with the leak of opposition from any other party and with it all comes the reality that elected positions are nothing more than part time jobs.

Only one thing stands in the way of the voters' revolt and that is that all these people upset with waste, extravagance and higher taxes must vote on November 2, 1976. How upset and disturbed people are, we will know soon on November 2, 1976. I personally feel the people are always far ahead of the politicians in the direction of controlling Government thinking.

Yours truly,
Lester W. Bowen

Well attended

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

The clinic for vaccination against both A. Victoria and A. Swine influenza held at the Town Hall on Monday, the 25th, was very well attended.

We wish to express our appreciation to the volunteers from the Winchester Red Cross, R.N.s and others who assisted in the innoculation procedures all day and to the drivers who furnished rides when needed. Mr. Michael D. Saraco deserves a vote of thanks for that hot cup of coffee we so enjoyed as we waited our ten minutes before starting on our way.

Women are victims of discrimination, even if they never leave the house.

If you and your husband own your own home, chances are good it's a "tenancy by the entirety." That means, during the marriage, your husband has exclusive control of the property plus all income and benefits - even if you made the down payment. Unless you can prove you paid for it, a wife is not legally entitled to any decisions regarding marital property. The ERA will help to change this by making all propterty laws subject to review. - taking out words like man or husband and inserting spouse (where applicable.)

Right now, the work women do caring for a house and family is not recognized as valuable support. The passage of the ERA will help to make the woman's housework equal in importance to the work of her husband. Vote yes on No. 1.

Players to stage drama 'Picnic'

With a stylish and imaginative set by Herbert Hamilton, the Winchester Players open the fall theatre season with William Inge's exciting drama, Picnic.

This play, set in a stiflingly small Kansas town, explores the impact of an exceedingly virile and attractive "young man with a past" on the town's residents, male and female, young and middle-aged, especially as they celebrate a picnic in the town park.

Picnic, directed by Robert Storer and produced by Alan Eyeden, stars Hugh Fraser as Hal and Luanne Benshimol as Madge. They are brilliantly supported by Lib Hoxie, Peter Prescott, Pam Boerner, Connie Blanchard, Steve Brown, Dorothy Rowell, Christien Dwyer, Adam Leach, and Grace Smith.

Plan now to set aside November 12, 13, 19, or 20 for a stimulating and exciting theatrical evening. Curtain is at 8:15, Metcalf Hall, Winchester Unitarian Church corner of Mystic Valley parkway and Main street.

Tickets may be ordered ahead (but after November 1) from Janet Spencer. Students and senior citizens may purchase tickets for a discount.

By 22-0 score

Finally, a bright Saturday: Sachems walk over Belmont

by John F. Parrell

The victory light finally flashed for Coach Manny Marshall's football eleven last Saturday as they decisively beat the Belmont Marauders by 22-0. All the socring was done in the first half but the Sachems held the upper hand throughout and the only real threat by the Marauders died with the final whistle.

The visitors have not been enjoying a good season and have yet to come out on top in their performances to date. This situation is hard to explain since their sophomore teams of the past three years have been almost unbeatable. However, they never seem to develop into a varsity group that is able to cope with the Middlesex League schedule. Their coaching is certainly capable but there seems to be something missing when they take the field.

However, they have been able to put points on the board in most of their games which makes the Sachem shutout all the more convincing. Tony Marrocco was their best running back and he made a few good gains, but they could not seem to maintain a steady offensive drive.

As the game opened the Marauders marched from their own 13 to the Red and Black 35 with Marrocco picking up most of the yardage except for the pass from DiPietro of Joe Galvin which put the ball at the 35. But a holding penalty set back the visitors and although Marrocco picked up ten they were forced to pass.

Bill Murphy put an end to the threat by intercepting at his own 30 and ran it to his own 45. Anthony Davis, Tom Murray and Don Allard carried for a first down at the Belmont 43, and a pass from Allard to Bob Blasi set up a first down at the 15. But a Winchester fumble was recovered by the visitors.

They failed to make a first down and punted to Bill Murphy who ran from the Marauders 45 to the 35 just as the second period opened. On the fourth play of the period Anthony Davis took a pitchout from Don Allard and sped 27 yards into the end zone for the first Sachem score. Allard ran for the two point conversion and Winchester had an 8-0 lead.

After the ensuing kickoff Belmont staged a short drive which moved the ball to midfield but ended when Wayne Maggio pounced on the ball for Winchester. Allard passed to Bob Blasi for a first down at the Belmont 40. A pitchout to Anthony Davis found the speedy back getting to the 27 of the visitors for another first down.

Then Belmont was hit by a personal foul assessment which gave the home forces a first down at the Belmont eight. On fourth down Don Allard passed to Bob Blasi who was all alone in the end zone. Brian O'Connor booted the extra point and the Sachems were in front 15-0 with 1:42 left in the half.

Belmont took to the air and Mark Barry gathered the pigskin in and raced deep into the Marauder territory. Allard made five and then Davis was away for a first down at the two. Davis tallied his second touchdown as he plunged across and O'Connor once again booted the extra point for the 22-0 half timelead.

The early stages of the third period found both teams making short gains with Mike Cavaretta getting a couple of longer ones. But as the period ended it was Brian O'Connor punting to the Belmont 14.

Belmont fumbled immediately and this time Bill Murphy came up with the pigskin at their 35 yard line. Cavaretta made nine and Tony Macinanti picked up a first down. Once again it was Cavaretta breaking away for a first down at the five. But the threat to add to the score sputtered and died and Belmont booted out of danger.

Winchester was hit with a 15 yard penalty and before long had been moved so far back by the officials that the score board read fourth and 45. O'Connor punted to the Belmont 31.

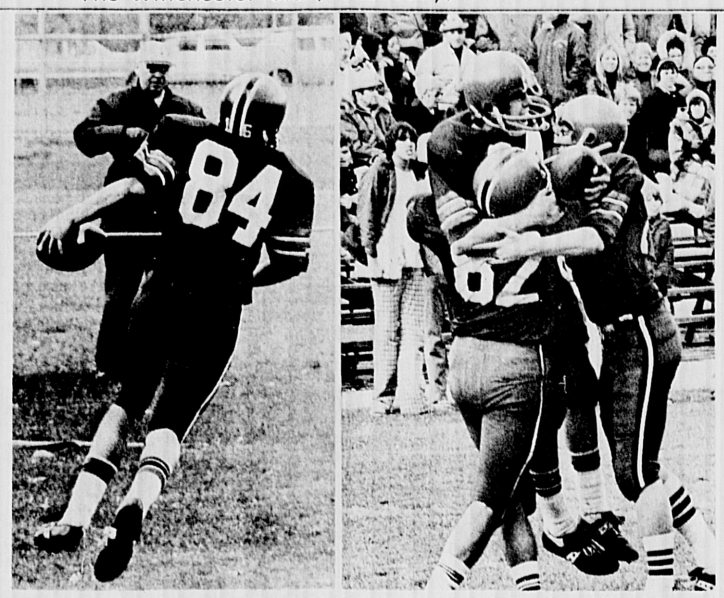

Wayne Maggio just missed an interception as he could not control the ball. At this point Coach Don White inserted southpaw passer Joe DeStefano into the game. He has been quite effective in past sophomore and J V games and went to work right away.

He threw a long one to Joe Galvin and the ball was hit by a Sachem but the receiver took it for a first down at the Winchester 35. Marrocco made seven and then picked up a first down at the home team's 19. He picked up four more and was then stopped cold by the Sachem forward wall.

Another aerial from DeStefano to Galvin produced a first down at the Winchester eight and then a penalty cost the Sachems more yardage to the three as the last minute was being ticked off. A final desperation pass failed as the game ended with Winchester 22, Belmont 0.

In looking over the statistics of the game there were several encouraging ones including 95 yards gained by Anthony Davis who also made five tackles. Co-captain Jim Covino, Mike Calarese and Wayne Maggio in the forward wall also played prominent parts in the defense. Besides his runbacks and his pass interception and fumble recovery, Bill Murphy did a fine job defensively with many tackles and assists.

The game Saturday will be at Knowlton Stadium starting at 1:30. The Wakefield Warriors will provide the opposition. Just one early note to remember: The Melrose game on Saturday, November 6 will start at two p.m. in order to allow the players plenty of time for the college examinations which will be held that morning.

Bob Blasi (84) takes pass from Don Allard for second touchdown and then team mates join him in celebration.

Undefeated gridsters will clash this week

There will be two games of special interest to football buffs played at Knowlton Stadium in the next week. They feature the undefeated sophomore teams of Winchester and Belmont this afternoon and the unbeaten junior high teams, McCall of Winchester and Kennedy of Woburn, next Friday. Kickoffs are scheduled for 3:15.

The Belmont sophomores have an unbeaten skein over the past three seasons amounting to some 16 games. The Sachem sophomores under coaches Dave Berman and Mike Houghton have not lost this season as they have beaten Burlington 46-6, Reading 26-6, Stoneham 24-8 and Lexington 20-8.

Coach Pat Ladd has also had his team rolling in high gear and they are looking forward to the clash with Kennedy which is rated among the best teams in junior high school ranks.

Pee wee soccer

Rowdies 8 — Dk. Blue 0

The Rowdies rolled over an undermanned dark blue 8-0 in the early game at West Side Field. John Donnellan notched 4 goals and Bairnsfather, Keller and Argue rounded out the scoring. Dk. Bl. put up a sturdy defense in the first half but a strong offense, pressed by the Rowdy forwards, gained several more goals.

Orange 4 — Lt. Blue 1

Goals by Herlihy (2), Sullivan and Livingstone.

Maroon 3 — Lt. Green 0

The Maroons, on a two game win streak, played very well especially Rodrigues, Presiosi and Salmon. Goals by Cooper, Cowen and McGovern.

Intermediate and advanced classes will start at 2:30 in the afternoon. Any children who are interested may register at these times.

The polls are open Tuesday, Nov. 2 from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. Vote!

Truths, Truths, Truths, Truths.

You've heard the misconceptions, now consider the truths:

TRUTH -
Existing statutes and laws providing equal protection can be weakened, repealed, or rescinded by our Legislature at any time. The ERA as part of our state constitution cannot.

TRUTH -

With the ERA, widowers will become eligible for the same financial benefits now available only to women.

TRUTH -

The ERA will provide long term protection against discrimination in a way no single law - such as the Fair Credit Act can.

TRUTH -

The fact that men and women will be treated equally does not mean they will be called the same, or that differences between the sexes will be forgottn. It means that differences between the sexes will not limit their opportunities.
Vote yes on No. 1 - The ERA.

Soccer team wins one, plays two other close (2-1) games

Coach Gene Bouley's soccer team played well last week but came up with only one victory, beating Watertown, and losing to Lexington and Belmont. The scores of all three games were 2-1 as Winchester played good soccer against the better teams in the Middlesex League.

Tuesday afternoon the Sachems played well to reverse the score of the first Watertown game and chalk up their victory. Winchester took a second period lead on a goal by George Casey who booted home a long low shot on a rebound of Co-captain Mark Nelson's shot. A corner kick provided the equalizer for Watertown a short time later.

The game remained tied for a long time until early in the fourth quarter when Mark McGoldrick registered on a penalty kick.

The next day they went to Lexington for a game played in a steady drizzle. The Minutemen and Sachems battled on fairly even terms through the first two periods until Winchester took an early second period lead on a goal by Co-Captain Paul Austin who took a lead pass from George Casey. The home team evened the score just before the half time break.

Winchester was playing without Chris Hall and Mark Mulvaney in the second half due to injuries and were replaced by Sal Mistretta at half back and Jim Gebhard at full back. The reserves did a good job but Lexington managed to come up with another goal to insure the victory.

League leading Belmont with a 15-0 record came here on Friday to meet the tired and bruised Sachems. They figured to meet opposition but not as much as the Bouleymen provided. The winning goal came on a hotly protested penalty kick and enabled the visitors to continue their sweep of the Middlesex League.

The Sachems played the probable champions even during the first half but trailed 1-0 as the visitors tallied just before half time. The third period was scarcely under way when Winchester evened the count on a goal by Seth Goodman with Co-captain Paul Austin credited with the assist.

Late in the third period the lead official made a penalty call and Belmont converted for a 2-1 lead. From that point on the play was almost continuously in the Belmont end as the fired up Sachems fought to come back even. It was two tired teams which left the field at the end of the game. The Sachems had given their best but were disappointed at failing to pull the upset. Belmont was thankful to have escaped with a marginal win even though it had to come on a questionable penalty call.

Hockey teams have openings for boys

Several openings on Winchester's Pee-Wee A and Squirt AA hockey teams are available for interested boys.

In the squirt classification boys aged 9-10 who are interested in playing should contact Coach Alan Ross.

In the pee-wee division for boys 11 - 12, boys should contact either Arthur Regan, Ken Donaghey, John Falla or Guerry Eaton for further details.

Both teams, squirts and pee-wees represent Winchester in Middlesex League play. All games will be played at the Burlington Ice Palace.

Couples bowling

The Couples Group has organized into three teams to introduce an element of team as well as individual competition. Bowling for the winning Clippers were Guy Pollino, Dirck Stryker, Jean Bradley, Al Hart, Elliott Walters and Nancy Watts. Special congratulations to Nancy Watts, who bowled 94 pins over her average in contributing to her team's win.

Women's high series, 451, and high single, 199, were both bowled by Isabel Hart, and the men's high series, 462, and high single, 168, went to Guy Pollino.

A spirited discussion by the group of the referenda questions took place at John and Jean Bradley's, after bowling hosts.

Pausing for a quick sample at the Muraco Fair's cookie-decorating table is Elizabeth Flynn, who's into the jar even before they're baked. The fair was held Saturday in the school gym.

Bloodmobile to visit St. Mary's

On Monday, November 8, St. Mary's Parish will sponsor a Red Cross Bloodmobile at the parish hall from 2-7:30 p.m. Since 1973 the parish has sponsored two bloodmobiles a year.

Anyone in good health weighing 110 lbs. or over, between the ages of 18 and 65 (17 with parental permission) is eligible to donate blood.

Parishioners will be able to make appointements for November 8 at all the Masses on October 30 and 31. Non-parishioners may make appointments by calling the Red Cross Chapter House, 729-2300. Permission slips for 17 year olds are available also at the Chapter House, 39 Church st.

There is a great need for blood since 1300 donors are needed each day to cover the needs of the state. Walk-ins are welcome at the bloodmobile. Baby sitting will be available from 2-5 p.m.

Finlay bridge

Results from this week's Ida Finlay's duplicate bridge at the Belmont Women's Club is as follows:

George Viens and Bill Young took first in North-South position; Dorothy Hanley and Ruth Hagan were second; and John Bent and Tom Greehan tied with Leo Gonsalves and Ross Kelly.

In East-West Helen Mahoney and Bill Nett were the winning pair; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Thoren were second; and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Enge were third.

Newcomers next meeting November 9

The Winchester Newcomers Club will hold its next meeting on Tuesday, November 9, at the home of Mrs. Joan Byrne, 3 Partridge lane, at 8 p.m.

The feature of the evening will be the art of Christmas decoration demonstrated by Mrs. Donahue.

For further information contact Penny Wolfe, president of the club, at 7 Valley rd.

Noonan mothers hear speakers

A coffee for all new mothers at Noonan School was held recently in the school library.

Speakers included George Flynn, principal; Margaret Carayannopoulos, community school association; Charlotte Suprenant, president, parents association; Diane Davis, enrichment chairman; Althea Shirley, library chairman; and Ginny Hartunian, scholarship fund trustee.

'Pinocchio' set for mid-December

The winter production of the Winchester Community Theatre, Inc., Children's Theater Division is off to a flying start with an original musical version of Pinocchio. The 140 children who registered have now been narrowed to a cast of 80. They are currently working on their singing, dancing, painting and acting.

A large group meets at rehearsals held at the Lincoln School on Tuesdays and Thursdays. A smaller group of four to eight year olds is meeting at the Wyman School on Tuesday afternoons.

Pinocchio will be staged in mid-December.

And it's going to be tough on everybody.

But it's going to be especially tough on people living off fixed incomes.

As if higher prices weren't enough, it's also the older people who'll find it most difficult to wash and find a place to store empties, lug them back to stores, and stand in lines to get deposits back.

The trouble is, the Bottle Bill is a false solution. We've tried monetary punishments. Unfortunately, they haven't worked. And if a $50 fine doesn't stop a slob, 5¢ a can won't.

It's an expensive solution that may cost the average Massachusetts family over $100* a year.

But most of all, it's an unfair solution.

How many people Muriel's age are throwing beer cans on our highways?

It's the same old story.

If the Bottle Bill passes, people with the least to give will have the most to lose.

And that's no solution at all.

Some people have questioned the $100 figure. But if you have any questions please write to us. We'll be glad to send you the same substantiating material we showed the state authorities.*

Ed O'Connell, Jr. two-sport star

by John F. Parrell

Edward O'Connell, Jr., son of Selectman and Mrs. Edward O'Connell, Sr., 5 Oneida rd., performed well on both land and water over the past weekend. A graduate of Lynch Junior High, he is now a sophomore at Belmont Hill School.

Last Saturday he won first place in the cross country meet with St. Mark's School as he led all the runners to break the 2.6 mile course record of 14:28 and set a new mark of 14:14. This is his first year of cross country running and in so doing he is following in the footsteps of his father who is a perennial devotee of road running. The elder O'Connell has run often in the Boston Marathon and was US 20 kilometer champ twice about 20 years ago.

Twenty-four hours after his great race of Saturday, young Ed (14, 5 feet 3 and 103 pounds) entered the Head-of-the Charles Regatta in the single sculls event. This was a three-mile rowing event requiring a great deal of coordination. He was the youngest entrant with most of the 40 competitors being college rowers or post graduates.

He finished in 19th place with a time of 23:17 and he wore the colors of the Cambridge Boat Club. Among those finishing behind him were athletes representing the New York A.C., Georgetown, Princeton, Harvard and M.I.T. He was by far the youngest of the total entry list of 2848 rowers.

The senior O'Connell admits that he may well have derived some of his running interest from him, but does not claim any responsibility for the sculling phase. He was also helped in inheriting the running interest from his maternal grandfather, Larry Brignolia, the winner of the 1899 Boston Marathon and also a champion sculler in his era.

So, it would seem wise to keep an eye on Ed Jr. whether competing on land or water. He certainly shapes up as an outstanding prospect in the years ahead. If he shows such abilities at 14, there appears to be little that he may not accomplish in the future.

Rotary in finals after Revere win

On a night when the temperature was lower than the average age of the team, the Rotary Softball Team defeated Revere in the semi-final round of the playoffs.

The brand of ball played was less than spectacular as both teams made countless errors. In defense of the miscues the weather was more suitable for whoolen mittens than for baseball mitts.

Despite the weather and the ragged play the local club extended its unbeaten streak to seven games with only the championship game to go.

The Revere team was a scrappy group who kept giving the homers fits. Each scoring advance by the Winchester club was equalled by the visitors. By the fifth inning the locals had taken a four run lead which Revere quickly cut to two.,$ Revere's last chance came in the top of the seventh. With one out they scored a run and had runners on second and third. A towering fly ball to short left field looked like to would drop and tie the score but an alert John Lane chased down the ball and chalked up out number two while holding the runners on base. The last batter hit a sharp grounder to third which Deane Estabrook snared and a nice throw to first ended the threat and the game.

Winchester now faces Woburn for the District 739 championship.

In the Junior Bantams the Warriors and Shamrocks held on to their lead by defeating the Celtics and the Tigers respectively.

The Warriors wallopped the third place Celtics with 3 goals by Kevin Scully, 3 by Chris Parker and two by Tim Casey to win 8-2. Steve Tucci and Scott Bowen did a superb job in net, and Glen Ciotti, Gregory Quill and Kevin Meagher played a good game.

The Shamrocks won 5-1 with 4 Chris Julian goals and one by Chris Barger. Marc Steranka and Brad Houlihan were outstanding on defense.

The Minutemen won their first game by defeating the Knights 3-2 and climbing out of the cellar.

The Eagles defeated the Panthers 2-1 in a hard fought game marked bby outstanding goal tending. Teddy Guthrie was an important factor in leading his team to victory.

In the Senior League the Patriots overwhelmed the Rangers with 4 goals by Dave Parker and won 7-0.

The Bucks upset the Cardinals and won 2-1 to improve their standing in the ladder.

The 76'ers and Astros fought an even game to a 1-1 tie on a beautiful corner kick of Jim Kohr that went right into the net off the far goal post. Colin Green and Willy Muggia and Andy Schneller were outstanding in this game. John Bresnan was superb in net.

Next week the Warriors and Shamrocks will battle it out for the League Championship Sunday at 1 p.m. Both teams have an excellent record and are very evenly matched. It promises to be a very interesting game. The other games will be played on Saturday morning.

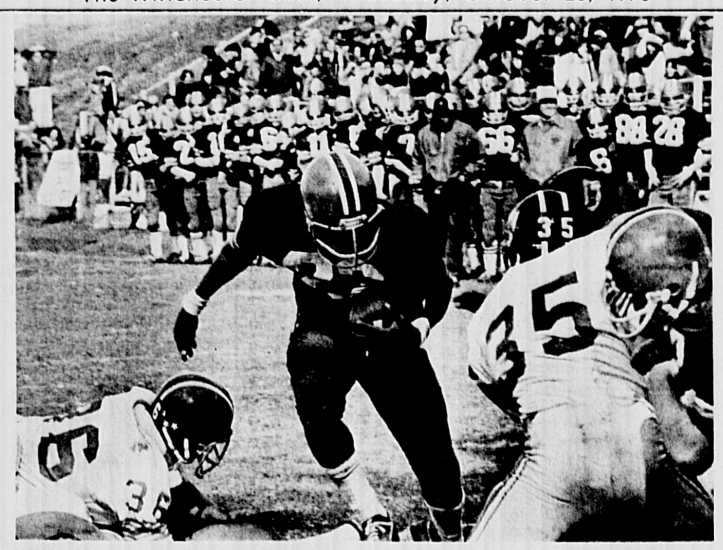

Mites lose game on disputed goal

The Winchester Mites had their first loss in 13 games over a disputed goal November 23 at the Burlington Ice Palace. The Winchester team led most of the game, but lost 5-4 when Waltham scored with 2:47 left in the game.

It appeared the puck had been whistled dead by the referee as it laid outside the corner of the goalpost, but the referee closest to goal allowed the goal, as a Waltham player knocked it across the goal line.

Winchester's four goals were scored by Petey Regan. Waltham had some excellent skaters that kept pressure on Winchester's defensemen; Derek Binding, Mike White, Billy Coppins and John Lampassi.

Winchester pulled their goalie with 54 seconds left to play in the third period, but was unsuccessful in their barrage on the Waltham net.

Anthony Davis, leading ground gainer against Belmont, smashes over for third Sachem touchdown.

Pee Wee AA team gets second win

The Winchester Pee-Wee AA's posted their second win in as many starts as they edged Waltham 3-2 in a close contest Saturday night. In the opening minute of play it appeared that this would be a high scoring contest. Guesin scored at the 22-second mark to put Waltham in front but the Hawks stormed back following the face-off. Winchester scored with their first shot on net at 48 seconds as Tony Celli tied it with a good wrist shot from the left side with a well set up assist from Chris Parker.

The two teams battled evenly during the rest of the first period and most of the second. On a picture play, Chris Parker broke for the net and tipped home a Paul White blast from the right side. The Hawks lead was short lived, however, as Waltham's Guesin scored one minute later to tie the game at 2-2.

In third period action, Chris Parker put Winchester in front for good at 1:50 as he scored from in deep following good assists from Steve Marino and Tom Sullivan.

Constant backchecking by Winchester's Steve Tucci and good position play by forwards Mike Griffin and Coley Wilson helped the Hawks' cause, while Ned White and Kurt Lawson showed agressiveness with their hard work in the Waltham end.

Goalies Pat Falla and David Boyle again were solid for the Hawks turning in several key saves in clutch situations.

Winchester's defensive corps turned in a good performance, particularly in holding Waltham to but three shots on goal during the third period. Mike Gorrasi, Eric Donaghey and Steve Marino kept the pressure on as they controlled play at the points, while young defensemen, Andy Guleserian, Billy Eaton and Paul Tucci were steady in holding the Waltham forwards in check.

Pee Wee A's top Waltham

On Saturday afternoon at the Burlington Ice Palace Winchester's Pee Wee A team won their game over a strong Waltham team. The score was 4-2.

Winchester led in the game from 4:38 of the first period when Bob Engel scored unassisted. The second goal came at 8:55 in the first stanza when Jim Coppins scored on a pass from Peter Quine.

Each team scored in the second period. Winchester's goal came at 3:17 when Jim Coppins made a rush circling behind the Waltham cage and passing out to Brian Regan for his tap-in.

Both teams again matched goals in the third period Mike Huebl combined with Steve Viglas at 8:42 for the cushion goal.

Excellent goal-tending by Bob Giarrizzo and Richard Kenney gave Winchester their victory.

McCall girls have 6-1 games record

Coach Jan Keefe's McCall Spartanettes won and lost last week to make their current record 6-1. They have two more games to play one this week with Watertown West at home and one with Muzzey of Lexington next Monday away from home.

Going into the Lynch game they were undefeated but they could not score in the game played in unseasonably cold weather.

Forwards Pam McIntosh, Alice Greene, Veronica Karp, Gail Oram, Jan Kent, Laura Cunningham, Amy Fitzgerald and Kathy Looney kept the ball at the Lynch end during much of the game. Goalie Robin Hill also played well as did the defensive unit of fullbacks Susan Fitzgerald, Kathy Welch and Julie Gittleman and halfbacks Barbara Jacobs, Lee Kimball, Caroline Twomey, Leslie Koplow, Paula Deskin and Elaine Pigott.

They rebounded in their other game of last week to beat Muzzey of Lexington by 2-0. Co-captain Veronica Karp and Gail Oram scored early in the first half and solid defensive work made that score stand up for the victory.

St. Eulalia Bantam hockey has openings

Due to League expansion, a few openings are available at this time in the St. Eulalia Bantam Division only. This is strictly for boys 13 and 14 years of age not later than Dec. 31.

This is an all-evening program which is conducted at the Burlington Ice Palace on Wednesday evenings. All game times are selected as usual at a prime time ice hour commensurate for the boys age. Afternoon practice ice hours are also included in the program along with the boy's jersey.

All boys are eligible to participate in St. Eulalia Hockey Program without conflict with any A.H.A. registered team. St. Eulalia is not registered with A.H.A. this year, which makes it possible for boys to pick up additional ice time without conflict to any A.H.A. rules.

All St. Eulalia hockey games at all levels are supervised by A.H.A. registered refs. All boys do receive equal ice time regardless of their ability because all line shifts are timed.

Any boy who is interested to participate in phase 2 of this program should contact Dave Madigan, director, 30 Lockeland rd.

Two wins for Lynch girls

The field hockey team of Mary Boghigian at Lynch added two more victories as they swamped Watertown East by 6-0 and journeyed to Stoneham on Tuesday where they fought hard to gain a single goal win.

The Watertown game was lopsided from the start as the visitors played a very unorganized game while the Lynch team scored almost at will. Goals were scored by Kathy Day, Christine Driscoll, Kathy Hefernan, Marion Quinn, Andrea DeMars and Mary Grassi.

The game with Stoneham was won on a goal by Christine Driscoll which came near the end of the first half. Both teams played sound defense and the Lynch girls survived a number of calls for corner hits and a late game blitz by the Spartanettes to gain the victory.

LIES, LIES, LIES.

"Lies" may be a strong word, but we believe the vote you cast for the Equal Rights Amendment must be based on the facts:

FACT - The ERA will not affect abortion. Abortion law is controlled by the recent Federal Supreme Court decision.

FACT - The ERA will not make women eligible for the draft. The State does not have the power to draft anyone, and as of today there is no federal draft in existence.

FACT - The ERA will not make women obligated to support their family financially, rather it will affirm the value and importance of her work in the home.

FACT - The ERA will not affect the current state alimony statute. Alimony is already awarded to either spouse based on need and ability to pay.

FACT - The ERA will not affect child custody laws. State law already gives mothers and fathers equal rights to custody of minor children.

..Once passed, you may not even know the ERA exists, unless you become the victim of discrimination, then won't you be glad you voted yes?

Paid for by the Winchester Chapter of the Committee to Ratify the Massachusetts State Equal Rights Amendment.

The polls are open Tuesday, Nov. 2 from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. Vote!

WHS cross country team is enjoying a winning season

By John F. Parrell

Coach Joe Cantillon's cross country team is heading toward the close of the most productive schedule in many years. They have only the meet with the Woburn Tanners left and from past results it appears that they should also take that one.

There has been a marked increase in interest and candidates over the past two seasons and by hard work the participants have shown great improvement both in times and performances.

In the first eight meets the varsity record is 5 wins and 3 losses, while the JV group is 7 wins and but one defeat. There have been only four girls meets and their record stands at 3 and one defeat.

The summaries of the meets show: WINCHESTER 24, STONEHAM 36.

Frank Scarpa (S) 16:37, Rich DeConto (W) 17:12, Phil McCallum (S) 17:20, Brian Quinn (W) 17:24, Andy Wilsack (W) 17:30, Sam Card (W) 17:34, Peter Dillon (S) 18:16, David Stone (S) 18:18, John Murray (S) 18:32.

Mini-college

On Wednesday, November 10, admissions representatives from the following institutions plan to attend:

Assumption College, Cape Cod Community College, Malden Hospital School of Nursing , Mt. St. Mary College (New Hampshire), C.W. Post Center of Long Island University (New York), Salem State College, St. Joseph College (Connecticut).

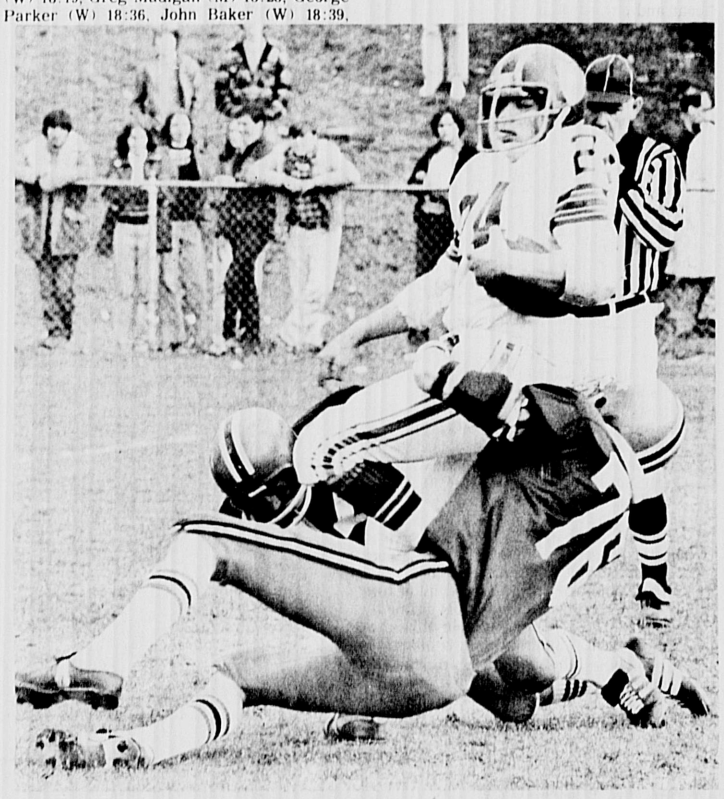

Four on NERH event committee.

Four Winchester residents are members of the committee planning the charity event, Friday, Nov. 12, in Woburn, featuring former Bruins players in a hockey game with members of the Woburn Over-Thirty League.

Funds will be raised for the chaplaincy program of the 200-bed New England Rehabilitation Hospital.

The event will be held at O'Brien Rink, Joyce Junior High School, and will include many speciality features and figure-skating by youthful prize-winning stars.

The Winchester committee members are Mr. and Mrs. Greg Murdock and Dr. and Mrs. Paul Keleher.

New Bowlers are welcome and should contact Rosemarie Vita of 19 Cox rd. Free babysitting is provided.

Bantam AA team defeats Waltham

The Bantam AA's of Winchester Youth Hockey beat Waltham 6 to 3 on Sunday.

Waltham scored first but Eddie "Dynamite" Ducharme started Winchester on the road back when he put in the upper right hand corner after being tripped. The trip resulted in Ed hurting his ankle but he still nonetheless wanted to take the shot and he came right down the middle to pop it home high and right on a completely fooled goalie.

In the second period Kevin "Crash" Conley combined with Fran Murray and Maury McCarthy when he blasted from right out in front to put Winchester in the lead for good. Buddy "Pistol" Pronski did it next when he took a set up from Ned Fortin and pulled the trigger at short range. "Flying" Fran Murray got number three when he popped the strings from the left corner after being set up on a Bud Pronski-Kevin Conley combination. Frannie came right back to light the light 23 seconds later when he unloaded a blast in the far corner after breaking loose on passes from linemates Maury McCarthy and Bud Pronski.

Buddy Pronski completed the locals' attack when he came right down the slot and put away a set up from John Boyle, skating very well at wing, and Daryl Parker, who played a strong game on the boards and in the corners.

Continuing their strong play were wingers Danny Hines and Doug Ross along with John Ferullo steadying the defense and Brendan Nolan in the middle. It was another good effort in goal by Captain Bobby Surabian and Jack Bonner.

Mrs. Jean Martignette

Noel-Martignette nuptials in Marshfield October 16

Bishop John J. Mulcahy officiated at the October 16 marriage ceremony which united Jean Marion Noel of Humarock and Alfonse John Martignette of 5 Pocahontas dr.

The ceremony took place at St. Christine Church in Marshfield, with a reception following at the Blue Hill Country Club in Canton.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Merril Noel, was given in marriage by her father. She wore a Priscilla gown of white peau de soie. The gown featured an empire bodice of imported english net appliqued with alencon lace and trimmed with venise lace wedding band neckline. The a-line skirt ended in a full train. She also wore a full length veil of white silk illusion trimmed with alencon lace caught to a cloche cap appliqued with matching lace.

She carried a cascade of phaleanopsis orchids, ivy, stephanotis and belinda sweetheart roses.

Matron of honor was Carole Tallino of Needham. She wore a full length peach chiffon gown with empire bodice and scoop neckline topped with a matching chiffon cape. She carried a cascade of can-can roses, baby's breath, yellow and bronze daisy chrysanthemums and blue delphiniums.

Bridesmaids, dressed similarly to Ms. Tallino, were Nancy Noel of Sudbury, Connie Dewire of West Newton, Carol Boswell of Woburn, and Joanne Martignette of Winchester.

Best man for Mr. Martignette was Terry Donovan of Sutton, Ma. Serving as ushers were Robert Boswell of Woburn, Robert Accomando of Billerica, Edward Accomando of Somerville, and Joseph Lyons of Andover.

The bride's mother wore a long gown of peppermint chiffon and the groom's mother wore a peach and white print long gown.

Mrs. Martignette attended Vermont College. Her husband attended Merrimack College.

Following a wedding trip to Aruba the couple will be residing in Natick.

Diane Della Svetura bride of Aldo Guarino Sept. 25

Diane Della Svetura, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Della Svetura, of 20 Allen rd., became the bride of Aldo Guarino, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alessio Guarino of Orient Heights at an afternoon ceremony at St. Mary's Church September 25.

The former Miss Della Svetura was given in marriage by her father. Rev. Mark S. Sheehan officiated at the ceremony which was followed by a reception at the Chateau de Ville, in Saugus.

The bride wore a Bianchi empire gown of white lace on point d'esprit netting. The sheer yoke and sleeves were accented with tiny pearl clusters. Hand-beaded pearls and crystal sequins embellished the delicate alencon lace bodice and skirt. An elaborate design of pearl clusters, seed pearls and beaded scrolls adorned the scalloped border of the cathedral length train. A matching headpiece of alencon lace and pearls with a full length veil of nylon illusion completed the look. She carried a cascade of eucharistic lillies and stephanotis.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Anthony Frasso, cousin of the bride, wore a giana gown of light blue with a hooded matching coat and carried pink phalaenopsis orchids.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. David Saunders of Waltham; Michelle Guarino, sister of the groom; and Bridget Parinello of Orient Heights. All were similarly attired in royal blue.

Serving as best man was Elio Giangregorio. Ushers were Gerardo Guarino, brother of the groom; Silvio Giangregorio and Aldo Guarino, all of Orient Heights.

Guest book and favor attendants were Linda Tuzzolo of Woburn and Marion Marrone of Winchester.

Mrs. Guarino is a 1972 graduate of Winchester High School and of Northeastern University, cum laude with a BS in education. She is presently a teacher of foreign languages at the Medford High School.

Mr. Guarino attended schools in Italy and Australia and is employed by the Landy Beef Company.

After a wedding trip to Florida the couple are now residing in Orient Heights.

Miss Marino engaged

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Marino of Church st., announce the engagement of their daughter Janet Lee Marino to Ralph Scott Quilty, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph M. Quilty of Needham.

Miss Marino is a 1976 graduate of Winchester High School, and she is presently employed as the receptionist for the Law firm of Marino, Dropkin, Perlman, & McSweeney.

Mr. Quilty, is a 1973 graduate of Needham High School, and he is employed by Williamson Electrical Co., Inc. of Needham.

On Tuesday, October 19, a meeting of the Belmont-Cambridge area of the Junior League of Boston, Inc. was held at the Winchester home of Mrs. Susie Reno.

Mrs. Kent Porter moderated a panel whose question for discussion was: "How has the Junior League helped you determine and develop your career path?" Members of the panel were: Mrs. Richard Van S. Lenk, a sustaining League member from Belmont, who is now a psychiatric social worker at the Cambridge Guidance Center; Mrs. Charles P. Nelson, of Harvard, who was formerly the chairman of the Charlestown Activities Center, and is currently a vice president of the Junior League of Boston; and Mrs. William S. Reid, a former president of the Junior League of Boston, who is now working as a consultant at the Voluntary Action Center of Metropolitan Boston, UCPC, and the Technical Assistance Project.

Mrs. Arthur Waltman, public affairs chairman of the Boston League, spoke to the group of 40 women about the Equal Rights Amendment and the Junior League's new Lobbying effort on behalf of the needs of children.

Among those attending from Winchester were Mrs. Margi Delafield, Mrs. Donna Carrol, Mrs. Sheila Galvani, Mrs. Susie Reno, Mrs. Ginny Laats, Mrs. Marilyn Mayhall, Mrs. Margy McIndoe, Mrs. Judy Parkhill, Mrs. Gretchen Racek, Mrs. Carolyn Vernaglia, Mrs. Faith Waltman, and Mrs. Kent Porter. There were many guests present who were interested in learning more about the Junior League.

The Junior League of Boston, Inc., is an organization of women trained to provide volunteer services to the community of Boston and surrounding metropolitan area. Its purpose is educational and charitable. Money obtained from fund raising projects, such as Decorator's Show House and the new League cookbook Presenting Boston, is used to support Junior League community projects. Some of these are the Charlestown Activities Center and Child Abuse Training.

The ERA is at your back door.

Today, 15 states have Equal Rights Amendments or provisions as part of their state constitutions, including Connecticut and New Hampshire. None of these states has suffered the social upheaval predicted by the stop - ERA people. Anyone who has visited Connecticut or New Hampshire is aware that the public rest rooms are still labeled "Men" and "Women." There has been no drastic increase in divorce rates or welfare rolls, and women in these states have not been forced to seek employment.

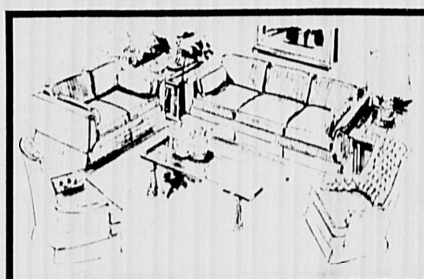

Our state ERA is needed for all of society, so our daughters as well as our sons may grow, develop and aspire in an atmosphere free from gender based discrimination. Vote yes on No. 1.

Mrs. Cynthia Lauer

Cynthia Ann Ross bride in St. Mary's ceremony

Cynthia Ann Ross, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerard T. Ross of 44 Johnson rd., became the bride of Arthur Charles Lauer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur J. Lauer of Marysville, Michigan, at a concelebrated Mass October 9. The ceremony, held at St. Mary's, was followed by a reception at the Sheraton Inn, Lexington. Rev. John E. Kelly and Rev. Henry A. Marquardt were the concelebrants.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore her mother's wedding gown of candlelight satin with the neckline and sleeves edged with seed pearls. A full-length veil draped from an heirloom brussels lace cap.

She carried yellow roses with stephanotis and ivy.

Christine Marie Ross, the bride's sister, assisted as maid of honor. Ms. Ross, dressed in green qiana, is from Watertown. She carried lavender rainbow asters with ivy and wheat accents.

John J. Lauer of Syracuse, N.Y., was best man for his brother. William J. Kita of Buffalo, N.Y. and Mark J. Schwab of Denver were ushers.

Mrs. Lauer attended Marycliff Academy and the University of Vienna. She graduated magna cum laude from Newton College and is employed as a market research analyst at Latimer Foundation in Cambridge.

Mr. Lauer, a graduate of St. Joseph High School in Cleveland, received a degree magna cum laude from Boston College. He served for two years in Hawaii with 84th Engineer Battalion, receiving the Army Commendation Medal. He is employed as assistant to the vice president for personnel at Boston University.

The couple are making their home in Belmont.

Jacques-Brink couple wed in Maine by Rev. Davis

Becky Ann Jacques and William G. Brink were married on August 24 at the Newman Center, University of Maine at Orono. Walter B. Davis, pastor of First Congregational Church, Winchester, officiated at the ceremony.

The bride was accompanied to the altar by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Jacques of Bangor, Maine, and the groom by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Brink of Winchester. Attendants were Kellie Jacques, maid of honor; Jan Jabor, bridesmaid; Richard Brink, best man; and Scott Gregory, who read a poem and selections by Mary Baker Eddy. Also participating in the ceremony with songs and readings were friends of the bride and groom, Ben Rogers and Les LaMoureaux of St. Louis and Carol Craig of Bangor.

About 100 friends and relatives of the bride and groom attended the wedding. Following the ceremony there was a reception for the wedding guests at the Knights of Columbus Hall in Bangor.

The entire Brink family attended the wedding, including Michael and Janet Brink with their children Scott and Laura of Andover; Carol Brink of Boston; Daniel and Janice Brink of Salem N.H.; Richard Brink of Winchester; and the groom's grandmother, Mrs. Jean Martin of Buffalo, N.Y.

Friends of the family attending were Mrs. Polly Keppler, Mrs. Walter Davis, Martha and Tom Davis, aMr. and Mrs. George Pacetti, Martha Pacetti, and Mr. and Mrs. W. Howard Niblock, all of Winchester, and Sherry McCrady of West Roxbury.

After a trip to Bar Harbor, Me., Mr. and Mrs. Brink, both of whom are University of Maine graduates, returned to St. Louis, Mo., where Bill is a senior at Logan College of Chiropractice, and Becky will teach sixth grade in the Parkway School System.

Layzer-Sherwood nuptials

Emily Layzer, daughter of Mrs. Chester Kotkowski of Melrose, and Mr. David Layzer of Belmont, became the bride of Ned Lewis Sherwood, son of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Sherwood of Elmont, New York. Both bride and groom reside in New York City.

The ceremony took place October 10 at Appleton Chapel in Harvard Yard, Cambridge. The reception followed at the Harvard Faculty Club.

Daryl Layzer of Watertown was maid of honor and the groom's sister, Hope Sherwood of Glens Falls, New York, was the bridesmaid.

Arthur Sherwood was best man for his brother. Ushers were James Maffei of Watertown and Jon White of Glens Falls.

The bride graduated from Winchester High School in 1969. She attended the University of Pennsylvania and is currently a doctoral candidate at Brandeis University. She is also doing consulting work in health care.

The groom attended the University of Pennsylvania and is employed by W.R. Grace Company in New York City.

Mr. and Mrs. Sherwood will be making their home in New York.

Stilwell - Sackett wedding

Cynthia Ann Stilwell was married October 16 on Three Mile Island, Lake Winnipesaukee, Meredith, N.H. to Ernest Dustin Sackett Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest D. Sackett of 134 Arlington st.

The bride, daughter of Mrs. Thomas Stilwell of 12 Robin dr., Hudson, N.H., and the late Thomas Leete Stilwell, and her new husband are residents of 46 Royal Crest dr. in Nashua, N.H.

Rev. Theodore Jones of Weston officiated at the ceremony, which was followed by a reception on the island. The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Thomas C. Stilwell Jr.

The bride wore a gown of white maracaine jersey over bridal taffeta, fashioned with a fitted bodice, a v-neckline with pearl motif accent, and long princess sleeves. She carried a fall bouquet of small dried flowers and wheat of bright colors.

Mrs. Russell Sackett of Florence served as the matron of honor, wearing a gown of brown, green and orange-flowered silk with green velvet trim. She also carried a fall bouquet of dried flowers.

Best man was the groom's brother, Russell Sackett, also of Florence.

The mother of the bride was dressed in a street-length fuchsia velvet skirt with a print blouse to match. The groom's mother wore a beige, street-length dress in multicolored geometric design.

The newlyweds took their wedding trip to Bermuda and plan to live in Nashua upon their return.

The former Miss Stilwell is a graduate of Shaker Heights High School in Shaker Heights, Ohio. She completed studies at Arizona State University with a BA in journalism. A former copywriter for a Phoenix advertising agency and public relations director for the Arizona Biltmore Hotel, she is now a free-lance writer. She is also a former administrative assistant to the Mass. Golf Association.

Mr. Sackett graduated from the University of New Hampshire with a BS and earned his MBA from the University of Massachusetts. He is a chemical engineer with the Nashua Corporation in Nashua.

Films for young adults at library

The first in a series of four young adult film programs will be presented Wednesday, November 3 in the Meeting Room of the Winchester Public Library at 3 p.m. A group of librarians from the Eastern Massachusetts Regional Library System compiled this unique series. The intended audience is teenagers between the ages of 13 and 18, but the films can be enjoyed by audiences of all ages. The running time for each program is about one hour.

The program of November 3 is entitled Life Times Nine, an award winning anthology, young filmmakers make provactive statements about life. TOYS, which received an award at the Cannes Film Festival, deals with war toys and their effect on children. An Occurence at Owl Creek Ridge, an Academy Award and Cannes Film Festival winner, is a French version of an Ambrose Bierce short story set during the Civil War.

Noonan parents in open house

The Noonan School conducted their annual Open House on Thursday, October 21. Open house gives parents the opportunity to meet their child's teachers and to view the classrooms.

Following the classroom visitation, George Flynn, principal of Noonan, gave a presentation on the new report card procedures.

Chief suggests safe Halloween

Chief of Police John McHugh has offered some suggestions for both children and parents to follow for a safe Hallow'een.

Hints for parents include:

Know your child's plans— what route they will follow; who their companions will be; what if any supervision there will be; what activities are planned; and what time they will be home. Talk it over with the children, plan with them, review safe walking rules with them several times.

Check your walks and porches, remove obstacles, keep lights on, don't ask children in unless they are hurt or lost.

For the kids, the chief suggests:

After dark, wear light colored clothing and-or reflective items;

Walk in a single file on the sidewalk and carry a flashlight;

Do not go alone...trick or treat in groups for safety;

Do not place plastic bags over your head;

Very young children should be accompanied by parents. It is suggested that children do not wear masks, but rather use mother's make-up, allowing for better vision;

Know where you are at all times, and if possible stay in your own neighborhood;

Watch out for dogs that might become overly excited at costumed children;

Do not eat the treats until you are home and Mom or Dad can check them for you;

Be polite. Do not do any destructive tricking;

If you get a treat which seems suspicious, remember where you got it;

Remember the telephone number of the police department and call them if you need help;

Do not engage in horseplay near the streets, and watch for cars at all times;

Do not go into houses for a treat. Let the owner answer the door and offer it to you outside or on the front porch;

Go out to have fun, go out early, go home early.

The chief indicated that the department will have all available men and patrol cars on duty that evening. With the assistance of the auxiliary police and other town department personnel, each area of the town will have mobile patrols ready to respond to any call. If you need assistance call immediately, 729-1212.

Safety Officer John McKinley will be maintaining a "check your treat" program during the Hallow'een period. If anything of an unusual nature occurs, or if someone receives a strange treat, the Winchester Police should be called immediately.

Aberjona Bikeway to be dedicated at Ginn Field

The Aberjona Bicentennial Bikeway, Winchester's major project in honor of the nation's 200th birthday, will be dedicated Saturday at 10:30 a.m. in ceremonies at Ginn Field. Speakers will include State Representative Sherman W. Saltmarsh, Jr., Selectmen Chairman John J. Sullivan, and Town Manager Thomas J. Groux. Boy Scout Troop 506 and Cadet Girl Scout Tropp 516 will also join the ceremony. Everyone is invited.

The Aberjona Bicentennial Bikeway was constructed by town employees with a $6000 appropriation from town meeting and a matching $6000 from the state bicentennial commission.

The route of the bikeway follows the Aberjona river from Ginn field to the Woburn city limit on Washington street. Except for a segment between the high school and the Muraco school, the bikeway follows its own traffic-free path. To help promote safety, warning signs for traffic have been installed where the bikeway crosses major streets.

Following the dedicaiton ceremony everyone present will be invited to join in riding the length of the bikeway. In case of rain the ceremony will be held across the street in Wedgemere station.

Newly elected members of the Lincoln School Student Council are, from left, Eric Donaghey, treasurer; Thomas Guilderson, vice president; Barbara O'Leary, secretary; and Sarah Hebb, president

Lincoln students elect officers

On Monday, October 18, students in the fourth, fifth, and sixth grades at Lincoln School met to hear campaign speeches of and cast ballots for officers to the newly established Student Council.

Sixteen sixth graders spoke of ideas for council activities and reasons why they should be elected to lead the Council. After the speeches were heard and the ballots counted, the result were announced: President Sarah Hebb, Vice-President Tom Guilderson, Secretary Barbara O'Leary and Treasurer Eric Donaghey.

During the remainder of the week, each of the intermediate grades elected classroom representatives to serve on the council. Representing the fourth grade are Amy Cracknell, Dara Fitzgerald, Brendan Gurry, and Michael McGee.

Representing the fifth grade are Karen Brown, Jeff Ewing, David Johanson, Billy Keonogh, Peter Oliver and Donald Phinney.

Representing the sixth grade in addition to the major officers, are James Kirkpatrick, and Julie O'Callaghan.

According to newly elected President Hebb, the Student Council hopes to organize group activities and sponsor programs to help the school and community. Their first project will be collecting for UNICEF on Halloween.

ERA debate today at high school

The public is invited to a debate on the Equal Rights Amendment between two lawyers, Linda Scholle of Cambridge and Margaret Mahoney of Winchester, today, Oct. 28 at 2:40 p.m. at Winchester High School.

Sponsored by Action '77, a student political action group, the debate will be held in the social studies department on the second floor, A-wing. The speakers will present their views briefly and answer questions from the audience.

Linda Scholle, who will speak in favor of the ERA, is a graduate of Barnard College and Boston University Law School. She is currently in charge of the Women's Rights Project of the American Civil Liberties Union.

Margaret Mahoney graduated from Boston College Law School and practices law in Winchester. She has recently given many speeches in opposition to the ERA.

This debate offers all Winchester students and citizens an opportunity to become informed on question 1 on the Nov. 2 ballot.

Kiwanis to install officers at ball

The Kiwanis Club of Winchester has completed plans for its fifth Inaugural Ball to be held at the Montvale Plaza, November 6.

More than 190 Kiwanians, their friends and guests, are expected to attend the installation of William F. Caci as president. Master of ceremonies for the evening will be Santo Cannava.

Other Kiwanians to be installed are Bob Simpson, immediate past president; Ken Binding, first vice president; Bill Morton, second vice president, Wally Docouto, treasurer, Dutch Schuler, secretary. The directors for the 1976-1977 year will be Tom Derro, Jim Loftus, Henry Quill, Jack Coakley, Joe Cioni.

In conjunction with the Ball, the Club will distribute its annual installation program book detailing the activities of the affair as well as the service activities of the Club for the Town of Winchester.

Funds to carry on annual projects such as the Fish Derby, Scholarships, aid to the elderly, sport sponsorships, etc., are raised by advertising in the program book. Members are now soliciting the continued support of the area's merchants and business men. The Kiwanis Club's contribution to the Hurst tool ("Jaws of life") fund drive was made possible by the ad book program.

Information concerning advertising and tickets can be obtained from Chairman Ken Binding, and John Mercurio, Jr.

Hospital Friends orientation set for volunteers

The Friends of Winchester Hospital, an organization whose members provide volunteer services to the hospital, will be holding an orientation for new volunteers, Wednesday, November 3 at 7:30 p.m. in the hospital board room. Some 20 services performed by the volunteers will be discussed by means of a slide presentation to be followed by a tour of the hospital.

The Friends are looking for persons who want to be a part of this active ongoing program. Volunteering at the hospital affords the unique opportunity of contributing a special service to your community hospital while deriving the personal satisfaction of being of help to others in need. Some of the opportunities presently exist in the Day Coffee Shop, The Kraft Kart, Central Service and in Evening Patient Care.

If you are interested in one of these services or any other volunteer position at the hospital, we invite you to attend the orientation. A Friendly welcome awaits you. For further information please contact the volunteer office at the hospital or Marie Johnson, vice-chairman of the Friends, 3 Thornberry rd., Winchester.

St. Mary's Sodality to meet November 2

The November meeting of St. Mary's Sodality will be held on Tuesday, November 2.

It will start with a Mass at 7:30 in the school hall followed by a talk by one of the parish priests.

All are welcome.

There's plenty of 'gold' at the town's recycling area

Important information for those concerned with Winchester's environment was exchanged Monday, Oct. 18 at a meeting of the Winchester Environmental League held at the Library meeting room.

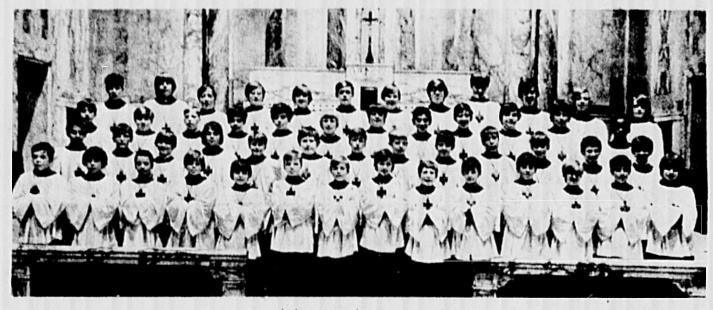

Recycling at the town dump has produced $400 worth of loam from leaves and $1800 from the sale of old newspapers according to Lenore Frazier, chairman of the Winchester Environmental Protection Association. Glass is being collected for recycling and is removed at no cost to the town, and old mattresses bring $1 each.

Emphasis on litter reduction if the "Bottle Bill," question 6 on the November ballot, is passed was the main theme of Marjorie Moore's report. She said that Winchester has to send a truck every Sunday morning to pick up weekend litter from the Town center. Experience in Oregon and Vermont shows this volume could be greatly reduced if deposits on bottles were required.

Studies leading to improvement of the water quality of the Mystic River watershed basin is being undertaken by the Metropolitan Area Planning Council according to a report by Phyllis Stearns. Public input and awareness of this important project is being sponsored by the Mystic River Watershed Association, which also has held workshops on aquatic weeds and the low flow problems of the Aberjona.

Carla Lele, associate member of the Winchester Conservation Committee spoke on that group's work. It has acquired 30 acres of land to date, and hopes to acquire additional open spaces for the town. It maintains the lands it owns, and also implements guidelines for development of lands according to established conservation principles.

The spoiling of the Middlesex Fells by a swath cut to lay a pipeline has at least been temporarily halted due to efforts of the Friends of the Fells. Disclosure by The Star brought out that the MDC had proceeded on plans without a public hearing as required, Charles Carlson, vice president of the Friends said. He said his group would attempt to see that the Fells be kept as nearly a wilderness as possible, and not be diverted from its original purposes.

Boston choir in concert Nov. 7 at Imm. Con. Church

The Boston Archdiocesan Choir will perform in concert Sunday, November 7, from 3 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. at the Immaculate Conception Church, Sheridan circle.

The choir, known for the first ten years of its existence as the Saint Paul Choir School of Cambridge, takes part in many special religious functions and frequently participates in ecumenical services in the Boston area. The boys in the choir, ranging in age from nine to 14, receive a full academic training in addition to an extensive musical education.

The musical director of the choir is Theodore Marier. Rev. John Boles, director of education for the archdiocese of Boston is chairman of the board of the choir school and pastor of St. Paul's, Cambridge. John Dunn, principal of the school, is also the organist at St. Paul's.

Ticket information is available from Mrs. Mary M. Brown at 14 Lochwan st. No children under ten will be admitted.

Brief referenda summaries

Local voters will have nine statewide referendum questions on which to vote Tuesday. The following guide is a summary of the questions and major arguments on both sides of each.

Question 1
Equal Rights
Constitutional Amendment

Amendment to the state Constitution to add the sentence "Equality under the law shall not be denied or abridged on account of sex, race, color, creed or national origin."

In Favor

After a 15-month study a legislative study committee says few state laws will need to be changed. There will be no impact on abortion, military draft, religion, public restrooms. Absolute veterans' preference would have to be changed, as well as criminal laws such as prostitution which apply to one sex. The commission recommends changing the state "tenancy by the entirety" law under which the right to property is given to the husband even if the wife helped buy it.

It will not affect maternity benefits. All minorities, not just women, will benefit.

Opposed

The amendment is not necessary in light of existing federal and state laws protecting women against discrimination. ERA would require shared toilet facilities, permit homosexual marriages, require women to be drafted.

Ann Connor, member of the Governor's Commission on the Status of Women, says over 400 state laws will have to be rewritten. Women already have equality in employment, education, civil rights, opportunity and credit. Financial responsiblity for support of family would be equally shared, homosexual relationships would be legalized. ERA would have a detrimental effect on laws concerning marriage, family, women's pensions and inheritance, single sex educational facilities and activities.

Question 2
Graduated Income Tax
Constitutional Amendment

The amendment would authorize the Legislature to establish a graduated income tax scale

In Favor

Tax reform groups say the concept is based on peoples' ability to pay, produces the same income a fairer way, will leave more spendable income for the low and middle income levels, will produce more tax revenue if the economy grows and would end the taxing of different incomes at different rates. They say that taxes are low on the list of factors businesses consider in locating in a state.

Based on a suggested formula in a House bill, the graduated income tax would be helpful to those earning under $22,000. A 1975 Federal Reserve report is quoted saying that a graduated income tax would reduce pressure to increase tax rates. Another study shows that the tax burden on the "average" family went up over twice that on the wealthy in 22 years.

Opposed

The amendment does not set the tax formula, thus the Legislature is free to do what it wants with the new taxing authority it has. In the past, the sales tax and lottery revenues ended up diverted to the state use instead of going for local tax relief . The so-called flat rate now has graduation through exemptions for the lower incomes. The Federal Reserve Bank is quoted as saying Massachusetts has one of the nation's highest scales of graduation in a flat rate.

As incomes rise with inflation taxpayers will find themselves taxed at a higher rate with no consideration to the shrinking dollar. Thus all will pay more eventually.

In the last year more than 20 corporations have left the state and more than a dozen say they will if the graduated tax passes. People whose taxes will go up are the most able to afford to move. The tax will make it difficult for the state to attract business people and businesses.

Question 3
Absentee Voting
Constitutional Amendment

The amendment would authorize the Legislature to provide for absentee voting by persons who hold religious beliefs in conflict with the day on which an election is scheduled.

Non-controversial, no arguments issued on either side.

Question 4
State Power Authority
Initiative Petition

In Favor

The major proponent is Cong. Michael Harrington who says savings of $95 million are projected by 1985 and that the average consumer pays 60 percent more from the private company than from the public. He cites runover budgets of private utilities and good reliability records of public utilities. Payment equal to local taxes will be guaranteed in the law and rates will be regulated by the state .

Savings to consumers by 1985 would come from state authority not paying federal income taxes, making no expenditures for sales and advertising promotion and lobbying, and more cheaply acquiring investment capital.

Opposed

The Mass. Mayors' Assn. and Selectmen's Assn. and AFL-CIO and utlity companies oppose the measure for a variety of reasons. They cite loss of local taxes, as well as state and federal taxes, and of state costs in welfare and MBTA.

Boston Edison says costs today are due to inflation, high interest rates and the cost of oil — all factors over which the state would have no control. A study commissioned by Governor Sargent projected a 2 cent saving on the dollar in 1985.

Utilities also refer to a politically enmeshed authority, operating free of checks and balances of a regulatory body, bureaucratic inefficiency and patronage and deteriorating service. They say it would take millions of dollars and expertise for the state to organize a power authority and point to the MBTA, welfare, prisons and other government-run projects as examples of mismanagement.

Rate increases would be immediate and would not be regulated by the Dept. of Public Utilities or the Federal Power Commission.

Question 5
Handgun Ban
Initiative Petition

The proposed legislation would prohibit possession or sale of guns with barrels less than 16 inches. Antiques, rifles, shotguns would be exempted, as would military and law enforcement personnel. Those turning in guns within six months will be compensated at a rate set by the Commissioner of Public Safety.

In Favor

Banning handguns will reduce accidental shootings and shootings of innocent victims. The public has a constitutional right to organize a militia not necessarily to bear arms. Passage in Massachusetts will be a step toward national gun control.

Opposed

The state already has strict gun registration laws. A handgun ban will not take guns away from criminals. The cost of buying private guns will be hundreds of millions of dollars and there is no funding for such compensation. Few crimes are committed with licensed handguns. The law would disarm security guards, offduty policemen, pistol sportsmen and other law-abiding citizens . More accidental injuries deaths result from other causes such as falls, fires and poisoning.

Question 6
Bottle, Can Control
Initiative Petition

The proposal would require a deposit on beer, malt beverage and soft drink containers and require flip tops on cans to be attached to the cans. Juices, dairy products and biodegradable containers are exempted.

In Favor

Statistics from Vermont and Oregon show dramatic decrease in the amount of litter and cost of collecting litter. A Federal Reserve Bank study says as many as 1380 jobs will be created by the change. The measure is supported by such groups as the League of Women Voters, Boston City Council, Mass. Audubon, Mass. Assn. of Conservation Commissioners, Mass. Sierra Club, State Federation of Women's Clubs, Mass. Wildlife Federation and Health Planning Council for Greater Boston.

The US produces 60 billion throwaways a year which account for 44 percent of the container glass in the US, 5.6 percent of the aluminum and 2 percent of the steel. The Environmental Protection Agency says if refillable bottles were in effect nationwide $2 billion would be saved.

The state and communities spend $2.3 million on litter a year, and beverage containers as solid waste increase by 8 percent a year.

Opposed

Beverage industry interests are the prime opponents, saying their industries will lose jobs if refillable bottles are mandated. They say there are better ways to combat the litter problem, that bottles and cans are not the only litter, and that new technology is having an impact on solid waste. The industry has said the law would cost a family $100, but this figure has been challenged by a number of agencies.

Question 7
Uniform Electric Rates
Initiative Petition

The act would require electric utilities to charge a uniform rate per kilowatt hour of electricity, with the exception of other electric utility companies and residences heated by electricity. A higher rate may be charged during peak period use.

In Favor

Consumer groups says the bill would lower residential electric rates by 80 cents to $1 a week, would force big users to conserve, would discourage more automation, and would reduce utility costs for small businesses which would then hire more personnel.

Opposed

Major agency speaking against the question is the Council for Employment and Economic Energy Use which is a coalition of hospitals, schools, industry, labor, and communities. The bill is opposed by the Smaller Business Association of New England, Mass. State Building and Construction Trades Council AFL-CIO, Mass. Selectmen's Assn., Americans for Democratic Action, and the Secretary of Economic Affairs.

The employment council says the flat rate would cause unemployment, as much as 41,000 jobs, because businesses in the state would not expand or stay; big users such as schools, hospitals and municipalities would have to pass on their higher electric costs to taxpayers; large users now do not pay a discounted rate, but pay the actual cost of delivery which is lower in quantity; revenue to utilities will not increase, but will be shifted so that $90 million more comes from big users who will pass the cost on to consumers.

Question 8
Oil Refinery
Not Binding

The question seeks to determine if people favor or oppose the construction of an oil refinery and deep water port in the state. No specific proposal is being considered.

Question 9
Sunday Closing Laws

This question is on the ballot to get the sense of the voters as to whether certain retail stores should be allowed to open on Sunday.

Opposed

The Sunday opening is opposed by the Committee Against the Seven Day Work Week which is composed of numerous groups, including the Mass. Grocers' Assn., Retail Clerks Union AFL-CIO, Knights of Columbus, Mass. Beverage Assn., and Bay State Merchants' Assn.

The committee says a day off is essential to family unity. A seventh day of business would strain the energy crisis, would not produce extra spending, would not create jobs, would hurt convenience stores which rely on Sunday business, and could produce less revenue for the state if profits decline with increased cost of Sunday operations.

Mini-college

On Wednesday, November 3, at 2:30 p.m., the following institutions will be represented at the Winchester High Mini-College:

Brandeis University, Emmanuel College, Fisher Junior College, Lesley College, University of Miami (Florida), Ripon College (Wisconsin), U.S. Coast Guard Academy (Connecticut), Wesleyan University (Connecticut), Yale University (Connecticut).

25 pints for R.C. blood bank

The special Sunday Bloodmobile held in mid-October at the Winchester Red Cross Chapter House drew 31 potential donors with 25 pints collected.

This Bloodmobile visit was sponsored by four churches. Florence Gosselin, R.N. of Winchester took the case histories. Others staffing the Bloodmobile were: Pat Archibald, Mellissa Barger, Harriet Baxter, Nancy Burgatti, Emily Chandler, Gwen Dexter, Dorothy Field, Lucy Fowle, Marge Labedz, Mary Fowle, Grace Mahoney, Lou Maroney and Gertrude Parker.

Those who donated were: Vernon Amos, Ann M. Bannister, Dorothy H. Beattie, Clellan O. Bunn, Walter Bond Davis, Gary William Doughty, Frances P. Elliott, Helen L. Gardner, Richmond Gardner, Mabel Shoemaker Harris, Heinrich Dieter Holland, Emily Holt.

Frederick Sheppard Holt, Jack B. Howard, Andrea M. Johnson, Sylvia Ruth Knight, Howard A. Krueger, Caroline Holt Larson, Judith Emery Millican, Anne M. Pigott, Norman Richburg, Otto E. Schaefer, Lloyd Stevens, Jr., Judith M. Thyson, Donald C. Van Roosen.

Also William A. Wilde, Jr., Christopher Marshall Worthen, Nancy E. Worthen, Thomas Worthen.

Heather Barlow came up with a special find in the fells when local Brownies went out October 19 to clean up around Camp Joy: a stray cat. We presume it's being well-cared for now.

On committee

Mrs. Charles Ellis Jr. is serving on the committee organizing this year's Emmanuel College alumnae garage sale, which opens at nine in the morning this Saturday at the college on the Fellsway in Boston and will run until three in the afternoon.

Mrs. Ellis, a resident at 7 Dartmouth st., is president of the college's class of 1956.

Nancy Smith to wed in December

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph P. Smith Jr. of 15 Pilgrim dr. announce the engagement of their daughter, Nancy Elizabeth, to Lt. Lawrence A. Hogan of West Redding, Conn.

Miss Smith attended Michigan State University and is an alumna of Katharine Gibbs School, Boston. The bride-to-be is an executive secretary with Great Northern Nekoosa, Stamford, Conn.

Lt. Hogan attended the University of Connecticut and is associated with the Stamford Police Department.

A December wedding is planned.

Wendy Harvey married Oct. 23

Mr. and Mrs. Wendell N. Harvey announce the October 23 marriage of their daughter, Wendy Janet, to Mr. Micahel F. Danella, son of Mr. Guy A. Danella and Mrs. Josephine Danella of Utica, N.Y.

The wedding was performed by the Rev. Walter B. Davis and the Rev. Mark S. Sheehan of St. Mary's Church in the Ripley Chapel of the First Congregational Church.

Miss Margaret Bradley Sexton of Winchester was the maid of honor, and Mr. Guy R. Danella, brother of the grooom, served as the best man.

The bride and groom were graduated from the University of Denver in 1975. The couple will make their home in Washington, D.C. where Mr. Danella is associated with Western International Hotels, Inc. and where Mrs. Danella is employed by the Public Affairs Council.

Luncheon to help animal shelter

An unusual progressive luncheon will be sponsored by the Winchester SPCA on Thursday, November 4, as a fund raising project for their animal shelter.

Three attractive homes will be open for the occasion — sherry will be served at the home of Mrs. Joseph Gibson, 14 Wedgemere ave.; a sit-down gourmet luncheon following at the home of Mrs. Thomas Raphel, 14 Oxford st.; dessert and coffee at the home of Mrs. Henry Delaney, 72 Wedgemere ave. The first serving of sherry is from 11 to 12, and guests will then go on to lunch, then dessert. All homes are within the area.

There will be no tickets available at the door. Ticket information may be secured from Mrs. William Rhodes, or Mrs. George Connor, Attendance must be limited, so an early reply is essential.

The affair promises to be an interesting one and with many delightful food surprises.

St. Mary's School reunion November 14

As part of St. Mary's Parish centennial celebration, a school reunion has been planned for November 14.

All former students of St. Mary's parish school are invited to attend the reunion.

A concelebrated mass which will be offered by members of the clergy who attended St. Mary's will be the highlight of the day's celebration. Immediately following the mass, which is scheduled for 3, there will be a reception in the school hall where former students and teachers may renew old acquaintances and reminisce about the good old days.

If anyone wishes to attend or knows of any former studetns who would be interested in attending please notify one of the committee members. Kay Hines, Barbara O'Leary, Gertrude Rooney or Joan Kean.

The polls are open Tuesday, Nov. 2 from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

UNICEF unique

Halloween in Winchester is also UNICEF Day for children

This Halloween, October 31, hundreds of Winchester children will again commemorate UNICEF Day. UNICEF days are observed at other times in other countries — in Norway it is Winter Twelfth Night, in Japan it is in the spring — but in the United States it is Halloween. Here the tradition of children sharing their trick or treat fun by helping those less fortunate around the world has made Halloween and UNICEF synonymous.

With its special combination of costumes and doorbell chimes, Halloween thrills and humanitarian goodwill, trick or treat for UNICEF continues to hold its appeal as each October millions of youngsters collect not just treats for themselves but contributions to UNICEF for their less fortunate contemporaries around the world.

As in previous years, a parent in each of our school neighborhoods will have UNICEF Trick or Treat boxes for those children who want to participate:

Ambrose School — Nancy Mallio, 20 Westland ave.

Lincoln School — Marietta Bruno, 7 Washington st.

Muraco School — Mary Levin, 257 Cross st.

Mystic School — Georgia Venuti, 11 Main st.

Noonan School, Gesla MacDonald, 67 Hemingway

Parkhurst — Sandy Thompson, 48 Samoset rd.

Vinson-Owen — Maureen Abate, 12 Buckman dr.

Washington School — Debbie Stewart, 12 Reservoir rd.

Wyman School — Jean Weylman, 3 Harrington rd.

Boxes can also be picked up at the Junior Library and many of the town's churches are participating. Children attending Religious Education classes at the Baptist, First Congregational, Methodist and Unitarian churches will be helping UNICEF, and ninth graders at the First Congregational Church will be seeing the UNICEF film, "When a Man Hungers" and distributing informational materials.

Anyone interested in information should contact Sandy Thompson, 48 Samoset rd. A member of UNICEF's Education Committee, Sandy also has many of the educational materials available, including film lists, teachers kits, and display materials.

UNICEF works to produce long-term benefits for needy children in the developing world. It strives for lasting changes in the appalling conditions under which many of them live by providing required materials and know-how, helping to train communities to understand and meet their own nutritional and health needs, helping to train teachers and medical workers, providing equipment to dig wells for safe water, and seeds to grow nutritious vegetables.

UNICEF also acts to meet emergency needs of children endangered by natural of man-made disasters.

If you care about leadership... Tip O'Neill.

Thomas P. "Tip" O'Neill, Jr. has held the 8th Congressional District seat since 1952. A native of Cambridge, Tip O'Neill was elected to Congress after serving as the first Democratic, and youngest, Speaker in the history of the Massachusetts Legislature.

With his re-election to Congress, Tip O'Neill would be the odds on favorite to succeed Carl Albert as Speaker of the House, and second man in the presidential succession.

If past experience is any guide, Tip O'Neill's election as Speaker would be of great benefit to the 8th Congressional District. By all current indications, as Speaker, Tip O'Neill would be the highest ranking Northeasterner in the federal government.

And Tip O'Neill is well suited to represent the Northeast's interests at the highest levels of government. He is a skilled hand at securing federal funds. In the fiscal year 1975 alone, the last year for which numbers are available, Tip O'Neill brought some $703 million in federal money to the 8th Congressional District. As Chairman of the New England Congressional Caucus, Tip O'Neill led many successful efforts to restore the flow of federal funds so severely reduced by the Nixon and Ford Administrations.

Tip O'Neill has been the focus of wide national publicity. Because of his central role in the House proceedings leading up to President Nixon's resignation, he appeared on the cover of Time Magazine.

During his almost twelve terms in Congress, Tip O'Neill has won the respect and admiration of his colleagues. In 1973 they elected him unanimously as their majority leader.

Your vote on Tuesday, November 2nd can elect Tip O'Neill as your Speaker of the House.

Vote Democratic Tuesday, November 2nd.

If the State takes over the Electric Industry, try finding the right person to call when your lights go out.

It's three o'clock in the morning. One of our famous Nor'easters goes twisting through your town. The power goes out.

Now what?

If you have to deal with a state-run power authority, you're in trouble. Just look at the problems the State has had running so many things . . . then ask yourself how they would run a complex business like electricity.

The record of electric company employees in meeting the worst crises in New England is unmatched.

Vote against creating another Politically-Appointed State Bureaucracy.

VOTE NO on QUESTION 4 in the Nov. 2 Election.

JOHN T. AHERN, 32 HICKORY CLIFF RD., NEWTON, MA 02164
Chairman, Committee Opposed to State Takeover of the Electric Industry

Just beautiful! . . . Winchester residents John Harrington, left, and Mrs. Harrington, right, admire handcarved detailing on cathedral chair, under consideration for bid at the Action Auction to be held at Newton Country Day School of the Sacred Heart on Saturday, November 6. Also pictured is Mrs. Richard R. Gacek of Wellesley, center, chairman of the event.

Residents on auction comm. at Newton School

A week in Dingle Bay, Ireland will be among the featured items up for bidding at the Action Auction benefiting the Newton Country Day School of the Sacred Heart on Saturday evening, November 6.

Mr. and Mrs. John Harrington of Winchester will head the Silent Auction which opens the evening activities at 5. Cocktails will be served and guests may bid on selected items. A gourmet dinner will follow at 6:30, with live auction proceedings beginning at 8:00 p.m. Auctioneer James Doyle of the Doyle Galleries, New York City will return for this third year to conduct the lively bidding.

The Acquisitions Committee representing the Alumnae Association, Parents Association and Children of Mary have assembled a variety of items for every taste. Concert tickets, vacation houses, original paintings, antiques, and souvenirs of celebrities are a partial listing of a complete catalog available to auction guests.

Don't gamble on 7. Vote No.

"Flat rate" electricity, the referendum 7 question, is hardly even a gamble. Untried and untested, it's been rejected by every other state where it has been proposed. It's even been turned down by your own legislature.

The point is supposed to be: Everyone pays the same rate for electricity. But that's not the point at all.

Read the referendum. You'll see it provides non-flat rates for utility companies, electric-heated homeowners, low users, and peak load users.

Even more important than that is the certainty that gambling on the "flat rate" could cost you far more than you could hope to gain:

"Flat rates" could raise your cost-of-living. When large users of electricity pay more for the power they use, they'll charge you more for the products and services you use. You'll lose money in rents, in hospital bills, in tuitions, in insurance premiums, in supermarkets and department stores. Higher costs will cause higher prices.

"Flat rates" could cost you your job. Independent economists at the University of Massachusetts predict that forcing already-budget-bound companies to make up the multi-million-dollar difference in increased electric costs could trigger the loss of 30,000 jobs or more. Employers would have to cut back, close down, or move out of state.

"Flat rates" could cost you higher taxes. As state and local governments pay more for the electricity they use for everything from streetlights to public buildings – and as more and more families become unemployment and welfare burdens – who'll pay for it? Only the companies and the people who are still working here. Fewer and fewer of us paying more and more. There would be no conceivable way around increasingly higher taxes.

So don't gamble on Question 7. The costs are too high.

Don't gamble on Question 7.
Vote NO on "flat-rate" electricity.

Council for Employment and Economic Energy Use, 73 Tremont Street, Boston, MA 02108. A.L. Bolton, Chairperson. Howard Hansen, Treasurer.

Can we afford four more years without effective leadership?

There is a critical decision to be made on November 2nd. It goes far beyond the question of which Presidential candidate can govern with integrity and honesty. We must determine which candidate has the ability and strength to lead our country out of economic chaos, and the vision to see that all Americans—not just the powerful and influential—have a better future.

During the past two years, the middle class has paid far too dear a price for a President lacking that ability.

Since Gerald Ford took office, the unemployment rate has risen 50%, from 5.5% or 5 million people, to 7.9% or 7-1/2 million jobless Americans.

Today's inflation rate of 6% is higher than it was at any time between the Korean War and the inauguration of Richard Nixon.

The 1968 food dollar is now worth 57¢.

Mr. Ford's budget will account for the largest single deficit and more than 1/3 of the public debt incurred during our entire 200-year history.

Real GNP has actually declined during each of Gerald Ford's two years in office.

And who is most affected by these distressing statistics? Not the Washington establishment, or the economic elite courted by the Republicans. The burden falls on the person who can least afford it: the average American.

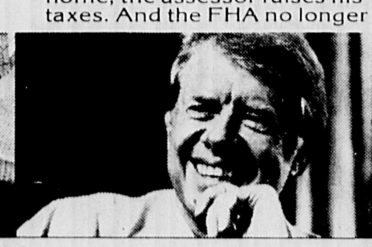

Jimmy Carter means to change all that. As President, he will make government responsive to your needs.

Tax Reform: "The average family in this country actually pays a higher proportion of their income in taxes than the average family that makes more than a million dollars a year. That's disgraceful. We need to move toward a truly progressive and simplified tax system, with reduced tax rates for the average American."
Economy: "We'll never have a balanced budget nor an end to the inflationary problems as long as we have 7-1/2 million people out of work. Employment needs to be the major thrust of the whole domestic policy of our government."
Efficiency in Government: "We now have in the federal government the most bloated, confused, wasteful bureaucracy ever created. There's no way to get an answer out of Washington and no way to understand what's going on there. We need to reorganize completely the executive branch of government, making it fair, efficient, effective, and responsive to our people's needs."
Housing: "No government that cared about our neighborhoods would stack the tax deck against them. A landlord can let a building run down and make a good living on tax breaks. But when a home owner spends a little hard-earned money fixing up his home, the assessor raises his taxes. And the FHA no longer cares about families getting started in their own homes: I intend to restore the FHA to the time when, for a down payment, a family could get a mortgage which the government would insure."
Health Care: "We need a nationwide health care delivery system which will make adequate health care a right for all people."

Jimmy Carter has the strength to take charge of our government. If you are tired of paying the high price of Republican ineffectiveness, you have only one choice on November 2nd, and that choice is for change.

Paid for and authorized by 1976 Democratic Presidential Campaign Committee, Inc.

Vote for JIMMY CARTER.
A leader, for a change.

Born again Unitarians

This Sunday, October 31 at the Winchester Unitarian Church, the sermon topic will be "Born Again Unitarians."

Reverend Jack Zoerheide, Mary Lewis and Arthur Rich will participate in the service. Video-taped interviews with three candidates for president of the Unitarian Universalist Association will be included in the discussion at 11:30.

On Reformation Sunday it seems reasonable to think about who we are and perhaps where we are going," the minister said.

Macaulay is sharing his 30 year's experience and knowledge of the vacuum cleaner business with his new associate, along with intensive training in servicing, general repairs, and sales technique being given by Hoover and Eureka company representatives.

Local sailor on NATO cruise

Navy Electrician's Mate Fireman Apprentice Ronald E. Bingel, son of Mrs. Lorraine M. Bingel of 26 Kirk St. participated in the NATO Exercise "Display Determination" in the Mediterranean Sea.

He is a crewmember aboard the amphibious assault ship USS Iwo Jima, deployed with the U.S. Sixth Fleet. His command joined with naval forces from Portugal, Italy, Turkey and the United Kingdom for the combined exercise which included convoy operations, amphibious assault landings and anti-submarine warfare maneuvers.

A 1974 graduate of Winchester High School, he joined the Navy in June, 1975.

Eight local volunteers are participating in an effort to raise general gift funds for the Simmons College PRIDE campaign, a 10-year, $15 million development plan which will begin with the renovation of the college's 73-year old academic building at 300 the Fenway in Boston.

Winchester PRIDE team members include: Mrs. Maria (Campisano) Lauretano, Mrs. Ethel (Hoelzel) Blanch, Mrs. Joan (Brady) Johnson, Miss Mary Fenaglis, Mrs. Helen (Hermes) Bates, Mrs. Grace (D'Arrigo) Antognoni, Mrs. Lydia (Freitas) Vernaglia, and Mrs. Cecile (Felion) Law.

Renovation plans include construction of a college commons area, and modernization of learning facilities. According to William J. Holmes, president of the 2,600-student institution, the renewal is the first phase of an effort that will also include increased endowment for student assistance, three professional chairs, improved faculty salaries, and expanded program development.

Palubinskas speaks to group

Dr. A. Lucille Palubinskas, 4 Winslow rd., spoke to the members of the Route 128 Chapter of the National Secretaries Association (International) and their bosses when that group met recently for the chapter's annual executive night at Finnerty's Country Squire in Cochituate.

Dr. Palubinskas, professor of psychology at Tufts University, spoke on "New Role Models for Women." The author of numerous writings on the subject, she has served as chairman of the citizen's advisory committee in Winchester public schools, co-chairman of the public education committee, Boston American Cancer Society. She has also lectured extensively in the Boston area schools and colleges.

SAM ROTONDI
DEMOCRAT FOR STATE SENATOR

A Qualified and Caring Leader for Our Community

Thanks to you, on September 14 Sam Rotondi enjoyed an overwhelming victory in becoming the Democratic Nominee for State Senator in our District. That victory and the final election this coming Tuesday is the culmination of ten months of active campaigning that has seen Sam personally visit over 25,000 homes; hundreds of canvassers leaflet the district many times over, and countless people lend their time and reputation on Sam's behalf. This was no small task, but it was with great purpose. Sam Rotondi is going to provide our community and our district with a kind of leadership seldom seen in politics. He has already demonstrated it through the work he has done in writing and effecting passage of judicial reform legislation and the efforts he has made to constantly address issues openly, honestly, and without hesitation. He will carry it further with monthly public forums and a senate office easily assessible to all of us.

A glance below will tell you that Sam Rotondi is qualified, and qualifications are important. But if falls one step short of Sam's most important quality; he is caring. He takes pride in how he represents you as human beings, not merely as constituents, and he has profound respect for the value of life and the individual. Sam Rotondi is a different kind of politician, and he is dedicated to becoming the most outstanding State Senator ever to serve our community. We hope you will give him the opportunity to fulfill that goal.

VOTE SAM ROTONDI NOVEMBER 2nd.

- Democratic Nominee, State Senator 4th Middlesex District

Democratic leaders honor Ed Markey

Five Massachusetts Democratic Congressmen gathered in Boston's Hampshire House last Wednesday eve to pay tribute to someone they hope will be their new colleague in Washington, Edward J. Markey.

For Markey, Democratic nominee to the 7th District Congressional seat, it was an evening of friendly Democratic ribbing along with a few moments of eloquence in the restaurant's oaken, old Boston setting.

There, standing before the tables was House Speaker to-be, Thomas P. "Tip" O'Neill, arm and arm with Markey, praising him for his Primary victory while expressing thanks that there shall be another B.C. graduate to fill the Congressional ranks.

There too stood Congressman Gerry E. Studds of the 12th District who began, "I won't speak long to you tonight because of the 8th Amendment which prohibits cruel and unusual punishment." But Studds then spoke forcefully about the support, respect and trust a Congressman can receive from his constituents when he or she consistently votes for the ideals they believe in. Studds added that Americans are disenchanted with leaders who continually gauge the number of constituents they will anger before voting on controversial measures instead of following their own moral convictions.

The other U. S. Representatives attending the reception were Congressman Michael Harrington, 6th District; Congressman Paul E. Tsongas, 5th District; and Congressman Joseh Moakley, 9th District.

Market considers this show of solidarity and support from members of the Massachusetts Democratic Congressional Delegation to be of special significance for the people of the 7th District.

"For eight years, Republican presidents have ignored the needs of our commonwealth because we refuse to vote for them and their insensitive national policies," Markey said. "Richard Nixon and Gerald Ford both came to the same agreeement about Massachusetts. . . they don't understand us, they don't need us, and they don't want us."

"By sticking together we can put a Democrat in the Oval Office who will work with the Congress, not against it," Markey said. "It's time to put an end to Republican regional favoritism and Ford's government by veto.

SPIRITS OF '76

by DAN BUSA

Most hot soups are improved by the addition of a tablespoon or two of sherry or Madeira to each bowl . . . A cup of red wine, added gradually to the liquid in which a pot roast or stew is simmering, adds flavor and strength to the gravy and tenderness to the meat . . . Add any drops of leftover wine to gravies, casseroles, or vinegars . . . Dry, white wine enhances the delicate flavor of chicken or fish . . . On the other hand, chicken cooked in red wine is the classic coq au vin, and mighty good, too. Sherry or vermouth complement and improve the flavor of lobster stew . . . Use wine in cooking, but use it discriminately.

Take care of somebody's nephew because he can't hold a job.
We're famous for it.
But, it's not a thing of the past.
Take a look at Middlesex County.
Take a look at Eddie Sullivan your present Clerk of Courts.
It sounds like a small job.
But, you know who runs this county?
His machine does.
You know who's paying for it?
You are.
You know what you can do about it?
November 2nd you can vote for Joan Needleman for Clerk of Courts.
She's a lawyer.
A teacher like you used to have in school.
A person you can trust for a change.
Vote for Joan Needleman the lady, the lawyer who's going to clean out our courts.
It's going to be a tough job but, with your help she can hack it.

Susan Cooper's literary magic leads to 1976 Newbery award

Susan Cooper does not look or sound like the kind of person whose imagination can be captured in words and read around the world. But she is.

Susan Cooper of Winchester has won the 1976 Newbery Award for excellence in children's books for her fourth in a five-novel series, The Grey King. The series takes its title from the second book, The Dark is Rising.

She is unassuming, quiet, shy, attractive, and not at all reminiscent of the Arthurian tales she uses as the basis for her children's books.

Using the ages old problem of good against evil, Ms. Cooper manages to transport both the characters in her books and those who read them into another world long since past when King Arthur set out to bring the forces of good to all mankind.

"I study quite a bit, of course," she said, sitting barefoot in her third floor "sanctuary" at home. Quite a bit means extensively as one's eye is caught by titles like Roman Britain, Tales of Arthur, Welsh Poetry, and the like.

Although brought up in Buckinghamshire, England, Ms. Cooper continues to read about the British Isles and to visit whenever she can. She has family in Wales and in England.

Growing up in a home full of books and music, Ms. Cooper's interests naturally developed along those lines. She also learned the folk tales and legends of Buckinghamshire and was imbued with history and fantasy.

At 18, she left home to study at Oxford in Somerville College, studying for an honors degree in English language and literature. C.S. Lewis (to whom she has been compared) and J. R.R. Tolkien were among her instructors.

While at Oxford, Ms. Cooper began working on the undergraduate newspaper, Cherwell, as a reporter. She became the first woman editor of the paper and upon completion of her studies joined the Sunday Times of London as reporter, staff writer, and finally feature writer.

It was as a feature writer that she first wrote for children. A life-long interest in King Arthur prompted first an article in the Times and then the first of her five-book sequence, Over Sea, Under Stone.

In her Newbery acceptance speech in July this year Ms. Cooper said, "I found I was writing a fantasy, full of images which had haunted me since childhood but which I'd never thought to put into fiction...Over Sea, Under Stone turned out to be the first movement in a symphonic pattern of five books."

Caught up as she was in the excitement and imagery of the first book, Ms. Cooper outlined the remaining books of the struggle of good and evil. The outlines included setting, (England or Wales), season, characters, and brief plot. She also wrote the last page of the fifth book and put it away.

That fifth book, to be published next year, was nearly complete this summer, but Ms. Cooper would not divulge the conclusion.

She cites one of her own characters, Merriman who runs through all the books, regarding the conflict of dark and light, good and evil.

"The struggle between good and evil...goes on all around us all the time, like two armies fighting. And sometimes one of them seems to be winning and sometimes the other, but neither has ever triumphed altogether. Nor ever will...for there is something of each in every man..."

Ms. Cooper makes images live. A photograph in her study showed a portion of a small Welsh fishing village. She expressed surprise and delight that it was recognizable as the scene in Greenwitch, the third in the Dark is Rising sequence.

"I don't really think of my books in words right off," she said. "They come to me in images. One day I was cross-country skiing in the Fells with my husband (Nicholas Grant) and suddenly I knew what I would write about. I was tramping along in silence, looking at the snowdrifts, seeing small trees sticking up out of the snow and thinking they looked like the antlers of deer, and then for no good reason at all I suddenly knew that I was going to write a book, set for the most part in thick snow like this, about a small boy who woke up one birthday morning and found he was able to work magic."

It is not only the boy, Will Stanton, who works magic. It is also Susan Cooper.

Her literary endeavors are the following:

Contributor to The Age of Austerity: 1945-51, edited by French and Sissons, 1963; Mandrake, 1964; Behind the Golden Curtain: a view of the USA (Book Society Alternative Choice), 1965; Over Sea, Under Stone (Horn Book honor list), 1965 (US: 1966) editor Essays of Five Decades by J.B. Priestley, 1968; J.B. Priestly Portrait of an Author, 1970 (US:1971); Dawn of Fear (Horn Book honor list, ALA notable book), 1970; The Dark is Rising (Boston Globe-Horn Book Award, ALA notable book, Newbery Honor Book, runner-up for Carnegie Medal), 1973; The Dark is Rising Greenwitch, 1974; and The Grey King (Newbery Award, runner-up for the Carnegie Medal, Tir Na N'og prize for best book set in Wales), 1975.

Rotary governor visits localities

Rotary Service was the subject of an address given to the Rotary Club of Winchester on October 21 by William B. Ardiff of Danvers, the governor of this Rotary district.

Outlining the global growth of Rotary, the international men's service organization, the district governor called Rotary "the pioneer of the service clubs."

"Rotary Club activities improve their communities, aid youth, elevate business standards and further international friendships and understanding," he said. The local club is one of 41 Rotary clubs in this district.

During his visit, Ardiff was informed of the local Rotary Club's activities this year including an annual auction and barn flea market. The auction is run once a year and the flea market, a building owned by the Rotary Club, is run on a year-round basis. The total project has raised funds up to $25,000 a year to support an active community service program.

Concerning activities in this Rotary district, he discussed the Group Study Exchange with Japan, the nine Rotary Foundation Fellows studying in this district and the District Spring Conference to be held in Salem in April, 1977.

The district governor also conferred with D. Craig Wark, Jr., local Rotary Club president, and Seymour W. Russell, club secretary, on matters of club administration and plans for future activities.

Saltmarsh named to House committee

In one of the last actions of the 1976 legislative session, Rep. Thomas W. Magee, Speaker of the House, named Rep. Sherman W. Saltmarsh to the joint Redistricting Committee.

The committee which comprises four Democratic and one Republican senators plus 11 Democratic and four Replublican representatives, is charged with the responsibility of drawing up new districts to reflect the cuback in House membership from 240 to 160, mandated as of January 1, 1979.

The committee will consider making some minor revisions in the 40 senatorial districts as well.

By law, redistricting is required every 10 years. Although this was done only a few years ago, the constitutional change which won approval on the ballot, makes the off-year redistricting necessary.

Once the revised districts are approved by the Legislature, they will stay in effect for a 10-year period. The vote is expected early in 1977 and the districts will take effect in 1979.

The Winchester Jaycees are holding their Third Annual Haunted House thru Sunday, October 31. Evening performances are from 6-9 p.m. with matinees Saturday, October 30, and Sunday, October 31 from 2-4 p.m. The Jaycees hope to provide a healthy alternative to traditional Halloween trick or treating. Last year more than 5000 area residents were horrifyingly entertained. Admission is minimal and tickets may be obtained at the door, the Girl Scout Cabin, South Border Road.

New officers at the Winchester Savings Bank are Anthony P. Petrucci (right), recently elected assistant treasurer in charge of loan servicing at the bank; and Joseph Krajewski, recently elected branch manager of the new office, which is scheduled for completion in January 1977 at 278 Washington st.

Local resident co-authors book

The Modern Olympics, a book edited by Peter J. Graham and Horst Ueberhorst, was recently published by Leisure Press of Cornwall, New York. Containing contrubutions from a variety of international scholars, the volume focuses on the 1896 revival of the modern Olympics in Athens to the recent Montreal Olympic Games.

Dr. Graham, a former Winchester resident and athlete, is a professor of sport administration at the University of Massachusetts, Amherst.

Active in Olympic and international organizations, he has participated in the 13th Session of the International Olympic Academy, Athens-Olympia, Greece in 1973 and this past July was one of ten selected from world-wide competition to present a paper on sport administration at the International Congress of Physical Activity Sciences held in Quebec City, Quebec, Canada.

The son of Mr. & Mrs. Peter J. Graham of Winchester and Scituate, Dr. Graham resides in Amherst with his wife Barbara, daughter of Mr. & Mrs. George E. Gregory, also of Winchester.

Why you should Vote No on Question 5

Question 5 will cost you hundreds of millions in new taxes. (It could cost up to $120 for each taxpayer)

These figures are based on information received from the State Dept. of Taxation. We include in this figure man-hours spent, bureaucracy costs and wasted effort.

Question 5 will take away one of your constitutional rights.

The bill of rights provides the right to bear arms and Massachusetts has the most stringent gun control laws in the country. The right to defend yourself must not be taken away.

Question 5 discriminates against your law-abiding neighbor and you.

This question would discriminate against the people who license themselves and register their firearms. It will not take firearms away from the criminal.

Question 5 will not do a darn thing to reduce crime.

The people who have the right to have firearms in their homes are not criminals. Criminals will continue to have guns.

Question 5 would take firearms away from policemen while off duty.

The policeman who is on duty 24 hours a day will only have his firearm for his 8 hour shift, taking another deterent away from criminals.

All major police organizations want you to vote no to question 5.

Local women host opera auditions

Two local women, Mrs. James Ryder and Mrs. Ernest Covino of Winchester, recently hosted one of five auditioning sessions for the Opera Company of Boston.

The sessions, sponsored by the Guild of the Opera Company of Boston, were held at Brown Hall of the New England Conservatory of Music in Boston. Guild members provided refreshments.

This is the third year the sessions have been held, giving persons between the ages of 18 and 45 an opportunity to be heard. Subscribers to the opera company are looking forward to the company's 19th season, which is being planned by Sarah Caldwell. Performances are scheduled to include Puccini's La Boheme Glinka's Russlan and Ludmila; Bellini's La Sonnamula; and Verdi's Stiffelio.

Remaining subscriptions may be had by contacting the Opera Company of Boston, 172 Newbury st., Boston, 02116.

Helen Dame named

Helen O. Dame, 16 Wedge Pond rd., was elected district governor when the 29th district of Quota International held its 18th annual fall conference last weekend.

Quota International is a classified 'women's service organization whose membership is open to qualified professional and executive businesswomen. Mrs. Leila-Jane Roberts is president.

Maj. Skerry transferred

U.S. Air Force Major Hugh F. Skerry, whose mother is Mrs. Walter J. Skerry of 130 Sylvester ave., has arrived for duty at Wright-Patterson AFB in Ohio.

Maj. Skerry, an electronic warfare engineer with a unit of the Air Force Systems Command, previously served at Elmendorf AFB in Alaska. He is a 1959 graduate of Winchester High School and received his BS degree in 1963 from Lowell Technical Institute, where he was commissioned.

Mrs. Patricia Krusell of Winchester, Director of Activities at New England Rehabilitation Hospital, receives five-year pin from from Edward "Buddy" LeRoux, hospital president and formerly Red Sox trainer. Twenty-two received five-year pins marking milestones in their health careers.

Joins local realty firm

Mrs. Carol Johnson has recently joined the staff as a realtor associate at the office of Sherman R. Josephson, Realtor, here in Winchester.

Mrs. Johnson has been active for many years as a volunteer in school, church, civic, and political organizations, and she was formerly the secretary at the Crawford Memorial Church. Currently she is chairman of the Winchester Republican Town Committee.

For the last ten years Mrs. Johnson has lived at 1 Woodside rd. with her husband and three children.

BUSA LIQUORS ANNOUNCES ITS .....

NOVEMBER WINEFEST

10% OFF ON ALL WINE

- WIDE CHOICE OF DOMESTIC & IMPORTED WINES
- NO MINIMUM PURCHASE
- NO PURCHASE LIMIT (while supplies last)
- SALE ENDS NOVEMBER 30TH

LAST APRIL, OUR "INTRODUCTION TO WINE" SALE WAS GREATLY RECEIVED BY OUR CUSTOMERS. THE MANAGEMENT OF BUSA LIQUORS WAS PLEASED TO HAVE CONDUCTED THAT SALE AND IN A CONTINUING EFFORT TO DO MORE FOR OUR CUSTOMERS WILL HOLD A "NOVEMBER WINEFEST." FROM NOVEMBER 1st THRU THE 30th WE WILL BE OFFERING A 10% SAVINGS ON ALL WINE PURCHASES. COME IN DURING THIS PRE-HOLIDAY PERIOD AND MAKE SELECTIONS FROM A LARGE VARIETY OF IMPORTED AND DOMESTIC WINES WHICH WILL SATISFY ANY OCCASION, TASTE OR BUDGET.

ALSO...WE WOULD LIKE TO TAKE THIS OPPORTUNITY TO INTRODUCE

Antonio's WINE

AND STILL MORE .....
"WEEKLY WINE FACTS" and
"WINE of the WEEK"

DURING THE "NOVEMBER WINEFEST" WE ARE INTRODUCING OUR VERY OWN - - ANTONIO'S WINE. ANTONIO'S WINE REPRESENTS A RARE COMBINATION OF AN ITALIAN FAMILY'S WINE MAKING SKILLS, HANDED DOWN FOR GENERATIONS, AND CAREFULLY SELECTED CALIFORNIA GRAPES GROWN UNDER CONDITIONS IDENTICAL TO THOSE FOUND IN THE ITALIAN VINEYARDS WHERE IT ORIGINATED. ANTONIO'S IS AVAILABLE IN VINO ROSSO, VIN ROSE AND BIANCO. AS A MEANS OF INTRODUCING YOU TO THIS EXCELLENT WINE, DURING THE MONTHS OF NOVEMBER AND DECEMBER ANTONIO'S WILL BE AVAILABLE AT ONLY $3.69 A GALLON.

BEGINNING ON DECEMBER 2, 1976 AND ON EACH SUCCEEDING THURSDAY THIS PAPER WILL CONTAIN OUR "WEEKLY WINE FACTS" ARTICLE. IN THIS SERIES EACH WEEK WE WILL DESCRIBE A DIFFERENT TYPE OF WINE AND OCCASIONALLY SOME GENERAL INFORMATION ON WINE OR RELATED ITEMS. WHEN COMPLETED THE SERIES WILL FORM A VERY COMPREHENSIVE DICTIONARY OF WINE FACTS. WE ENCOURAGE YOU TO CLIP OUT THE ARTICLES EACH WEEK AND IF YOU SHOULD MISS ONE WE WILL HAVE REPRINTS AVAILABLE AT OUR STORES. DURING THE MONTH OF DECEMBER A HANDSOME "WEEKLY WINE FACTS" BINDER WILL BE AVAILABLE WITH ANY WINE PURCHASE.

AND FOR THE ENTIRE DURATION OF THIS SERIES, EACH WEEK FROM THURSDAY THRU WEDNESDAY THE WINE DESCRIBED IN THE ARTICLE WILL BE OFFERED AS THE "WINE OF THE WEEK" AT A 10% SAVINGS. FOR FURTHER INFORMATION VISIT OUR STORES WHERE WE WOULD BE PLEASED TO GIVE YOU MORE DETAILS.

Prof. Hunter to lecture via new system

Howard E. Hunter of 3 Madison ave., associate professor of religion at Tufts University, will participate in a unique educational program this fall in which he will deliver lectures at Purdue University in Indiana without leaving Massachusetts.

The lectures will be conducted through a newly developed system called telelecture which permits Hunter to remain on the Medford campus while delivering a live lecture to the students at Purdue. Telelecture is transmitted by telephone lines, although the lecturer is not visible, communication between the students and the lecturer is possible and question and answer period follows each lecture.

Officer John McKinley calls out the bids at the annual police department bicycle auction October 19, while an interested party looks on. About 35 bikes were sold off at some of the best prices in town.

★ Parents

would be redistricted from Ambrose to Parkhurst to allow space for the Wyman students. Under this plan, according to MacDonald, no students would have to be bused.

Questioning the school department statistics on school capacities, Santos suggested that Winchester may be caught short of space should enrollments increase significantly.

Mrs. Pronski responded by saying that school department projections show an enrollment decline continuing for the next five or six years; and she noted that by the department's "conservative" estimates of capacity, there are 389 empty seats in the schools (discounting the 45 at the Mystic portable classrooms, which are designed to be temporary structures).

The school department capacity figures are based on a 45 square foot per child ratio and adjusted slightly below those numbers to allow for a "cushion" of roughly ten per cent. The town building inspector's estimates of school capacity exceed the school department's by more than 1400.

Another variable involved in the figuring of capacity is the Ambrose School, which along with Parkhurst and Vinson-Owen is located in the town's highest growth area, the West Side. The school department estimates the basement of Ambrose could be renovated for $33,000 and would increase the school's capacity by 120 students.

Using residential building permits as a leading indicator, Mrs. Crandall and Santos established that there had been an unswing in development in Winchester so far in 1976. With about 28 permits issued to date, they estimated 50 would be issued before the close of the year.

Continuing their projections, they said there was a potential for 343 new homes in town in the next five years. According to Mrs. Crandall, 244 of the potential new homes are already on the market.

Santos explained that new families moving into town have a higher average number of children per house than exists town-wide. While the current ratio for elementary children is .39, Santos said the new houses would bring in about one child per house. "There is a possibility," he said, "that the town could see as many as 400 more children in the next five years."

Santos further suggested that the committee had misread the school capacity figures, saying, "The school committee thinks it has a higher capacity than the numbers indicate."

Board member Robert Frank argued that the capacity estimates were conservative and concluded, "Compared with 1970, we now have 700 less kids and 500 more seats; further, enrollment projections estimate there will be 500 less kids in the schools over the next five years."

Committee member Constance Papas added that of 20 communities around Boston she surveyed, all of them used their building inspector's figures in determining capacity, rather than the 45 square foot method employed in Winchester.

Frank noted that statistically, housing starts are not alone a significant factor behind enrollment changes. To this Santos replied that the turnover rate may be a missing factor. So far this year, according to Santos, turnovers account for a net gain of 94 students.

When asked about turnover rates for the past few years, Santos said they did not have the figures. "We'll get the numbers," he said, "but why don't you have them? Sometimes we get the feeling we're doing your work for you."

As for enrollments, Mrs. Crandall said the school department projections, compiled by data processing instructor Arthur Sarno, were based on the last five years and naturally reflect declining enrollments. However she did admit the MAPC numbers were high. Those projections are based in part, according to Mrs. Crandall, on a 1968 area-wide study. At that time enrollments were near peak level.

"There is enough isolated information that indicates there might be a reversal of the trends," Santos concluded, and he asked the school committee to "keep your options open."

Administrative Superintendent Jack Fallon has estimated the annual savings from closing Wyman to be more than $70,000. In his presentation at the October 5 hearing, Santos took issue with this figure.

Since the school department and the selectmen have said they do not have any need for the facility, and since most parties agree that leaving the building vacant is the least desireable alternative, those three possible uses for the Wyman School were set aside.

Santos had estimated selling the school would leave $49,100 in school-related costs transfered to other facilities or generated by additional transportation costs. The fifth alternative was to demolish the building and use the land as a park. This would cost $56,100 annually, according to Santos.

However if the displaced Wyman students are transferred with the slight redistricting from Ambrose to Parkhurst, no extra transportation costs would ensue. Santos had estimated these costs at $14,500.

Of the operating costs (custodians, light and power, telephone, and fuel), Fallon pointed out that all but the telephone costs are principally space-oriented rather than person-oriented. This discrepancy between the numbers of the school department and Santos totals $18,300.

On the other hand, the department's projected savings of $23,475 by the elimination of a principal would actually be somewhat less, since principals have tenure and would have the option of staying on in the system at the highest teacher salary level.

A final figure was never determined, but Santos concluded by saying "the savings are so small they might be negative—it could cost us money."

Though she has not indicated whether or not she favors any consolidation of schools beyond closing Wyman, Mrs. Pronski has said the school department has no use for that school.

Keeping it open would be "most unfair to the taxpayers of this town" she said. "I would rather we were paying for education rather than brick and mortar." Sha added that she does not believe closing Wyman will destroy the concept of small, neighborhood schools.

Stars of the Games. Each week a back and lineman are chosen for their performances in the Winchester games. Selected were: Bill Murphy (14), and Mike Wise (86), Natick game; Don Allard (20), Burlington and Stoneham games; Steve Campbell (52), Burlington game; Bill Monson (77), Reading game; Wayne Maggio (65), Stoneham game; Mike Cavaretta (13), and John Calarese (76), Lexington game. For heart disease ...

Hospital's stress test an early warning system

Heart disease, the leading cause of death in the country, can now be detected in its early stages by a new Stress Test Monitor recently installed at Winchester Hospital.

The test is conducted by putting the patient on a slightly inclined revolving treadmill. Electrodes, attached from the monitor to the patient's upper torso, registering visual evidence on a small video screen of the heart's pumping action as the treadmill speed varies. Capable of a velocity of up to 10 miles an hour, the treadmill gradually speeds up, forcing the patient to walk faster.

The fundamental theory behind the stress monitor is that the working heart provides more accurate data then the resting heart. At the end of the test, which requires an hour to complete, the cardiologist, who is present during the entire test, can either confirm or deny clinically suspected coronary disease, attempt to diagnose the cause and decide whether to recommend further treatment. He then determines the patient's limitations and recommends any alterations in the patient's lifestyle.

Present statistics indicate that heart disease can begin early in life. Among men ages 25 to 29, it ranks among the 10 leading causes of death. By the ages of 40 to 44, it is the leading cause of death and continues to be throughout the remaining years of life. The peak period is ages 50 to 54, and the American male has one chance in six of developing coronary heart disease before the age of 59.

But American women are becoming more vulnerable all the time, according to Dr. Marianne Frankenhaeuser, a psychologist and experimenter at the University of Stockholm. "The ongoing changes in sex role patterns are leaving women nearly as vulnerable as men to heart disease," Dr. Frankenhaeuser says, "because women are subject to more of the stress-inducing competition that is a primary cause of heart disease in men."

Dr. Lawrence Baker, Board Certified Cardiologist and a member of Winchester Hospital's Cardiac Care Committee, commented on the new stress monitor, "This equipment represents all the most worthwhile advances in testing the heart under stress. As a screening procedure, it is particularly suited to the community hospital having the appropriately-trained physicians, the necessary equipment and the interests of the medical staff, the patients and the hospital's administration."

The stress test is also recommended for people who play tennis, ride bicycles and who have taken up jogging as well as middle-aged people who want to prevent future heart problems.

Rep. Sherman Saltmarsh of Winchester has been jogging regularly each week for the past four years, and is one of the proponents of a stress test for joggers.

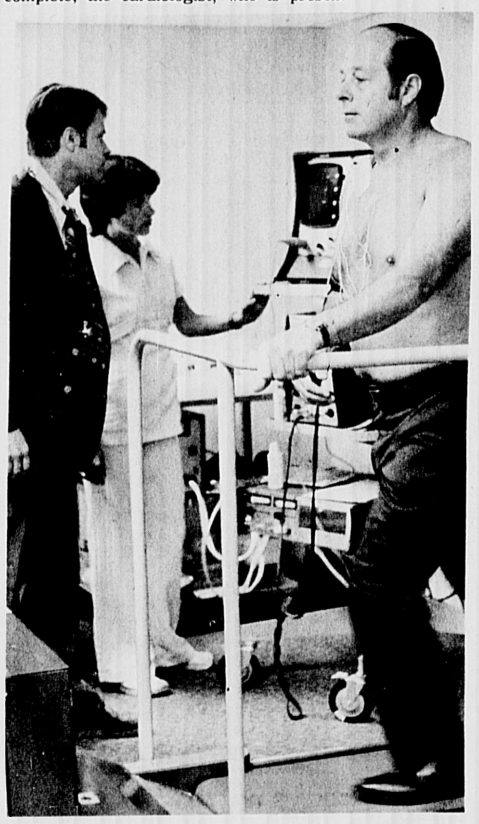

"I like to keep active and do things physically," Saltmarsh said, "and, as a jogger, I like to know I'm in good condition. I see this test as very useful for anyone who wants to stay active. I want to maintain a sound body as long as I can, and this test assures me that I can work out and not worry about my heart."

He called the Stress Test Monitor "another example of the planning and posture Winchester Hospital is taking to provide the community with the most advanced equipment in medical technology."

A person wishing to take the stress test must be referred to a member of the Hospital's Cardiac Care Committee by his or her family physician.

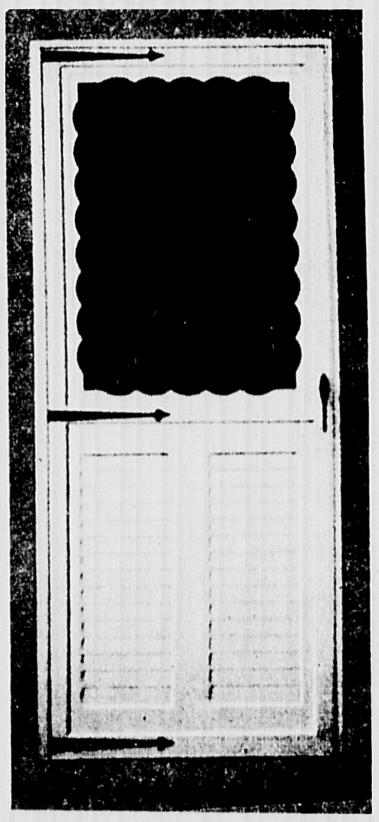

For your safety

If you are a single female living alone, for your safety, DO NOT indicate on address labels, apartment listings or telephone numbers that you are such a person. Use initials. This tip comes from Police Officer John W. McKinley.

Rep. Sherman Saltmarsh, 27th Middlesex District takes the stress-test on Win chester Hospital's new stress-test machine. The machine measures the heart beat while the heart is under the stress of walking Winchester Brownies, spent the afternoon of October 19 cleaning up the grounds at Camp Joy in the Fells. Risa DiVincenzo, left, Maria Mercurio, center, and a friend made a good team. Their afternoon included lunch, a flag ceremony, a talk about safety, clean-up and games.

Four enrolled at Colby-Sawyer

Four students from Winchester, were among the more than 300 freshman students who enrolled at Colby-Sawyer College in New London, NH this past weekend. The college, beginning its 140th year, welcomed a near-record student body of over 700 for the 1976-77 academic year.

New Freshmen from Winchester include: Cynthia L. Cummings, daughter of Mr. & Mrs. Witly A. Cummings, 18 Albamont rd.; Diane F. Senna, daughter of Dr. & Senna, 25 Hutchinson rd.; Hope E. Stavros, daughter of Mrs. Helen Stravos, 9 Webster st.; and Julie L. Walters, daughter of Dr. & Mrs. Paul A. Walters.

Colby-Sawyer College is the oldest independent women's college in New Hampshire and one of the few in New England. The College serves students from more than thirty states and several more than thirty states and several foreign countries. It offers ten associate and eleven bachelor degree programs that may be completed in two, three, or four years.

At Fisher

Sharon E. Garner daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Garner, 46 Salisbury st. has enrolled as a freshman at Fisher Junior College. Sharon is enrolled in the medical secretarial program at the two-year college for women located in Boston's Back Bay. She is a 1976 graduate of Winchester High School.

Carol Foran daughter of Mrs. Evelyn M. Delorey, 24 Hinds rd., has also enrolled as a freshman at Fisher. Carol is in the medical assistant in pediatrics program.

McKinley in NATO operation

Navy Commander Harold H. McKinley Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold H. McKinley of 11 Elmwood ave., is participating in a major NATO maritime exercise entitled "Team Work '76."

He is serving as the executive officer of the amphibious transport dock USS Nashville.

The two-week exercise involves more than 80,000 personnel, 200 surface craft, 30 submarines, and 300 aircraft from nine NATO countries and France. The units will be operating in the North Atlantic Ocean, English Channel, and Baltic Sea. The primary objectives of the exercise are "to test and improve the readiness of the allied forces and to test plans for the defense of Western Europe."

McKinley is a 1959 graduate of the U.S. Merchant Marine Academy at Kings Point, N.Y. With a bachelor of science degree, he joined the Navy in September 1959. His ship is home ported at Norfolk, Va.

Has information

Jane Ryer, a member of the Lesley College Alumni Association Board of Directors and resident of Central street, has reservation information on the "Potpourri of Holiday Decorations" program, sponsored by the Lesley College Alumni Association and to be held in Alumni Hall, Lesley College, on November 6, at 10:30 a.m.

For further cost and detailed information, please contact Ms. Ryer, or the Alumni Association Office.

Enrolled at Amherst

Douglas K. Bishop of 7 Glengarry rd. is among the 421 students who began classes at Amherst College in September. A graduate of Winchester High School and a National Honor Society Member while at WHS, Douglas is the son of Rev. and Mrs. John J. Bishop. Rev. Bishop is pastor of the Epiphany Church.

May to present

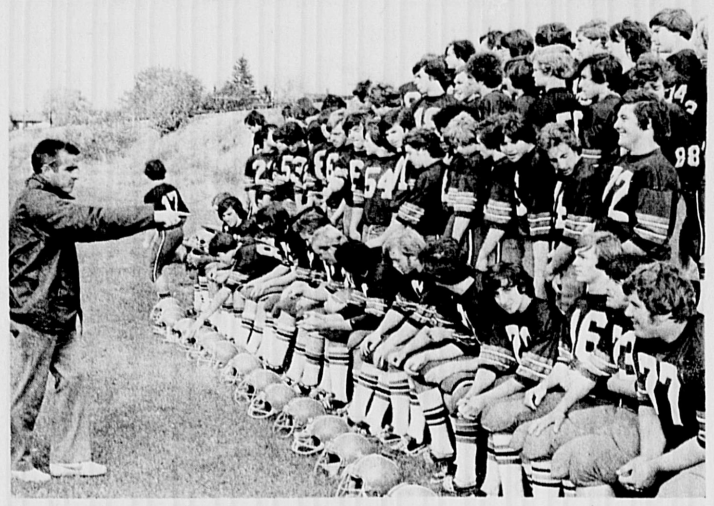

Lucille May, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. Joseph Cannava of 23 Lockeland rd. and 1965 graduate of Winchester High School, presented the results of an experiment in educational research at the annual convocation of the Northeast Educational Research Association October 27 in Ellenville, N.Y.

The paper, which was written as part of Northeastern University's graduate program in educational research, is titled, "Some Effects of Anxiety on the Writing Performance of Students with Different Levels of Creativity."

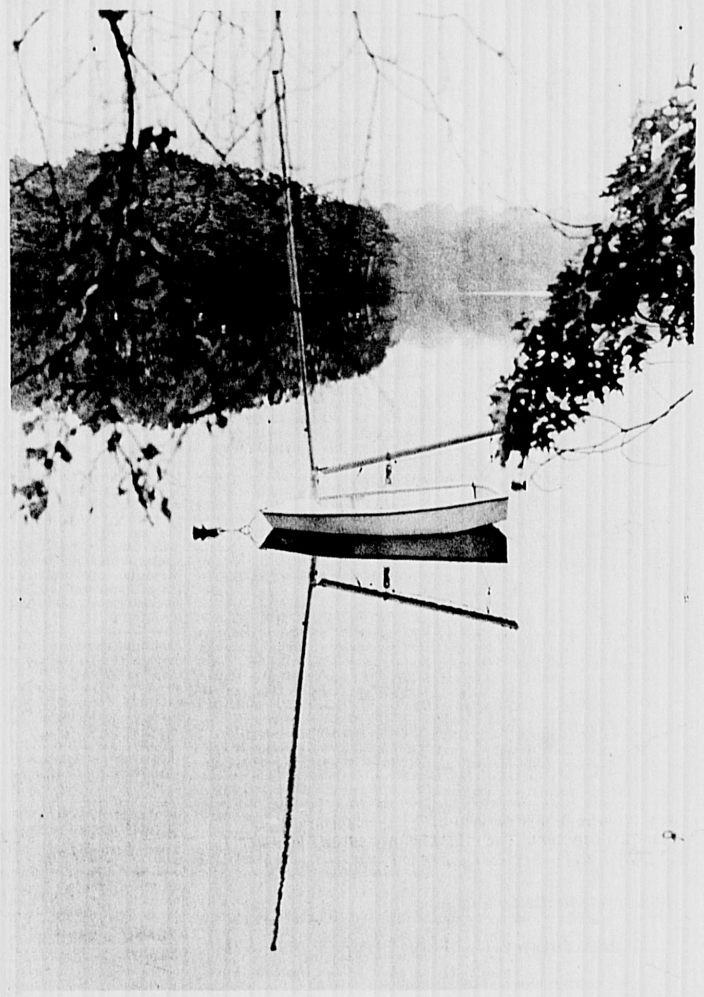

Ms. May is an English teacher at Medford High School.

This man is running for a rip-off.
If he wins, he'll save you a fortune.
First thing he'll do is start shutting down the Middlesex County government.
Which is a funny idea for a man who's running for County Commissioner.
Running because he doesn't think what it's costing you is funny.
$35,000,000 down the drain to duplicate what the state's already doing.
Then, if he were like most County Commissioners, you get his kid or his cousin on the payroll.
But not this one.
Not Carl Cincotta.
He's too honest.
Honest.
He wants to get rid of county government.
All of it for all of us.
You know what you could save.
Your home.
Because county taxes on your property are getting a lot more taxing everyday.
If you want to get the rip off out, you've got to get him in.
In time.
November 2nd, vote for Carl Cincotta.
Carl Cincotta.
He could be the last County Commissioner you ever vote for.
But, first, you have to vote for him.

QUESTION NO. 1
PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO THE CONSTITUTION

Do you approve of the adoption of an amendment to the Constitution summarized below, which was approved by the General Court in joint sessions of the House of Representatives and Senate on August 15, 1973, by a vote of 261-0, and on May 14, 1975, by a vote of 217-55?

YES
NO

Summary

The proposed amendment would provide that equality under the law may not be denied or abridged on the basis of sex, race, color, creed or national origin. This amendment adds one sentence to Article 1 of Part the First of the Constitution which now contains a general statement of individual rights, including the right to enjoy and defend life and liberty and the right to acquire and protect property.

QUESTION NO. 2
PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO THE CONSTITUTION

Do you approve of the adoption of an amendment to the Constitution summarized below, which was approved by the General Court in joint sessions of the House of Representatives and Senate on August 15, 1973, by a vote of 199-66, and on May 7, 1975, by a vote of 228-41?

YES
NO

Summary

The proposed amendment would authorize the Legislature to substitute for the present system of flat or uniform personal income tax rates a system of rates graduated according to the total amount of income received. The Legislature would also be authorized to provide for reasonable exemptions, deductions, credits, and abatements and could base Massachusetts income tax provisions on provisions of Federal income tax law.

QUESTION NO. 3
PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO THE CONSTITUTION

Do you approve of the adoption of an amendment to the Constitution summarized below, which was approved by the General Court in joint sessions of the House of Representatives and Senate on August 15, 1973 by a vote of 259-0, and on May 12, 1976 by a vote of 262-1?

YES
NO

Summary

The proposed amendment would authorize the Legislature to provide for absentee voting by persons who hold religious beliefs in conflict with the act of voting on the day on which any election is to be held.

QUESTION NO. 4
LAW PROPOSED BY AN INITIATIVE PETITION

Do you approve of a law summarized below, which was disapproved by the House of Representatives on May 5, 1975, by a vote of 179-46, and on which no vote was taken by the Senate before May 7, 1975?

YES
NO

Summary

SECTION 1 of the act inserts a new chapter 164B into the General Laws and establishes a Massachusetts Power Authority, a body corporate and politic with seven members appointed by the Governor to staggered six year terms. The Authority is to establish and operate a bulk power supply system to supply wholesale electric power to utilities throughout the Commonwealth. The primary purpose of the Authority is to supply the Commonwealth with power with the minimum adverse impact on the environment. The Authority is also authorized to engage in research and development of new sources of power, new siting techniques, and methods of environmental protection.

In carrying out its responsibilities, the Authority is authorized to adopt by-laws; adopt an official seal; maintain offices, sue and be sued; construct or acquire facilities either within or without the Commonwealth; issue revenue bonds and borrow money in anticipation of issuance of revenue bonds; acquire real and personal property; employ professional, managerial and other employees deemed necessary and fix their compensation to be paid solely out of revenues of the Authority; appear before other government agencies; apply for and receive federal or other grants of funds; and enter into contracts and agreements.

The Authority will build and operate all new generating and transmission facilities in the Commonwealth and has the option to purchase existing facilities through negotiation, condemnation, or eminent domain. After an initial two-year period, no other utility may construct a new facility unless the Authority certifies that it lacks the capability to finance the facility and the facility would further the purposes of the act.

The Authority will finance its activities by issuing revenue bonds. The bonds will be exempt from state taxation, but will not be backed by the full faith and credit of the Commonwealth. Power will be sold to other utilities by contract but no special discounts or bonuses to promote the increased use of power may be given. Public hearings are required on all major contracts.

The Authority is required to develop a master, 20-year demand study and siting plan within 18 months of its incorporation, to be updated each succeeding year. Sites will be selected in accordance with the Electric Power Facilities Siting Council Act of 1973. The Governor and the community in which any facility is to be located must affirmatively approve the facility before it can be constructed.

The Authority will be subject to all applicable federal and state environmental standards and must obtain all necessary federal and state permits and complete all necessary environmental impact statements.

The Authority will be exempt from taxation but will make payments in lieu of taxes to cities and towns in an amount equal to the tax which would be paid if the Authority's real and personal property were owned by a private electric utility company.

The Authority is forbidden from engaging in promotional or image advertising. The Authority has the authority to bargain collectively with its employees and is subject to the provisions of Chapter 150 of the General Laws, which governs the conciliation and arbitration of industrial disputes. Employees of the Authority are not subject to the civil service law and rules. Employees of utilities displaced by the activities of the Authority have first preference in employment by the Authority.

SECTION 2 of the act amends section 43 of Chapter 164 of the General Laws to provide that if a city or town votes, in accordance with the provision of Chapter 164, to establish a municipal utility and acquire the facilities of the utility currently serving the community, and the utility refuses to sell its property to the city or town, that the Department of Public Utilities will establish a fair price for the facilities, and the utility will be required to accept the price determined by the department and tender the deed for the facilities to the city or town.

QUESTION NO. 5
(This question appeared as question 5(a) in the Information For Voters booklet.)
LAW PROPOSED BY INITIATIVE PETITION

Do you approve of law summarized below, which was disapproved by the House of Representatives on May 3, 1976, by a vote of 197-35, and on which no vote was taken by the Senate before May 5, 1976?

YES
NO

Summary

The proposed legislation would prohibit the possession, ownership or sale of any weapon from which a shot or bullet can be discharged and which has a barrel length of less than sixteen inches. The prohibition would not apply to military personnel, law enforcement officers, federally licensed handgun manufacturers and wholesalers, common carriers in the ordinary course of transport, or to historical societies and museums. The act would not affect the possession of rifles, shotguns, and certain antiques and replicas. The proposal also does not change the existing statutory penalties for unlawful possession, ownership or sale of handguns, including provision imposing mandatory jail sentences.

The proposal would permit owners of handguns to surrender their weapons to any law enforcement agency in the Commonwealth within six months of the effective date of the act without incurring criminal liability. Those surrendering handguns within that six months will be compensated at a rate to be determined by the Commissioner of Public Safety.

QUESTION NO. 6
LAW PROPOSED BY AN INITIATIVE PETITION

Do you approve of a law summarized below, which was disapproved by the House of Representatives on May 3, 1976, by a vote of 146-85, and on which no vote was taken by the Senate before May 5, 1976.

YES
NO

Summary

The proposed act would require every beverage container sold or offered for sale in the Commonwealth to have a refund value of at least five (5) cents, and would prohibit the sale of metal beverage containers with flip-tops. It would apply to containers for beer and other malt beverages and to soft drinks. It would not apply to containers for dairy products or natural fruit juices, nor to containers which are biodegradable.

The act would authorize the Secretary of Environmental Affairs to certify containers as reusable or recyclable. It contains both enforcement and penalty provisions and would take effect on February 1, 1977.

QUESTION NO. 7
LAW PROPOSED BY AN INITIATIVE PETITION

Do you approve of a law summarized below, which was disapproved by the House of Representatives on May 3, 1976, by a vote of 182-49, and on which no vote was taken by the Senate before May 5, 1976?

YES
NO

Summary

The proposed act would impose a general requirement that every electric utility company charge a uniform rate per kilowatt hour of electricity. The proposed act would except from this general rule rates charged to other electric utility companies and to residential customers who heat their principal place of residence by electricity. The Act would also permit a different rate to be charged residential customers for the first three hundred (300) kilowatt hours they consume each month, and would authorize "peak load" pricing whereby a higher rate than the uniform rate per kilowatt hour may be charged during the periods of the day or seasons of the year when consumption of electricity is the greatest. The Act would authorize the Department of Public Utilities to issue implementing rules and regulations and provides for enforcement.

QUESTION NO. 8
THIS QUESTION IS NOT BINDING

The following is a non-binding advisory question: "Shall the General Court enact legislation authorizing the construction of an oil refinery and a deep water port, subject to the approval of those communities directly affected and any reservations that the General Court may prescribe?"

YES
NO

Summary

The Legislature has placed this question on the ballot in order to determine whether the people favor or oppose the construction of an oil refinery and deep water port in Massachusetts. The vote on this question is not binding on the Legislature. The question deals with the general advisability of such construction and is not a specific proposal for a facility. If a specific proposal is made, it would be subject to approval by the communities directly affected and subject to any restrictions imposed by the Legislature.

QUESTION NO. 9
THIS QUESTION IS NOT BINDING

The following is a non-binding advisory question: "Shall retail stores including package liquor stores, so called, be allowed to open for business on Sunday?"

YES
NO

Summary

The Legislature has placed this question on the ballot in order to determine whether the people favor or oppose the Sunday opening of certain retail stores, including package liquor stores. As the law now stands, most retail and all package liquor stores must be closed on Sundays. The vote on this question is not binding on the Legislature.

QUESTION NO. 10

E. Shall licenses be granted in the town of Winchester for the sale therein of all alcoholic beverages by clubs and war veterans' organizations?

the objective of the article is to decrease unemployment," he said.

Town Counsel Douglas Randall raised questions of discriminatory practices, school personnel, and advancement within the realm of collective bargaining.

Summing up, Groux said passage of the article "would put the burden on management where it is not necessary."

The article is on the warrant on a citizen petition presented by Town Meeting Members Vincent Carroll and Michael Saraco.

Under article 3, the town manager will be asking town meeting to approve application for federal grants under the terms of the Public Works Employment Act of 1976, Title I.

Selectmen felt, with the exception of Arthur Dunbar, that the town will eventually need to construct a public works facility and that application for Title I funds could possibly be granted, although that likelihood is doubtful. Under Title I, the federal government would absorb 100 percent of the cost of such construction.

Dunbar, although recognizing the future need for a facility, said, "If there's a minimal chance of receiving approval why should we invest the time, effort, and dollars to apply?

"What's the sense?" he went on. "On the other hand, if there is a possibility of acceptance, I have no problem."

Groux responded that although chances are negligible, "it would not be a wasted effort because at a later time the town will have to replace and rehabilitate the old buildings in the town yard. Any effort now will be well worth it."

Selectwoman Barbara Hankins concurred with the town manager and said, "We badly need a DPW facility, the cost of which will be high. We should make every effort to relieve the tax burden from town. The planning will need to be done anyway and it's worth taking time now for even a minimal chance for acceptance."

Winchester may be precluded "right off" Groux said because one of the criteria the federal government uses in determining need is the per capita wealth.

The new facility could cost in the neighborhood of hundreds of thousands of dollars. Groux said that the DPW itself would take on the burden of preparing plans and conceptual engineering.

Chairman John Sullivan figured the cost of preparing the grant application should be "less than a man-month." The article, which received favorable action from the FinCom, was received affirmatively by members Hankins, Chefalo, O'Connell, and Sullivan. Dunbar abstained.

Article 4 — collective bargaining — will probably be indefinitely postponed as agreements with the five unions concerned as not yet been reached.

Article 5 — appropriation of $275 to pay a Boston Edison lighting bill at Ginn field for previous fiscal years — was approved by selectmen.

Article 6 — appropriation of an additional $5000 for workmen's compensation for FY 1977 — may be indefinitely postponed after presentation.

Article 7 — indemnification account — is expected to be indefinitely postponed.

Article 8 — a request for an additional $17,000 to cover the additional insurance premium for the balance of the current fiscal year — received favorable action.

Article 9 — the addition of $25,000 to the sanitation account for personal services and other expenses — was received favorably, but Chairman John Sullivan suggested the amount might be lessened.

Under article 9, Town Manager Groux explained that the delay in completion of the transfer station from its original date of July 19 has caused additional overtime. The price of hauling uncompacted rubbish is also $1.50 a ton higher than for hauling compacted rubbish.

Because of delays in construction, specifically the lengthy wait for a conveyor belt, the town's facility has not been able to handle the compacting of rubbish. Refuse is left at the transfer station and loaded into trucks which haul it out of town for compacting and disposal.

Groux said that under the terms of the contract with SCA Incorporated of Boston, compacted rubbish is hauled at $12.33 a ton.

Town meeting in May appropriated $169,000 but Groux said that before the end of FY 1977 that money will run out. He figures another $25,000 should be sufficient, assuming a weekly tonnage of about 300.

The breakdown of the incinerator in July also added to the expenses of running the facility. (See accompanying story in today's Star.)

In the matter of selling back to George D. Whitten the land taken from him in 1966 by eminent domain for the sum of $60,000, selectmen voted unfavorably, O'Connell, Hankins, and Sullivan voting and Chefalo and Dunbar abstaining.

Whitten has taken the town to court to have the amount of compensation set at $105,000. He has offered to buy the land back and drop his suit.

Chairman Sullivan said that he did not approve of disposing of property in this manner. "If we decide to sell the property," he said, "it should be available for anyone to buy. This is not the way the town should conduct its affairs."

Remaining articles were not voted on at this time.

Town meeting begins at 7:45 Monday at the high school. The board of selectmen will hold their regular meeting at Town Hall at 6:30.

A group of education chairmen of the Winchester Parent-Faculty Association spent several hours touring the Northeast Metropolitan Regional Vocational School and conferring with the administration. the public for 10 years and then, assuming all projections work out favorably, the savings would amount to only two percent.

It never ceases to amaze us that some people think that government can be as efficient as private industry or that anything "important" ought to be run by the state. The electric industry in this country has had a long history of careful and controlled growth. To think that overnight a new state power authority can step in and take over is absurd. And who do you complain to when the lights go out? If the Department of Public Utilities has no clout over the new power authority, where does the average citizen stand?

The privately-owned utilities are owned by stockholders who include a lot of average people with personal or corporate retirement funds invested in utilities — usually a very stable investment. The idea that the state ought to come along and take over this industry, no matter how well intentioned the proponents may be, smacks of socialism. We will vote a strong NO.

Question 5, Banning Handguns

Large dollars involved — $125 to $300 million. Question 5 would confiscate legally-owned handguns from licensed owners. It would ban possession of guns by people like bank guards, armored car drivers, doctors, druggists, shopkeepers, pistol club members and others with a police-certified need for a handgun. Question 5 would have the state buy up some 800,000 guns in Massachusetts, and there is no federal money available for this program.

This is one of the most emotional issues on the ballot. Proponents say it will aid crime control and stop passion killings. It will do neither. Question 5 is opposed by every major state wide police organization and by local police.

Criminal use of guns should be punished and punished severely. It is not the gun that commits the crime, but the individual behind it. If gun availability did have a correlation to crime, then Massachusetts with 800,000 legally-owned guns ought to have a much higher crime rate than it does. This state already has strict licensing laws; these could be tightened with a firearms proficiency examination, but confiscation of hundreds of thousands of legal guns is not going to solve anything, including passion crimes, a high percentage of which are committed with rifles and shotguns anyway. If people want guns they will get them, no matter what Massachusetts says.

The police organizations ought to know something about crime control and firearms abuse. Question 5 will be a needless waste of millions of taxpayer dollars. We will vote a strong NO on Question 5.

Question 6, Controls on Bottles and Cans

This is a large dollar item, but it depends on whom you listen to as to whether it will save you dollars or cost you dollars. The beverage industry doesn't like the returnable bottles and cans as they are a nuisance. But similar bills in Oregon and Vermont have drastically reduced litter. A&P stores admitted last week that their own brand of softdrink in returnable bottles costs less because containers are reused. A major concern of all of us should be the tremendous waste of natural resources and aluminum, steel and glass which are thrown away each year, now at a rate of 60 billion containers. On balance it seems the bottle bill will result in more savings than costs. We will vote YES on Question 6.

Question 7, Uniform Electric Rates

This is a large dollar item. It could cost industrial users of electricity from $70-90 million and the state as much as 41,000 jobs. By some estimates the average household would save 50-85 cents a week, but this electric rate law could push some companies right out of the state and keep others from coming. Massachusetts already is a very costly state for industry and has lost a lot of jobs to New Hampshire in the past 10 years.

Presently electric rate users are charged on the basis of the cost of delivery of electricity — thus large users, while paying the actual cost, are paying a lower rate. The public image of proponents is enhanced by their use of "fair share" which everyone is in favor of. But how do you define "fair"? If equal users of electricity ought to get equal rates, then the "fair share" is being paid now. The volume buyer gets a discount, and he ought to.

A major concern about the uniform rate is that it will hurt the large user of electricity. Well, you know who that is — it's the hospitals, grocery stores, department stores, manufacturers, hotels, schools, municipalities and state. And you know where they are going to come up with those additional millions on their electric bills — from you by passing the increased charges on. We will vote NO on Question 7.

Question 8, Oil Refinery, Deep Water Port

No dollars involved at this time. Possible large dollars in 10-20 years through 4,000 new jobs and stabilized oil and gasoline prices. This is a "sense of the people" question to determine if this state would welcome an oil refinery. There are a lot of pros and cons. An oil refinery needs a lot of land — about 1,500 acres — and a lot of water — up to 4 million gallons a day. A coastal site would be ideal but the Massachusetts coast is pretty crowded already from some standpoints. Additionally serious environmental problems are associated with oil refineries. Based on the limited information available we are torn between a need to stimulate the Massachusetts economy and the unanswered potential problems accompanying a coastal refinery. At this time we will vote a qualified: NO

Question 9, Sunday Closing Laws

Big dollars involved, but this is a non-binding advisory question asking if the public wants to repeal the old Blue Laws which prohibit general business on Sunday. This is an economic and convenience issue, and in some ways it's a religious freedom issue. These laws are a throwback to the Sunday as a day of rest theology. But does that mean that everyone — even those religions which do not recognize Sunday as the religous day — ought to be prohibited from engaging in commerce? Thousands of small convenience stores are open now on Sunday as are drugstores, including some chain drugstores that even sell motor oil and house paint. Sunday is a day of professional football, and baseball and other sports including racing. Proponents of Question 9 point out that father can go to the track and lose his week's wages betting on the horses on Sunday but mother can't buy a new dress. It doesn't make sense, particularly when neighboring states of New Hampshire and Rhode Island are opening their stores on Sundays. We will vote: YES on Question 9.

The Engine Company

It's Purpose - To Extinguish your fire

No Time To Lose!

The Engine Company arrives first. A store, factory, hospital...or your home may be in trouble.

It's smoky. Are people trapped? Work fast! Is more help needed? Where's the water supply? Rapid fire questions, and answers. .

In seconds, hose lines are connected, ladders positioned, pumps started, building "opened" for ventilation, and a rescue or fire attack is underway. Fire Protection Tools of an Engine Company:

Hose:

is preloaded to layout fast — three sizes vary from 12 to 250 gallons per minute (your garden hose supplies 3 gallons per minute.)

1. Booster line gets in action quickly for rescue of fast-fire stop.
2. 1½" line supplies up to 100 gallons per minutes, but is small enough to use in a house.
3. Big hose line needs three men to hold, throws 70 foot stream and a ton of water per minute.

Nozzles:

are changed to fit the fire problem-at least a dozen are carried for fog, or foam, chimney or cellar, pressure or volume, spray or solid stream.

Water is available in three ways:

1. By tank to supply vital early minutes.
2. By hydrant on street or private grounds.
3. By drafting from ponds, brooks, or swimming pools, etc.

A split-second understanding of Fire Department hydraulics and complex pump controls is needed to deliver the right water pressures under extreme human pressures.

Ladders may be your only escape left. Precision timing and technique needed to position heavy ladders in smoke, dark, wind, slippery and desperate conditions. Extension ladders are needed to ventilate heat and smoke and to permit entry. Roof ladders hook onto roof and windows. Entry Tools quickly find the fire inside walls, locked doors, etc. Pike poles open ceilings, walls, handle live wires, and move burning debris.

Pick axe (well known) is used with techniques to open doors, windows, roofs, and floors with minimum property damage.

Portable fire extinguishers are used for small fires, confined fires, or standing watch, particularly if electricity or flammable liquids and metals are involved. They can also avoid water damage. Basic types are: Dry Chemical, CO_2, Water and Foam. Foam is also used in volume to fight large gasoline and oil fires. Rescue Equipment is also carried on an Engine: pry bars, claw tools, rope, lights, metal cutters, oxygen, and self-contained breathing apparatus. Salvage Tools to keep loss at a minimum. Salvage covers are placed over contents to protect against water, smoke and fire damage. Pumps, pails, hand squeegees, smoke ejectors, brooms, mops, and shovels are all part of clean-up.

Letters from readers

Want 'yes' vote

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

Much has been written for and against Referendum Quetion 6 — the Massachusetts Bottle Bill — the act basically requiring reusable containers for beer and soft drinks.

The Winchester Conservation Commission, by unanimous consent, goes on record as favoring a yes vote on Referendum Question 6 for the following compelling reasons:

—total energy consumption will be less when containers are recycled

—waste disposal costs will be lower

—less land will be required for landfill operations

—visual pollution from thoughtless disposal of empty containers will be lessened.

A yes vote on Question 6 on November 2 means that individually each of us is concerned and is willing to do his-her share for the environment by the simple act of returning empty containers.

Walter J. Farrell, Jr.
Chairman
33 Pierrepont rd.

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

Referendum question six, the bottle bill, will come up on the ballot on Nov. 2. Opponents of the bill, among them major bottlers, beer and soft drink manufacturers, have advertised that passage of the bottle bill will cost Massachusetts consumers $100 per year, according to figures based upon Vermont bottle laws. However, bottle bill opponents fail to tell us that beer and soft drinks cost less in Vermont than in Massachusetts. The reason is that packaging accounts for 56 percent of total beverage costs. Bottles and cans that can be reused an average of 15 times will result in a reduction of packaging costs and ultimately, a reduction in the cost to the consumer.

More important, however, is the projected reduction of litter. With a 5-cent deposit on every beer and soft drink container, few people are likely to throw cans and bottles around indiscriminately. Although a nickel is not that much in itself, a nickel multiplied by the number of beer and soft drink containers used by a family in a year is a substantial sum of money. In Vermont, there was a 94 percent reduction in the number of Vermont manufactured bottles and cans littered and a 33 percent reduction in total litter. In Oregon, where there is a bottle law similar to Vermont's, total litter was reduced by 39 percent, with a 96 percent reduction in Oregon manufactured bottles and cans littered.

The choice for a cleaner environment and cheaper beverages lies with the voters. All it takes is a little extra effort on the part of consumers and a "yes" vote for question 6 on Nov. 2.

Refuse all around

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

Last Sunday morning I canoed down the Aberjona River and across the Mystic lakes. We passed groves of birches shimmering yellow in the sun - maple trees glowing red and gold - ducks taking flight from the water - even some kind of hawk winging from the top of a dead tree - and floating in the water all the way along the river were beer bottles and cans. The bottles float with about an inch and a half of neck showing above the water, bobbing in the waves as the canoes pass.

Yesterday I went out into the edge of the Middlesex Fells with the kindergarten from the Ambrose School. The gale winds were blowing the autumn leaves across a blue sky - the milkweed seeds were shining silvery white where the wind carried them - the aspens were still covered with quivering gold leaves while next spring's are already bursting to show soft gray like pussy-willows. And a counterpoint to our nature walk from the children were the comments on piles of beer cans we passed in the park.

The reservoir area which Ms. Wittlesey-First wrote about last week is spared because it is closed to the public. We are lucky to have the woods with marked trails as a natural resource, but we would be even luckier that way if we all trained our families so they brought all their empties back to the house!

Flabbergasted

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

I was absolutely flabbergasted when I turned on channel 38 today (October 20) and once again saw Sheriff John Buckley pushing his People v. Handgun Bill (referendum number 5).

What I want to know is why isn't the sheriff back in Middlesex County performing the duties of his office which he was elected to do?

Who is paying his salary while he is on television or calling on families who had personal tragedies through guns?

The people of this county should be gravely concerned about elected officials who spend taxpayers' time perpetrating any organization or political idea that is not in the absolute interst of the county office held during official business hours.

When are we going to wake upto this incredible misuse of people's time and money?

Successful fair

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

The sun shone on Wyman School Saturday and everyone who attended our Fair had a wonderful time. I would like to give special thanks to a number of people who added greatly to the event.

Mr. Sol Gittleman was unforgettable as the auctioneer. The Winchester Academy of Self Defense put on a most impressive karate demonstration. Mrs. Thistlewaite, of the Winchester music department, arrived with a group of McCall Junior High musicians to provide a jazz program. Mrs. Barbara Cracknell concluded the day with a guitar sing along. Dozens of teenagers devoted the day to making this a happy time for the younger folk of Winchester, painting their faces, serving drinks, helping with art projects, or keeping happy lines for the Moonwalk. The Wyman scouts lent their services. Second grade Brownies made posters for townwide display. Boy Scouts assisted visitors crossing Church Street and a mammouth clean up was done in minutes by the Cub Scouts.

On the first beautiful Saturday in three weeks, it wasn't easy to devote the day to giving grabs, blowing up balloons, or setting up stacks of bottles, but it was done by parents and friends with warmth and good will. The faculty, too, did their part by their clever additions to the spirited auction, as did many generous members of the school and town. Mr. Carmilia, our principal, was there just as he is every day, with a warm greeting for everyone and working every minute behind the scenes. As chairman of this year's fair, I would like to publicly thank the scores of people who gave of themselves so generously to making this day a beautiful one at Wyman.

With Affection

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

On September 24, Stanley B. Pattison of Ledyard rd. died at age 85. A resident of Winchester for more than 30 years, he was well-known throughout the town for his adroit work in refinishing and repairing antique furniture. For many years, he was a familiar sight as he rode the streets of Winchester in his 1946 "woody" beachwagon delivering reconditioned furniture to local households. Hundreds of stately pieces of furniture in Winchester homes now bear the work of his craftsmanship.

The achievements of his long life attested to a remarkably vital and energetic man. Born in Sharon in 1891, he left high school to support his family following the death of his father. He subsequently qualified for the 1912 United States Olympic Team in the standing high jump. During World War I, he was a pioneering instructor in aviation in Pensacola, Fla. Shortly after the war, he traveled cross-country by automobile and lived for several years in southern California; while there, he appeared in several silent movies produced in Hollywood.

Disenchanted with the West Coast, he returned to Massachusetts, where he found employment as a steeple jack and as a boxer. During the Depression years, he worked in New York City, and, until his "retirement," when he began refinishing furniture, he managed a tannery in Peabody.

The colorful expanse of flowers that once covered his property on Ledyard rd. made his garden the envy of virtually all of Winchester. He was, moreover, an impressively literate man, who assiduously read several books every week, and surely the Red Sox never had a more stalwart follower than Stan Pattison.

His marriage to his gracious wife Dot, who survives him, lasted more than 57 years.

To his many friends in Winchester, he imparted feelings of kinship and good will that will be long remembered with cherished affection.

Good suds

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

Having just returned from the first junior class fund raising event, I can say without a doubt that it was a very successful one. A little bit cold for a car wash some kids complained, but no one was complaining at 3:00 when the $132 that was made was counted up.

We washed 110 cars (and one van!) and sold coffee and cookies to our cold workers and customers.

We, the Winchester High School junior class of 1978, would like to thank all the people who made this car washing possible. First of all the officers of the class who did a great job organizing it: Kevin Foley, Mark Mulvaney, Colleen Chandler, and Amy Harris; all the mothers and daughters for baking cookies; Mr. Al Ruggles, Mr. William Colella, Bonanza (for donating coffee, cups and sugar), Old Colony, Exxon, and Shell gas stations.

Also Mrs. Frank Evans and Barbara Stockwood for giving us sizable donations, and many thanks to the people of the town who have nice shiny cars now.

Leaving leaves

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

In the "Town Watch" column of your October 21 edition you published a public service reminder, on behalf of the Winchester Department of Public Works, that the town's by-laws prohibit the placement of leaves upon public ways within the town.

While that is indeed the effect of the town's by-laws, both the by-law section (former Sec. 6, Art. III) and the precise language which you quoted are incorrect, having been Anti-Litter By-Law.

The provisions of the Anti-Litter By-Law, without that title, now appear as Chapter 11 of the new Code of By-Laws enacted by the Town Meeting on March 4, 1976. Ch. 11, Sec. 2 prohibits the placement of "litter" (which is defined to include "rubbish", including yard clippings and leaves) upon "any street, sidewalk or other public place". Placing leaves at the town dump is specifically approved. Violation of this section is a misdemenaor, punishable by a fine not exceeding $50 for each violation.

I thought you might wish to correct the citation and quotation when and if a similar reminder is published in the future.

Thank you for the public service which The Star provides in publicizing such matters.

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

Save your dollars!
Save your system!
Save Wyman!

Yes, congratulations to all Wyman parents who professionally presented this plea. Indeed, they are correct. You can't afford to be pennywise and pound foolish.

Instead all Winchester parents should realize it's united we stand, divided we fall.

P.S. To the school committee: Is it really fair to take monies out of your budget and transfer them to the town budget? We don't save anything, really.

Helping other kids

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

As all parents of young children know, Halloween is one of their most exciting holidays as they look forward to dressing up in costume and going to neighbors for special treats. It can also be a time for all of us to think of children in other countries who are less fortunate.

"A Future for Every Child" has been UNICEF's (the United Nations Children's Fund) motto since it was created in 1946 to meet both emrgency and long-term needs of children all over the world without regard to creed, color, nationality or political belief. UNICEF is a unique agency of the United Nations. It is completely nonpolitical and derives its funding totally from volunteer nations and private organizations. UNICEF is supported by the National Council of Churches, the American Jewish Committee, and the Vatican.

Last year, children in Winchester collected just over $1,000. That figure is impressive in light of the fact that $1 will buy enough cotton cloth to make six wrappers for new-born babies or four toddler's frocks for children left destitute by earthquake, floods or war; seven packets of seeds for a community garden, or a box of chalk for a teacher to use. UNICEF money goes a long way.

In the June 13, 1976 edition of the Boston Globe, Jean Mayer wrote: "...UNICEF has been a model of intelligent service, courage and goodwill towards all. Its ultimate success will improve the lives of all people, for we are all citizens of a small and interdependent world. But such success also depends upon our continued support."

Favors ERA

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

So much misinformation has been spread by opponents of a state Equal Rights Amendment that it is well to know facts about the ERA as November 2 approaches.

The proposed amendment, which is Question 1 on the ballot, states: "Equality under the law shall not be denied or abridged because of sex, race, color, creed or national origin may not be denied to the other.

The purpose of this equal rights amendment is to state for the first time in our state Constitution the principle that all people shall be treated equally under the law, by their government. It means that the legal rights enjoyed by one sex, race, color, creed or national origin may not be denied to the other.

To clear the air, Governor Dukakis appointed a special committee of 11 members of the Massachusetts Legislature to study the effects of the proposed amendment. This report was released last week. Senator Robert E. McCarthy (D-East Bridgewater), co-chair of the study group, states: "It is our conclusion that a relatively small precentage of laws would require change" if the amendment passes. The study commission found that a state equal rights amendment will have no impact on laws pertaining to abortion, military draft, marriage relations, public restrooms — all areas in which the anti-ERA forces have stirred up unfounded fears.

The ERA will require a close examination of the laws of Massachusetts to make sure that they are not discriminatory. Although we already have some anti-discrimination regulations to curb bias in areas such as hiring, promotion, borrowing money, and renting a house, many of these regulations are weak or unenforced, and are under constant pressure for repeal. The Equal Rights Amendment is an explicit constitutional guarantee that all Mass. citizens will be afforded equal treatment under the law. A state ERA will not only protect the current anti-discrimination laws, but will also guarantee that all future laws must be non-discriminatory.

Father Theodore Hesburgh, president of Notre Dame University, states in his support of the ERA that "it is long overdue" and observes that the objections of the opposition are familiar "because they are very much like the ones that were made against the passage of the 19th amendment, giving women the right to vote."

Sixteen other states, including our neighbors Connecticut and New Hampshire, have equal rights amendments or provisions in their state constitutions. In no state with an ERA have rights and privileges been taken away from any group. Women have not lost their support rights or alimony, or custody of their children. Neither have they been forced to work outside the home, nor has anyone been denied the right of privacy. Rather, state ERA's have provided them and minorities with a constitutional guarantee of legal equality.

Who supports equal rights amendments? President and Mrs. Ford; Governor and Mrs. Carter. On a state level, Senators Kennedy and Brooke, Governor Dukakis and Kitty Dukakis, Attorney General Frank Bellotti, and Sam Rotondi all enthusiastically endorse the ERA. The ERA is an issue which cuts across party lines, and which has the support of Republicans, Democrats, and Independents alike. Groups who have endorsed the state ERA include the Mass. Council of Churches, the State Labor Council AFL-CIO, the League of Women Voters, Mass. Teachers Assoc, Mass. Nurses Assoc, Mass. Federation of Women's Clubs, and scores of others.

TMM vacancy

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

As chairman of District 3 town meeting members, I wish to inform all the voters of the district of the following:

The town clerk has notified town meeting members (TMM) of the district that a vacancy exists due to the resignation of an elected member. The Winchester by-laws set forth the procedure for the filling of such a vacancy:

A quorum of members from a district shall hold a caucus for the purpose of electing a voter to fill the vacancy.

The caucus for District 3 has been set for Nov. 1, 7:15 p.m. at the senior high school, prior to the first session of the fall town meeting.

Any voter in District 3 is eligible to fill the vacated seat. This is a recommended procedure:

1. Contact all current TMM of the district. A list with the telephone numbers is available at the town clerk's office. (I also have a list I will share.)

2. Request a TMM to place your name in nomination at the caucus meeting on Nov. 1.

3. The voter seeking office MUST be near the caucus room at the time the vote is completed. If the voter wins the seat, it is necessary to have the oath of office administered prior to the seating in the town meeting assembly.

Winchester's town meeting government is successful only to the degree that it fully represents the voters.

Sally W. Kincaid, Chrm.,
District 3 TMM
12 Prospect st.

P.S. District 3 TMM are urged to attend the caucus. A quorum in this instance consists of 12 members, a minimal requirement for the important duty of electing a TM member.

Youth 'special'

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

Something rather important was proved in our town last week. The fact that our townspeople and our youngsters really do care about others. To some of us of the older generation, it had seemed that a new philosophy had developed among our young — the philosophy of not caring, but the multitude of people who bothered to express their sorrow for the tragic death of my son, Kevin, can dispel that thought. In fact, the display of kindness from so many was most overwhelming.

Kevin was very special to us, of course, but we had no idea of how he had touched the hearts of so many others as well. Not only were there his many friends who knew him through Cub Scouts, Little League baseball, Pop Warner football, and his school years, but actual strangers who felt a certain kinship in our loss, and tried to comfort us. To all of these people, I want to say that their caring is most reassuring to us.

I would like Kevin's friends to realize that "for everything, there is a reason." (It could be that this incident might impress others to adhere more strictly to rules that are made for their benefit.) God was actually more merciful to take him so swiftly.

Kevin will be missed a lot by all of us for that certain spark that he possessed, but the tribute that was made to him by his schoolmates who followed him to the very last minute of it all will never be forgotten by all who observed it. The youth of our town are very special, and we love them all.

With fond appreciation for the many kindnesses of all.

Turnabout

EDITOR OF THE STAR

The school committee was originally made autonomous, as I understand it, so that it could resist economy moves by town meeting. Things are now turned upside down and town meeting wants to maintain the best possible school system while the school committee wants economy even when it is granted by most that there will be a sacrifice in education and the safety of very samll children if the present neighborhood school system is modified.

In fact, closing a school seems to have become an objective in and of itself with the purpose of economy in school expenditures having been lost sight of. Suggestions of areas where greater economy can be achieved at no cost to the little children are met at the meetings I have attended with less than great enthusiasm by the school committee and the superintendent. A substantial reduction in the superintendent's staff has come up repeatedly. The reduction of the superintendent's office to one superintendent with all of the other functions being handled by the principals and their staff certainly makes more sense to me than teaching principals or principals serving two schools. Then the superintendent could easily move into the high school and share office equipment and the like. This would save much more money than all of the other proposals and lead to a relatively stable non-innovative school system. The alternative is the one we have, a large and very expensive bureaucracy constantly stirring the pot to keep themselves busy. Most parents seem to feel the present three year high school, two separate three year junior high schools and nine small elementary schools offer the best all around education.

The parents at Lincoln who have spoken out at the school meetings do not want the disruption of offices or substantial additional children in their school at this time. They seem to indicate that their children have suffered enough since old Lincoln was closed. They doubt the sufficiency of the minimum fire safety standards set by the building inspector for such little children. The Wyman parents I know are not half so worried about the safety of their children crossing downtown streets as with the risk of older children or anonymous adults bothering their children in the more congested down town areas.

Friends grateful

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

We would like to express our sincere appreciation for the support the community has extended to The Friends of Winchester Hospital's Silver Anniversary Ball. The Friends are indeed grateful. The annual ball is our only fund raising event. Its proceeds are given to the hospital to purchase equipment which will benefit its patients.

A special thank you to Boodakians for furnishing a lovely Oriental runner and also Mahoney's Rockey Ledge for providing ferns, mums and greenery which helped to make our Silver Anniversary the success it was. A warm thank you to the waltz winners of previous years who high-lighted our evening with their winning styles.

In short, we wish to thank all the patrons and patronesses, the merchants of Winchester and everyone who contributed in any way to an elegant and successful evening.

Mrs. Raymond J. Kenney, Jr.

Funeral services were held at St. Mary's Church on Monday for Joseph Thomas Curran, 59, of 36 Tufts rd. Mr. Curran died suddenly at Winchester Hospital on October 22.

Rev. Leo X. Lynch of St. Mary's officiated at the services. Burial followed in Wildwood Cemetery.

For the past 15 years Mr. Curran served as custodian at the Ambrose School. He had retired after 30 years as accounts manager at Sears, Roebuck Company.

He was a member of St. Mary's Church and the Winchester Council 210 Knights of Columbus, having come to Winchester in 1951 from Boston's West End.

Surviving Mr. Curran is his wife Mrs. Helen (Similewich) Curran. Also sons Joseph T. Curran, Jr., of Woburn and Lt. Paul W. Curran USMC of Winchester, and daughters Helen Louise Curran of Winchester and Mrs. Kathleen Clark of Lancashire, England.

Also surviving are sisters Mary W. Curran of South Boston and Mrs. Anna Higgins of Dorchester and brothers James, Edward, Robert, all of South Boston.

The Robert J. Costello Funeral Home handled the arrangements.

Alice Osterwald

Alice C. Osterwald, 86, mother of Mrs. Richard (Polly) Keppler of Winchester, died October 19 at Winchester Hospital. A funeral service was held at the Ripley Chapel, First Congregational Church with Rev. Walter Davis and Rev. John Bishop of the Church of the Epiphany officiating.

Wife of the late Albert O. Osterwald, Mrs. Osterwald was a resident of Fuller House, 101 Cottage st., Melrose; and of Severance, N.Y.

She was born August 26, 1890 in New York City to Charles and Harriet Horning and lived formerly in Rockville Center and Freeport, both on Long Island, N.Y. She was a member of the Episcopal Church.

Surviving her are her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Keppler of Winchester; granddaughters Janet K. Brink of Andover and Susan K. Sweetser of No. Quincy; a great-grandson, Scott R. Brink of Andover; and great-granddaughters Laura Brink of Andover and Wendy Sweetser of No. Quincy.

Burial is to be at Paradox Lake, N.Y. November 11. The Norris Funeral Home is handling arrangements.

Shirley Ann Bokil

Funeral services were held last week for Shirley Ann Bokil, 33, of 10 Bradford rd. Mrs. Bokil died at home on October 16 after a long illness.

Howard A. Krueger of the First Baptist Church officiated at the services held at Norris Chapel. Burial was in Hillsborough, New Hampshire.

Mrs. Bokil was the daughter of Gilbert Wing of Fitchburg and Mrs. Nellie (Camara) Wing of Henniker, New Hampshire, both of whom survive their daughter.

She was born in Henniker and attended schools there.

Also surviving are Delip R. Bokil and sons Nathan and Mark Bokil, all of Winchester; sisters Mrs. Joyce Guimond of Concord, New Hampshire, and Penny Wing of Henniker; also Bruce Wing, Mrs. Bokil's brother, of Hillsborough, grandparents, aunts, uncles, nieces and nephews.

Norris Funeral Home handled the arrangements.

John J. Wright

Funeral services were held Saturday at St. Barbara's Church in Woburn for John J. Wright, who died at Choate Mospital after a brief illness on October 21. He was 56.

Rev. Charles Anadore of St. Barbara's officiated and burial was in Woodbrook Cemetery in Woburn. Mr. Wright resided at 8 Jean rd. in Woburn and was formerly of Cambridge and Winchester.

He was born in Cambridge and attended schools there. For 27 years Mr. Wright was employed as a postal clerk in the Central Square post office in Cambridge.

He served with the United States Army in World War II and was a member of St. Barbara's Church. Mr. Wright is survived by his wife Mabel T. (Regan) Wright of Woburn. He was the father of Officer William F. Wright of the Winchester police department and of Walter J. Wright of Somerville. Also surviving are five grandchildren, brother Michael Wright of Belmont, and sisters Mrs. Margaret Foley and Mrs. Theresa Kenney, both of Belmont. Funeral arrangements were handled by Lane Funeral Home.

Palma Tofuri

Palma Tofuri died at Winchester Hospital on October 21 after a short illness. Mrs. Tofuri, 94, resided at 4 Summer st.

Services were held Saturday at Immaculate Conception Church, with the pastor, Rev. George Murray, officiating. Burial followed at Calvary Cemetery, Woburn.

Mrs. Tofuri was born in Avelono, Italy, but moved to Winchester more than 70 years ago. She was a member of the Immaculate Conception Church.

She was the wife of the late Carmeno Tofuri. Surviving are her children Charles of Tewsbury, Andrew of Woburn, Joseph and Carmen of Winchester, Mrs. Mary Pazos of Long Island City, and Mrs. Anna Massaro of Woburn. Also surviving are eight grandchildren and ten great-grandchildren. Mrs. Tofuri was the sister of the late Florinda DeRoma.

Local woman wins 1976 health education award

A Winchester resident, Dr. Mary Spencer, a lecturer at the Harvard School of Public Health and nationally known health education consultant, won the 1976 SOPHE Award given annually by the American Society for Public Health Education to a person nationally known for distinguished achievements in the fields of preventive medicine and public health. This award, the highest honor given by the society, was presented at its annual banquet this past week during the A.P.H.A. Convention at Miami Beach, Fla.

Dr. Spencer received her professional education at the Harvard Graduate School of Education, the Harvard School of Public Health, and at Columbia University which awarded her the Ph.D. in the field of behavioral sciences.

The citation for the award was read by Dr. Marjorie Young, professor at the Harvard School of Public Health, who recognized some of Dr. Spencer's many professional contributions during the past 25 years.

These included her work as a faculty member at Wellesley College, Tufts University (Boston-Bouve School) Boston College School of Nursing and Harvard School of Public Health.

At the request of Mass. Commissioner of Public Health, Dr. V. Getting, she established the Division of Health Information in the State Department of Public Health and set up the first Seminar in Health Education for teachers at Harvard Summer School. With Federal funds she provided scholarships for 30 Mass. Secondary School Teachers to attend this course.

In succeeding summers Dr. Spencer conducted seminars and workshops for teachers at the University of Maine, Penn. State University, University of Chicago, University of Michigan and University of Kentucky. For five summers she served as a consultant for the A.M.A. Conferences for School Physicians, and, in recognition of this service to the medical profession, she was given the A.M.A. School Bell Award.

Dr, Spencer's national work included the establishment of the Bureau of Health Education in The National Catholic Welfare Conference, Washington, D.C. and directing its activities for six years for which she was awarded a Papal Medal. Her work as bureau chief took her as a lecturer and consultant to 36 States throughout the country.

Dr. Spencer was elected the first woman president of the Mass. Public Health Association and during her presidency she established the Shattuck Award for public health achievements in the New England Area. She also served as president of the N.E. Health Education Association and the Mass. T.B. Association.

Her community contributions include member of the Mass. Health Council, Chairman of Education, U.C.S. of Boston, Board Member of the Mass. Heart Association, of the Mass. Cancer Association, and of the Mass. Mental Health Association.

Dr. Spencer has been listed in Who's Who of American Women, Who's Who in America, Who's Who in the East, and Who's Who in Education.

Eleven locals complete course

Eleven residents of the area, six men and five women, have passed an intensive course in "CPR," as it is called, or "Basic Life Support Course in Cardiopulmonary Resuscitation." This course was given as a public service by the Winchester Chapter of the Red Cross during September and October.

Certificates of accomplishment signed by Stephen Armstrong and John Fishera, were awarded to the eleven successful candidates. Those passing the course were:

John Bacon, Bob Good, Betsy Hill, William Mello, Elizabeth Mello, Mary Betty Rule, Mary Sean Robison, Eugenio Sartori, Kay Sullivan, David Thompson, and Mark Vergnalia.
